On the other hand, it is curious to note that beards seem fairly popular among accountants. Indeed it would almost seem as if the growth of hair on the face were conducive to clear headedness in matters of calculation, so general do beards and whiskers appear to be among men of figures. Middle aged buyers and travelers in the wholesale soft goods and the "rag" trades also seem partial to cultivating hair on the face, though in retail trades it is seldom that more than the mustache is grown. Bearded men are the exception rather than the rule among drapers, bootmakers, stationers, grocers, hosiers and such like callings. In the government service men are, as a rule, either clean shaved or they cultivate the mustache only. Take the clerks, telegraphists and sorters in the postoffice. Mustaches, especially the downy, embryo sort, seem rather popular among the youths and younger men, while a few of their middle aged seniors indulge in the luxuries of comfortable beards, but for the most part the clean shaved men manage to hold their own.

At Somerset House the same remarks may be applied as at the treasury and other government offices. In the army of course they cultivate mustaches, but beards are practically unknown, even among our generals. Naval officers are, as a rule, clean shaved, though beards are pretty common among seamen. The law is of course the cleanest shaved of all clean shaved callings, which is perhaps but as it should be. Medical men, on the other hand, are rather fond of their mustaches. One supposes that they are cultivated when their wearers have set up in practice in order to inspire confidence in possible patients. Take it all around, however, it may safely be said that clean shaved men in London are quite as numerous as those with mustaches if not slightly more so, while the man with a beard would appear to be getting more and more of a rarity.—London Express.

Seventeenth Century Sheep.

"The best and biggest sheep," says Fuller in his famous "Worthies of England," published in the year 1662, "are those of the Vale of Aylesbury in Buckinghamshire, where it is nothing to give £20 or more for a breed ram. So that should a Foreigner hear of the price thereof he would guess that Ram rather to be some Norman engine of battery than the creature commonly so called." "Foreigners," he adds, "much admire our English sheep, because they do not (as those beyond the seas) follow their shepherds like a pack of dogs, but wander wide abroad."

Stained Fingers.

For stained fingers try the following: Moisten dry starch with glycerin, two parts of starch to one of glycerin, and rub upon the fingers. The result is magical. Some stains require frequent applications of the remedy, but even so it is good to know something which removes the traces of soil from fingers which have rigged old dresses apart, scrubbed stained woods, peeled potatoes, dusted rooms and made fires.

SPEECH BY ROSEBERY

He Places His Services at His Country's Disposal.

CRITICISES MR. CHAMBERLAIN

His Advice to Liberals Is "Get Together"—Sarcastic Reference to a "Sort of Warfare"—General Election Won by Misrepresentation—Proposals for Peace Should Come From the Boers.

Chesterfield, Eng., Dec. 17.— Lord Rosebery's long expected and much heralded speech, delivered here last night, was received with much enthusiasm by an immense crowd. It can hardly be said to have thrown much light along the pathway of the Liberal party.

Resolved into its elements, the speech merely said: "Get together." The speaker himself confessed that he did not pretend to say how this cohesion should be accomplished.

The tenor of the former Premier's speech was that the Ministry was wrong, but the Liberals should be very careful how they tried to set it right.

Concerning the Government's conduct of the war, Lord Rosebery was severe and scornful.

He was particularly sarcastic at the expense of the explanation of the Earl of Halsbury, the Lord Chancellor, that only a "sort of warfare" was now going on, and he strongly condemned the scandalous misrepresentations by which the Government had precipitated the last general election.

Lord Rosebery strongly blamed the Government for the tactlessness, which had produced unparalleled ill-will toward Great Britain in every European population, and which he attributed largely to the provocative oratory of Mr. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary.

Whilst he was emphatic on the necessity of vigorously prosecuting the war, and in expressing the fullest confidence in Lord Kitchener, Lord Rosebery said he thought the Government should be prepared to listen to peace overtures, and contended there was nothing degrading or abasing in recognizing the exiled Boer Government for the purpose of making peace.

Lord Rosebery said so sane Boer now hoped for anything but annoxation, and for many reasons it was urgent that the war should be ended. The Boer should not be unnecessarily humiliated. To the Boers swearing allegiance, he would give the largest possible amnesty and the fullest civil rights.

Scornfully rejecting the idea that such an Empire as Britain could not provide an alternative Government to the existing ministry, he said if that were true the nation was more fitted to control a cabbage den than an empire.

In conclusion, amid loud cheers, Lord Rosebery declared his services were at the disposal of the country in anything he could do to further the policy he had just expounded.

Lord Rosebery spoke for almost two hours, and was received throughout with the greatest enthusiasm.

No Magical Effect.

London, Dec. 17.—The Times, in an editorial on Lord Rosebery's speech, says it is worthy of his high reputation as a patriot and statesman, and that it is an utterance which rises with rare completeness to the level of a great occasion, but that it will not produce any magical effect in the domain of British politics.

Want Kitchener Recalled.

London, Dec. 17.—The movement on foot to secure the recall of Lord Kitchener has been noiseless but persistent, and has lately been sufficiently well known to cause much irritation to his friends and admirers, who include a majority of the English people. It is not likely to succeed, though, because a measurably better feeling in regard to his doings in South Africa has lately been developing, the stock market pointing the way.

No More Beer Orders.

London, Dec. 17.—The value of Germany's exports to South Africa during the past year was £701,300, as against £1,156,200 in 1889, thus showing a shrinkage of £454,900. A significant feature of this decrease is that £189,950, or nearly one-third, stands for explosives and weapons.

Admiral Schley Will Object.

Washington, Dec. 17.—At a conference between Admiral Schley and his counsel yesterday, it was decided to ask Secretary Long to withhold his approval of the findings of the Court of Inquiry until such time as the Admiral, through his counsel, can file an objection thereto. The request was delivered to Secretary Long, and, while he has not yet answered the communication, it is understood the request will be granted.

Towns in State of Siege.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 17.—The Gazette yesterday announces that a modified state of siege has been proclaimed in a score of towns situated throughout Russia. Strikes and students' riots are responsible for the action taken by the authorities.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Dec. 16.—There were about 500 head of butchers' cattle, 30 calves and 400 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The beachers were present in large numbers, and there was a brisk demand for anything moderately good, and prices of these were well maintained, but the common and inferior animals were rather dull of sale, and brought lower prices than on Thursday's market. There was only one load of prime beeves on the market, and these sold at from 4¼c to 4¾c per lb.; medium stock sold at from 3½c to 4¼c, and the dry cows at from 2½c to 3½c per lb.

Calves sold at from $2.50 to $9 each, and an exceedingly fine veal animal was held at $30.

Sheep sold at from 2½c to 3c per lb., and lambs at from 3½c to a little over 4c per lb.

Fat hogs sold at about 6c per lb., weighed off cars.

A Complicated Machine

is an object of admiration, but a complicated medicine is a thing hitherto unknown. Druggist Merrill of Brantford has combined iron and herbs and made a marvellous blood builder and purifier, as well as a tonic for the nerves. Affects a radical cure in stomach, liver and kidney diseases. Price 50c. per bottle of 50 doses. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

It Keeps Them Well.

That is exactly what our Vapo-Cresolene will do for your children. When any contagious disease is in the neighborhood you can keep your children from having it by allowing them to breathe in the vapor every night. Not a disease germ can live in this vapor, yet it is perfectly safe. You see it is that little "ounce of prevention" you have heard so much about. It brings quick relief from croup, colds, coughs and other throat troubles. 25

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE CO., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

POULTRY POINTERS.

More eggs will be obtained if the fowls have plenty of room.

Never kill a fowl for the table shortly after it has been fed.

Diseases are readily transmitted from the parents to the offspring.

Always select a small, active, vigorous male in preference to a large one. The large cocks are apt to be lazy.

A filthy drinking place will breed disease sooner than anything else. It easily becomes foul where a large number drink from it.

The slow feathering fowls are usually the hardiest; as the drain on the system occasioned by quick feathering does not weaken them.

Keep the breed you like the best and that fills the requirements. Take care to avoid inbreeding. Raise your own hens, but get your roosters from other flocks.

The eggshell is porous, and any filth on it will soon affect the meat. Eggs should be cleansed as soon as gathered if at all soiled. Keep them in a dark, cool place.

The confinement of fowls is not an improper mode of caring for them, but there should be only a few together. It is often the crowding together of large numbers that causes failure.

Crop bound fowls can trace their trouble to lack of gravel or sharp, gritty grinding material as well as to fibrous substances, such as potato and apple parings or grass blades.

Dry lime is too caustic to be given alone. Keep a vessel of limewater convenient and mix a little of it with soft food and also with their drinking water. Lime is a corrective of bowel diseases and a remedy for soft shelled eggs.

Garter Feats and Superstitions.

A young girl, blushing faintly, remarked at a theatrical performance the other night about the garter of a pale blue silk that a dancer wore below her knee.

"It is bad luck," she said, "to wear one's garter in that way. It is also untidy, but principally it is bad luck, and I, for my part, would not do it. It is also bad luck to wear white garters—they signify death—and yellow ones signify jealousy and love troubles. Garters tied in a true lover's knot are the most fortunate ones, and if they are jeweled that makes them still more fortunate. Suspender garters have no bad luck attached to them, but they are not very pretty. After the true lover's knot the black garter, fastened with a gold buckle, is the luckiest. My own garters always match my stockings, but you could never induce me to wear stockings of white or yellow."

A Big Quarter's Worth

is always found in a bottle of Polson's Nerviline, the best household liniment known. It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, headache, sick-stomach, in fact is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for. Mothers find it the safest thing to rub on their children for sore throat, cold on the chest, sprains and bruises. Never be without Polson's Nerviline. It will cure the pains and aches of the entire family and relieve a vast amount of suffering every year.

His Clever Scheme.

It was just a lesson in table manners.

The best piece of toast was about half way down the pile, and he started to take it.

"Willie," said his mother, "you shouldn't do that. Take the top piece always."

He made a hasty mental calculation.

"All right," he returned. "Pass it to the others first."

The Parrot.

With the ancients the parrot was not a bird to be revered, so far as can be learned. It is not depicted on any of the sacred scenes in stone that tell the strange stories of the religions of the nations of old, nor has it ever been found mummified in the tombs of Egypt. Most likely the ancients thought it an uncanny bird and also a dangerous one, with its capabilities of repeating what it heard.

The Invention of the Panorama.

The panorama was invented by a Scotchman named Robert Barker, who obtained a license in London in 1787 and erected a rotunda on Leicester square. He was associated with Robert Fulton, the practical inventor of the steamboat, who introduced panoramas into Paris in 1700, but resigned in favor of Thayer perhaps in order to give his attention to the application of steam to boats. Thayer raised a rotunda on the Boulevard Montmartre, whence comes the name of the Passage des Panoramas. Bonaparte caused plans to be drawn up for eight panoramas in which his conquests were to be shown to the Parisians, whom he always tried to impress with the magnitude of the achievements in order to keep them faithful to his star. But these projects were never realized.

"EAT AND SUFFER FOR IT"

That's the trial of the dyspeptic—and yet he must eat to live. Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets pave the way to a good appetite, and they "knock out" Indigestion and Dyspepsia with no uncertain blow.

The tablets do not contain any injurious drug or narcotic—wouldn't harm the most delicate stomach—they're pleasant to use—handy to carry. They stimulate digestion, prevent fermentation, make the blood rich, give nerve and brain force. The seat of most sickness is the stomach. Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets permit no enemy to health to "camp" there. Sixty tablets, 35c. 38

Lots of Turkeys.

Mr. John Kincaid, who has opened out a commission merchant business on Hunter street, is doing a great business these days in the turkey trade. Mr. Kincaid has handled several thousand turkeys already this fall and is shipping to the English market. He says the birds are of the best quality that he has handled in some time, and the farmers appear to have many of them.

BAND CONCERT,

Market Hall, December 20th,, assisted by Canadian General Glee Club and a Vocal Quartette.

A Good "Ad."

Notwithstanding the downpour of rain all day Saturday, a large number of people hurried through the flooded streets to Ormond & Walsh's drug store to procure sample boxes of Ferrosone, which had been advertised to be given free. By actual count there must have been nearly six hundred persons served with this blood builder and nerve tonic. What number would have been served had the day been fine can only be conjecture.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Lucius Sherlock took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, Stewart street to Little Lake Cemetery and was very largely attended by many of the town's leading citizens. The services at the house and at the grave were conducted by Rev. D. O. Crossley, assisted by Rev. Kilgour. The pall bearers were Messrs. S. R. Armstrong, T. W. Robinson, Benj. Shortly, Sam. Clegg, R. J. Kidd and Dr. M. A. Morrison.

A First Class Attraction.

The following letter received by Manager Bradburn, of the Opera House, speaks for itself:

"Cooperstown, N.Y.

"Dear Sir. — The Harry Webber Co. played Nip and Tuck here last night to a large and delighted audience, giving first-class satisfaction. Barnard Gilbert, Manager Opera House."

This attraction will be presented to-morrow night. Prices, 25, 35, 50 and 75c. Plan at Ormond & Walsh's.

St. Joseph's Bazaar.

The Christmas Attraction Bazaar, under the auspices of the Sisters of St. Joseph's and for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital, will be held in Bradburn's Opera House on Thursday, Friday and Saturday next, 19th, 20th and 21st of December. Among the many handsome and useful articles to be offered for sale, will be found many things of exquisite beauty and design, very suitable for holiday gifts, and which, no doubt, will be eagerly looked for by those wishing to procure something above the average for their Christmas presents, and at very moderate prices. Meals will be served as follows: Dinner, from 12 to 2 p. m.; and tea from 6 to 8 p. m. The public are cordially invited to be present, and assist in the charitable work for which this Bazaar is being held. 3d142

OBITUARY.

The Late R. T. Brodie of Toronto, a Former Peterborough Resident.

The many friends of Mr. Robert T. Brodie, a former much respected resident of Peterborough, will regret to learn of his death, which took place at his residence, 532 Huron street, Toronto, on Monday, December 16th. The deceased gentleman, who was in the 71st year of his age, formerly resided in Peterborough when he was associated with his son, Mr. A. W. Brodie, in the woollen mills industry. During his residence in town he gained the esteem of a wide circle of friends and of the community generally. About 12 years ago, when the woollen mills were removed to Heapeler, he took residence in that place, subsequently removing to Toronto, where he lived retired till his death. He leaves a widow and family of seven children, three sons and four daughters. The sons are Messrs. A. W., who married a daughter of Mr. Judge Edmison, Robert and Willie; the daughters being Mrs. Andrew Mercer and three daughters residing at home.

The funeral (private) takes place from the family residence, Wednesday, Dec. 18th. Interment will take place in Guelph.

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME

In the Opera House Last Night—The Macdonald Male Quartette—First of a Series.

The first concert of the Star Series of five entertainments which will be given in Peterborough throughout the winter season took place in the opera house last night, and while the audience was not very large it was an appreciative gathering and the programme was beyond doubt one of the best that has been heard in Peterborough in some time. The concert last night was provided by the Macdonald Male Quartette which included J. Ruthven Macdonald, Basso; Edward Gardner, Baritone; Newton Large, 2nd Tenor, and J. C. Lockhart 1st Tenor. They proved to be a great combination and should they ever return to town, and there is a probability that they will, they will undoubtedly be greeted with a large audience. Mr. Macdonald is well-known throughout Ontario in musical circles and possesses a magnificent voice with great range, and proved to be a great favourite, particularly in his humourous selections. He is certainly one of the finest bassos that has been heard in Peterborough for some time. Mr. Gardner possesses a sonorous baritone voice of great power, whilst the sweet tenor voice of Mr. Large, with great range prov d to be highly appreciated. Mr. Lockhart is a young Englishman with a tenor voice of much purity and exceptional intonation. His voice, in ' is beautifully clear and sweet. As a quartette the entire company possess voices of great power, well blended, and their numbers were heartily encored.

Little Lina the elocutionist of great promise, who accompanies the quartette, is graceful in her posing, has a sweet voice and has splendid expression. She was especially good in her missionary numbers.

Miss Macdonald deserves special mention as an accompanist.

The perfume of the Violets, Lily of the Valley, Mignonette, Roses and all the favourite extra distilled odors from leading perfume makers in handsome glass and in bulk, at ORMOND & WALSH'S Drug Store.

At St. John's.

Rev. Arthur Murphy the evangelist, who has been conducting Mission services at St. Lukes, has consented to give an address in St. John's on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. All members of the congregation and the public generally are invited to attend.

Broke His Arm.

Mr. James Hall Mann, of Bridgenorth, had the misfortune to be kicked by a horse on Tuesday of last week, resulting in his arm being broken. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Mann in his trouble, it being only a few days previous to his accident that his son, Mr. Evy Mann, had his leg amputated, as a result of a kick from the same horse.

STATUTORY MEETING.

Beet Sugar Matters Were Discussed Before Regular Business.

A SURPLUS OF $1762.92.

A Neat Sum Found on the Right Side of the Municipal Ledger at the Close of the Year.

The Statutory Meeting of the Town Council was held last evening for the purpose of receiving the annual statements concerning the municipality's finances.

His Worship Mayor Denne presided, with the following Aldermen present: Messrs. H. Best, John Corkery, Jos. Batten, Robert Clinkscale, H. Rush, G M.. Roger, B. Shortly, and Jas. Edgcumbe.

Previous to taking up regular business, a deputation was received, consisting of Messrs. Adam Hall, B. F. Ackerman and William Collins, who wished to report concerning the progress made in regard to taking steps to interest those concerned in the establishment of a beet sugar factory in Peterborough.

Mr. Adam Hall was the first to address the council, and stated that the deputation represented the committee recently appointed at a joint meeting of the town and county to conduct an investigation concerning the proposed beet sugar factory. He reported that a circular had been sent to the various township councils in the vicinity, asking for delegates to be appointed to visit the factories of Michigan, and interview the farmers there. As the councils were all meeting this evening, he expected to hear from them in the course of a day or two. If the town council appointed their delegates now, the committee would go on and make arrangements regarding railway rates, etc. Great interest in the matter was being taken by the farmers whom he had seen. It was proposed that the delegates go to Michigan during the week between Christmas and New Years.

Mr. B. F. Ackerman also spoke briefly regarding the interest which was manifested in the townships in the vicinity of the town.

Mr. William Collins, referred to the result of the test which had made the fact known to the world that Peterborough county could grow the best sugar beets in Ontario. All deputations which had gone to Michigan from different portions of Ontario had reported favourably on sugar beets as a crop.

Ald. Rush mentioned that Stephen Payne had ten acres of land which he was ready to plant with the sugar beets, so much confidence did he have in the experiment.

Ald. Roger expressed the belief that the sugar beet industry was going to be a great one. He moved that the whole question be referred to the Manufacturers Committee, with power to act, and select delegates to go to Michigan, if they thought it necessary.

Ald. Best said that from what he had heard from the leading farmers, they were not in favour of giving a bonus to the factory. Until the farmers showed that they were in earnest about the matter he did not think the town should take it up.

Mr. Adam Hall replied that it would be known by Wednesday what action the township councils would take, but he knew of many influential farmers who were going to attend the council meetings to urge the importance of the question on their representatives.

Mr. Collins stated that County Councillor Pearce was opposed to submitting a County bylaw to raise the money for a bonus, as he thought that the vote of municipalities which were too far away to benefit by the factory would swamp the bylaw. His wish was to see the Townships which would be benefited, make small grants towards the bonus.

Mayor Denne stated that this was Warden Fitzgerald's position also.

Ald. Shortly seconded Ald. Roger's motion and strongly urged in favour of the establishment of the factory.

The motion was carried.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and referred as follows:

From the Otonabee Power Company, asking permission to erect poles for the transmission of power, on certain streets. — Referred to the Board of Works.

From R. Bradburn, the Y.W.C.A., Jos. Succee and Mary Kano, asking remission of taxes.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From P. Clonan and Robert Hall, asking remission of dog tax. — Referred to the Court of Revision.

From the Retailer's Association, asking that the Tuesday before Christmas be declared a market day. —On motion of Ald. Shortly and Edgcumbe, market days will be held on Dec. 24th and 31st.

From the Commissioners of the Town Trust, as follows: — In reply to your favour of the 5th inst. in which you state you are instructed to ask the Commissioners of the Town Trust to explain their action in conveying to a private company the land adjoining the Cordage Co's work, reported by the Town Solicitor to be a part of Bethune street contrary to that opinion and whether or not the Commissioners obtained any other legal advice on the subject, I beg to say I am desired to reply that the Commissioners were of opinion at the time of the making of the conveyance referred to, that the property described in the conveyance was their property and not a highway and that this was done before any legal objection was given to the Town on the subject by the Town Solicitor. I may point out that the Commissioners did not in any manner or form guarantee any title to the Cordage Company, to whom you refer, nor waived any responsibility; nor did they do any act that was binding upon the Town, provided the land in question is part of Bethune street as advised by your Solicitor. — Referred to the Legal Committee.

From Hatton & Bradburn, on behalf of their client, E. A. Marrow, stating that an immediate settlement is required re the pavement on the corner of George and Brock streets.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From a large number of ratepayers, asking the repeal of that portion of the snow bylaw requiring

REMEMBER THE POOR.

During this Christmas tide of good cheer the thoughts of those who are in a position to give, should take a wider range than that of merely including their personal friends in their efforts to increase the feeling of general happiness which seems to pervade the very atmosphere at the present season of the year. It should be borne in mind that we have amongst us some to whom Christmas does not mean as much as it does to others. The gaunt spectre of poverty stands between them and comfort and unless remembered by those in better circumstances the glad yule tide will bring nothing but feelings of sadness. Fortunately, there are not many families in want in prosperous Peterborough, but Mr. Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, has some seventeen family on his list to whom any gifts would be most welcome. There are also four little children at the Shelter whose Christmas could be made a glad one by a little forethought.

THE "AT HOME"

Given by the Peterborough Club Last Night was Largely Attended.

The first "At Home" to be given by the Peterborough Club to their lady friends was held last night and was a splendid social success. The beautiful club rooms in the Bank of Commerce building were handsomely decorated for the occasion with flowers of various kinds, and presented a very homelike appearance. About 100 members of the club and their friends were present and from 8 until 12 o'clock the rooms were comfortably filled. Games of various kinds were participated in and an impromtu programme of vocal and instrumental music was rendered. Refreshments were served throughout the evening.

Shorey & Co. of Montreal Sharing Their Richest Plums With the City Clothing Store.

Our regular customers, as well as those specially interested in buying the very top-notch ready-to-wear clothing, will be pleased to learn that Mr. Shorey, of Montreal, famous for his high class goods, made his regular visit to the City Clothing Store last week. He came personally, to make special offerings to us, as usual, at the close of his season, and before beginning the spring work. We had the cream of his fine winter stock offered us at tempting prices, and although we had a heavy stock on hand, we gave Mr. Shorey a large order because it was the best snap we had offered us for many a day. Our business relations with Mr. Shorey have always been particularly satisfactory. Every garment sent us has a good seller. Shorey & Co. are noted for using honest material and insisting on good tailoring. Quality and value is always guaranteed. We invite men, young men and boys, to inspect this really high class stock which we can and will sell at less than wholesale prices. As we have had a splendid trade this year, and as our stock is very heavy, we are prepared to make unusual reductions to help to lessen our overstock. Suits and overcoats that up to last night were marked at regular prices have all been cut down to the richest bargains ever offered at this store. Early buyers can now pick and choose from our big stock, and we give them the benefit of our best Montreal snaps.

FAIRYLAND.

The local stores are now looking their prettiest, which befits the holiday season.

As the one presenting the greatest variety in its own legitimate lines, China Hall stands pre-eminently first.

For twenty years this store has invited the public to view its Christmas display, and has received a generous share of patronage.

The assortment of 1901 is more comprehensive than ever before, the stock including graceful ornaments, handsome dinner sets, with their accompanying glasses, dainty China tea sets, lamps, flower pots, celery trays, salad bowls, pudding dishes, bread and butter plates, and fancy cups and saucers galore.

In fact, each article in this vast stock, is suitable for a present, and a gift of China, unlike more ostentatious goods, never offends, but always pleases the recipient.

China Hall, in its present holiday attire, resembles a fairy land, through which you are invited to wander. The store will be kept open every evening until after Xmas. 3d130-1w

PERSONALS.

Mrs. E. C. Complin is in Toronto for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McBain went up to Toronto this afternoon.

Miss Essie Blewett returned home on Saturday from a four month's trip to the Northwest and other points.

Miss Gertrude Kendry has returned from a most pleasant visit to Miss Grace Ely at Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Metcalfe will have the sincere sympathy of their many friends in their grief caused by the death of their little son.

Amongst those who have been successful in passing their final examinations at the College of Pharmacy is Mr. George Reilley, formerly of town.

Mrs. Alf. Gaskins and her little daughter, Carman, of Toronto, is home spending her Christmas holidays with her mother, Mrs. C. Blewett.

Mrs. J. R. Stratton will not receive until after the holidays owing to out of town engagements, but will be at home on Wednesday the 15th of January.

The many friends of Mr. George Edmison will be pleased to see him around again after several weeks illness as the result of a fall he received.

Mrs. H. Dundass wishes to express her appreciation of and sincere thanks for the Town Council's generous gift of $25.00 in connection with her son's enlistment for service in South Africa.

The Mr. Ferguson mentioned in the following paragraph which is taken from the Brockville Recorder, was at one time a resident of Peterborough—a step-son of the late Mr. T. F. Graham, who resided on Gilmour street:—"The marriage took place Tuesday evening in the chapel of St. Francis de Sales church, Smith's Falls, of Ella, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Wood, to Mr. Arthur L. Ferguson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father J. Meagher, of Brockville. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will make an extended tour of the Southern States.

Toronto Globe.—The reception which was given in the Speaker's chambers last night by the Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mrs. Stratton was a very pleasant and successful function, and was attended by a great many of their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Stratton received at the entrance of the drawing room, and Mrs. Latchford also received with them. Mrs. Stratton had on a very rich gown of pale blue satin, with an overdress of Brussels net, richly embroidered with gold and crystal sequins. She wore diamond ornaments, and carried a bouquet of roses. Mrs. Latchford's gown was of black silk grenadine, over white taffeta, trimmed with lace and jet. Gliomma's orchestra played out in the hall, and during the evening much pleasure was given by songs sung beautifully by Mr. Wenbourne and also by Mr. Ricardo. Refreshments were served in the dining-room, the tables being most artistically decorated in red and green. In the centre was a large stand of brilliant Poinsetta and maiden hair ferns, with white roses below. Bands of broad red ribbon were entwined about the table, together with ropes of smilax. There were silver candelabra, in which the lights were covered with dainty green shades, and at either end were large vases of white roses. The mantlepiece was also most artistically banked with maiden hair ferns and Poinsetta, and the gasaliers were also entwined with smilax. In the drawing-room, also the mantlepieces were banked with ferns, and vases of roses stood on the tables. The pleasant affair came to an end shortly before 11 o'clock.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Christmas decorating will begin in All Saint's church on Thursday evening.

—Complaints made that the North Ward School is not kept as warm as it should be. Yesterday the children in Miss Beckett's room had to keep their wraps on and be marched around the room at intervals to prevent them taking cold. This matter should be looked into by the Board of Education.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

HOCKEY.

The captain of the intermediate team will be chosen to-night, and all hockey players are asked to be at the rink not later than 8 o'clock for this purpose.

CURLIANA.

The Thistles meet to-night to select the personnel of their rinks for the season. As the ice is now ready for use there should be a big turnout of players for the first evening's play.

THE ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

Statutory Meeting was Held Last Night.

The Financial Statement for the Year was Presented and Will be Published To-morrow.

The statutory meeting of the Ashburnham village council was held last night, the following members being in attendance, Mr. F. Adams, Reeve, in the chair, and Messrs. R. Sheridan, J. M. Smith, Robert Pollock, and W. Johnston.

A communication received from Mr. Adam Hall, chairman of the committee appointed at a meeting held some time ago when the establishment of a sugar beet factory in this vicinity was discussed, asking the council to consider the advisability of offering a bonus to a company, and and of sending two gentlemen as a delegation, made up of representatives from other municipalities, to Michigan, to obtain further data on the subject.—Received.

The following statement of receipts and expenses for the month of November was presented:

The Snow Ploughing.

The matter of snow ploughing was then taken up and upon motion of Councillor Johnston, seconded by Councillor Sheridan, the snow ploughing for the north ward was awarded to Mr. Frith for $36, and the south ward to Albert Valois for $39.

A bylaw to fix the polling subdivisions for the municipal elections received its several readings.

The polling places for the north ward will be in the up-stairs of the town hall, and in the south ward at the Council Chamber.

Messrs. T. Q. Quartermaine and John T. Wright were appointed deputy returning officers.

Councillor Johnston introduced a bylaw, which was seconded by Councillor Smith, changing the hour for receiving nominations from 12 to 1 o'clock noon, to 7.30 to 8.30 p.m.

The usual grants were given the reporters of the local press, after which the council adjourned.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES.

To-night Rev. Arthur Murphy will speak on the "Second Coming of Christ," at the evangelistic service at 7.45.

The services will be discontinued after to-night, and the Mission will come to a close by special services on Sunday next.

The members of the congregation are requested to send evergreens, flowers, and other material suitable for decorating the church to the Sunday School, if possible before Thursday.

The Childrens' services, which throughout have been well attended, came to a close this afternoon.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will be very glad to receive from the members of his church Christmas gifts, such as clothing, groceries, meat, etc., for distribution among the poor people of the parish. These gifts are requested to be sent to the Rectory sometime during this week.

H. LeBRUN AND CO.

Their Bill of Fare for the Coming Christmas.

Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. have been a long time in business, and have been continually gathering pointers in regard to the most taking preparations for the Christmas trade. The results of their experiences will be found expressed in this year's magnificent stock of serviceable goods, suitable for sensible Christmas presents. You can show your good will and kindness to your friends and relatives better by making a gift that will be useful, and will also serve to keep you in grateful remembrance far longer, than by some more expensive, but comparatively useless article. At the City Clothing Store, you will find a magnificent holiday stock. This includes beautiful neckwear, embracing all the latest and most elegant novelties, handsome mufflers, etc. Silk handkerchiefs are splendidly represented, and also gloves for street wear, driving, etc. Warm underwear of English and Canadian manufacture, handsome hosiery and silk suspenders, with initials, and in every variety of elegance, will also be found. When you are giving your orders to Santa Claus be sure and insist that the bill is to be filled at H. LeBrun & Co's. They can fill the bill to your satisfaction every time. Their stock is superb and of great variety, and the prices are very reasonable—

When you deal with Santa Claus,
Send him straight to H. LeBrun's.
If you ask us why—because
At his store, on George street found,
Beautiful Christmas goods abound,
The best in all the country round;
The staple, solid and the gay,
For lasting wear or neat display,
And, best of all, tout bon marche.

EIGHT MORE MEN

To be Taken on the Strength of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Eight more men from Peterborough are to be taken on the strength of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles. This is the latest order that has been issued and as there were about fifty applicants for service on the occasion of the last enlistment, and of which only 12 were accepted; there should be no trouble in securing the additional number. The recruiting will take place here on Dec. 23rd, the recruiting officer being Col. Lessard, C. B., R. C. D., and the medical examiner being Surg.-Maj. T. W. H. Young, 3rd Dragoons.

MR. McRAE'S INSURANCE.

An Interesting Tribute to the Promptness of the Travelers' Company.

From Perkins, Fraser & Burbidge, Solicitors, Estate J. W. McRae.

To Frank F. Parkins, Chief Agent, The Travellers' Ins. Co., Montreal, P. Q.

Ottawa, Dec. 10, 1901.

Dear Sir, — I have to thank you on behalf of Mrs. McRae, for the prompt adjustment of her claims against your company, and also for your assistance in making up the proofs of loss. The late Mr. J. W. McRae took out a policy less than three years ago with your company. Under its conditions his wife and her estate were guaranteed an annuity of two thousand dollars ($2,000) per annum for twenty-five years, and at the end of that time the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000). The company's cheque, dated December 9th, has been paid over to-day for the first annuity.

On her behalf I would also acknowledge the recipt of cheque for fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) in payment of the accident policy carried by Mr. McRae in your company. The prompt payment of these claims, I am sure, will only strengthen the esteem in which your company is held by your Canadian policy holders.

Yours truly,
WM. C. PERKINS.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, December 16th, 1901.

"Market prices about bottom."

The general market has had about all the drop it is entitled to. St. Paul and New York Central have been utilized by the bears to accomplish their end. The theory as to St. Paul, is that the stock has been sold out of one hand into the other by the bear interests, with the view to facilitating their operating of the general market.

The copper dividend question will now be determined in a few days, then that stock will lose its deterrent influence upon the market. Should the results of the dividends be favourable however, it would exercise considerable influence upon the general market.

The principal bull ray is that the stock market has never been known to break wide open, when everybody expects a smash.

Money has been manipulated as high as possible. Artificiality was apparent. Its effect has been to weaken the market for sterling exchange.

On Friday the refusal of Sage and his colleagues to loan money in the early hours at 7 per cent., compelled them to loan later at 6 per cent. and under. The scale buying in the market the past three days has been of the very best, and it should shortly be followed by considerable improvements in prices.

The weak holders of stocks are now out, those who have them now, have the ability to hang on to them.

The money market has behaved wonderfully well, considering the enormous preparations made for paying out the January dividend and interests. This amount is the largest ever paid out before for a similar period, and will be followed by circulation right after the first of the month. Indications are not lacking, the past three days, special efforts have been made not to dispose of stocks at the best prices available, but to make sales of record at as low quotations as possible. Such tactics would presage the close of bearish manipulations.

We deem it advisable to purchase stocks upon a scale, and secure some immediately.

The market looks as if it would now rub near bottom, and that prices had come pretty close to reaching rock bottom.

To the disappointed observer of the market, it would seem a good time to prepare for the swing of the financial pendulum in the upward direction, under leadership of N. Y. C., Mr., Man. and Rock Island. The market to-day improved, these advancing 2 per cent. L. N. and Mop fell in the procession followed by the coalers and South Westerns.

The afternoon witnessed a set back by copper, which made a new low record, selling down to 61 7-8.

Persistent bear rumors were circulated as to the stock, while Sunday press quite unanimously talked in "bearish strains."

It would look as if those who sought out and exploited bear views now relative to copper, occupy the position of the man who locks the stable door after the horse was stolen. It would seem a decline of over sixty points.

The market stands up well under local adverse influences. A favourable view of its future outcome should be taken from this fact.

KITCHEN HELPS.

To clean a greasy sink a little paraffin oil, rubbed on with a piece of flannel, will save a great deal of trouble.

Ordinary tea marks on china may be readily dissolved by scrubbing with a soft brush dipped in salt water and vinegar.

If new tinware is rubbed over with fresh lard and thoroughly heated in the oven before it is used, it will never rust afterward, no matter how much it is put in water.

A good way to clean zinc utensils is to dip a piece of cotton in kerosene and rub the articles with it until the dirt is removed. Dry afterward with a clean cloth so as to get rid of all grease.

For stained tinware borax produces the best results. If the teapot or coffeepot is discolored on the inside, boil it in a strong solution of borax for a short time, and all its brightness will return.

Pans and kettles partly filled with water should not be placed on the range to soak, as it only makes them harder to clean. They should be filled with cold water and be kept away from the heat.

Infants too young to take medicine may be cured of croup, whooping cough and colds by using Vapo-Cresolene—they breathe it.

Housekeeper's Backache.

Many women lift and strain, over-work and over-tax their strength. Their back gives out. Their kidneys becomeaffected. They have a painful or sore feeling in the small of the back that takes all the life and ambition out of them. They feel dull, depressed, lifeless.

Listen! The hard work you've been doing has thrown extra work on the kidneys. They cry out in protest through the aching back. You feel wretched all over because the kidneys are not working right and poison is circulating in your system. The kidneys must have help—better give them the benefit of the best Kidney Medicine made—Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets—the prescription of a kidney specialist—the result of years of study of kidney diseases.

PAIN PREVENTED SLEEP.

Mrs. N. Laviolette, Arnprior, Ont., writes as follows: "I have used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They are beyond question the best kidney remedy I have ever used. I had lameness and an acute pain between the shoulders. I could not sleep nights. I had more or less headache. Often I suffered from indigestion caused by uric acid in my system. These troubles departed after I had used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, my kidneys were strengthened and I rested better nights. I think these Tablets the most effective kidney remedy I have ever seen. I know that they surpass every other that I have tried heretofore, and I do not hesitate in recommending them."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a Box, at all druggists or by mail, THE DR. ZINA PITCHER CO., Toronto, Ont.

THE MOON'S CHANGES

THEY HAVE NO INFLUENCE WHATEVER UPON THE WEATHER.

Some Superstitions That Still Exist Upon the Subject—Moon Theories That Are Mere Survivals From a Past Credulity.

A belief prevails that the moon's phases and changes have a controlling influence over the weather, but so great an authority as Professor C. A. Young of Princeton has assured us that the moon has absolutely nothing to do with the weather.

Such a belief is in the strict sense of the word a superstition—"mere survival from a past credulity. It is quite certain that if there is any influence at all of the sort it is extremely slight, so slight that it cannot be demonstrated with certainty, although numerous investigations have been made expressly for the purpose of detecting it. We have never been able to ascertain, for instance, with certainty whether it is warmer or not or less cloudy or not at the time of the full moon. Different investigations have led to contradictory results.

"As to the supposed connection between 'changes of the moon' and changes of the weather, it should be enough to note that even within the United States the weather changes are not simultaneous (in Kansas and Maine, for instance), as they should be if they were due to the changing phases of the moon. Since, however, a change of the moon occurs every week, every weather change must necessarily occur within about three days and a half of lunar change, and half of them ought to fall within about forty-five hours, even if perfectly independent.

"Now, it requires only a very slight prepossession in favor of a belief in the effectiveness of the moon's changes to make one forget a few of the weather changes that occur too far from the proper time. Coincidences enough can easily be found to justify a pre-existing belief."

From a very remote antiquity, in the twilight of natural astrology, a belief arose that changes in the weather were occasioned by the moon. That the belief still exists is clear to any one who is acquainted with current literature and common folklore. In fact, it must be admitted that even intelligent and well informed people have been known to accept the theory.

The idea that the weather is affected by the changes in the moon is still held with great vigor in England, and one of our proverbs is, "So many days old the moon is on Michaelmas day, so many floods after." If it rains on St. Swithin's day, we are told to expect rain for forty days after. An equally wise prediction is that if Christmas comes during a waxing moon we shall have a very good year, and the nearer to the moon the better, but if during a waning moon a hard year, and the nearer the end of the moon so much the worse.

Another belief is that the condition of the weather depends upon the day of the week on which the new moon chances to fall. New moon on Monday, or moon day, is everywhere held as a sign of good weather. Friday's new moon is much disliked, while Saturday is unlucky for the new and Sunday for the full moon.

In Scotland the farmers believe that a misty moon is a misfortune, and an agricultural maxim among them teaches us that

> If the moon shows like a silver shield,
> You need not be afraid to reap your field,
> But if she rises bloody round
> Soon we'll tread on deluged ground.

Another weather guide connected with the moon is that to see "the old moon in the arms of the new moon" is reckoned a sign of fair weather, and so is the turning up of the horns of the new moon. In this position it is supposed to retain the water which is imagined to be in it and which would run out if the horns were turned down.

The country people in Scotland foretell the changes of the weather from the changes in the appearance of the new moon. If she "lies sair on her back," it is a sure sign of bad weather, or when her horns are pointed toward the zenith.

At Whitby when the moon is surrounded by a halo with watery clouds the seamen say that there will be a change in the weather, for the "moon dogs" are about. There is also a belief prevalent among sailors and seafaring men that when a large star or planet is seen near the moon or, as they express it, "a big star is dogging the moon," this is a certain sign of stormy weather.—Exchange.

Darkness of Ocean Depths.

How far does sunlight penetrate beneath the surface of the seas? has been asked many times, and now the camera has answered the question. By exposing the most sensitive photographic plates at various depths it has been ascertained with definiteness how much sunlight there is in the water each descending foot.

There is a point at which no action of light is found, and that point is 600 feet under the surface. Below that is absolute darkness, and the only way in which the most delicate plate can be effected in that black abyss is to send down an electric light with it.

A Display of Avarice.

On the occasion of giving a concert Mme. Sala engaged Paganini at a fee of 50 guineas, says the Golden Penny. The next day she repaired to the violinist's house and handed him the sum in gold, the sight of which filled the great player with such violent emotion that he plunged his fingers among the bright pieces, which he poured over his arms and hands as though they were water. Despite this display of avarice, however, he returned the fee to Mme. Sala.

ANIMALS IN A STORM

They Dislike the Wet Weather and Seek a Place of Safety.

Both wild and tame animals, four footed or with wings, have a deep seated aversion to wet weather. Even water fowl will seek a dry hiding place when it rains.

Did you ever watch the actions of cattle before a big storm? If so, you must have seen them grow more and more uneasy as the clouds gathered. You also saw them run up and down the field, as if seeking to escape some impending danger. Finally, when the storm breaks, they draw close together and with lowered heads present a picture of despair.

Domestic animals when it rains will always keep indoors, or, failing that, they will seek shelter by the barn or under trees or beneath the hedges and thickets—in short, in any convenient place where they may not be entirely exposed to the downpour.

It is the same with fowls. They dislike the rain, which soaks their feathers. They seek sheltered places and creep under wagons or behind boxes and boards. Chickens do not mind getting their feet wet, for they will scratch the ground soon after a shower in search of worms and beetles.

Wild birds do their best to keep out of the rain. Some of them build a roof over their nests; others choose a home under the eaves or under a projecting cliff, where they may be safe from the discomfort that the rain brings.

But most of them are without shelter provided in advance by their own forethought. These take refuge in any place that they happen to find at hand. If you watch them before the storm, you will see them looking for such a place. If the storm comes suddenly, the small and helpless ones seem bewildered, flying from tree to tree and from limb to limb, quite unable to make up their minds exactly where to hide themselves.

Extreme Case of Nervousness.

Female Weakness and Exhaustion—Had a Very Painful Operation—Was Pale and Weak and Fainted Often—Doctors Failed to Help her.

There is scarcely a limit to the sufferings which women endure when their nervous system become run down and give way beneath the burdens which they are forced to bear. There are ills peculiar to women, which in nine cases out of ten are the result of a low state of vitality and a depletion of nerve force. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures women of their ills, irregularities and weaknesses by thoroughly restoring the vigour of the nerves.

Every woman will read with interest the following letter from a lady who has been cured of a serious illness by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She says the testimonials she reads are not half strong enough.

Mrs. Benjamin Hatfield, Hillyard street, St. Johns, N.B., writes: "For three years I was a sufferer from extreme nervousness and female weakness and found it necessary to undergo a very painful operation. I was pale and weak, had no appetite and would sometimes faint two or three times a day. For seven weeks I was under the doctor's care but he seemed unable to help me. Despairing of recovery, I took the advice of a friend, who told me that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food would build me up and make me strong and well again. After four months' use of this preparation I found myself greatly improved, but continued the treatment for one year, using in all sixteen boxes. I have been blessed with a young daughter now, and believe that I am as strong and well as ever in my life. As a result I cannot say too much in favour of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has performed a complete and thorough cure in my case, and I am healthier and fleshier than I have been for years. The testimonials I see are not half strong enough. I tell my friends and neighbours about it, and many of them join me in pronouncing Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most effective restorative obtainable. Desiring that other sufferers may benefit by my happy experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I willingly give you permission to use this testimonial."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is an up-to-date, scientific preparation of most extraordinary merit. It has proven itself the most effective nerve restorative of the age. It is certain to benefit everyone who uses it, because it forms new red corpuscles in the blood and creates new nerve force. It is especially efficacious in the cures of female ills and weaknesses; 50 cents a box, 5 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

No Tick There.

"No doubt you see that I am one of the diffident men," observed the drummer, "one of the sort who don't compare watches with the town clock and tell everybody for a block around that the clock is seven minutes off. I was up in a Massachusetts town a few weeks ago, and I had to make a certain train or lose a thousand dollar order. I looked at my watch and in a furtive way compared it with the town clock. It looked to me as if there was a big difference between the two, but I decided to go by the clock. I went into three or four places, loafed around and was killing time when an acquaintance came along and said:

"'I thought you were going to make that 2:30 train?'

"'Yes, I am,' I replied.

"'When?'

"'This afternoon, of course.'

"'By what time?'

"'By your town clock. I've got half an hour yet.'

"'Oh, you have!' he laughed. 'Well, let me tell you that our clock hasn't been running for a week, and you have lost your train by an hour and a quarter.'"

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and erradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. TOUGH BILL OF FARE

MESSES THAT ARE SERVED ON BOARD A "MEAN SHIP."

Queer Names the Sailors Give to the Unpalatable Food—Dog Chowder, By the Wind Soup, Topgallant Tea and Cow Dipper.

Some ships are known as "mean ships" by sailors on account of the food that is served to the forecastle. They are chiefly deep water sailing ships and tramp steamers. Of course what a sailor shall have to eat is provided for by law, but the law sometimes gets badly mixed up on blue water. The strange dishes served to sailors on "mean ships" are no stranger than the names the sailors give them. One of the commonest of "mean ship" dishes is "by the wind soup." This delicacy is composed of well polished mutton bones, stale meat trimmings, a handful of potato parings and scraps from the captain's table. The mixture is boiled vigorously for two hours, at the end of which time the result is hot water of a light brown color with floating islands of grease on its surface. A little hardtack is added, and there you have your "by the wind soup."

When a "mean ship" gets well out to sea, one of the first dishes to appear is "dog chowder." It is a sort of resurrection pudding, made of scraps that the cook does not dare to serve up as they are, but which he shreds finely or pounds in a mortar until all semblance of their original state is lost. The mess is well mixed with grease and served hot.

Grease plays an important part in all the "mean ship" dishes. Another standard item on the bill of fare of these ships is "topgallant tea." It is served to the men in the dog watches, and the recipe for making it is this: Three times a week weak tea, made from fresh tea leaves, is served. The leaves are saved and mixed with the tea leaves from the captain's table. Brown sugar or molasses is added, and from the mixture is made a decoction which is served four days in the week and which the sailors call "topgallant tea."

"Cow dipper" is a common dish on all "mean ships." It is made by boiling beef bones for six or seven hours with all the scraps left over from former meals. The broth so obtained is well seasoned with salt and served out. Another dish is "jumping jenny," sometimes called "double belt pie," from the fact that the sailor has to take in a couple of holes in his belt after eating it in order to stay him until the next meal. It is the result of a week's leavings from the cabin table mixed with six or eight ship's biscuits and half an onion. It is not at all a nice dish, and a sailor with epicurean tastes always makes a row when the cook serves it.

On some of the "western ocean" tramps a dish is served known to the sailors as "hide stew," and the toughest old salt that ever was drunk on shore or mutinous at sea is subdued by it to a state of lamblike docility, for it is sure to double him up with indigestion and make him think of the hereafter. It is made from a collection of the skins of everything—pigs, potatoes, fowl (from the captain's table), bacon rind and well picked chicken legs. This is boiled for six hours and plenty of thick grease added.

The captain of a "mean ship" always says, of course, that his men are well fed and that they only growl and grumble because they are a bad, ungrateful lot of abandoned wretches. In proof of it he will tell you that he gives them plum duff twice a week. The duff he gives them is known to the sailors as "bowline duff." It is made from the scrapings of pudding cloths that once held the puddings consumed in port—when the captain gave his men real duff, so that they might not know that they had shipped on a "mean ship" and make a "pierhead jump" for liberty. These scrapings are made bulky with biscuit paste and flavored with cloves. "Bowline duff" is the least unpopular of all the dishes on the bill of fare of the "mean ship," and its actual cost is 2 cents for every three men.

The Spoiled Child.

Once upon a time a young kingfisher went to the father bird and asked for his fishing rod, that he might catch some choice trout he had seen in a nearby stream.

"No!" answered the stern parent.

The young bird went his way and in an hour returned dripping wet, saying that he had (tried to catch he fish without a pole and had fallen into the water.

"There!" said the mother bird to the father. "I knew you would spoil the child if you spared the rod."

Moral.—The mother can always find a way to place blame on the father, no matter what happens.

Working Up.

A good story, even when the same man continues to repeat it, has a tendency to grow, like a rolling snowball. An instance is here furnished:

"So our friend Bushler went to the top of Mont Blanc?" said one man to another.

"Not at all."

"But he said so."

"True. Two months ago, when he returned from Switzerland, he said he had been at the foot of Mont Blanc. Since then he has gradually lied himself to the top."

His Suspicion.

Mother—You nice little boy! In dividing that apple you kept the half with a worm hole for yourself and let sister have the other half.

Johnny—Yes; I s'pected the worm had bored through to t' other side.—Boston Transcript.

WEAKNESS

in MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been tainted from any cause do not risk a return bout on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no reason why you should be mental, physical or sexual wrecks. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If impure in health, call and consult us. Consultation Free. We treat and Cure Diseases, Blood Poisons, Varicocele, Stricture, Piles, Rupture, Skin Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. Everything confidential. Consultation Free. Books Free. Question Blank Free for Home Treatment.

SOUND AS A DOLLAR

That is the result of a course of treatment with Scott's Emulsion. We have special reference to persons with weak lungs and sensitive throats.

Scott's Emulsion does some things better than others. This is one of them. It has a peculiar action on the throat and lungs which gives them strength and makes them tough.

That's how Scott's Emulsion drives out coughs, colds and bronchitis. It keeps them out, too.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

KEYNOTES OF NATIONS.

Metallic Clangor Is the Dominating Sound of This Country.

Not only is this period of history rightly called the "age of steel," but the name of the "land of steel" might as justly be given to our own country, according to the curious testimony of a resident of this city. Mr. B., whose wealth has not warded off the infliction of blindness, has recently returned from Italy, where he was for months under the care of a famous specialist of Turin. Like all those deprived of sight, Mr. B. has grown hypersensitive to sounds; but, being a man of broad education, his observations in his perpetual night have also been of a wider nature.

"Without hearing a word spoken," said the gentleman, "I am sure I could tell whether I was in Italy, France, England or the United States merely by the roar of their respective cities—by the grand organ note of their teeming civilizations. The sound of Italy I could best describe as wooden; it is soft and rather soothing. That of France affected me somewhat like the rattle of china. England had the dull, heavy roar of an immense bell. But for harsh stridence and metallic clangor there was nothing resembling the national sound of the United States. Here there is always foremost the clatter of steel, and, to judge merely by the sound, I should say that the substitution of that metal for wood has gone 20 per cent further in America than in the old world, though of course I can't speak for Germany, as I did not visit that country.

"I do not remember that old Helmholtz ever took up the subject of a national musical note, but if he had it seems to me quite possible that he might have made discoveries in race affinities that have even yet escaped the ethnologist and etymologist. Rather odd, isn't it, that Italy, so long the very paradise of sightseers, should also prove the most comforting for those deprived of sight?"

A Parrot in a Whirlwind.

A certain retired general of the Indian army possessed a parrot and also a very irascible temperament. The parrot was a valuable bird, but was rather a nuisance by reason of its extreme talkativeness. One day while the general was writing his business letters the parrot kept up a continual chatter very disturbing to the writer.

At last the general could stand it no longer, and, jumping up, he seized the cage of the unhappy bird, which he whirled vigorously round and round, at the same time swearing vigorously. Then he set the cage down again, and silence for some time ensued.

At length, however, a feeble voice came from the interior of the cage. "General," it inquired in quavering accents, "where were you when that cyclone struck us?"—London Answers.

The Wolf in Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house, he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf, "for now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.

Two English Ads.

It is said that in the window of a country undertaker's shop is displayed a full sized coffin whereon is placed this notice: "Wanted—An adult assistant. Inquire within." The case finds a parallel in that of the picture shop, the window of which contained a picture of Cupid, to which the legend was attached: "Wanted—A respectable boy."—London Globe.

SUCH A CHANGE.

Not only in feelings but in looks. The skin is clear, the eyes are bright, the cheeks are plump. No more pain and misery, no more sick headache, no more jaundice. What worked the change? Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cured the disease of the stomach that prevented proper nutrition, and also cleansed the clogged and sluggish liver.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of lungs, heart, liver, and other organs which seem remote from the stomach because many of these diseases have their cause in a diseased condition of the stomach involving the allied organs of digestion and nutrition.

"I sent you a letter about a year ago," writes Mrs. J. Ellis Hamilton, of Farmington, Marion Co., West Va. "I stated my case as plainly as I could, and received a letter from you in a few days, telling me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription'—a bottle of each. I used three of each, and feel like a new woman. Don't suffer any pain or misery any more. Before using your medicines I suffered all the time—had jaundice, caused from food not digesting properly. I would have sick headache three and four times in a week. Could not do the work myself. I commenced using your medicines as recommended for liver complaint, and think I am cured now. I asked our doctor if he couldn't cure me, and he said he could give me medicine to help me but the trouble might return any time. I doctored three years without any relief. Haven't had sick headache since I took the first bottle of your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation.

THE ONION'S ODOR.

To Sulphur Is Due This Unpleasant Quality in the Bulb.

It is interesting to make inquiry into the cause of this unfortunate quality of the onion. It is simply due to the presence of some quantity of another mineral matter in the bulb, sulphur. It is this sulphur that gives the onion its germ killing property and makes the bulb so very useful as a medicinal agent at all times, but especially in the spring, which used to be and still is in many places the season for taking the brimstone and treacle in old fashioned houses before sulphur tablets came into vogue. Now, sulphur when united to hydrogen, one of the gases of water, forms sulphurated hydrogen and then becomes a foul smelling, well nigh fetid compound. The onion, being so juicy, has a very large percentage of water in its tissues, and this, combining with the sulphur, forms the strongly scented and offensive substance called sulphuret of allyle, which is found in all the alliums.

This sulphuret of allyle mingles more especially with the volatile or aromatic oil of the onion. It is identical with the malodorant principle found in asafetida, which is almost the symbol of all smells that are nasty.

The horseradish, so much liked with roast beef for its keen and biting property, and the ordinary mustard of our tables both owe their strongly stimulative properties to this same sulphuret of allyle, which gives them heat and acridity, but not an offensive smell, owing to the different arrangements of the atoms of their volatile oils.

This brings us to a most curious fact in nature that most strangely yet most certainly constructs all vegetable oils in exactly the same way—composes them all, whether they are the aromatic essences of cloves, oranges, lemons, cinnamon, etc., of exactly the same proportions, which are 88¼ of carbon to 11¾ of hydrogen—and obtains all the vast seeming diversities that our nostrils detect in their scent simply by a different arrangement of the atoms in each vegetable oil.

PIN THIS TO YOUR MEMORY.

Years of experience and a continued desire to keep in touch with modern business ideas and principles as far as the drug trade is concerned, have commanded the attention of the public and won their approval. We are building up a large and solid business because we guarantee the quality of our drugs and medicines We have the finest and best stock of perfumes and Toilet requisites ever seen in the retail drug business.

A WORD ABOUT
PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

We can without hesitation recommend Paine's Celery Compound to our customers as the best of blood purifiers. It has the indorsation of Canada's best people. It quickly drives the poison of deep-seated disease from the blood. Try a bottle of this marvellous system cleanser; you will not be disappointed. Wm. Madill, Oak Hall Drug Store, Peterborough, Ont.

Sponge Fishing.

Sponges are gathered by means of a long pole with a hook attached to the lower end, with which the sponge fisherman is very expert. He lies upon his stomach in the stern of a boat looking through an ordinary water bucket with a glass bottom, which does away with the glare from the water and allows him to survey the bottom leisurely while the boatman rows or sculls the boat. A schooner lies at anchor near by, from which a half dozen or more of these small boats fish. It returns to port when it is loaded, or at night, as the case may be.

His Landscapes.

A nouveau riche recently attended a picture sale. A friend who had noticed him at the sale asked afterward, "Did you pick up anything at that picture sale, Jorkins?" and the other responded: "Oh, yes; a couple of landscapes. One of 'em was a basket of fruit and the other a storm at sea."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

SHORT COATS.

The Russian Blouse Is Fast Becoming Popular.

In regard to trimming coats there is a variety of ways. Stitchings and strappings, horizontal and otherwise, form a favorite mode, three or five lines terminating at the left side of the front, with large pierced bone buttons or small leather buckles. There is choice, too, in coats, which can be short or long, single or double breasted, reaching below the waist or just above it. The Russian blouse style promises to be immensely popular. Some of these blouses are strapped with bands of Persian embroidery or strips of delicately colored suede.

PALE GREEN CLOTH DRESS.

For women who have passed their first youth and those whose figures present a certain amount of embonpoint the three-quarter length coat and the Eton with the postilion back are eminently suitable styles.

The dressy costume here shown is of pale green broadcloth, trimmed with wide applications of heavy ivory white lace. The corselet bodice is made of this lace, the upper half being of the broadcloth laid in clusters of from one to two tucks, the upper halves of the sleeves are formed of the lace fastened by rosettes of black velvet and the undersleeves are laid in fine tucks half way down the skirt, which is likewise tucked in clusters. There is a wide band of the lace which heads a full gathered ruffle. JUDIC CHOLLET.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS...

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THE ONTARIO REVIEW.

What British Newspapers Had to Say of It —The Times and the Scotsman Speak Very Warmly.

The London Times, Oct. 12, says: "The spectacle at the review of 11,000 men in the Exhibition Grounds at Toronto was simply superb. On the plain was Major-General O'Grady-Haly's command, the infantry being in line of quarter columns, the cavalry in line of squadron columns, and the artillery in line at close intervals. Over all a cloak of hot haze—'Slow dropping veils of thinnest lawn did go' — so that the army seemed endless. The Duke, who wore the uniform of Colonel of the Royal Fusiliers, was excellently received. He began by a prolonged inspection, the length of which seemed intensified because the cavalry, artillery and infantry marched out of one curtain of haze only to disappear into another. This is always the least interesting part of any review, and it is worse when the inspection officer is lost in mist; still it was pleasant to note the medalled veterans on the right, and the saluting of the South African heroes on the left. The latter had a tremendous reception, especially when Lieutenant Cockburn came forward to receive the Victoria Cross. He gained it in the same action as did Lieutenant Holland, who was decorated by the Duke at Ottawa. Colors were also presented to the Royal Canadian Infantry. Then began the march past, which was an extremely fine sight."

The Edinburgh Scotsman, Oct. 12, says: "The march past was begun at 12.45. The Governor-General's Body Guard led. The turnout of cavalry was particularly fine. Royal Canadian Dragoons, 1st Hussars, the 2nd Dragoons and Princess Louise Dragoon Guards with their flashing silver helmets; the Toronto Mounted Rifles, a newly formed corps in khaki, came last, and were warmly cheered on their first public appearance. The three brigades of Horse Artillery, including the first which rendered signal service in South Africa, were warmly applauded. Then followed a superb muster of infantry — Foot Guards, Fusiliers, Grenadiers, Highlanders and Queen's Own Rifles. The York Rangers and the Haldimand Rifles of Indians in dark green uniforms; the second infantry division included the Argyll Light Infantry, of which the Duke of Argyll is Honorary Colonel, the Princess of Wales' Own Rifles, and many other fine corps. When it is remembered that all those regiments are volunteers, receiving only twelve days' training yearly, their soldier-like bearing and steady marching is surprising, and would do no discredit to the finest troops in the world."

CHOOSING A PROFESSION.

Inspector Hughes' Advice to Young Men on the Subject.

Inspector Hughes recently delivered an address to the members of the West End Y. M. C. A. in Toronto on "How to Choose a Profession." Inspector Hughes divided the subject into two aspects: The study of the selfhood of each individual; the study of the profession. The most important thing in deciding a profession is to become conscious of one's supreme power, he said. The fundamental principle is that each individual should adopt a profession in which he believes himself to have most power to help the progress of the race. The highest individual success is happiness, in growth, and even in wealth, will come in the profession in which the individual can do most for society. A practical suggestion made was that parents, teachers, and wise friends should be consulted, but Mr. Hughes strongly urged young men to allow no one, not even parents, to decide their professions for them. They should recognize their own responsibility for choice in order to develop their own individuality.

Mr. Hughes gave detailed advice in regard to choosing a profession based on the special powers of each individual as revealed at school or elsewhere. He advised the young men not to be satisfied with their present positions unless they were quite sure that those positions afforded them their best opportunities for individual success and for aiding in the progress of humanity. From his experience, he believed most men failed in life either because they are not in their right positions or from lack of faith in their own powers.

A Complicated Machine

is an object of admiration, but a complicated medicine is a thing hitherto unknown. Druggist Merrill of Brantford has combined iron and herbs and made a marvellous blood builder and purifier, as well as a tonic for the nerves. Affects a radical cure in stomach, liver and kidney diseases. Price 50c. per bottle of 50 doses. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

CHILDREN OF LONG AGO.

The Etiquette They Were Taught in the Eighteenth Century.

The "polite academy" does not confine itself to purely ethical considerations. The minutest directions are given as to polite behavior under all sorts of circumstances:

"Take salt with a saltspoon or else with a clean knife, not with that you are eating with, for that will foul the rest.

"Do not laugh at table, much less sneeze, cough or yawn; but if you cannot avoid it hold up the napkin or tablecloth before your face and turn aside from the table.

"When you drink, bow to some one of the company and say sir or madam.

"Never regard what another has on his plate. It looks as if you wanted it.

"If you have occasion to laugh, turn from the company.

"Always look pleased, but not merry unless there is occasion."

Now as to the deportment of a young master:

"Let your feet be placed at a small distance from one another, not too close nor too wide in spreading.

"Put one hand easy and free into the bosom of your waistcoat and the other under the flap of it.

"Do not button more than the three lowest buttons of your waistcoat that your hand may not be raised too high.

"Do not thrust your hand into your breeches as vulgar boys do, but let it fall with ease under the flap of your waistcoat."

To face this page there is a beautiful "copper cut" of a young master in the easy and elegant attitude recommended, and truly "there is a great deal of sweetness in his looks."

This delightful volume was published by R. Baldwin at the Rose in Paternoster row and B. Collins in Salisbury 1705.

Diphtheria and scarlet fever cannot spread where Vapo-Cresolene is used. All Druggists.

Names For Farms.

"We wish that every farm in Maine would be named," says the Lewiston Journal. "This is not a mere matter of sentiment, by any means, but it is strictly business.

"The man whose farm is known by some name is certain to take a greater interest in its products and to conduct all of his operations on a better plan. On every place there is certain to be some peculiarity that will suggest a name. A spring of pure water, a grove of oak or maple trees or something else of a similar nature will give it a local flavor. Then paint its name on the end of the barn facing the road. Let it be where every passerby can see it. Your farm will then soon become known far and wide and will aid you in a thousand ways.

"Besides, how much more dignified it is to be spoken of as the proprietor of Oak Grove farm than to be alluded to as Jim Jones. By all means name your farms, and it will make you all better farmers."

What a Bureau Really Is.

When parchment was used for writing and when bookbinding was in its infancy and a bound book was a costly luxury, it was the custom to place the book on a piece of cloth or a strip of wool in order to prevent the binding from possible damage on the rough wood of the table. Those who had to deal with money also had a strip of cloth on the table or counter so that the coins should not roll. This strip was called "bureau."

In course of time the custom changed, and the same word was applied to the writing table covered with green or other colored cloth and at length descended to the modern table with the center protected by leather. As an office contains one or more of these tables it is not difficult to understand that the name should, in one country, have been given to the room that contained the bureau.—London Standard.

Described.

A schoolmaster was endeavoring to make clear to his young pupils' minds the meaning of the word "slowly." He walked across the room in the manner the word indicates.

"Now, children, tell me how I walked."

One little fellow, who sat near the front of the room almost paralyzed him by blurting out, "Bowlegged!"

A Safer Sport.

"There's one respect at least in which fishing is a good deal safer sport than hunting."

"How is that?"

"We don't make any fatal mistakes hooking up men who happen to look like fish."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ON THE FOUR-SQUARE PLAN.

The four-square plan means that all customers, regardless of rank or station, receive the same careful attention and treatment at our store. We are as particular with the child who is sent to purchase some small article as we are with the experienced adult. We never substitute inferior drugs when filling your doctor's prescription. We never recommend the "something just as good."

Sure and Unfailing.

Under all circumstances of sickness and disease Paine's Celery Compound is safe, sure and unfailing. It cleanses and purifies the blood, braces the nerves, corrects digestion, and builds up those who are weak and run down. If you are nervous or sleepless, try one bottle; the results will surprise you. Our stock of Paine's Celery Compound is always fresh and pure. H. H. Edmison, druggist, Peterborough, Ont.

THE ONLY ONE.

The man who says that all patent medicines are worthless is a fool. For Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure has no equal. W. C. Switzer, Harrowsmith, O., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for ten years. He tried every known remedy recommended for the cure of rheumatism without obtaining relief. Six bottles of Dr. Hall's completely cured him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Sentenced in Stratford.

Stratford, Dec. 18.—Zaccheus Wilson Burnham was yesterday sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary by the police magistrate. Some months ago Burnham pleaded guilty to obtaining money under false pretences from Hon. James Ballantyne. He was not then sentenced, as several other actions of a similar character were pending.

Of the Right Sort.

Halifax, Dec. 18.—Among the passengers who arrived here by the mail steamer Corinthian yesterday morning from Liverpool was a party of 68 young Scotch farmers, who will be distributed through Manitoba. The men are between the ages of 22 and 30, and are all experienced farmers.

A Father Disappears.

Winnipeg, Dec. 18. — A. E. Hainesworth of Meadow Lea came here a week ago yesterday and mysteriously disappeared next morning. His friends are most anxious about him. His son spent some time in the city to endeavor to learn as to his whereabouts, but without avail.

AN EMPIRE STATESMAN.

Magnificent Greeting to Hon. William Mulock in Toronto.

A PENNY WORLD TRIP

AN AGGRESSIVE FIGHTER OF MOST EXCELLENT TEMPER.

Loyal to His Friends, As Was Indicated by His Leaving Announcement of Reduced Post Office Deficit to His Chief—Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Enthusiastic Tribute of Honor to His Colleague.

Toronto, Dec. 18.—Massey Hall has been the scene of several notable political gatherings, and many times in the heat of campaigns has it witnessed inspiring displays of party enthusiasm. The welcome given by the Liberals of the city and the Province to the Postmaster-General last night will, however, be unique in its history. It was a demonstration in honor of a statesman, prompted not by the excitement which a general election produces, but by a general desire among his fellow-citizens to honor one who had done much not merely for his party, but for his country and the empire in the affairs of which he has taken so prominent a place.

Although the gathering of public men in Massey Hall would be sufficient at almost any time to attract a vast audience, the tribute paid to Hon. Mr. Mulock by the great throngs who surged into the hall was none the less marked because of the presence of his distinguished colleagues. The Premier of Canada, the Premier of Ontario, and as many members of both Governments as could possibly be present joined in the congratulations to the honored guest of the Mulock Club.

The address of the guest of the evening was a fine specimen of aggressive fighting, although of most excellent temper, his references to the Conservative party being very happy. To Sir Wilfrid Laurier the Postmaster-General left the pleasing announcement that this year the Postoffice deficit will be reduced to $150,000; and the Premier's references to the present trade position and prospects of Canada were of statesmanlike breadth. Hon. Mr. Fielding's praise of Mr. Mulock was effective, and only the epigrammatic and humorous speech of the Premier of Ontario was needed to make the gathering a complete success. The references of Hon. Mr. Ross to the achievements of the Postmaster-General, as Vice-Chancellor of the University, as Minister of Labor, and as the Canadian representative at the Australian federation ceremonies, were most happy, and his reference to the reform in the postal system, in the words "the Postmaster-General can now make two cents go farther than any other man can," was a characteristically happy remark.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the presence of a great number of ladies, among the prominent occupants of boxes being Lady Laurier, Mrs. Mulock and Mrs. Willie Mulock, and Miss Melvin-Jones. An incident which caught the enthusiasm of the audience was the singing of the "Red, White and Blue" by Miss Mae Dickinson, who, after her song, was presented with two beautiful bouquets of roses. The song was received with great enthusiasm and while the cheering was in progress Miss Dickinson presented one bouquet to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other to Hon. Geo. W. Ross. She was then forced to respond to an encore. The other contributors to the musical program were Miss Mildred Walker and Mr. Oscar Wenborne, both of whom were exceedingly well received.

At 7.45 o'clock the manager of the hall requested that the doors be closed, and hundreds were shut out on the street. After that time only those holding tickets for the platform and the members of the North York deputation having reserved seats on the ground floor were allowed to enter. There was intense disappointment on the part of those who were unable to gain entrance to the hall, but the spirits of the thousands who filled every corner of the great auditorium were at the highest pitch. Massey Hall has worn some elaborate and extensive decorations, but the great hall has rarely presented a more attractive appearance than the splendid audience of last night gave it. Few gatherings, not aroused by a political campaign, have been so enthusiastic, and few even in the heat of a campaign have been so inspiring. Admirers of the guest of the evening had dressed the hall in graceful colors, and from the boxes and the railings of the balcony and gallery there hung festoons of red, white and blue. The loops of bunting were caught up at regular intervals by mottoes such as:

"Build up Ontario."
"Around the World for a Penny."
"Efficiency with Economy."
"Laurier, Amity, Unity."
"Welcome to Mulock."
"The Fair Wage Minister."
"Canada's Best Postmaster-General."

Finally, Mr. R. C. Steele, the President of the Mulock Club, appeared on the centre of the stage, and behind him came the members of the Dominion and Ontario Cabinets and other prominent Liberals. Cheer after cheer went up as the party appeared, the Premier and the Postmaster-General sharing the greatest honors.

Mr. Steele, in opening the meeting, spoke in terms of high appreciation of Mr. Mulock as a citizen and as a public man, and went on to say that when Mr. Mulock assumed the duties of Postmaster-General he found the department in chaos, and enormous deficits the order of the day. He had so reorganized every department of the service that Canada had today the most economical and best organized postal department in the world.

Mr. H. M. Mowat, K.C., President of the Toronto Reform Association, then presented Hon. Mr. Mulock with an address, which recounted in admiring terms what Mr. Mulock had done for Canada in his two departments of the Government.

Mr. Mulock's Reply.

Mr. Mulock received an ovation when he commenced his reply. He said:

Whilst gratefully appreciating the kindly sentiment to which this address gives expression, I cannot but regret that my work falls so far short of deserving what has been so generously said of it, and knowing full well that no public services of mine entitle me to this magnificent reception, I interpret and accept it according to its real significance, as an endorsement of the policy and record of the Laurier Government, that for the last five years, as we humbly venture to hope, has administered the country's affairs to the best interests of Canada, and upon lines that make for strengthening the ties which bind her to the mother country." (Cheers).

"It is the lot of all Governments—ours is no exception to the general rule—to live in an atmosphere charged more or less with the spirit of partisan criticism, but such criticism, to be effective for any good purpose, should, I submit, be of an intelligent, honest and consistent character—(hear, hear)— and I propose, with your kind permission, to conduct some little investigation as to how closely our opponents' criticism of us approaches to such a standard." (Cheers). This he did in an eminently able and good humored manner, being cheered to the echo time and again.

Mr. Mulock then dealt with the general policy of the Government on many matters of public concern, and his own departments in particular.

Miss Mildrew Walker stepped forward at the conclusion of the Minister's address and presented him with a magnificent spray of roses.

The Minister of Finance, Hon. W. S. Fielding, occupied about five minutes, and in no manner made a political speech. He paid a tribute to Mr. Mulock. He had come, he said, from the province away down by the sounding sea to assist in doing honor to one than whom no man had contributed in a larger degree to the making of good government.

Although he had the honor of addressing a Toronto audience on several occasions, he had never enjoyed more satisfaction than on the present occasion, declared Sir Wilfrid Laurier, after acknowledging the applause of his admirers. His former visits were to defend his party's and his country's cause, but he was here on a mission of friendship, to lend his voice and share in the acclamations given his friend and colleague, the Postmaster-General. There was nothing too good for William Mulock. So said he, and so said they. There was nothing good he was not entitled to.

The Premier dealt with Mr. Mulock's mission to Australia, and with Canada's trade policy, pointing out what he regarded as its advantages over the policy of the United States.

Hon. G. W. Ross concluded the speaking of the evening with an address full of witticisms, dealing with the personal qualities of Mr. Mulock, and his wonderful ability to make two cents go further than any other man.

The meeting dispersed with cheers for the King.

Sixty Per Cent. Disposed Of.

Winnipeg, Dec. 18.—General Manager Thompson of the Ogilvie Milling Company, in reply to yesterday's enquiries, said that he estimated that about 60 per cent. of this year's crop, equal to 25 million bushels, had already been marketed. This included the whole of the deliveries in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

The consumption of Manitoba wheat in the whole of Canada will be from about 15 million to 17 million bushels, and, allowing for next year's seed requirements, say 3 million bushels, this should leave 40 million bushels of the 1901 crop for export. Of this quantity about half has already been disposed of.

KRITZINGER TAKEN

Long Step Towards End of War in Cape Colony.

BOER COMMANDANT WOUNDED

Captured by Gen. French Near Hanover Road While Attempting to Break Through the Blockhouse Cordon —Lord Kitchener Now at Belfast in Eastern Transvaal—Canadian Contingent Sailing Date.

London, Dec. 18.—A despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated from Belfast, (about half way between Pretoria and the frontier of Portuguese East Africa) received here yesterday, announces that Commandant Kritzinger (the famous Boer commandant, who has figured so prominently in connection with the invasion of Cape Colony), has been captured, badly wounded, by Gen. French. Kritzinger was trying to break the blockhouse cordon at Hanover Road.

COLONIES COULD END WAR.

If British Army Were Needed Elsewhere Says Premier Seddon.

Wellington, N.Z., Dec. 18.—The Premier, Mr. R. J. Seddon, addressing yesterday the New Zealand troops which have just returned from South Africa, referred in severe terms to the British War Office and its attempts to snub the colonials. He considered that if the colonials had been given a freer hand and had been less bound by red tape, the results would have been better. Should the British army be required elsewhere, the Premier added, Canada and the other colonies could now easily finish the war.

SAILING IS DELAYED.

Third Contingent Must Wait For the Coming of the Transport.

Ottawa, Dec. 18.—It had been intended that the third contingent should sail from Halifax on Jan. 10, but this arrangement has been upset by a cablegram received from the War Office Monday. It stated that the Victoria would not be able to leave Cape Town in time to reach Halifax Jan. 10, as expected, and would not arrive at the latter port before the 17th. The troopships will be provisioned by the Admiralty at Halifax. Recruiting in Kentville, N. S., (not Kentville, Ont., as at first reported), which has been substituted for Quebec, will take place on the 23rd inst. Major J. A. Northup of the King's Canadian Hussars will be the recruiting officer for the five men to be enrolled.

Col. Evans Says Good-Bye.

Hon. F. W. Borden and Col. Evans had an interview with the Governor-General yesterday morning, when the Commandant of the Mounted Rifles said good-bye to His Excellency. Col. Evans left at four o'clock for Halifax. He received a message yesterday morning from Major Hamilton Merritt, stating that 220 horses had arrived at Halifax, but 38 of them were suffering from somewhat bad colds, owing to exposure in the cars.

Recruit Down With Measles.

One trooper in the Mounted Rifles, a Prince Edward Islander, is down with measles. Col. Evans saw the western men when they passed through Ottawa on their way to Halifax. They numbered about 250 and are as fine a lot of fellows, the Commandant says, as could be seen anywhere.

THE EARTH OPENED.

Earthquakes in New Zealand Cause Great Damage to Property.

San Francisco, Dec. 18.—New Zealand news received by steamer gives details of great destruction of property in the Cheviot district by an earthquake on Nov. 16. In the town of Cheviot and surrounding country the damage will reach $20,000. Scarcely a building was left standing. The fine homestead of Sir George Clifford was wrecked.

Great fissures opened in the earth and water issued from them. In one office a heavy safe was thrown across the room, and brick chimneys fell like toy houses. The people are panic-stricken. The shocks still continue. At Wallis River, great cracks opened in the river bed, into which water poured. Then they closed and volumes of water were sent hundreds of feet into the air.

Court Orders Inquest.

St. John, Dec. 17.—Judge McLeod, in the Supreme Court yesterday, quashed the verdict of the coroner's jury that Lily Canston died of tetanus caused by the use of impure vaccine. The judge ordered a new inquest.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Of all the grateful daughters to whom you have given health and life, none are more glad than I.

"My home and my life was happy

until illness came upon me three years ago. I first noticed it by being irregular and having very painful and scanty menstruation; gradually my general health failed; I could not enjoy my meals; I became languid and nervous, with griping pains frequently in the groins.

"I advised with our family physician who prescribed without any improvement. One day he said,—'Try Lydia Pinkham's Remedies.' I did, thank God; the next month I was better, and it gradually built me up until in four months I was cured. This is nearly a year ago and I have not had a pain or ache since."—BONNIE DELANO, 3248 Indiana Ave., Chicago, Ill.—$5000 forfeit if above testimonial is not genuine.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 18, 1901.

OUR BACON INDUSTRY.

During recent years the bacon industry has come to the front so that hog raising has come to be about the most profitable branch of farming. Great progress has been made within the last ten years. In 1890 the value of Canadian bacon exported totaled $600,000, and in 1900 the value had increased to $13,000,000. Owing to the fact that the great bulk of trade in bacon products is confined exclusively to the Province of Ontario, this means an average distribution of $250,000 a week among our farmers, compared with $10,000 a week ten years ago.

There are curing houses in the Province with a capacity of slaughtering 45,000 hogs a week, compared with 4,000 a week in 1890. This splendid progress, according to Mr. J. W. Flavelle, of Toronto, who lectured on the subject at the provincial winter fair at Guelph, is due to several causes; first, to the efforts of the packers in the earlier years to impress upon the people the possibilities of the industry; secondly, to the educational work carried on by the Ontario and Dominion Governments. In addition to this, the work carried on by farmers' institutes, the Ontario Agricultural College and the intelligent corporation of farmers themselves, have all combined to make this comparatively young industry, the bacon trade, a successful and live one.

The United States are our competitors in British markets, but owing to the fact that the bulk of American products are of a lower type than ours, their market is confined chiefly to the manufacturing districts at the north of England. Regarding the source of supply for Wiltshire sides, the killing of hogs in Canada, which virtually means Ontario, averages 25,000 a week; Denmark and Sweden, 18,000 to 28,000; Ireland, 5,000 to 12,000 and England, 5,000. It has been thought that the killing of other countries will not materially increase. Canada has won first place, and the farmers of the Province of Ontario will do well to continue in their efforts to produce as nearly as possible the ideal hog.

A word might be said to the farmers of Ontario. During the past few years wheat has not been found a paying crop, owing to adverse circumstances. Other parts of the Dominion are better calculated for raising wheat. Corn, with proper selection of hardy seed, can be raised here to advantage, as well as root crops, which form the essential food elements for swine. The outlook for the pork industry is very promising, and should receive the earnest consideration of farmers and stockmen.

ONEIDA.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The village never assumed a more healthy appearance as a distributing and shipping point than at present. There being about from $4,000 to $5,000 paid out daily for hogs and other live stock. Richardson, Moore and Kerr were the buyers.

Our village and township municipalities are already talking change of Government for 1902.

There will be a goodly number from here attend the dramatic entertainment at Mount Pleasant on Dec. 27th. The Centerville Co. are prominent amateurs.

The Misses Clancey, the charming vocalists will be the chief support of Jas. Fox at the L.O.L. entertainment on Christmas.

The Presbyterian tea and concert New Year's, promises to be one of the leading attractions. One of the new and popular parts of the programme will be the rendering of Royal choruses by the singers.

Peterborough markets will be largely attended from here, if good roads and weather only continue, as there are large lots of produce, poultry, etc. to be marketed yet.

We notice that Mr. J. D. Thornton has been appointed deputy issuer of marriage licenses in the absence of Geo. Morrison, J. P., who is going away to Toronto and other places.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan, Peterborough, an old Ormemee vocalist and high school pupil, delighted his friends with several numbers at the Methodist tea last evening.

Our high and public schools are being largely attended and good work is being done.

Rev. Mr. Kannawin, B. A. B. D., is now one of the most able and popular ministers, the church being crowded every Sunday. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered 1st Sabbath of 1902.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Pauline Johnston and Mr. W. McRae gave an evening's entertainment in the town hall on the 11th inst., to a crowded house. They came highly recommended as entertainers of a high order and fully sustained their reputation. Their programme consisted of impersonations artistically given. Miss Johnson's own poems admirably rendered, anecdotes well told, and sketches of the ridiculous, full of laughter. Miss Johnson's patriotic pieces were especially good, while Mr. McRae's character sketches were equally good. All went away well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

School closes on the 20th inst. A children's concert will be given on Friday evning, consisting of a cantata.

Don't forget the annual school meeting of the ratepayers.

The skating rink will be ready in a few days.

Mr. Will Campbell of the Royal Military College, is home for his holidays.

Messrs. Henry Burnham and Fred were very much disappointed when refused as volunteers on the second contingent by the C.M.R.

Miss Molly Shaw is home from a visit with friends in Huntsville, Muskoka.

The children of Mather's corners school are giving a concert on Thursday evening of this week.

STONY LAKE.

The Stony Lake Dairy Company held its annual meeting on the 6th inst., to settle up with the patrons for the season's make of cheese. The result of the season's operations was very satisfactory, considering the low price of cheese.

Milk delivered at factory — 450,536 lbs.

Cheese manufactured—42,626 lbs.

Pounds of milk for pound of cheese —10.50.

Milk averaged to the standard a little over $20.00.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are:—Directors, David Drain, John R. Miles, William Puffer, David Nixon and H. A. Leason. The Directors appointed John R. Miles, President; William Miles was chosen for salesman and John A. Robb, Shipper; Robert Miles was elected Secretary and John R. Miles and James Robb, Auditors.

THE FEAR OF HUMBUG

Prevents Many People From Trying a Good Medicine.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pin themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation to reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, although they are sold by all druggists under protection of trademark, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

KINMOUNT.

A Joint Stock Company for the Galway Agricultural Society has been formed and five acres of land bought east of here convenient to the village from Mr. Train. The fencing and pens and buildings will be proceeded with as soon as possible. This much needed want when accomplished will place everything within the enclosure and make a very great difference to the income of the society.

Several members of our old Brass Band are forming a new band again. This place has been rather dull since the cornets ceased to echo four years ago. The citizens should do something handsome to encourage Mr. Geo. Train, and Robert Graham and others, to get the instruments needed. Kinmount band once stood high in the county. They may soon attain to their former grandeur.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The peat industry is likely to be soon in a position to supply those desiring to use it as fuel. The Globe, of Monday, the 16th inst., says, "Incorporation has been granted to the Peat Development Syndicate, with head office at Toronto, capital $40,000." Already it can be purchased at Kirkfield for $3 per ton. Would it not be well for those who have been using it to report as to its heating qualities, and if it can be used in the coal stoves now in use?

Mr. J. B. Maclean of Toronto, is visiting at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Maslean.

The sermon delivered by Rev. Mr. Mounteer last Sunday would be well worthy of publication. His text was a prayer of the Psalmist, "Let integrity and uprightness preserve me, for I wait on Thee."

The subject of Rev. Mr. Kannawin's discourse was on "Joseph and his brethren." It was well received by those who heard it, and was of especial interest to the young people.

On Thursday evening of last week, after the prayer meeting was concluded in the Presbyterian church, a congregation meeting was inaugurated. The chief item of business was the presentation of an address and a fur coat to the pastor. The presentation was made by Miss Lena Hayes and the address was read by Mr. T. W. McLean. It was as follows:

"Rev. W. M. Kannawin, B.A., B.D.—

"Rev. and Dear Pastor, — We have noted with pleasure and pride your amiable and social Christian labours in this branch of your Church work; we have a keen appreciation of your zealousness in the cause of the Master, of your Christian fortitude and untiring energy in behalf of the spiritual and mental welfare of our congregation.

"We desire to express to you our hearty co-operation and endorsation of the high moral and pastoral qualities which have in such a marked degree characterised your labours in our midst, and we beg of you, to accept this fur coat as a mark of esteem in which you are held by the members and adherents of this church.

"May Almighty God grant unto you increased powers of usefulness and may you be long spared to minister faithfully to His people, and finally receive His approbation in the welcome, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

"Signed on behalf of the donors.

"Lena Hays,
"Sophie Rutherford,

"Mt. Pleasant, Dec. 18, 1901."

Rev. Mr. Kannawin, though evidently taken by surprise made a suitable reply, telling how very appropriate the gift was, and how deeply grateful he was for so great a mark to esteem to him.

Refreshments were served by the ladies and a social hour spent, followed by the singing of a hymn and and the pronouncing of the benediction.

A Complicated Machine

is an object of admiration, but a complicated medicine is a thing hitherto unknown. Druggist Merrill of Brantford has combined iron and herbs and made a marvellous blood builder and purifier, as well as a tonic for the nerves. Affects a radical cure in stomach, liver and kidney diseases. Price 50c. per bottle of 50 doses. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

Blown to Atoms.

Butler, Pa., Dec. 18.—Thomas Edwards and Charles Parker were killed by an explosion of nitro glycerine, about five miles north of here yesterday. The boiler and engine house of the nitro glycerine plant, the men and their horses were blown to atoms.

Frozen at their Posts.

Lisbon, Dec. 18.—The cold weather prevailing here is quite unprecedented. Two sentries have been frozen to death. The River Tagus is full of drift ice. The provinces of Portugal have been swept by a snowstorm.

Fell on Plate of Hot Metal.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 18. —King Irvin, a laborer at the Maring Steel Furnace, was overcome by strong gases and tar fumes yesterday and fell upon a plate of hot metal. Death was instantaneous.

MENELEK REFUSES CONCESSIONS.

Mission of Abyssinian Exploration Company Engineers Fails.

London, Dec. 18.—The most important news by the Jibuti mail, says a despatch from Marseilles to The Times, is the refusal of the Negus Menelek to grant mining concessions in the equatorial provinces to engineers of the Abyssinian Exploration Company.

The engineers encamped outside the walls of Harar and telephoned their request. The Emperor replied that he would not grant fresh mining concessions till he knew the first results of the existing concessions.

The Negus invited the engineers to visit Ethiopia as ordinary travelers, but plainly said that he would have no gold concessions sold without his knowledge and consent.

Shouted Through a Hole.

Rome, Dec. 18.—Signor Ferni, Socialist, furnished a further diversion in the Chamber yesterday. Being excluded from the floor on account of his conduct Monday, Ferri watched the proceedings through a glass door at the back of the Chamber. When the House refused to modify the president's order of censure and exclusion against Ferri, the later smashed the glass and shouted epithets through the hole. This resulted in again breaking up the sitting amid greater disorder.

To Meet the Brigands.

Constantinople, Dec. 18.—W. W. Peck, treasurer of the Turkish mission in Constantinople, accompanied by M. Gargiulo, dragoman of the United States legation here, started last night to meet the brigands who hold Miss Stone captive. In accordance with instructions received from Washington, they will attempt to secure the release of the prisoners in exchange for the ransom money now available. It is reported here that Mme. Tsilka's baby is still alive and well.

Snow Heaviest in 50 Years.

London, Dec. 18.—The fall of snow in Scotland is heavier than at any time in fifty years. Several gamekeepers and shepherds are missing, and the destruction of sheep in the snow drifts, which range from ten to twenty feet deep, is unprecedented. The roads are impassable.

Parts of England are suffering almost equally from the heavy fall of snow. A train which was snowed up near Hartington on Thursday was released only yesterday morning.

Back in Ireland.

Queenstown, Dec. 18.—The White Star liner, Oceanic, from New York, Dec. 11, having on board Messrs. Redmond, McHugh and O'Donnell, the Irish members of Parliament, arrived here yesterday afternoon. A delegation from the United Irish League went out on the companies tender to meet Mr. Redmond and his companions.

"Man is Filled With Misery."

This is not true of all men. The well, sound of lung, clear of eye, buoyant with health, are not miserable, whatever may be their social condition. To be well is to be happy, and we can all be well by getting and keeping our bodies in a healthy state. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will help all to do this.

Crowds Buying Watches AND JEWELRY AT Sanderson's

The rush has set in earnestly. The Holiday season at Sanderson's is now in full swing. This is a Christmas store in the most literal sense. Show cases gleam and glitter with many holiday allurements—Jewelry Trays sparkle with fine Gems—Sterling Silver Novelties—Quadruple-Plated Silverware—Toilet Articles—Clocks—and thousands of other things to brighten and gladden the time of gift giving. Sanderson's is popular the rest of the year, but at Christmas time it fairly surpasses itself. It has the people's confidence and keeps it.

Standard Watches.

Our pride is greater than ever in our Watch stock. As lives depend on accuracy, we give care to every Watch we sell. Only Standard Works go in our Watches. Nothing so intensely personal as the gift of a Watch or tasteful Jewelry. Prices are unquestionably the lowest that we ever quoted. Wish we could get the same prices as the City Jewelers.

Call and inspect our stock. Be early.

A PRACTICAL TEST.

The Plan to Harmonize Capital and Labor in Committee's Hands.

New York, Dec. 18.—The conference between the leaders of labor and capital closed yesterday with a decision to give the plan to harmonize their divergent interests a practical test. It was unanimously agreed that the practical working details of the scheme should be perfected by an Executive Committee of thirty-six members, to be drawn in equal numbers from the ranks of organized labor, the great industrial and financial leaders and the public not identified with either of the other two interests.

Among those chosen to represent capital are: Mark Hanna, S. R. Callaway, Charles M. Schwab and John D. Rockefeller, jr.

To represent labor: Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, F. P. Sargent, Theodore Shaffer, James O'Connell and James E. Lynch.

To represent the public: Grover Cleveland, Archbishop Ireland, Bishop Potter, James H. Eckels and John G. Milburn.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

Send No Money—Simply Learn if I Know How to Cure You

I will mail the book wanted if you will send me your address. Don't let doubt or prejudice keep you from asking for it.

With the book I will send an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative; and he will let you test it a month. If satisfied, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself.

No other physician ever made such an offer; none ever will. I do it because I have discovered a remarkable remedy, and millions need it. I want them to have it.

It is a treatment that strengthens the inside nerves. It brings back the power that operates all vital organs—the only power that can ever make them strong. I have furnished the remedy to over half a million people on these terms, and 39 out of each 40 have paid for it because they were cured. I will rely on your honesty; and if I fail, not a penny is wanted.

Won't you write a postal to learn about a remedy like that?

Simply state which book you want, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

SHIPPING FACILITIES AT ST. JOHN.

Stockyards Will Take Care of Nearly Eighteen Hundred More Cattle

Montreal, Dec. 18.—Mr. Thomas Tait, the manager of transportation for the C.P.R., announced yesterday that the extensive improvements and enlargements at St. John, N.B., are approaching completion.

The enlargement of the stock yards will enable the company to take care of from 1,500 to 1,800 more cattle. The company have acquired considerable additional land adjoining their present yards, and are laying out sidings and building additional wharf accommodation.

A contract for the erection of a new freight shed, 420 feet by 40, has been given to Messrs. D. W. Clark & Son. A new yard near the city line at Fort Dufferin is to be used for the storage of delayed freight.

The number of conveyances from the elevators has been increased so that the company can now deliver grain to any vessel in any of the five berths that are available for use. Tracks have been put down to the different warehouses in each case doubling the number of cars that can be handled without shunting. These alterations will result in accommodation being provided for 1,500 more cars than the yard would hold last winter.

A flour shed is also being built so that large consignments of flour can be stored until it can be shipped in the steamers. The Dominion Government is erecting a very fine immigration shed, capable of accommodating about 1,200 persons.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

No Relief for Ex-Mayor Morris.

Toronto, Dec. 18.—The Ontario Government has refused to remit the disqualification of ex-Mayor Morris of Ottawa. The reason given is that it would create a bad precedent. Further, it would mar the efforts made recently to impose the enforcement of the License Act in Ontario.

Six Women in Town Council.

Christiania, Dec. 18.—At the recent municipal election in this city six women were elected to the town council—two Conservatives, two Socialists, two non-political. A husband and wife will sit in one council. The husband was a temperance candidate, the wife a Socialist.

Visit to Ireland Abandoned.

London, Dec. 18.—The World yesterday says the proposed visit of King Edward and Queen Alexandra to Ireland, which was to have taken place in the spring or after his Majesty's coronation, has been abandoned on account of the disturbed state of that country.

Lost Four Fingers.

Pickering, Dec. 18.—Mr. Conway, a young man employed on a steam shovel on the Grand Trunk here, yesterday had his right hand badly crushed. Drs. Bateman and Pale were called, and found it necessary to amputate his four fingers.

Capt. Voss Reaches Sydney.

San Francisco, Dec. 18.— News comes from Australia that Captain Voss and his little 40-foot canoe arrived at Sydney Nov. 20, having made the voyage safely from British Columbia. At Fiji, his mate, L. Luxton, concluded to go to Sydney by steamer. So Captain Voss shipped a sailor named Louis Degonte, but the man was washed overboard five days out, and Captain Voss made the rest of the voyage alone. He will go from Sydney to Ceylon on his voyage around the world.

Inspector Murray to Go.

Toronto, Dec. 18.—Inspector Murray will be sent to Dutton to investigate the death of W. Urlin, who was found dead Sunday morning.

Doctors Agreed.

Every doctor who has been shown the formula of Merrill's System Tonic, has expressed great admiration for its scientific and medical ingenuity. It is a thorough blood purifier, a great muscle, blood and tissue builder, and an excellent and permanent cure for constipation. 50 pleasant-to-take doses, 50 cents. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's pharmacy.

It Keeps Them Well.

That is exactly what our Vapo-Cresolene will do for your children. When any contagious disease is in the neighborhood you can keep your children from having it by allowing them to breathe in the vapor every night. Not a disease germ can live in this vapor, yet it is perfectly safe. You see it is that little "ounce of prevention" you have heard so much about. It brings quick relief from croup, colds, coughs and other throat troubles.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.5 ; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Dobelson, druggist.

A HEARTY LAUGH.

The Wonderful Effects It Has Upon the Human System.

"Laugh and grow fat" is a saying as old as the hills. It has long been an accepted fact that humor is a promoter of digestion and merry words the deadliest foes of disease. Dr. J. E. Kennedy, editor of the Iowa Health Bulletin, writes an interesting article on the value of laughter, in which he shows it is not only a remedial agent, but is also a valuable preventive against a host of diseases. The physical effects of laughter are thus put down by Dr. Kennedy:

Laughter increases the blood circulation.

It enlarges the heart.

It expands the lungs.

It jiggers the diaphragm.

It promotes the dioculation of the spleen.

In other words, laughter stirs up the vital regions of the body, gives them healthful exercise and produces a mental exhilaration which acts upon the system much as a brisk walk in a crisp atmosphere does upon the appetite. As strong allies to laughter Dr. Kennedy gives the following directions for mental peace of mind:

Beware of theologians who have no sense of mirth. They are not altogether human.

Keep your chin up.

Don't take your troubles to bed with you. Hang them on a chair with your trousers or drop them in a glass of water with your teeth.

Dr. Kennedy has surely hit the nail on the head. If his prescription and advice are followed, his own bills will be decidedly cut down.

LURED BY SCENT.

Rats Caught in Numbers by an Ingenious Means.

Rats are very susceptible to the odor of certain drugs, and any ordinary trap set in their haunts is likely to be successful if dressed with these scents, the attraction of which, rat catchers affirm, they cannot resist. An example is: Powdered assafetida, eight grains; oil of rhodium, two drams; oil of aniseed, one dram; oil of lavender, one-half dram. Shake together in a bottle and use a very small quantity to dress the bait.

To catch rats, cover a common barrel with stiff, stout paper, tying the edge round the barrel. Place a board so that the rats may have easy access to the top. Sprinkle cheese parings or other food for the rats on the paper for several days until they begin to think that they have a right to their daily rations from this source. Then place in the bottom of the barrel a piece of rock about six or seven inches high, filling with water until only enough of it projects above the water for one rat to lodge upon.

Now replace the paper, first cutting a cross in the middle, and the first rat that comes on the barrel top goes through into the water and climbs on the rock. The paper comes back to its original position, and the second rat follows the first. Then begins a fight for the possession of the dry place on the stone, the noise of which attracts the others, who share the same fate.

Two Men Run Down.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 17.—Two men were killed and another was severely injured at Delray, a suburb of Detroit, early yesterday, by a Lake Shore passenger train. The dead: Charles de Rosier, Ecorse; Fred Weisner, Delray, injured; Ernest Henselman, leg broken and head cut.

Wiarton, Dec. 17.—A young man named Ball of Adamsville was killed by the falling of a limb from a tree while he was out picking beechnuts on Saturday. The limb struck him on the head, fracturing his skull.

Chili Again Invaded.

Santiago de Chili, Dec. 17.—A report has been received here of another alleged invasion of Southern Chili. Should this be true, it will create new difficulties between the two countries.

800 Demand Bread.

Vienna, Dec. 17.—About eight hundred persons, out of employment and demanding bread, began rioting here yesterday. They were dispersed by the police. Sixteen of the rioters were injured.

Josh Billings Said of Niagara Falls

that the reason why people liked it was "Because nobody kin make wun jest like it." For the same reason people like Four T's, the great guaranteed cough cure. It is the only long remedy made that cures coughs and colds in two days with perfect safety. Children like it and it cures croupy coughs. Sold in 25c. bottles by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

NGLES AND JESTS.

A Question of Emphasis.

Frenchmen shrug their shoulders when they want to emphasize;
The Briton gives his head a little twist;
The dago simply jabbers and gesticulates with vim;
The American hits the table with his fist.
But when it comes to emphasis and making sentiment plain
And telling just exactly how he feels
The smile is more emphatic than all the rest combined,
And he always makes his gestures with his heels.

Usually the Way.

"But how," they asked, "did you happen to permit the man to bunko you?"

"Why, to tell the truth," answered the truthful man, "I went into the game because I thought there was a chance to bunko him."

Book Action.

A young football player named Bunting,
Who lately for trouble was hunting,
Ran afoul of a mule,
Who dismayed the young fool
With a strong exhibition of punting.

As It Is Done Now.

She—Why does a ship have to weigh its anchor every time it leaves port?

He—Well—er—you see, the weight is constantly changing on account of the binnacles that grow on it in the water.

The frost is on the pumpkin,
And the fodder's in the shock;
So chappy visits uncle now
And takes out his coat from hock.

Wholly Accidental.

"Does Ferguson own an automobile?"

"No. Poor fellow, he fell in the fire when he was a child. That's the way he got the face."

Summer In Autumn.

For off the hills are dressed in gold;
The valleys look invitin';

Plausible Theory.

Biggs—I wonder why some people are always borrowing trouble?

Diggs—Probably because it isn't necessary to put up any collateral.

A Common Error.

Some men imagine they can sway
The listening, eager crowd;
But that they have great things to say,
But just by talking loud.

Ready to Speculate.

Now doth the knowing farmer smile
As he counteth up his hoard;
In green goods he'll invest the pile
He raked in for "country board."

Misconstrued.

The Artist—Do you paint?

Mrs. Withers—No, not to speak of.

"Oh, I didn't mean that."

Self Evident Truth.

Old adage are often right.
For instance, you will find
The dude who dresses "out of sight"
Is also "out of mind."

THE ONLY ONE.

The man who says that all patent medicines are worthless is a fool. For Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure has no equal. W. C. Switzer, Harrowsmith, O., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for ten years. He tried every known remedy recommended for the cure of rheumatism without obtaining relief. Six bottles of Dr. Hall's completely cured him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Point of View.

He—What an insufferable crush!

She—Indeed not! Why, everybody here is somebody.

Branded Values.

A nugget may be worth twenty dollars, but you don't know it until it is tested and weighed.

A piece of gold stamped by the mint is worth exactly what it is branded.

A common shoe may be worth what is asked for it, but you don't know till you wear it and find out. It may be Goodyear welted and it may not be.

A "Slater Shoe" branded with makers' name and price in a slate frame is worth exactly what the makers say it is.

They know its value. They put a coupon on it telling the leather it is made of, the wear it will give and how to care for it.

Every shoe branded with price and name, $3.50 and $5.00 per pair. "The Slater Shoe."

A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Concert Given in the Charlotte Street Church Last Evening.

The combined League and Orchestral concert given in the Charlotte street Sunday School hall last night was a great success. Every item on the programme elicited hearty applause. The orchestral selections were admirably given, particularly the opening march. Miss Huffman's instrumental was really a brilliant number. The trombone solo by Mr. Robinson, and flute solo by Mr. E. Hodgson with orchestral accompaniment were appreciated and the players had to respond to encores. Mr. Hodgson's flute solos were very popular, while the violin and oboe duet by Messrs. Hancock and E. Hodgson was, if comparisons are allowable, the finest instrumental number of the evening.

The vocal selections were excellent. The duet by Miss Stephens and Mr. Doidge, "Hope Beyond," was rendered with great sweetness and expression. Mr. Parks was in magnificent voice, and his "Greetings to the King" carried the house by storm. Mr. Parks sang as an encore "For England's Sake."

The humourous lecture by Mr. Sorsoltel on the "Philosophy of Brass Buttons" kept the audience in a ripple of laughter, and was much enjoyed.

Miss S. Campbell and Mrs. Hodgson acted as accompanists for the evening with their usual marked ability, while Rev. D. O. Crossley made an excellent chairman.

THE CHRISTMAS BOUQUET.

Give flowers at Christmastide. "No worth they bring but their own gladness—making winter, spring." At the West-end Greenhouses is a choice selection of flowers in bloom and that will bloom all winter. What nicer present to give or to get than a plant in bloom. For christmas decorations you can order lillies, palms, ferns, foliage plants, etc., of the freshest, hardiest and handsomest kind. Telephone 215, or visit the greenhouses, No. 495 Park street, at residence of G. M. Roger. A. Blade, manager. P.S. — Send flowers to your friends, the sick especially.

Merry Christmas.

We are leading our efforts to make the season a pleasant one by doing everything we can to cheapen the price of some useful article of Millinery and Dress requirements. Nowhere else in Peterborough can you enjoy the advantages in selection and price that is being offered at this store. Millinery and Mantles are going actually at half price. Gloves, Laces, Ornaments for the hair and other goods for evening wear in newest ideas. New and beautiful handkerchiefs, neckwear, collars, fascinators, infants wear and many other pleasing remembrances for Christmas buyers. Miss Delaney.

A DECEMBER WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Mabel Eleanor Wills and Mr. A. E. Pratley.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Henry Wills, No. 151 Park street, last evening, when his second youngest daughter, Mabel Eleanor, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Albert Edward Pratley, of Lawrence, Mass., youngest son of Mr. Geo. Pratley, town. the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. L. Armitage, of All Saint's church.

The bride was very becomingly attired in a gown of white organdie, trimmed with white Valenciennes lace and insertion. She wore a veil of white matted silk entwined with flowers, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Wills, sister of the bride, wore a simple gown of white organdie, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. G. G. Pratley, of Messrs. Thompson, Davis & Co. The nuptial knot was tied under an arch of evergreens entwined with ribbon, whilst the wedding march was played by little Miss Mabel Gilbert. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served and the newly married couple left for their future home in Lawrence, Mass.

The decorations of the interior of the house were very pretty and were for the most part of evergreens and in pink. About forty guests were in attendance. The groom's present to the bride was a gold brooch, and the bridesmaid a gold ring and to the pianist a gold stick pin. A solid gold watch was the gift of the bride's father and a handsome cheque was given her by the father of the groom.

The wedding was an exceptionally pretty one and the many costly presents showed the high esteem in which the happy young couple are held. They were given a very hearty send off on the midnight train last night.

The Examiner joins with their host of friends in wishing them many years of happiness.

Shorey & Co. of Montreal Sharing Their Richest Plums With the City Clothing Store.

Our regular customers, as well as those specially interested in buying the very top-notch ready-to-wear clothing, will be pleased to learn that Mr. Shorey, of Montreal, famous for his high class goods, made his regular visit to the City Clothing Store last week. He came personally, to make special offerings to us, as usual, at the close of his season, and before beginning the spring work. We had the cream of his fine winter stock offered us at tempting prices, and although we had a heavy stock on hand we gave Mr. Shorey a large order because it was the best snap we had offered us for many a day. Our business relations with Mr. Shorey have always been particularly satisfactory. Every garment sent us has a good seller. Shorey & Co. are noted for using honest material and insisting on good tailoring. Quality and value is always guaranteed. We invite men, young men and boys, to inspect this really high class stock which we can and will sell at less than wholesale prices. As we have had a splendid trade this year, and as our stock is very heavy, we are prepared to make unusual reductions to help to lessen our overstock. Suits and overcoats that up to last night were marked at regular prices have all been cut down to the richest bargains ever offered at this store. Early buyers can now pick and choose from our big stock, and we give them the benefit of our best Montreal snaps.

H. LeBrun & Co.

Time is Nearly up.

This is the week of weeks! Preeminently and emphatically the holiday shoppers' week. The enthusiasm of the crowds at the Peterborough Book Store is unbounded, and the people all like it. Nothing we've ever done begins to equal what we're doing now. A holiday halo illumines this store as if Christmas electricity had struck the place. Christmas chances broaden—and the happy crowds tell better than anything else the relation of the store to the community. The business is in closest touch with the people. Only a few days more on the calendar. How the time will fly? You have barely time to make out your list and select your presents. Shop early at the Peterborough Bookstore and the time spent will be spent in pleasure. Storm the store! Hundreds have been served already out of our princely stock, but heaps of good things are still left. A. H. Stratton & Co.

I. O. O. F. NOTES.

Will we Have a Rebekah Lodge in Town—Sgt Trumbler an Oddfellow.

At the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I.O.O.F., next Thursday evening, December 19, some very interesting letters on the subject of organizing a Rebekah Lodge will be presented for the considerations of the members, and it is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance.

The matter was considered by Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, on Monday evening last.

The Oddfellows of Peterborough are again represented in the contingent for South Africa. Sergt. A. H. Trumbler being a member of Otonabee Lodge. The late lamented Dan Spence was a member of Peterborough Lodge.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

The Peterborough Rugby team will be photographed at Roy's at 2 p.m. Saturday. The boys will please be on hand sharp on time.

HOCKEY.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club last night Mr. R. M. Glover was elected captain of the intermediate team. The selection of a captain for the Juniors will be left over for some time.

The boys had their first practice last night and cut up the ice a little at the rink. They will be into the game from now on.

There will be another hockey practice this evening. Every candidate for intermediate honours should be on hand.

Mr. Thomas Stockdale, of the School of Pedagogy, was in town today on his way to his old home at Keene. Mr. Stockdale was one of the original promoters of the Trent Valley Hockey League, and is now manager of the Hamilton O. H. A. team.

A rather extraordinary incident in connection with the election of officers of the Ontario Hockey Association, is the fact that it transpires about three days after the annual meeting that George R. Simpson, of New Market is elected on the executive of the Association in place of J. W. Chowan, of Stratford. This state of affairs was discovered at a recount of the ballots which had been preserved. The recount was upon application of Mr. Simpson he having felt, it is supposed, that there was some crookedness or deplorable bungling on the part of those who were entrusted with the duties of scrutineers. The mistake is hard to explain and it is up to the scrutineers to give an account of the discrepancy in the figures and clear the officers of the Association in the matter.

CURLIANA.

The Thistles met last evening and selected their rinks as follows for the season's play:

A committee is at work drawing up a schedule of inter-rink games to be ready by the first of the year.

The following resolution was passed on motion of Messrs. T. Rutherford and R. Kerr, "That in consideration of the Thistle Curling Club paying to the Curling and Skating Rink Co. the sum of $200, that the exclusive right be allowed to the three curling ices on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays of each week, but that in case of special hockey matches the Rink Company, on permission from the secretary of the Thistle Club may use the two side fences for spectators."

The curling season opened last evening with the ice in magnificent condition, but what else could one expect with an ice maker like the only Angus.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A London policeman had his baton taken away from him the other night by a citizen of that place who then knocked the officer out with his own club. It is not stated whether the policeman's assailant was or was not a football player, but the probability is that he was.

Draceenas, carnations, chrysanthemums, mignonette, lillies, roses, geraniums, etc. Just to hand, Japanese fern balls, direct from Japan. The stock is beautifully fresh, nothing to beat it in town, either in price or excellence. Open till 10 o'clock every night. 'Phone, 132.

'XMAS BOXES!

Call and see the great stock of handsome wool goods, both useful and ornamental. We have them in almost endless profusion, seasonable, comfortable and pretty—The Port Hope Knitting Works.

AN URGENT MESSAGE!

Only one more week, and the Christmas Bells will celebrate the old, familiar story of "Peace on earth, good will toward men." This is the week of weeks, when the most dilatory buyers must close their negotiations with Santa Claus. No time to be lost. Don't put off to the last moment—there's only disadvantage in delay.

The Peterborough Bookstore has planned to make the next few days wonderfully busy days. We invite the co-operation of shoppers to select before the pell-mell of the last day or two, especially as earlier purchases can be reserved and delivered at any designated time.

Nowhere can you find such a wealth of Holiday Offerings—the endless profusion of appropriate Christmas presents—useful or ornamental, costly or inexpensive, to suit the purse or taste of everyone. If it's anything in the list that follows, you'll get what you want in a jiffy:

PERSONALS.

Miss Lillian Moore, Brock street, has returned home from St. Margaret's Ladies' College for the Christmas holidays.

A Public Meeting.

A public meeting to discuss municipal matters has been called for Monday night.

One in a Hundred.

The first year of the new century is gone; there are ninety-nine years left for improvement. Messrs. N. W. Ayer & Son, the Philadelphia promoters of advertising, have begun early in their efforts to make the second year better than the first. Their Twentieth Century Calendar, issued this time last year it was thought approached near the limits of the art preservative and the demands of utility—but the 1902 calendar is better. As usual, the background and main sheet of this calendar is an art work, enhanced in beauty by the tasteful colours of the printer. The twelve sheets containing the dates of the month, have a restful dark green background, the large figures in white catching the eye at a great distance. In each sheet are epigrammatic sentences bearing on the possibilities of business during the year. Though the calendar marks the passing of one year in a hundred, it is in itself one calendar in a thousand for artistic beauty and real usefulness. The demand is always great and whoever would have a copy should send 25c before the edition runs low. This is merely a nominal price to cover the cost of printing, handling and postage. Address N. W. Ayer & Son, Chesnut and Eighth streets, Philadelphia.

Over 20,000.

More than 20,000 invalids have taken Merrill's System Tonic, and the result has proven that this wonderful new medicine is not a doubtful compound, but one which always affects a radical cure of stomach, nerve, liver and kidney troubles. The 50c. bottles last three weeks. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

PROF. SHEETS' CLASS

Presented Him With an Address and a Lamp Last Night.

Prof. Sheets' Tuesday evening class terminated very pleasantly last night when an unusually large number of young people were in attendance.

Prof. Sheets' Tuesday evening class has been one of the most successful of all his classes, the members of which could not see the class come to a conclusion without tendering to him some expression of their appreciation of his efforts in their behalf. Towards the close of the evening Mr. Dixon Jewett read a suitably worded address to the Professor, and Mr. H. Rush, jr., presented him with a beautiful lamp.

The address was as follows:

To Professor Sheets,

Dear Friend and Teacher, — Time, with its golden plumage spreading over the mighty firmament is not content to fold its wings, but gently glides along as the unruffled wave over the vast and fathomless ocean. Thus it is with life. We glance at the past with pleasure intermingled with pain; we look into the future with dim uncertainty. Into our lives has come the hour of parting—that word which seem to convey to the human heart all that can be conceived of pain, of sacrifice, and of sadness. But we realize that in the pursuance of your calling, you must leave us in your own best interests, and we beg your acceptance of this little gift in recognition of the many pleasant hours which we passed under your instruction.

Wishing Mrs. Sheets and yourself, the compliments of the season.

W. DIXON JEWETT,
H. RUSH, JR.
On behalf of the Class.

Professor Sheets made an appropriate reply in which he thanked the class very sincerely for their kindness towards him. An enjoyable time was spent last night.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

The Rosseneath Royal Orange Lodge—An Enjoyable Evening.

There was a large attendance of members at the annual meeting of Rosseneath L.O.L. No. 261 in their new Hall on December 12th, when considerable business was transacted. The books were audited by Bro. Jos. King and Bro. Wm. Murpny; everything was found in a satisfactory condition. Nearly $1000 has been handled during the year, and Bro. John McEllenborough was highly complimented on his business ability.

After a short address Bro. James Morency, W.M., declared the chair vacant, and requested Bro. David Drope, D.M., to take the chair, and proceed with the election and installation of officers for the coming year. After some good-natured rivalry, the following brethren were elected and installed:

Bro. Jas Morency	W M
" Geo A Linton	D M
" David Drope	Chap
" John McEllenborough	Chap
" Wm Murphy	F S
" Nixon Timlin	Treas
" Ezra Houghtaling	D of C
" Jos King	Lect
" Alex Shearer	1st Com
" Geo Harvie	2nd Com
" Ira Lapp	3rd Com
"Edgar Rosevear	4th Com

Short addresses were given by the officers and Bro. Geo. Murphy, the popular reeve of Alnwick township.

The lodge then adjourned and the members retired to the Royal Hotel, where Mr. John Murphy, the popular host, assisted by an able staff, provided a grand supper to the members and visiting brethren. Mr. Murphy was congratulated on providing such an excellent repast, after which all the members went to their respective homes well pleased with a very enjoyable evening.

BEST REMEDY FOR DRINK EVIL.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — The intemperate use of strong drink is very largely a social evil, since it is the universal employment of the social element with the drink habit, which is responsible. The temperance advocates seem to advocate everything, including prohibition, which is admittedly difficult, and sometimes impossible, of enforcement, except what, to my view, would be the most effective preventive. If they would demand and secure the passing of an act making treating an offence subject to penalty, then a great advance would be made in at once decreasing drunkenness and its evils, with a chance of ultimately removing it altogether. Anyone who has knocked about the world a little, knows that the treating system is responsible for seven-tenths of the intemperate drinking of the day. Half a dozen young men, for instance, find themselves together and somebody suggests drinks, not because any need or particular desire for a drink exists with any of them, but simply because custom has made a "treat" a medium or accompaniment of social intercourse. Under the circumstances the unwritten code of "honour" requires each of the six to "treat," and the result is that six young men have each six drinks, and some of them are drunk; whereas if each had been left by custom, the choice to buy a "lone" drink, it is highly probable that no drinks at all would have been consumed. Not one of the six young men mentioned, perhaps, had any particular longing for drink, it was solicitation alone that suggested the first "treat," and a false standard of "honour" that brought on the other five. This sort of thing, operating day and night, throughout the country, is responsible for seven-tenths of the drunkenness and drinking habits of the community. Abolish the treating system, and you abolish drunkenness, as a general condition. Nobody but the confirmed toper, or the man who feels the need of a stimulant, will take a "lone" drink, and thousands upon thousands, who only drink in deference to the demands of social custom, would never think of taking a drink except under social conditions. I have great faith in the abolition of the treating system, as a means of promoting a decrease of the evils due to the intemperate use of streng drink. Why don't some of the prominent temperance advocates advocate it?

Yours truly,
Moderation.

Dec. 17th, 1901.

CHRISTMAS TURKEYS

I will have a good supply of Turkeys and Geese for the Christmas trade. Now would be a good time to order, especially those wanting a quantity. Prices will be reasonable.

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

What is Going on in the Village to the East.

Mrs. J. B. Waddell, accompanied by her mother-in-law, intend to leave on Thursday for their new home in Carleton Place.

Mr. Gall, representative for the Imperial Life Assurance Co., was in town last week looking up business.

Mr. David Galletly, of Banff, Alta., an old resident of this district, has been in town for the past few days renewing old acquaintances.

The Norwood palace skating rink is under the management of Mr. E. Scriver this season, and the opening is expected to take place on Friday evening.

The season of Christmas entertainments is about at hand. The scholars of the Methodist Sunday school will head the list by giving an oyster supper and musical entertainment on Wednesday evening.

The Model School concert on Friday evening proved to be the event of the season. They presented Shakspeare's great drama, "The Merchant of Venice," and those who took part certainly deserve a great deal of credit for the manner in which they presented their parts. Shylock and Portia were particularly well represented. The hall was packed to the doors, many being unable to get in at all. The proceeds amounted to $54, which amount, after the expenses are paid, will be given to the Public Library. On Monday evening they presented the play in Hastings. The hall was well filled, and they realized about $37. The caste was as follows:

Shylock.....Mr. Bart Leahy
Portia... ... ...Miss Laura Holdcroft
Bassanio... ... ...Mr. Chas. Anderson
Antonio ... ... Mr. Roy Taylor
Gratiano... ... ... Mr. W. Howson
Nerissa ... ...Miss Maggie Kenneally
Jessica... ... ...Miss M. Callahan
Lorenzo... ... ...Mr. L. Learmouth
Launcelot Gobbo... ... ...Mr. B. Huston
Old Gobbo ... ...Arthur Vanvolkenburg
Salanio ... ...T. Coughlin
Guards...D. Carlan and C. Smith
Duke of Venice... ... ...J. McMaster

The annual W.F.M. Society Thanksgiving service was held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Potter of Peterborough, occupied the pulpit and gave a very interesting address on the text, "She has done what she could." During the service two very acceptable solos were rendered by Mrs. J. B. Waddell and Mr. D. Galletly, of Banff.

The village council met on Monday evening, December 16th, pursuant to notice. Reeve Breault in the chair, and Councillors Eaton and Greenbanks present.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The tax collector reported taxes collected to the amount of $4711.23, leaving $318.53 to be collected. He also asked rebates on the following: Thos. Tindal, on personal property, $10.00; Fred Bougard, on dog, $1.00; Arlin Colley, dog, $1.00.

Moved by Councillors Greenbanks and Eaton, that the rebates asked by collector be granted.—Carried.

Bylaw No. 257, appointing Jas. Pengelly Deputy Returning Officer for Polling Division No. 2, at the school house, was read the usual number of times and passed.

The following accounts were then read from the chair:—

Jas. Calder, salary as clerk	$ 50 00
Jas Calder, Board of Health	5 00
Jas. Calder, postage and stat.	4 75
J C Moffatt, Med. Health Officer	5 00

I RESIGN.

(The Khan, in Dundas Banner.)

I uster think my character
Was spotless as the snow,
I uster think 'twas stainless as
A hawthorn bush in blow,
But the stories they're tellin'
You hardly could believe,
They say that I'm a horsethief since
They put me up for reeve.

Before the nomination I
Was fit to lead in prayer,
But since that sad occasion
I'm frequent made aware
That I served a term in prison
From court of last assize,
For bolting with the coppers from
A helpless dead man's eyes.

They say that missing goods are oft
Upon my person found;
That neighbours lock the henhouse when
They see me coming round,
That I never yet was sober
An hour in all my life
And that I'm too familiar with
A certain party's wife.

So I decline to run for reeve;
I rather would be free,
A-choppin' cordwood in the swamp
Is good enough for me.
The township will be losers and
The voters all will grieve
On learning that I've shook the job
And will not run for reeve.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, December 17th, 1901.

"Coming congress to reduce taxation, a patent bull factor."

Originally the assemblying of congress at Washington is considered by Wall street as an adverse factor in the stock market. This year it will be very different, and we are probably ahead of the procession in amalgamated. This fact, in influencing market values, within 30 days the financial writers will be going into the market most exhaustively, and their portrayal of the situation will be used to the advantage of prices. It is at present a fact that the government, is through taxation taking in too much money, far in excess of its necessities, and to the hard assessment and disadvantage of business. It is a fact that the incoming congress will deal with this subject, and as a result, taxation will be naturally reduced, so as to bring government income into conformity with government necessities. To have the government take in more money than will be necessary to pay its running expenses, is an unmitigated evil. It is generally understood that congress will materially reduce government receipts, possibly absolutely wipe out all the war revenues levied in the past three years, with this accomplished it will be clear sailing for the stock market. A reduction of the internal revenues will have a most satisfactory effect upon the market, the discounting of which should be well under way, right after the first of the year. Wall Street is quick to answer the helm, discounting effects of good or bad news. Reduction of taxation under present circumstances is news of the very best possible sort. Present low prices of many Wall Street securities have been brought about through the adverse action of certain stocks, namely copper, causing lower prices for them, than would otherwise be recorded. It would seem wise to take advantage of such opportunities. The incoming of congress should be welcomed by share holders as the one idea through the country at present which will be reflected by the various representatives at Washington, is to reduce the burdens. Republicans and Democrats are agreed on this point, and it is certain that proper action will be taken.

Money easier to-day and more in abundance.

The worst of the higher money rates seems over for the time, while liquidation seems about over.

Steels improved 3-4 per cent., Ame. 1 1-4, Po. was up a point for the day while sugar was steady, and in good demand, selling 126.

Copper was erratic, opening off at 61.4 declining to 60.4, then advancing to 64 5-8 again receding from that point.

In the railways Atchison sold up a point, Metropolitan 1 1-4, with good enquiry for B. R. T., Rock Island was higher, while St. Paul advanced 1 1-4 touching 161. Manhattan Mop. L. N. and the coalers were very strong, with good volume of business.

Pacific mail improved, and so did Southern Pacific.

We are on the eve of an upward turn and would advise buying, especially on weak spots.

ONTARIO TO OTHER EYES.

The Province Looks Like Home to an Englishman—People Happy Contented and Prosperous—Good Climate.

It is a familiar remark that all cities are alike, writes the special correspondent of The London Standard who accompanied the royal party during their tour. In Canada, however, they are entirely different. Quebec, for example, is a beautiful and ancient dame, with the manners of a past age. Winnipeg is a hoyden, Victoria a dainty maiden, Ottawa a lady of fashion, Montreal a solid business man, and Toronto a well-to-do citizen with a place in the country. It was with a feeling of repose that we approached the capital of Ontario. Night and day we had sped across bare heaths and through great stretches of forest, beautiful in their scarlet and purple vastness. Never have seen such masses of color — the deep purple of the blue beech, the trembling orange and gold of birch and aspen, wreathed with the dark green of pines, a carpet of flaming sumach—all fading into a dream of pink and purple and green and gold against the cold blue of an autumn sky. As we drew near to Toronto a new and quiet sense of home came over us. From the windows of the train we looked out across English meadows and gardens and hedgerows, right away to a blue line of hills and a dull grey sky. Smiling homesteads, pleasant hamlets, busy towns, glided past us, leaving an impression of industry, content and settled prosperity. The people, too, reminded us strongly of home, for we were in the heart of a British and Protestant community. Everywhere the Duke and Duchess had been welcomed warmly and heartily, even in French and Catholic Quebec, but in my ears the cheers of Toronto sounded more stirring — more British in force and value.

I am not sure that this feeling of home was not due in part to another cause. It was raining The climate of Canada has been woefully misrepresented. Most people remember the words, "Our Lady of the Snows," and forget the license of the poet. There is a popular belief that in the Dominion they leap from "winter to summer without a spring." Now, in this journey of nearly six thousand miles, we have had almost perfect weather. Though on the edge of winter, only on one fleeting day have we had snow. Three or four showers of rain, and all the rest bright, warm and sunny. Even the winter, as everyone will tell you, is less trying than that of England, for the air is clear and dry, and still, though the thermometer may be many degrees below zero. Only when the wind blows—and that is rarely—do you need to wrap yourself in furs and avoid exposure. Well, it was rain in Toronto, and the sky was leaden, and no one seemed to give it a thought. The children — there were six thousand healthy youngsters at the railway station — sang their national songs, waved their Union Jacks and maple leaves, and cheered as lustily as if the sun had been shining on them and they were not soaked to the skin. The streets were densely crowded, and the enthusiasm was a thing to be remembered. Their Royal Highnesses drove through miles of suburbs, in which are many beautiful residences, gardens radiant with blossoms and leafy avenues. In the city are many handsome churches and public buildings, with well-ordered streets traversed in ever direction by electric tramcars. Canada is a land of public buildings and tramways. Every Provincial capital has a pile of Government buildings that would not discredit a European capital; and the wealthy merchants and citizens display admirable taste in the construction of their business houses and dwellings. The effect is pleasing and surprising, especially in towns not a quarter of a century old.

Their Royal Highnesses spent two busy days in Toronto. I have given by cable a brief description of the chief incidents. The review was the principal event. Its numbers it surpassed any that we had seen in Canada. Nearly twelve thousand men were drawn up on the shore of the lake, in front of fifty thousand people, who watched with manifest interest every evolution on the plain. I have said before that the Canadians appear to take less interest in the war than do the Australians. Martial spirit is not so manifest, and the cadet system, strong and widespread in Australia, is here in its infancy.

From Toronto the Duke and Duchess made a short and rapid tour among the eastern towns of Ontario, stopping for a few hours at London, on the Thames, in the County of Middlesex. London is the centre of a rich agricultural district, and the visit must have enabled them to form some some opinion of the wonderful natural resources of the country. On every side were evidences of industry and thrift, and of a soil that yields abundant harvests. London is but one of a group of townships that give to Ontario its pre-eminence as the wealthiest and most populous province in the Dominion. In 1826 it was the administrative centre, and to-day it is the boast of London that more trains arrive and depart daily there than at any other point in Canada. The most fertile area of Ontario is its tributary, and sends to its busy markets every kind of agricultural produce. A great brewing industry has been established, and London ales are famous throughout the continent. At Hamilton, which the Duke and Duchess visited later, they saw another flourishing city. A canopy of smoke rising from the foot of the mountain at the head of Lake Ontario recalled Sheffield or Birmingham. And on near approach we found a small capital of the Midlands, for Hamilton claims that distinction. The outskirts are mean and dingy, and it is only when you come to the heart of the city that you are reconciled to such meanness and dinginess in a land of air and light and space. Hamilton can plead in extenuation an industrious and thriving population.

What is Life to You?

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

Women's Ailments.

Women are coming to understand that the Backaches, Headaches, Tired Feelings and weak Spells from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys.

DOAN'S Kidney Pills

are the most reliable remedy for any form of kidney complaint. They drive away pains and aches, make women healthy and happy—able to enjoy life to the fullest.

Mrs. C. H. Gillespie, 204 Britain Street, St. John, N.B., says:

"I had severe kidney trouble for which I doctored with a number of the best physicians in St. John, but received little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use. Before taking them I could not stoop to tie my shoes, and at times suffered such torture that I could not turn over in bed without assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills have rescued me from this terrible condition, and removed every pain and ache."

UNHEALTHY NERVES.

Reasons Why They Are Benefited by Drinking Water.

A well known nerve specialist has said that "all neurasthenics—that is, people with unhealthy nerves—have desiccated nerves and suffer from an insufficiency of fluid in the tissues of the body." It is probable that we all in more or less degree, even when not conscious of any definite symptoms, are suffering in some part of our system for the lack of enough fluid and especially of enough pure cool water.

We know that so nicely is the human body adjusted and adapted to its uses that one part cannot suffer without all suffering. If the nerves are desiccated or dried through lack of fluid, then it is certain that other tissues are also suffering from the same lack and that the wheels of the wonderful machinery are being clogged by reason of waste matter which is not washed away.

We see by this that water does for us a threefold service. It feeds, it washes, and it carries away the cinders of the body furnace, and through the want of it we are exposed to many and great dangers. The tissues become too dry, the blood is thick and its flow sluggish, and the retained waste of the body sets up a condition which the doctors call "autointoxication," or self poisoning. This condition may give rise to almost any known symptoms from a pimple to heart failure and is really responsible for most of the semi-invalids with whom the world is largely peopled.

To obtain the best results from water drinking certain rules should be observed. People do not all need the same amount, and it may take a little experimenting to find out just how much should be taken in individual cases. It has been stated by some physicians that five or six pints should be taken during the twenty-four hours. Of this only a moderate quantity should be taken with the meals. It is a mistake to take no water with a meal, but it is perhaps a greater mistake to wash food down with water, especially with ice water.

The best time for water drinking is at night and early in the morning. It is well to form the habit of slowly sipping during the bath and while dressing two or three glasses of cool, not ice cold, water. Two of three more may be sipped at bedtime and again two or three glasses an hour or two before luncheon and before dinner.

In a very short time the value of this habit will become apparent in the resultant general improvement in digestion, temper and appearance.—Youth's Companion.

Cold Affects the Liver.

Severe Headaches, Constipation and Kidney Disorders the Result—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Correct the Action of Filtering and Excretory Organs.

The liver is very easily affected by change of temperature, nervous strain and over-eating, and is the cause of more pains and aches than any other organ of the body. It is the duty of the liver to filter from the blood the poisonous bile, which it passes into the intestines to act as nature's cathartic. One of the first results of a sluggish, congested liver is constipation, alternating with looseness of the bowels and what is commonly called biliousness.

Bitter taste in the mouth, sallow complexion, a coated tongue, severe headaches, pain under shoulder blades, fulness in right side, dizziness, ill-temper, peevishness and depression of spirits are indications of an ailing liver. The remarkable effectiveness of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in regulating the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels easily places it first as a treatment for derangements of these organs. There are few people who are not more or less subject to biliousness in the winter season, when more or less confined to the house, and so rendered sensitive to change of temperature. Meat diet and the artificial foods of winter also tend to make the liver sluggish, the kidneys inactive and the bowels constipated.

The promptness with which Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills correct the action of the filtering and excretory organs and rid the blood of poisonous bile impurities commend them to reasoning people as a suitable family medicine to be kept in the home all the time. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prompt, pleasant and natural in action, far-reaching in effect and perfectly scientific. They have proven their right to your confidence in scores of thousands of cases, many, no doubt, in your immediate locality.

Do not imagine that you are experimenting when you begin to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. If your liver, kidneys or bowels are deranged this preparation will set them right. It does not seem wise to suffer from biliousness, kidney disease, constipation or similar ailments when you may as well keep your health in perfect order with this tried and tested remedy. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

"A handsome and useful Christmas present for your mother or grandmother is a copy of Dr. Chase's last and complete Receipt Book. Illustrated folder free."

To cure a cold in a night—use Vapo-Cresolene. It has been used extensively during more than twenty-four years. All Druggists.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

The Nightmare.

The nightmare comes to plague us then
The lights are all put out;
We find ourselves in need of help
And try in vain to shout.
We suffer all the agonies
Of martyrs at the stake,
And just as all seems lost at last
We manage to awake.
Then in a trice the awful woes
We thought we had disgone;
The nightmare comes to teach us that
Our troubles might be worse.

An Example.

Teacher—Yes, "revive" means to "come to." Now make a sentence containing that word.

Bright Boy—If one apple costs three cents, what'll four apples revive?

Imagery Run Wild.

Muggins—Is your wife fond of fiction?

Buggins—Well, she seems to read a lot of cookbooks.

Amiable Advice.

He—It was hard work to keep from kissing you last night.

She—Well, you must be careful not to overexert yourself, Jack.

Contrasts.

Inside de white man grievin'
Kase he can't own all de street;
Outside a Georgy banjo
Ez a nigger's dassin' feet!

Qualified Praise.

"Just got my new photographs. Fine, aren't they?"

"Splendid. Glad you told me who it was."

Not Game.

"She's not received in the best society, I'm told."

"No; entre nous, she gets cold feet at bridge."

Roses and Thorns.

The bitter mingles with the sweet
In brown October's cup.
No more we grasp in summer's heat,
But coal is going up.

Don't Waste Money.

If you have nerve troubles or dyspepsia take Merrill's System Tonic. It cures by purifying the blood and regulating the bowels. Then dyspepsia and nervous diseases disappear. This is the scientific and correct way of doing. Get a 50c. bottle of Merrill's System Tonic which last three weeks, at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

A Family Affair.

"What a pity you are going to marry a man of no family, dear!"

"Well, it's better than marrying a man with one anyhow."

Seasonable.

A Big Quarter's Worth

is always found in a bottle of Polson's Nerviline, the best household liniment known. It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, headache, sick-stomach, in fact is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for. Mothers find it the safest thing to rub on their children for sore throat, cold on the chest, sprains and bruises. Never be without Polson's Nerviline. It will cure the pains and aches of the entire family and relieve a vast amount of suffering every year.

Embarrassing.

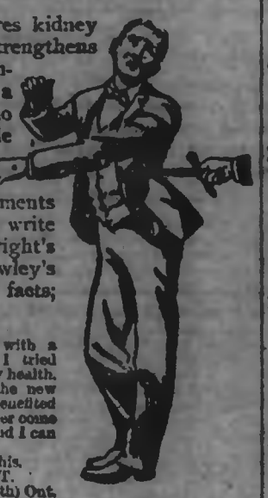
Cures Kidney Disease

Richard Elliot of London Praises Powley's Liquified Ozone.



Powley's Liquified Ozone cures kidney diseases by Nature's process, strengthens the system and drives out the impurities from the blood. It is a wonder worker; cures people who have been given up to die; people who will now tell you they owe their lives to its marvelous power to cure. We publish statements of Canadian people, men you can write to, who have been cured of Bright's disease of the kidneys by Powley's Liquified Ozone. They are all facts; we invite your investigation.

Gentlemen:—

For months past I have suffered with a bowel and kidney complaint, for which I tried many remedies in a vain effort to regain my health.

I have used about three bottles of the new remedy, Ozone, and have been greatly benefited thereby. It is the finest remedy I have ever come across. I wish you much success with it and I can heartily endorse all you claim for it.

You have my permission to publish this.

(Signed) RICHARD ELLIOT.
31 Bruce St., London (South) Ont.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is Oxygen in liquid stable form. It cleans out the kidneys, soothes the inflammations of the delicate tracts and makes new tissues. It is the greatest discovery of the age.

You don't have to take our word when we tell you it cures kidney trouble; we give you facts—facts you can investigate for your own satisfaction. Powley's Liquified Ozone is liquid life.

CANADA'S YOUNG MEN

SOME THINGS THEY OWE TO LAND OF THEIR BIRTH OR ADOPTION.

A Stirring Address by the Hon. G. E. Foster—Two Points of View of "Canada, A Young Man's Country"—The Industrial Battle—Inheritance From the Past—An Insidious Evil.

"'Canada — a Young Man's Country. That may be looked at in two ways. 'Canada — a young man's country.' Does that mean, in the young man's mind, a country for all I can get out of it?—owing me protection under the law, owing me my bread and butter, and clothes; a young man's country good for me to get honor out of, pleasure out of, riches out of, distinction and influence, and power out of? That is a country that I look upon as something like a great big orange, to be sucked for my own pleasure and my own benefit. That is one way in which we may look at a country in relation to ourselves. Is not there another and deeper sense in which we should look at it? Cannot we detect the clear, though not loud, voice of Canada saying to us, 'I have something to get out of you'? (Applause.) Can we not hear it saying, 'I have cradled you in the midst of my legend, and story, and history; my brooks have sung to your childhood ears; my ocean has beaten to your maturer days and stirred up the depth of your heart; my lakes, my prairies, my mountains, my resources—yes, the deep beat of my life, has found its way into your own life, has found its way into your own pulses. (Applause.) I have something to demand from you. It is not for you to look upon me as something out of which you are to get everything, giving me nothing in return.'"

The speaker reminded the young men that they were the prospective owners of the country; in twenty-five years they would be running, controlling, and governing it; they would have to take hold of the railway enterprises, the great industrial corporations, and all the other businesses which the strong financial men were putting through to-day. Yet such works as Canada had, none would be small in proportion to their magnitude within twenty-five years. Industries did not keep themselves running by the force of inherited power, but was successful because of the brains put into them, and because of the skill and power of adaptation and means that could only be learned in the schools, the colleges, the laboratories, and by actual digging and delving into practical work. What would the industrial life of Canada be twenty-five years from now in the commercial and industrial war with the people to the south, with the great Australian Commonwealth, with the nations of Europe waking up, and with the old nations of China and Japan commencing to wake up? It would be just where her young men would give her the position if they applied themselves from this time forward to make themselves masters of industry. (Applause.)

"Don't let us confine ourselves to the industrial side," added Mr. Foster. "What would a nation be if it had nothing but buzzing factories, nothing but fleets and fishing boats, nothing but an army of wood workers, and choppers, and sawyers, and miners? A nation is made up of varied enterprises, and varied qualities; all these co-mingled, and each working out its own excellence in order to make the beau ideal of a nation. There is work for him to do in the line of literature, of education, of art, of music, of engineering."

Canada was a young man's country, because it was a young country. There was an affinity between a young man and a young country that there could not be between an old country and a young man. Canada was in its formative period, and there stretched out vast possibilities, and the mystery of many things that might be brought to fulfilment and achievement. If a line could be drawn around the British Isles, and Britain cut off from every one of her possessions, how her horizon would be narrowed, how her aspirations and ideals gradually become dull, and her national life, in no great length of time, die out. The strength of Britain was in the fact that she spread her life out upon every portion of the world, injecting it into the new, and drawing new life, new hope, and new aspiration from the very contact with the new. (Applause.) This desire for the expansion of life was the real motive of Germany, France, Russia and other powers in what was termed their lust of territory. It was the striving and searching for everlasting life as applied to nations. And so Canada was a young man's country, because of infinite possibilities, of what yet remained to be achieved. Its seas were not yet filled with fleets, its docks not yet filled with vessels, all its broad fertile plains were not answering to the husbandman's tillage; its mines and mineral resources deep down in the earth, scattered over almost every portion of this broad Dominion, had sitting in them gnomes and genii waiting to give the lead to the one who captured them and to open up riches and splendors and powers which were not even dreamed of in the old tales of the middle ages. (Applause.)

The young men of Canada by the sheer force of absolute necessity had to take the inheritance of the past just as they found it. If those who preceded them had only been better, wiser, stronger, and more prescient, that inheritance would not be blurred so much as it was. It was crossed with many dark lines and streaks, but they must take it and administer it the best they could. As it was absolutely necessary the young men must take the inheritance from the preceding generation, just so was it absolutely necessary that they must bequeath something to the future generation. (Applause). They should feel the responsibilities of their citizenship, and aim that twenty-five years from now they would leave a Canadian inherritance to those that followed them, much better, brighter, and higher than that which they received.

There was an insidious question that was creeping into the home, into business, politics, schools—into the country everywhere. It was the question so often asked and so often sadly answered, "What does it matter so long as I get there? What does it matter so long as I am successful?" It was the devil's own question. It was ruining more men and more reputations and eating into the life of the country with a deadliness that was not even realized. It meant everything how a man got there; better ten thousand million times never get there than be a millionaire, better never get there than be a prominent man in politics or a successful man in trade, if the getting there was in defiance of moral principles and straightforward conduct. (Applause.)

Mr. Foster urged the necessity of an active public spirit, and said the citizen who held aloof from political or municipal affairs under the pretext that these were unclean, was withholding the very influence that would tend to elevate public life. There was no science in the world higher and nobler than that of the statesman, properly considered.

Canada needed a patriotic national feeling, which would combine the different parts of the country and give them an aspiration for achievement in a national line, and so cement into unity the country. Thirty years ago the idea of Canadian nationality was a tender germ, blown by the autumn winds, nipped by the frost, and scarcely showing itself above the ground. To-day they could boast a national spirit which was fast dominating their young men and laying the foundation of national greatness in this broad Dominion. (Applause.)—From a recent lecture by Hon. G. E. Foster to the members of the Toronto Y. M.C.A.

"Save the Child!"

That is the heartfelt cry of many a mother who sees her beloved child wasting and fading day by day. Sometimes it's too late for medical aid to help the child.

It is so weak, so lacking in stamina that there is no vantage ground of help.

One of the results of the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription preceding maternity is a strong, healthy child. Thousands of mothers testify to this. Frequently mothers write, "I was never able to raise a child before using 'Favorite Prescription,'" or "All my other children are sickly except this one, and I took your 'Favorite Prescription' this time."

All the child's strength comes from the mother. "Favorite Prescription" gives the mother strength to give her child.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription;" it contains neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. It is a purely vegetable and perfectly harmless medicine in any condition of the female system.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing "just as good" for women's ills.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. Correspondence confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I am so thankful for what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for me," writes Mrs. John T. Smith, of Sicoca, British Columbia (Box 92). "It helped me through the long months of pregnancy and I have a big, strong baby girl, the most healthy of all my three, and it cured me of a disease which was taking away all my strength."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in cloth binding, or 31 one-cent stamps for paper covered. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Canadian Senators Live Long.

Senator Dickey celebrated his ninetieth birthday, and the telegram announcing the fact says "he is hale and hearty," and on that fact the veteran Senator is to be congratulated. One of these days, we will have Senator Wark, the Father of the Dominion Senate, celebrating the hundredth anniversary of his birth, for in February next this remarkable statesman will have attained the 98th year of his age. That this is a country which helps men to live to ripened age the record of the ages of the Senators proves. The two Senators we have named are products of Provinces down by the sea. Senator Dickey being a resident of Nova Scotia and Senator Wark of New Brunswick. But of the six Senators who are 80 and under 90, three (Senators Clemow, Gowan and Vidal) are residents of this Province, and of the nineteen Senators who are 70 and under 80, eleven represent divisions of Ontario, viz.: Hon. Messrs. Aikins, Mills, Bowell, Carling, Casgrain, Dobson, A. T. Wood, McCallum, McLaren, O'Donohoe and Scott. The ex-Premier (Senator Bowell) is 78, but as spry as a cricket.—London Advertiser.

Cats and Poles.

If a cat crawling on the wire can play hob with the machinery in the Niagara Falls power house and keep the wheels quiet in factories and the streets dark in cities for two hours, there ought to be some device for keeping cats from climbing poles. That particular cat will never do it again, but there are others.—Hamilton Times.

About Sneezing.

We frequently hear the expression, "God bless you!" uttered after some one has sneezed. The expression, if we can believe Clodd in his "Childhood of the World," dates back to the time of Jacob. We are told in Jewish literature that previous to his time men sneezed but once in a lifetime and that was the end of them, for the shock slew them. Jacob prevailed in prayer and had the fatality set aside on the condition that among all the nations a sneeze should be hallowed by the words, "God bless you!" In the "Jataka," one of the books of the Buddhist Scriptures, we read that the expression was, "May the blessed Lord allow you to live!"

Buddha on one occasion while preaching to his disciples happened to sneeze. The priests gave vent to the exclamation, and Buddha lectured them for interrupting his discourse.

"If when a person sneezes," he asked, "and you say, 'May he live!' will he live the longer?"

"Certainly not!" cried the priests.

"And if you do not say it will he die any the sooner?"

"Certainly not!" was the reply.

"Then," said Buddha, "from this time forth if any one sneeze and a priest says, 'May you live!' he shall be guilty of a transgression."

DECORATED BY LI HUNG.

Miss Gladys Barnfield of Montreal Possesses a Silver Medal.

Probably the only person in Montreal who has a souvenir from the hand of Li Hung Chang, the great Chinese statesman, who has just passed away, is Miss Gladys Barnfield, the pretty daughter of Mr. H. Barnfield, the pretty daughter of Mr. E. H. Barnfield, proprietor of the restaurant in the Grand Trunk depot there. She was decorated with the great silver medal of China by Li Hung Chang when he was in Canada five years ago. Then Miss Barnfield was a little girl, living in Gravenhurst, Ontario. Li Hung Chang stopped there for a few hours during his passage through the Dominion, and to Miss Barnfield fell the honor of presenting China's greatest man with a bouquet. She was escorted to the platform on which was seated the man who held the destiny of four hundred millions of people in his hand, by the Mayor of the town and Sir Henry Joly. Li Hung Chang showed the greatest interest in the little Canadian, asked her name and how old she was, and graciously accepted her proffered flowers. A day or two later she received a packet, and, on opening it, found a splendid silver medal in a handsome morocco case and a certificate of the silver medal of China. The medal is a large, heavy silver disc bearing the royal arms of China, two dragons rampant, with the Sun Bow on them. Above them in Chinese characters is written, "Minister Plenipotentiary Extraordinary of China." The obverse and the reverse are the same.

The translation of the certificate is as follows:

"Certificate of the Silver Medal of China."

"We ambassadors extraordinary and plenipotentiary of His Majesty the Emperor of China, accord with pleasure to Miss Gladys Barnfield the great silver medal as a recompense for services rendered.

"In testimony of which we deliver the present certificate, stamped with our seal, and the silver medal of the order.

"Given at Gravenhurst, this tenth day of September, 1896."

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and erradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. Large outfit, $1; small size, 25c. Druggists, or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Ship That Was a 20,000 Mile Race.

Now that steam has driven the sail from the seas, or nearly so, only the largest sailing vessels are any longer profitable to their owners, and the day of even this type of sailing ship is rapidly passing. With the decline of the great white-winged ship, the romance that always attached to it is reviving. The air-propelled vessel that comes into a modern harbor always attracts vastly more curious attention than the steamer, and will do so in increasing ratio as the vessels of the old type gradually disappear. One of the finest examples of the old style of sea travelers now extant is the British steel ship Muskoka, the property of Kenny, Mahon & Co. of London. Muskoka reached Queenstown recently, having beaten three other vessels in a voyage from Astoria, ten degrees north of San Francisco. She covered the 18,000 miles in 101 days 20 hours. The Muskoka holds a previous record—Cardiff to Hong Kong in 85 days. Her gross tonnage is 3,550, she is 316 feet long, and was launched in 1891.

She Didn't Move.

The recent efforts to cause a young woman to vacate her apartments in a modish uptown hotel recall those tried not long ago with a beautiful singer who has for several years lived in a flathouse near the park.

The proprietor decided for several general and no specific reasons to rent the apartment to somebody else. So his agent informed her that in the new scale of rents adopted for the building her rooms would in the future cost just exactly twice as much as she had been paying.

This was a little bit heroic, and the agent awaited the result with some uncertainty.

"I was of course surprised to receive your letter," she wrote him, "and of course not delighted. But I am so well pleased with the apartment that I had already arranged to stay here. So will you please send me a lease for three years at the new rental? It is high, but I would rather pay it than move."

Since that time the tenant has not been disturbed, although she did not get a lease for three years. One was the agent's limit.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS.. . .
WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

TRINITY COLLEGE SCHOOL.

Excellent Prospect of This Important Educational Institution.

The Canadian Churchman, in a handsome Christmas number, has the following in reference to Trinity College School, Port Hope: "The prospects before the old school are very bright. The new headmaster, Rev. Dr. Symonds, formerly of St. Luke's, Ashburnham, has already gained the confidence and regard of both masters and boys. The morale and discipline are excellent, and the tone of the entire school all that could be desired. No two opinions are ever expressed regarding Dr. Symonds and the affection and respect felt for him by the masters and boys are fully shared by the townspeople generally, and all who have come in contact with him. The chapel services are carried on as heretofore, the modest ritual being that established by Dr. Bethune. The new paragraph Cathedral Psalter is used, and the choir is under the direction of Mr. V. E. Green, who has returned to the school after an absence of some years. Very great satisfaction is expressed at the re-engagement of Mr. Nightingale, who resigned from the staff shortly after Dr. Bethune's withdrawal, but comes back to his old post on Dr. Symonds' invitation. On Thanksgiving Day a large number of the Old Boys paid a visit to their Alma Mater and the way in which the popular master was cheered by his former and present pupils, was a sufficient tribute to his worth. With masters and boys thus united, and with so much being done alike for sound scholarship and Christian training, it is felt that the words of the old school prayer, so familiar to many of our readers, are being realized, and that wisdom and prudence have been bestowed upon the school's rulers, and, upon its scholars, obedience and zeal. The Rev. C. B. Kenrick, formerly Rector of St. Mark's, and Curate of St. John's, Peterborough, and always a close friend of the school, is making a long visit to town, and is at present staying in the building, and assisting the Headmaster in the chapel services."

FAIRYLAND.

The local stores are now looking their prettiest, which befits the holiday season.

As the one presenting the greatest variety in its own legitimate lines, China Hall stands pre-eminently first.

For twenty years this store has invited the public to view its Christmas display, and has received a generous share of patronage.

The assortment of 1901 is more comprehensive than ever before, the stock including graceful ornaments, handsome dinner sets, with their accompanying glasses, dainty China tea sets, lamps, flower pots, celery trays, salad bowls, pudding dishes, bread and butter plates, and fancy cups and saucers galore.

In fact, each article in this vast stock, is suitable for a present, and a gift of China, unlike more ostentatious goods, never offends, but always pleases the recipient.

China Hall, in its present holiday attire, resembles a fairy land, through which you are invited to wander. The store will be kept open every evening until after Xmas. 2d139-1w

ST. MARK'S—OTONABEE.

Christmas service will be held in St. Mark's church on Christmas Eve Tuesday, Dec. 24th, at 6.30 p.m.

The Sunday service hereafter will begin at 2.30 instead of at 3 p. m.

The Rev Dr. Symonds will preach in St. Mark's church (D. V.) on Sunday, Dec. 29th, and administer the Holy Sacrament after the service.

Full lines of Hair, Tooth and Military Brushes—some in Ivoryline and Ebony, beautifully mounted. Hand Mirrors, Fancy Atomizers, Toilet Waters, etc., at ORMOND & WALSH'S Drug Store.

Stationery in Boxes.

These boxes of stationery and envelopes make pretty, inexpensive and useful gifts, especially for corresponding friends, or for the boy or girl whom you would encourage to neat letter writing. The Peterborough Bookstore has a pleasing display of artistic and dainty note paper papeteries. These will be an ornament to any writing desk. The boxes are decorated with pretty designs, and the paper and envelopes are done up with fancy ribbon and other neat effects. Very distingue. We also beg to assure you of the genuine utility of our fountain pens. A. H. Stratton & Co.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH MONOPOLY

Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company and Anglo-American Cable Company Seeking a Settlement of the Telegraph Monopoly Difficulty—The Government of Newfoundland Recognizes Him.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 18.— Marconi, who is highly pleased with his success in trans-Atlantic wireless telegraphy, said last night that he expects to be able within a year to send two different messages over the same apparatus simultaneously between Cornwall and St. John's.

He says that he is already doing this between English stations 100 miles apart.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraphy Company of London, and the Anglo-American Cable Company, in London, have opened negotiations for the settlement of the difficulty between them, arising from Mr. Marconi's work here. In the meantime, as it is important that Marconi's operations be expedited, he will cease his experiments here and will leave next Sunday for Nova Scotia, where, in the event of the failure of the present negotiations, he will select another site for a wireless telegraph station. The inventor's work in Nova Scotia will occupy him about a week, when he will leave for London.

Government Visits Marconi.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 18.— Marconi was visited officially at Signal Hill yesterday by Governor Boyle, Premier Bond and the Executive Council. They were shown the wireless apparatus, which was explained to them. No attempt was made to get signals from England, because of the hostility of the Anglo-American Cable Company. The Government officials, before visiting Marconi, had to consider the protest against their going made by the superintendent of the Anglo-American Cable Company, who claimed that the Government should not identify itself with either party. The officials decided that the scientific aspect of the Marconi plan warranted their recognizing him.

Many Millions Lost.

London, Dec. 18.—During a meeting of the creditors of the London and Globe Finance Corporations yesterday the official receiver, Mr. Barnes, announced that the unsecured liabilities of the concern aggregated £1,142,000 ($5,710,000), with apparently overvalued assets amounting to £424,000 ($2,120,000). At a subsequent meeting of the shareholders, Mr. Barnes said there would be nothing left for them.

Smallpox in the West.

Winnipeg, Dec. 18.—Dr. Holmes Simpson states that there are 13 or 14 cases of smallpox at St. Anne's. These were discovered several days ago, and Dr. Lambert of St. Boniface was sent down by the Health Board to investigate the matter. A quarantine was established immediately. Smallpox is also prevalent in St. Boniface, and five cases are now in quarantine over there.

Safe Crackers Found Guilty.

Ottawa, Dec. 18.—Martin and Smith, the men caught red-handed in the burglary of Bryson, Graham and Company's departmental store here last September, were last evening found guilty in the Court of Sessions. They will be sentenced this morning.

Five Tots at a Birth.

Texarkana, Tex., Dec. 18.— Mrs. William Walker, the wife of a cotton raiser, living near Texarkana, gave birth yesterday to five children, four girls and a boy.

A Choice of Calves.

The difficulties the early Virginian colonists had with their live stock is curiously illustrated by the fact that in the colony of Massachusetts Bay a red calf was cheaper than a black one, experience having shown that the former was more likely to be attacked by wolves, owing, it was thought, to the wolves mistaking it for a deer.

ARTIFICIAL LIFE.

Effect of Certain Concomitants of Civilization in Cramping Bodies and Crippling Souls as Described by Mrs. Raff.

"The Artistic Treatment of the Soul's Dwelling" was the title of a recent lecture delivered before the Toronto Woman's Art Association by Mrs. Emma Scott Raff. Mrs. Raff introduced her subject by saying that the poorest education that teaches self-control is better than the best education which neglects it. Man exists in three phases—the mental, the moral, and the physical, and she quoted Hegel's principle of making the body the expression of the mind and the soul. Mrs. Raff said that the Greeks have given us the ideal form, and that they aimed to secure the mastery of mind over body, so as to represent the inward harmony by the outward appearance. The fall of Greece, of Rome, and the degeneracy of the middle ages, followed a downward tendency in the athletics of these ages.

"It is not," said Mrs. Raff, "a soul, not a body, we educate, it is a man. Out of this one we must not make two. For years and years no special stress has been laid upon education for the body — physical arts for women have been neglected, and now when vitality is low in our sex and the great cry is for health—how to keep it or how to get it — our eyes are turned toward the history of the nations, and we find that the Attic Greeks were the most genuinely cultivated people whom the world has yet known. The Greeks discerned, and appropriated by a training which had come to them instinctively, the best in life."

Speaking of culture, and the methods by which it is attained, Mrs. Raff said: "It is possible to know a great deal and be wholly without culture. Some scholars are as free from all trace of it as some well-conditioned men are of the charm of good manners. Culture is not knowledge piled up like so many pieces of wood; it is knowledge transmitted by meditation into character.

"The culture of the Greeks gave them an ideal form, if the Venus de Milo is typical of the Greek woman, and we believe the Greeks first made themselves into beautiful forms before they expressed such objects in marble." At this juncture Mrs. Raff gave an analysis of the Venus supposed to have been sculptured by Praxiteles.

Mrs. Raff quoted a definition of health given her recently by a physician, as the equilibrium of the forces of nature working in the body, and continued: "Poise of body and mind, beauty of thought and movement, curve instead of angles, relaxation instead of rigidity—that is exactly what we are working for. The artificial life of civilization is cramping women's bodies and crippling their souls."

A comparison was then instituted between the form of the Venus de Milo and the form of woman as she walks the streets to-day, and definite causes for the differences were stated. "A healthy body," Mrs. Raff said, "is one of the surest foundations of happiness. A well-born man or woman can be happy if he or she keeps God's law and Nature's law, living free, unconstrained lives, recognizing the fact that the body is the servant of the soul. Every mother owes it to her child that her child be well-born, a child of loving thought, not a creature of accident.

"Let every woman who calls herself Christian wage a war against artificiality and mutation.

"Complete mastery over the body is the special province offered to all, and can be obtained by all.

"Women with colorless cheeks and torpid livers sit for hours of each day in darkened rooms at their everlasting embroidery. If this be not necessary leave such work to those to whom it means bread and butter, and go to the daisy field for the love of the daisies. There you will get strength and sympathy for all toilers. Your strength will add to the strength of the universe in that you are strong. Let your sympathy reach toward all the toilers of the universe in that they all need it.

"Artistic care of the body descends into the realm of sanitation. With living, intelligent care must we determine the needs of our bodies, and by a constant and assiduous culture make them 'fit temples.'

"When a breaking of Nature's laws has continued for generations, we, of the fourth or fifth, can by no possibility jump back to where law can work normally through us, but we can climb back to an orderly life, step by step.

In speaking of the misuse of nervous force Mrs. Raff drew attention to the example of relaxation afforded by the healthy child in sleep. "This law," she said, "of rhythm, or of equilibrium in motion, and in rest, is the end, aim, and effect of all true physical training for the development and guidance of the body, giving poise of mind and body.

"Nervousness is selfishness born of a self-focussing thought. The power of repose is the stepping-stone to true equilibrium.

"After perceiving that a thing is beautiful we should be eager to know why it is beautiful. A great deal of our vaunted estheticism and over-refinement leads us to the worship of false gods. But when we get into the right atmosphere we will perceive the inherent beauty of things—assimilating whatever is calculated to refine and exalt."

Mrs. Raff concluded by practical illustrations of the meaning she assigns to the "artistic treatment of the soul's dwelling," giving hints on modes of dress calculated to express the soul in the body. "For," said Mrs. Raff, "'life is God's best'—

'The soul is not the body, and
The breath is not the lute,
Both together make the music,
Either marred, and all is mute.'

"Understanding this, we will have an education calculated to prepare woman for her sublime destiny."

A Woman's Question.

Mary had a little ring, 'twas given by her beau; and everywhere that Mary went, that ring was sure to go.

She took the ring with her one day, off to the seashore, where she might display it to the girls who were all clustered there.

And when the girls all saw the ring, they made a great ado, exclaiming with one voice: "Has it at last got round to you?"

Got Two Months For Delivering Intimidating Speeches.

Castlebar, Ireland, Dec. 19. — The hearing of the charges of holding meetings and delivering intimidating speeches in defiance of the police, brought against Conor O'Kelly, M. P., chairman of the Mayo County Council, and several other officials of Mayo County, was concluded yesterday. Mr. O'Kelly was sentenced to two months' imprisonment, and four other defendants were forced to undergo terms of imprisonment ranging from a fortnight to a month. All the sentences imposed were without hard labor. The court refused the demand of the defendants for leave to appeal from the jurisdiction of the court. The refusal of the court was due to the fact that the defendants declined to undertake not to speak publicly in the interim.

Brought Forth a Mouse.

Paris, Dec. 19.—The Temps, commenting upon Rosebery's speech at Chesterfield, accuses the ex-Premier of attempting to found an Imperialistic third party in order to reach the inheritance of the present Cabinet and continue its work.

The Journal des Debats says the speech reminds it of a mountain bringing forth a mouse.

Liberte says the speech is a repudiation of Gladstone all along the line.

RIOT AT BIRMINGHAM

Lloyd George's Pro-Boer Utterances the Immediate Cause.

ONE MAN REPORTED KILLED

Police Reserves Called Out—There Were 50,000 People Assembled Outside the Town Hall, Which Was Completely Wrecked—The Inciting Cause Escaped in the Disguise of a Sergeant of Police.

London, Dec. 19.—David Lloyd George, M.P., speaking in Birmingham Town Hall last night, precipitated a scene unprecedented in that city since the Aston Park riots.

The majority of the audience were hostile to the speaker, and were enraged by his pro-Boer and anti-Chamberlain utterances. They rushed the police cordon guarding the platform.

In the meantime the building was besieged from the outside by a mob of several thousand people, who smashed windows and tried to force the doors, which had been barricaded. They fusiladed the audience with stones, thrown through the windows.

The police reserves were turned out and succeeded in dispersing the mob after repeated charges. A number of persons were injured, and the Town Hall was completely wrecked. Not a single window was left whole.

A Later and Worse Report.

Later news from Birmingham states that Mr. Lloyd George, who has been taken into the care of the chief constable and several of the force, escaped from the Town Hall in the disguise of a Sergeant of Police. This was about half-past 9, and when the news became known the crowds outside the hall, who had by some means obtained a scaffold and pole, broke open one of the doors. Thereupon the police, of whom about 400 or 500 were on the spot, drew their truncheons and charged the mob, scattering them in all directions. The scene was one of wild confusion. People were knocked down and trampled upon, and eight had to be taken to a hospital, with more or less serious injuries, while one man was believed to have been killed.

PEACE MAY BE NEAR.

It Is Alleged Kruger Has Abandoned His Demand for Independence.

New York, Dec. 19.—The Herald prints the following from London: During the last few days most persistent reports, emanating both from South Africa and from Boer headquarters in Europe, of an approaching crisis in South African affairs have been current. It is alleged that Mr. Kruger will abandon his demand for independence, and that the Boer leaders in the field are inclined to cease fighting and seek the best terms obtainable.

In a speech yesterday at Cape Town Sir. J. Gordon Sprigg, the Premier of Cape Colony, declared that the outlook had never been brighter than at the present moment.

Peace Talk From Africa.

London, Dec. 19.—A despatch to the Daily News from Heidelberg, South Africa, says that the feeling there is that the war will be over in two months. A number of Boer prisoners say that hostilities will cease on December 23. This is taken to indicate that the meeting of the Boer leaders to discuss the situation, which was called for December 15, has been adjourned for a week, when a final decision will be reached.

Scout Burnham Decorated.

London, Dec. 19.—Among those who attended the investiture by King Edward at St. James' Palace yesterday of honors and decorations recently bestowed was Major F. R. Burnham, the American scout, who was made a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order.

Roberts May Leave War Office.

London, Dec. 19.—Vanity Fair says it hears on excellent authority that Lord Roberts, commander-in-chief of the forces, contemplates leaving the War Office in April, and that he will be succeeded by the Duke of Connaught.

An Eighth Contingent.

New York, Dec. 19.—The Times has this from London: The Times' correspondent at Wellington says: Volunteers for the eighth New Zealand contingent for service in South Africa are already pouring in. The Christ Church Press, the leading newspaper, states that, if the Empire calls for it, it is certain the colony will cheerfully furnish a ninth contingent.

The Melbourne correspondent of The Times says that there are strong indications that Premier Barton's determination not to furnish troops for South Africa unless officially requested by the Home Government to do so does not represent the public opinion of the Commonwealth. The Premiers of New South Wales and Queensland desire to offer troops without delay.

FITTING UP TRANSPORTS.

The Imperial Authorities Will Attend to This Work.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—It seems that the British Government will not only victual the transports Victoria and Manhattan, which are to convey the Mounted Rifles to Cape Town, but will also have the vessels fitted up for the reception of the troops and horses. The Victoria, which is not to arrive until the 17th of January, will scarcely leave again before the 24th of 25th of that month. General O'Grady-Haly states that exaggerated reports have been circulated in regard to the condition of the horses arriving at Halifax. Only two or three of the animals are suffering from colds, according to official information received by him, and the rest of the mounts are in excellent health.

The Minister of Militia still continues to receive recommendations for commissions, although all the places in the Mounted Rifles have been filled. The train carrying the latest recruits for the regiment will leave Vancouver on Christmas day.

Will Get M. R. Commission.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Major Woodside of Dawson City, who conducted the Government census in the Yukon, will receive a commission in the Mounted Rifles. He is an enthusiastic militia man, a crack shot and expert rider.

Says He Can End the War.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—The Minister of Militia has received an offer from a Lieutenant in the Ontario militia, asking for a commission in the Mounted Rifles. The writer says he has already failed to obtain a staff appointment, and when he went to enlist there was no vacancy. He has a plan of his own for ending the war, and, if given transportation and subsistence to South Africa, will bring hostilities to a close at the end of three months, with the co-operation of Lord Kitchener. He will leave it to the Imperial Government to say what the remuneration shall be when he has completed the undertaking.

NOT SECOND TO DEWET.

Commandant Kritzinger Who Was Captured a Leader of Ability.

New York, Dec. 19.—Commandant Kritzinger, who was captured by Gen. French, has been described as a leader of exceptional ability, not second even to Christian Dewet. He has been repeatedly referred to in despatches from South Africa as being hotly pursued, cornered or crushed up against the Orange River in flour. But he has always succeeded in escaping through some gap in the uncertain British line. At one moment he has been reported as having 1,000 men with him, and a day or two later, when the British had concentrated, his force had been broken up into small bands and had disappeared among the mountains, where pursuit was useless.

After 43 Years.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Mr. Finnbarr Hayes, chief clerk in the law and translation branch, House of Commons, has been given six months' leave of absence, at the end of which time he will be superannuated on an allowance of $1,680 a year. Mr. Hayes has been 43 years in the service, and is aged 71.

Sent to Kingston.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—James Martin, alias "Kid" McManus, and Charlie Smith, the two burglars who broke into Bryson & Graham's store on Oct. 20, were sentenced yesterday morning by Judge MacTavish. Martin received eight years and Smith seven years in the Kingston penitentiary.

Under the Standard.

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 19.—Magistrate Bartlett yesterday morning sentenced Robert Ras, manager of the Windsor Gas Co., to pay a fine of $5, and assessed him $2.85 for producing illuminating gas that was below the standard of 16 candle power.

MARCONI IS WAITING

Cannot Proceed Until He Knows Result of Negotiations.

WHAT THE INVENTOR FEARS

In Event of Anglo-American Cable Company Proving Intractible He Will Visit Nova Scotia, as He Believes He Can Perfect Means for Signalling to Cornwall in a Few Months.

St. John, Nfld., Dec. 19.—Marconi is awaiting a cable message from London, announcing the result of the negotiations between his agents and the Anglo-American Cable Company. The inventor fears the latter will insist that he cannot engage in commercial business here until after the expiration of their monopoly. Marconi is not prepared to agree to such a condition, believing he can perfect means for signalling between Cornwall and Nova Scotia within a few months. He has now practically decided to visit Nova Scotia on Sunday; but, this does not necessarily mean that he will abandon Newfoundland if the Anglo-American company proves reasonable.

Superintendent MacKay, manager of the Anglo-American Company in this colony, denies that he protested to Governor Boyle Tuesday against the latter visiting the Marconi station. Mr. MacKay admits calling upon the Governor, but says the call was in regard to another aspect, a purely social one, of Marconi's affairs, and that nothing in the nature of a protest transpired.

It is certain, however, that the Cabinet met yesterday forenoon prior to visiting Signal Hill, and discussed whether to go there or not. The Premier, Sir Robert Bond, says the Government decided to support Marconi while his work is experimental, on the ground that its scientific value should be ascertained, in the interest of the whole world, without taking sides in the controversy.

"Doubting Thomas" Is Convinced.

New York, Dec. 19.—At his laboratory, at West Orange, N.J., Thos. A. Edison authorized the following statement, concerning William Marconi's feat in receiving wireless telegraphic communications from England:

"Since Marconi has stated over his own signature that he has received the signals from England, I believe him, and I think he will carry it to a commercial success. It is a great achievement, and he is a great experimenter."

PAPER MAY GO HIGHER.

Mr. E. B. Eddy Discusses the Situation—Denies the Existence of a Combine.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Mr. E. B. Eddy, of Hull, is a visitor in the city. Asked what action the paper combine intended to take regarding the Canadian Press Association's representations to the Government to have the duty on imported paper removed, Mr. Eddy replied, "There is no paper combine."

The Paper Manufacturers' Association, said Mr. Eddy, met here two weeks ago and decided to raise the price of paper from 2½ to 2¾ cents per lb., delivered in carloads at Toronto. Instead of increasing the price only one-eighth of a cent, the manufacturers should have put it up half a cent. Everything connected with the manufacture of paper, he said, has advanced in price in far greater proportion than the increase in the price of paper. Matters are made much more serious by the fact that pulpwood is becoming scarce.

Mr. Eddy does not seem to place much faith in the reports of extensive pulp operations in New Ontario. "They have been talking that way for two years," he said.

In New York the publishers have to pay 2½ cents per pound per carload F.O.B., whereas the Toronto publisher gets his paper ½ cent cheaper per lb., delivered. It is untrue, asserted Mr. Eddy, that the Canadian manufacturers are trying to force the small publishing houses to the wall, but it stands to reason that a heavy buyer will get a better price than the small buyer. Mr. Eddy has small comfort for those who complain of the present price of paper for, he declared, "it looks as if it were going still higher."

Man Frozen to Death.

Severn Bridge, Dec 19.— William Miller of Lindsay was found dead in a lumber yard here yesterday. Miller had been employed at Ragged Rapids on the Orillia Electric Light plant, and was returning from Lindsay, where he had spent a few days at home. He apparently got off the midnight train here the night previous, and lost his way among the lumber piles on his way to the hotel and was frozen to death.

Tuberculosis From Animals.

Berlin, Dec. 19.—A new case of the transference of tuberculosis to man is attracting the Berlin medical profession. A butcher was operated upon for lumps of the hand at the Berlin University clinic yesterday. Dr. Erich Lazer expressly emphasized this case as contrary to the theory of Dr. Robert Koch.

Bye-Election Dates.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Writs will be issued to-day for the bye-elections in West Hastings, West Durham, West York, Addington and Kingston, Ontario; Laval, St. James, Montreal; Beauharnois, Beauce and L'Islet, Quebec; and West Queen's, P.E.I. Nominations will take place on Wednesday, Jan. 8, and polling on Wednesday, Jan. 15.

An election in York, N.B., is to be held on Dec. 20.

POSTMASTER GENERAL MULOCK

No public man in Canada has perhaps ever received a greater, more significant, and better deserved recognition of public service than was accorded in Toronto Tuesday night to Hon. Wm. Mulock, Postmaster General and Minister of Labour. The immense auditorium of Massey Hall was crowded with Canadians heartily and enthusiastically recognizant of Mr. Mulock's merits as an administrator which his official career has developed. Five years ago he assumed office in the Liberal Government of Sir Wilfred Laurier, as Postmaster General, and a brief summary of his achievements is expressed in the sentence that he has revolutionized that department. He found it in a disorganized condition of dry rot with inefficient and unsatisfactory service, and running behind at the rate of about $700,000 a year; that is under Conservative rule the people were taxed a three cent rate on letters, and then subjected to an additional tax of $700,000 to make up the deficiency. Mr. Mulock speedily changed this. When he took office he found, on June 30th, 1896, a deficit of $781,152.19 and besides this he found accumulated liabilities of $685,447.03, the result of years of bad management and of the dry rot that had eaten into the department under Conservative mismanagement. In other words Mr. Mulock started his first year of office with an adverse balance of nearly a million and a half of dollars—$1,446,599.22. Bearing this in mind, one can better estimate the masterly activity Mr. Mulock brought to bear upon the task of revivifying the dry bones of the Post Office Department. In his first year, while adding greatly to the efficiency of the postal service, Mr. Mulock reduced the annual deficit of $700,000 to $563,539, and the next year with still further improvements in the postal service, the deficit of $781,000 under the last year of Conservative management was reduced to $47,502.03. Then Mr. Mulock had the Canadian Post Office Department, from which he had swept the cobwebs, which had been accumulating for 18 years under Conservative rule, where he could make the postal service of wider use to the people. And he conceived and put into practice the idea of reducing the rate of letter postage from three to two cents. Though this was derided by the Conservative Opposition, Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Adolphus Caron, former Postmaster Generals, declaring that the effect would be a deficit of a million dollars per year, yet the result justified Mr. Mulock's foresight and faith in the enterprise of the Canadian people. He believed that economical and businesslike administration of the Department would lessen the expenses, and that a reduced rate would yield greater revenue, and the two combined would make possible the most notable achievement and the greatest reform in postal administration since the days of Roland Hill. In flat discredit of Sir Charles Tupper's pessimistic prophecies, at the end of the first year, of 2-cent postage, the shortage in the post office department was reduced to some $600,000, against nearly $800,000 under a 3-cent rate. That is to say, the Conservative Government taxed the people 3 cents per letter, and levied an additional taxation of nearly $800,000 to maintain the department, while Mr. Mulock, with a 2-cent rate, the first year knocked $200,000 off the deficit. And the improvement continued. The next year, 1900, the deficit, as against $781,000, was reduced to $400,000; the present year Mr. Fielding says it will be reduced to $150,000, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking in Toronto on Tuesday night, predicted that within three or four years, the deficit would be altogether wiped out, and the Canadian Post Office Department, which has been in a chronic state of huge deficits, would be self-sustaining, if not a revenue producer. The merits of Mr. Mulock's achievement in this regard, are added to by the fact that all this was done, not only in the face of a reduction in the domestic postal rate, but also in the face of a reduction of Imperial postage from five cents to two cents, and that a Canadian letter can be carried to the most distant colony of the Empire for two cents. In this Mr. Mulock demonstrated that he was not merely a successful administrator, a shrewd financier — who, as Hon. Mr. Ross said on Tuesday night, could make two cents go farther than any other man — but a statesman of imperial breadth of view, who recognizes the wisdom of bringing the units of the Empire in closer touch with the Old Land, as well as with each other, and had the enterprise and faith to reduce his convictions to practice. True, others in the Mother Land had been advocating imperial penny postage, but slow progress had been made It was left to Mr. Mulock to infuse life and action into the dry bones of officialdom, bound with official red tape. It was not till the powerful influences and energy of a Canadian representative statesman was brought to bear, that the great and important work of forging a new bond of imperial unity was accomplished. The improvement in the financial condition of the Post Office Department has not been effected by decreasing the efficiency of the service. In fact the service has been greatly improved and extended. Since Mr. Mulock took charge nearly 600 new post offices have been opened — the additions last year being 277 new post offices. The frequency of service has been vastly increased and in a thousand ways the postal service has been improved, and that with an actual large increase of revenue and a reduced letter rate. It might be added that the deposits in the Post Office Savings Bank, $2,443,356.62 in excess of the previous year, amounted last year to the great sum of $39,950,812.62, the largest balance at the close of any year in the history of the country. This is an eloquent expression of the prosperity enjoyed by the people of Canada under a Liberal Government, to the credit of which, as a member, Mr. Mulock is entitled to a large share.

The great part Mr. Mulock had in establishing the Bureau of Labour—a practical recognition of the right of the industrial classes to a department devoted to their interests, is another large item to his credit. This department has had excellent and far-reaching effects, and has proven its effectiveness in advancing the interests for whose promotion it was established. In this Mr. Mulock has shown again that he is a statesman of fruitful energy, sense of justice, and broad sympathies. The promptitude of his action in establishing a Department of Labour, is presented in stronger light when it is contrasted with the delay and inaction of the previous Government, the Conservative. During their long tenure of office of eighteen years, they did nothing in this direction, though the question of such a department in the interests of labour was pressed upon them. At length, after ten years of office the Conservative Government was goaded into some show of action, and a commission was appointed just before the general elections of 1887. Two years elapsed, and at the expense of thousands of dollars to the ratepayers, the commission reported, what everybody knew, and which any government should know, that the interests of workingmen would be promoted by the establishment of a Department of Labour at Ottawa, under the charge of a Minister of the Crown. The report was pigeon-holed and as the eve of the general elections of 1890, came on, an act was passed authorising the Conservative Government to establish a Department of Labour. Again the workingmen were humbugged. The elections passed, and no action was taken, and the $10,000 voted for the purpose of making a beginning, was not expended — one of the rare instances, as Mr. Mulock has pointed out, where a Conservative Government did not spend money appropriated by Parliament, and when it came to applying the money to the benefit of the working classes, it was unused. Contrast the action of the Liberal Government. During their first term of office, they passed the necessary legislation and the Department of Labour was established with Mr. Mulock as its first Minister, and the Labour Gazette published for the dissimination of information useful to the working men. Mr. Mulock went further as far as his powers reached, and took practical steps to protect the interests of workmen on Government contracts. When he took office he found that great abuses had been permitted by the Conservative Government in connection with clothing contracts. The sweating system was in full play. Advantage had been taken of the necessities of women and girls and Government clothing and mail supplies were made at starvation wages—many at 25 cents a day of ten hours. Clothing for our volunteers was made at 30 to 50 cents per piece, while the union rate was $2 to $2.50. The consequence was our volunteers paraded in uniforms made by "scab" labour. Mr. Mulock put a sudden stop to this and the sweating system was abolished. He provided that in all contracts for mail bags, military clothing, etc., there should be no sweating—all work must be done on the contractor's premises, under proper sanitary conditions and the wages paid must be the current wages of the district. The fair wages system is applied to all Government works—it is made a condition of every contract and embodied in the specifications, that the current rate of wages must be paid and that only Canadians are employed, and no contractor shall be paid till he has shown under oath that these conditions have been carried out. In all his dealings with the question of labour, Mr. Mulock has shown himself possessed of two great essentials—sympathy and practical action. He has not followed the course of the demagogue; while he has practically recognized that justice is due the interests of labour and has provided that it shall be given so far as he and the Government can do in the interests of labour on Government contracts, he has also taken a broader view of the labour question, and as Sir Wilfred Laurier eloquently expressed it "he has not approached it — the labour question — from a revolutionary or socialistic point of view, but from the point of view of human dignity, and nothing else, that there should be for all classes equality of treatment, and that employers and employees should be equally protected by the law." Hon. Mr. Mulock, Postmaster General and Minister of Labour, has very great reason to be proud of his splendid reception on Tuesday night in Toronto; and the people of Ontario, and of the Dominion, have reason to be proud that in him is found a Minister and statesman whose great services and great abilities, industriously applied, have made him worthy of such a reception. He is a member of a Cabinet whose members are a unit in their efforts to give such an administration as will protect and advance the interests of Canada, develop her resources and maintain her in the place she now holds—the front rank of the cluster of colonial gems which wreathe the British Crown.

THE REFERENDUM.

From the Ottawa Journal. (Ind.)

The probability seems to be that the Government will take the course of proposing a prohibitory law which after being shaped by the Legislature will go to the electorate for ratification.

That course seems a reasonable one. Prohibition is a question regarding which anybody may reasonably admit an exception to the ordinary principles of representative government, a fact already illustrated by prohibition being the only issue upon which plebiscites have ever been taken in Canada, as well as by the repeated use of them. Prohibition is a question affecting every man's personal tastes, many men's personal comfort, and in Ontario every municipality's revenue, therefore almost directly every taxpayer's pocket. From previous plebiscites the Ontario Government and legislators have reason to believe that a majority of the people want prohibition, and that legislative duty calls for the enactment of a prohibitory law, but they have also reason to feel that a final expression of the popular will is necessary to the enactment of so deep-reaching a social measure. The Ontario majority in favour of prohibition declined one-half between the Provincial plebiscite of 1894, when it was 80,000, and the Dominion plebiscite in 1898, when it was 40,000. Another four years may be found to have wiped out the majority.

The matter, it is to be hoped, will be kept out of ordinary politics. If the Legislature without party discussion were to frame a comprehensive thorough, stiff prohibitory law, one palpably intended to bite, to admit of strict and full enforcement, and refer the law to the people for acceptance or rejection, we think the Legislature would do its duty well, and take all the responsibility it should. With such a law presented to the people, the issue could be discussed popularly to better advantage than now.

SEES TROUBLE AHEAD.

(Wine and Spirit Journal.)

Turning to Ontario, where the subject of Provincial prohibition bids fair to be the one live issue in our next election, we think that, while there is grave need of the trade exerting every energy in the safe-guarding of their interests, there is no reason to believe that we will ever see Provincial prohibition in actual force. It is quite possible, and indeed probable, that a Prohibitory Act will be placed on the statute books, and submitted to the people, and here, too, as gigantic property interests are involved, the question of compensation must become part and parcel of the proposed measure. Nor is there any reason for anticipating but that in Ontario also the measure will be vetoed by the people. The graver danger in Ontario is that, even should this forecast be consummated, it will be followed by restrictive legislation of varied character, possibly in a material reduction in the number of licenses issued within the Province, or by a further reduction in the hours of sale, or, more disastrous still, by an agitation for the abolition of the saloon bar.

Severe Headaches, Constipation and Kidney Disorders the Result—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Correct the Action of Filtering and Excretory Organs.

The liver is very easily affected by change of temperature, nervous strain and over-eating, and is the cause of more pains and aches than any other organ of the body. It is the duty of the liver to filter from the blood the poisonous bile, which it passes into the intestines to act as nature's cathartic. One of the first results of a sluggish, congested liver is constipation, alternating with looseness of the bowels and what is commonly called biliousness.

Bitter taste in the mouth, sallow complexion, a coated tongue, severe headaches, pain under shoulder blades, fulness in right side, dizziness, ill-temper, peevishness and depression of spirits are indications of an ailing liver. The remarkable effectiveness of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in regulating the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels easily places it first as a treatment for derangements of these organs. There are few people who are not more or less subject to biliousness in the winter season, when more or less confined to the house, and so rendered sensitive to change of temperature. Meat diet and the artificial foods of winter also tend to make the liver sluggish, the kidneys inactive and the bowels constipated.

The promptness with which Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills correct the action of the filtering and excretory organs and rid the blood of poisonous bile impurities commend them to reasoning people as a suitable family medicine to be kept in the home all the time. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prompt, pleasant and natural in action, far-reaching in effect and perfectly scientific. They have proven their right to your confidence in scores of thousands of cases, many, no doubt, in your immediate locality.

Do not imagine that you are experimenting when you begin to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. If your liver, kidneys or bowels are deranged, this preparation will set them right. It does not seem wise to suffer from biliousness, kidney disease, constipation or similar ailments when you may as well keep your health in perfect order with this tried and tested remedy. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

LABOR AND CAPITAL

Unite in Making a Statement Looking to Harmony of Forces.

HANNA AND GOMPERS OFFICERS

This Committee of the National Civic Federation Will Act as a Board of Arbitration if Desired by Both Parties to a Labor Dispute—An Executive Statement of Committee's Ideal.

New York, Dec. 19.—At the Labor and Capital Conference yesterday, the following permanent officers of the Committee of Thirty-Six were announced:

Chairman—Marcus A. Hanna.
First Vice-President—Samuel Gompers.
Second Vice-President—Oscar S. Straus.
Treasurer—Charles A. Moore.
Secretary—Ralph M. Easley.

An Executive Statement.

The following statement was given out at the conclusion of the Executive session:

"This committee shall be known as the Industrial Department of the National Civic Federation.

"The scope and province of this department shall be to do what may seem best to promote industrial peace, to be helpful in establishing rightful relations between employers and workers; by its good offices to endeavor to obviate and prevent strikes and lockouts; to aid in renewing industrial relations where a rupture has occurred.

"That at all times representatives of employers and workers, organized or unorganized, should confer for the adjustment of differences or disputes before an acute stage is reached, and thus avoid or minimize the number of strikes or lockouts.

"That mutual agreements as to conditions under which labor shall be performed should be encouraged, and that when agreements are made the terms therefor should be faithfully adhered to, both in letter and spirit by both parties.

"This department, either as a whole or by a sub-committee by it appointed, shall, when requested, act as a forum to adjust and decide upon questions at issue between workers and their employers, provided in its opinion the subject is one of sufficient importance.

"This department will not consider abstract industrial problems.

"This department assumes no power of arbitration unless such powers be conferred by both parties to a dispute."

LABOR LEADERS INDICTED.

Charged as Accessories For Murder of Striking Mine Operator.

Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 19.—The Webster County grand jury, in session at Dixon, returned indictments yesterday against James D. Wood, president of the United Mine Workers of America, in the 23rd district; Kittredge Barnabee, vice-president, and W. B. Kissinger, a member of the official board, charging them as accessories before the fact for wilful murder. The indictments are a result of an investigation of the facts connected with the attack made at the Providence Mines Union men five weeks ago. One of the union men, who was killed in the battle, had papers on his person which were introduced as evidence against the union leaders.

Arraigned at the Old Bailey.

London, Dec. 19.—Theodore and Laura Jackson of the "Theocratic Unity," pleaded not guilty, when arraigned at the Old Bailey yesterday morning, to stand trial on the charges which have been so fully threshed out in the Marylebone Police Court. The prisoners were not defended. Solicitor-General Sir Edward Carson opened the case, reviewing the points already published. Discussing the working of the "Theocratic Unity," Sir Edward Carson characterized the prisoners as a "hellish gang."

Josh Billings Said of Niagara Falls that the reason why people liked it was "Beaws nobody kin make wum jest like it." For the same reason people like Fear T's, the great guaranteed cough cure. It is the only lung remedy made that cures coughs and colds in two days with perfect safety. Children like it and it cures croupy coughs. Sold in 25c. bottles by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

In a Smashed Caboose.

Rat Portage, Dec. 19.—At Bustead, 14 miles west of here, at 6 o'clock Tuesday night, a rear-end collision took place. A train was going east, pulling slowly into the station, when another freight crashed into it, splintering the caboose and derailing about eight or ten cars of wheat, besides badly smashing the engine of the rear train. No one was hurt, although Dr. Gunne and a brakeman had a miraculous escape, being in the caboose that was smashed up.

Annual Meeting.

The twentieth annual meeting and social re-union of the Y.M.C.A. will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the parlour. All members, directors, committee men, and friends of the work, are cordially invited.

Clothing Needed.

The Children's Aid Society are greatly in need of cast off clothing for girls and anyone having such to spare will confer a favour on the Society by sending such clothing to the Shelter at No. 276 Charlotte street.

BAZAAR TO-DAY!

The Christmas Attraction—Bazaar—in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital, is now going on in the Opera House, and will be continued until Saturday night. Call and see the many articles on sale suitable for holiday gifts. Dinner served from 12 to 2; tea from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Was All Right.

There was a pretty fair sized audience at the opera house last night to greet Harry Webber in his Melo-Dramatic Comedy, "Nip and Tuck." The play was very well produced and kept the audience in roars of laughter throughout the evening. Mr. Harry Webber, as Nip, a public character, and in his several disguises was by long odds the star of the evening, but was well supported by Truce Tuck, his partner in business. Miss Marie Van Tassel, a rich young widow, was a beautiful character and played her role excellently. Mr. Webber may be sure of another good house should he return to Peterborough again.

Peterborough, Dec. 18th, 1901.

Dear sir,—Having superintended the disinfection of all the laundry work at present on hand, also the machinery and plant of the Dye Works and Laundry together with the premises used as office and factory and subsequent fumigation, I have much pleasure in saying that the same have been cleaned to my entire satisfaction. You may therefore resume business on and after December 19th. inst., and the disinfected work after being laundried distributed to your customers.

Believe me,
Yours truly,
CHAS. HODGETTS, M. D.
Provincial Medical Inspector.
Mr. A. Parker, Peterborough.

PERSONALS.

Mr. T. F. Matthews returned yesterday from a business trip to England.

Mrs. Walter Paterson left to-day for Scranton, Pa., on an extended visit to her daughter, Mrs. Robt. Williamson.

Dr. Victor McWilliams is to be congratulated on successfully passing the intermediate and final examinations of the Ontario Council of Physicians and Surgeons.

Sir Wilfred and Lady Laurier as well as Hon. Mr. Mulock and Hon. Mr. Fielding passed through last evening on the C.P.R. on their way to Ottawa from Toronto.

The numerous friends of Miss Jessie Fairweather, Gilmour street, will be much pleased to learn that she is overcoming the serious illness with which she has recently been prostrated. Her condition and strength show decided improvement and she may be regarded as convalescent.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Seven degrees below zero last night.

—There was no police court this morning.

—There is excellent skating in the Charlotte street rink.

—There will be a special meeting of the Town Council this evening.

—St. John's choir and orchestra will practice this evening. A full attendance is requested.

—The Separate School Board met last night but transacted no business of very great importance.

—There will be no service this evening at All Saint's church. The work on the Christmas decorations will be began.

—The social to be held in the George street Parsonage on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the church, has been postponed.

—Owing to Christmas and New Years falling on Wednesdays this year, the mid-week market day will be held on Tuesday of the next two weeks.

—Mr. Reg. Tarner is an Oddfellow as well as those mentioned yesterday of the South African contingent. Reg is a valued member of Otonabee Lodge.

—The usual week night service will not be held in St. Luke's on Friday evening as Christmas decorating is in progress. Members of the congregation are invited to assist.

—In yesterday's issue of the Examiner reference was made to the sale of Mr. Frank Mason's house. It should have been stated that the highest bid was $2,200, and not that the reserved bid was this amount. The reserved bid was, as a matter of fact, above $2,200.

Bethany Tabernacle.

Dr. Watson will preach this evening at Bethany Tabernacle, his subject being, "Remarkable Answers to Prayer." Service at 7.45. All welcome.

At the entrance of G. E. Whiten's photo studio there can be seen as fine a display of artistic photos as any one would wish to look at. Have your best photos taken at Whiten's, corner of George and Hunter streets, west side.

BERT KINDRED'S FALL.

He Dropped 30 Feet From a Scaffold Yesterday Afternoon—His Injuries.

Mr. Bert. Kindred, son of Mr. W. A. Kindred, town, met with a very serious accident yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock. Young Kindred was employed as a labourer on the Quaker Oats Co's building and while engaged in some work on a scaffold about 30 feet in height he missed his footing and fell to the hard ground below. How he escaped being killed is most miraculous, but as it is Kindred's injuries are serious enough. In falling he received a compound fracture of the elbow joint, which will necessitate a portion of the bone being taken out. Whilst no internal injuries are apparent such might yet occur, but apart from this Kindred's condition is quite hopeful. He showed great nerve during his sufferings and walked from the Quaker Oats Co's building where he was working to his own home at the Temperance House, where medical attendance was given him, after which he was moved to Nicholls Hospital.

SHOULD BE REPEALED.

Enforcement of the Bylaw Makes the Pavements Very Slippery.

The citizens who are asking for the repeal of that section of the snow bylaw, which calls on the man who lives inside the fire limits to clean off his own pavement, have a very strong card in their hand in the fact that, while it is easy enough to get along on the pavements if there is any snow on them, still it is a different matter entirely when the snow is entirely removed. Under the latter circumstances, the pedestrian has to watch himself closely to avoid a fall.

The bylaw, instead of calling for the removal of the snow, should rather impose a fine on those who take it off.

As a matter of fact, however, it seems that it is rather doubtful if the bylaw would hold water anyway, as it imposes certain conditions on one portion of the residents of the town which others escape.

MAGNETIC OFFERS IN CHRISTMAS FOOTWEAR.

GOUGH BROS.

CATCHING MISDEMEANANTS.

Some Heavy Fines Were Imposed Upon Men Down East Who Violated the Game Laws.

Belleville Ontario.

Mr. H. K. Smith, Deputy Game Warden for this district, returned to the city on Saturday, and according to what he reports, the duties in his position must be most attentively looked after.

The fines aggregated $365, which shows that while there were quite a few persons violating the law, there were not many escaped punishment. The offences were various, hunting without a license, selling venison out of season, and vending partridges.

In Renfrew County and that neighbourhood, there has been considerable illegal traffic going on, which the authorities have just been able to deal with. The shipping of partridges had been carried on extensively, but so secretly as to escape detection. On learning of this business however, Mr. Smith investigated, and the result was that a couple of shipments of partridges were seized and the shippers were fined $20 apiece. Another man extensively engaged in the business, was fined $50. A man named T. Teeples, a resident of the Township of Lyndock, Renfrew county, was fined $70 for selling venison, and the purchasers were fined $20 apiece.

These facts ought to be a good example to others that the breach of the laws is sure to be detected.

A WINNIPEG WEDDING.

A Well Known Peterborough Young Lady Becomes a Bride.

The Globe's Winnipeg correspondent telegraphs:—"Mr. Harry W. Whitla, one of Winnipeg's most popular young men, member of the law firm of Macdonald, Haggart & Whitla, enlisted to-day in the ranks of the benedicts. The lady of his choice is Miss Ethel Burnham of Morden, who is well known in Winnipeg's musical circles as an accomplished violinist. The ceremony took place at the house of the bride in Morden." The fair bride is well known in Peterborough. She is the daughter of Mrs. Fred Burnham and granddaughter of the late William Clenton. She was popular in social circles in Peterborough and in musical circles was recognized as a violinist of unusual proficiency, and taste and her skill in this direction must have increased greatly, for, since she left Peterborough she has studied the violin with the best masters of Berlin, Germany and London, England. Her numerous friends and the friends of the family will extend hearty congratulations.

THEY WANT TO GO.

The Additional Men to Represent Peterborough in South Africa.

Applications for positions on the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles, are again coming in to Surgeon-Major Young, of the Third Dragoons, by reason of the fact that eight additional men are to be taken on the strength from Peterborough. Up until noon to-day Major Young had received 18 applications—a number of these had applied before, whilst again many new applicants for service have appeared.

The men make an informal application to the medical examiner, Surgeon-Major Young, and the task of selecting the eight additional recruits will take place on Dec. 28th, before Col. Lessard. Those desiring to go will do well to place their names with Major Young, and watch the local papers for further information on the matter.

MORE BIRDS FOR THE JAIL.

The Police Requested to Look out for Two Thieves.

John and Fred Clarke, brothers, are two young men for whom things are looking dark. Their home is in Trenton, but they have been "lodging" in Campbellford for a short time, and have gone away leaving an impress on their character.

John is 21 years of age, and Fred 17 years. On Saturday night, 7th inst., they are said to have stolen a hide from Mr. Harry Bertrand, near Meyersburg, and six shirts from the store of Mr. Neil White, in Campbellford. John seems to have gone into the hide business, as he happened to step into Naldarrow Bros.' butcher shop, Campbellford, and sold the hide to Mr. Chas. Nancarrow, while its owner was there. Two of the shirts the companions in crime wore themselves, while they made a present of another to a man residing in Campbellford, who was innocent of what had taken place, and through him the theft was located.

On being notified of the offence, constable Jas. E. Robinson, of Campbellford, got about fifty post cards printed, giving a description of the two young men, and mailed them to the police of various towns, ordering their arrest. Neither of them bears a good reputation.

Dissolved Like Mist in Sunlight.

The old idea that oatmeal produces brawn and muscle is a false belief, and has dissolved like mist in the sunlight. As a grain food oatmeal has too much insoluble starch, is too heating for the blood and hampers digestion.

Malt Breakfast Food is fast superseding oatmeal and other starchy foods. It is free from starchy particles, is predigested, it is delicious, it is appetising and satisfying, and always tolerated by the weakest stomach. It is the food for weak and strong. Ask your grocer for it.

Saturday at Kennedy's.

We have displayed at OUR MEAT MARKET the very choicest supply of XMAS BEEF, FOWL, ETC., than can possibly be secured. We expect a crowd Saturday, and are prepared, having the largest stock and greatest variety of fresh meats in Peterborough. Satisfaction guaranteed.

St. Joseph's Bazaar.

The Christmas Attraction Bazaar, under the auspices of the Sisters of St. Joseph's and for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital, will be held in Bradburn's Opera House on Thursday, Friday and Saturday next, 19th, 20th and 21st of December. Among the many handsome and useful articles to be offered for sale, will be found many things of exquisite beauty and design, very suitable for holiday gifts, and which, no doubt, will be eagerly looked for by those wishing to procure something above the average for their Christmas presents, and at very moderate prices. Meals will be served as follows: Dinner, from 12 to 2 p. m.; and tea from 6 to 8 p. m. The public are cordially invited to be present, and assist in the charitable work for which this Bazaar is being held. 3d142

Stationery in Boxes.

These boxes of stationery and envelopes make pretty, inexpensive and useful gifts, especially for corresponding friends, or for the boy or girl whom you would encourage to neat letter writing. The Peterborough Bookstore has a pleasing display of artistic and dainty note paper papeteries. These will be an ornament to any writing desk. The boxes are decorated with pretty designs, and the paper and envelopes are done up with fancy ribbon and other neat effects. Very distingue. We also beg to assure you of the genuine utility of our fountain pens. A. H. Stratton & Co.

XMAS BOXES!

Call and see the great stock of handsome wool goods, both useful and ornamental. We have them in almost endless profusion, seasonable, comfortable and pretty—The Port Hope Knitting Works.

AN URGENT MESSAGE!

Only one more week, and the Christmas Bells will celebrate the old, familiar story of "Peace on earth, good will toward men." This is the week of weeks, when the most dilatory buyers must close their negotiations with Santa Claus. No time to be lost. Don't put off to the last moment—there's only disadvantage in delay.

The Peterborough Bookstore has planned to make the next few days wonderfully busy days. We invite the co-operation of shoppers to select before the pell-mell of the last day or two, especially as earlier purchases can be reserved and delivered at any designated time.

Nowhere can you find such a wealth of Holiday Offerings—the endless profusion of appropriate Christmas presents—useful or ornamental, costly or inexpensive, to suit the purse or taste of everyone. If it's anything in the list that follows, you'll get what you want in a jiffy:

THE BAZAAR OPENED

In the Opera House This Afternoon—A Beautiful Display of Articles.

The interior of the Opera House presents a very unusual, though exceedingly picturesque appearance to-day, it being the opening of the Bazaar, under the auspices of the Sisters of St. Joseph, and for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital. The place has been alive with the young ladies and a number of the young men of St. Peter's, as well as many of the older people, who have been busy all day in transforming the interior of the Opera House into a little world of attractive resorts. At three o'clock this afternoon the work was pretty well accomplished, and the young ladies were stationed at their respective stalls, where they are prepared to supply the public with many articles of value, of use and of amusement. There are all the old-time features that go to make up a successful Bazaar, the gypsy tent, the fish pond, the doll table, the telegraph office, and many other interesting spots to visit. To-night the principal feature will be the gypsy camp, which is situated on the stage, and which will be in full swing. To-morrow night the feature will be the doll social on "Hearts repaired while you wait." It will take the form of an entertainment. The Bazaar gives promise of being a great success. Music is being furnished at intervals throughout the day and evening.

BAND CONCERT,

Market Hall, December 20th,, assisted by Canadian General Glee Club and a Vocal Quartette.

Merry Christmas.

We are lending our efforts to make the season a pleasant one by doing everything we can to cheapen the price of some useful article of Millinery and Dress requirements. Nowhere else in Peterborough can you enjoy the advantages in selection and price that is being offered at this store. Millinery and Mantles are going actually at half price. Gloves, Laces, Ornaments for the hair and other needs for evening wear in newest ideas. New and beautiful handkerchiefs, neckwear, collars, fascinators, infants wear and many other pleasing remembrances for Christmas buyers. Miss Delaney.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

CURLIANA.

The curling season has now begun and doubtless the three ices at the rink will hereafter be crowded nightly, as soon as the lights have been placed in position on ice No. 3. Last evening a scratch match resulted as follows:

M Green	R Waddell
W Houston	Alf. Terrill
R Kerr	C N Brown
J Stanger, sk...22	A Blade, sk.....4

HOCKEY.

The local intermediates had another practice last night.

Regular practices have been commenced, and players are urged to turn out faithfully and get into shape, as the League games will be on in a short time.

Port Hope Guide: "Mr. Chowen has performed the 'in again, out again, in again, Finnigan' act to the satisfaction, no doubt, of Jimmie Macfadden, and the whole Stratford bunch. Well, if Mr. Chowen had a grain of common sense, he would not retain the position after such a bad mix up. But we suppose that it was compulsory that Stratford have a representative, no matter how he landed. It is not our intention to reprimand the worthy president—who we know would not stoop to anything crooked—but where there not other men from the west who could look after their interests just as well as Mr. Chowen? What about Mr. Thompson, of Paris? 'Jimmie, the Great' should now pack his little carpet bag and bie away to Stratford, to celebrate the brilliant(?) victory.'

RUGBY.

The members of the Peterborough Rugby team are asked to be on hand at Roy's photograph gallery at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon in order to be photographed.

The Telegram says:—"It is whispered that Peterborough football club will send to the London club an enlarged photograph of the championship cup that the Forest City might have won had they not played Peel one day last fall.

BASKET BALL.

At a meeting of the Captains of the teams in the Basketball League last evening, the following officers were elected:—President, Mr. R. Merrill; Sec.-Treas., Mr. Walter Robinson; Executive Committee—Messrs. Richardson, Dunsford, McGuire, Trollope, Merrill and Robertson, the Captains of the teams. The games as scheduled will be played on Saturday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp. It was decided that one referee should officiate at all League matches, and the Captains appointed the Physical Director official referee for all the matches. The umpires are to be chosen by the playing captains, as well as a timer and scorer, preceding the game. A number of new men were on the list to join the League, but the matter was left over till the next meeting. All the members of the Senior Gym. Class who have not been chosen on a team, are asked to leave their names with Mr. Walter Robinson, Sec., or at the office of the Physical Director.

A Public Meeting.

A public meeting to discuss municipal matters has been called for Monday night.

FLOWERS AND PLANTS.

EXCERPTS FROM HIS ADDRESS

The Liberal Government's Attitude Towards Labour—Canada's Relation to the Empire.

It is seldom that circumstances combine to afford an opportunity to give to any Canadian the splendid recognition of services as a public man, which was accorded to Hon. Wm. Mulock, Postmaster-General and Minister of Labour, on Tuesday night in Toronto. In another part of this issue is presented a summary, necessarily brief and imperfect, of the services on Mr. Mulock's part, which have entitled him to such a recognition. And it will be interesting to submit an excerpt or two from the statesman-like speech delivered by him on that occasion. His reference to the labour question was peculiarly instructive and interesting. On this subject, Mr. Mulock said: Reference has been made to the action of the Government in the establishment of a Department of Labour and I feel assured that no one legislative measure was, in the public interest more urgently demanded, or in its fruition is likely to be more to the advantage of Canada. (Loud applause.) It is scarcely necessary in this age to point out the place which labour holds in the well-being of every nation. We know that the great body of people are workers—the men, women and children, who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, and that on the moral strength and economic efficiency of this great body national security, happiness and progress rest. (Hear, hear.) Essential as are natural resources, transportation facilities, Government measures in aid of commerce, still they are all primary conditions of national development, and their value largely depends upon the efficiency of labour and its careful and intelligent direction. (Hear, hear.). This fact has long been recognised by most of the progressive commercial nations of the world by the establishment of Departments of Labour for the collection and dissemination of useful industrial information. In England for a decade, in the United States from an earlier period, in France, Germany, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, and in our sister colonies in the South Pacific, such departments have long since been established, but Canada lagged behind. (Hear hear.)

HON. WM. MULOCK,
Postmaster-General.

CONSERVATIVE PROCRASTINATION AGAIN.

Time and again the importance of such a department had been pressed upon the Government of the day. At last in the year 1888—a short time before the approaching general election of 1887—as a manifestation of interest in the welfare of the industrial classes, the then government professed purpose of enquiring into the conditions of capital and labour, ostensibly to be followed by appropriate legislation. Whether it was intimated to the commission to proceed slowly with the work, does not appear, but this commission, working and paid for by the day—(laughter)—had not completed its work in time for the elections of 1887, though it was announced on many hustings during that time that the Government was eager, at the earliest moment, to enact the necessary legislation. The commission served its purpose for that campaign. A year rolled by, and, still working, or rather sitting, by the day—(laughter)—the commission had not yet completed its arduous task. Still another year elapsed, and found the commission still sitting. (Renewed laughter.)

DANGLED BEFORE ELECTORS.

At last, in the year 1889, at a cost of thousands of dollars to the taxpayers of Canada, the commissioners made their report recommending, what everybody knew without the assistance of the report—that the interests of the working people would be promoted by the establishment of a Department of Labour at Ottawa, under the control of a responsible Minister of the Crown. (Cheers and laughter.) The next general elections were not yet in sight, and so the report, which in 1889 declared that it was in the interests of the working classes that such a department should be established, was pigeon-holed for a year, and then, in the session of 1890, a few months before the next general election, a new step was taken by the passing of an act authorizing the Government to establish a Bureau or Department of Labour, and in a short time, just as before, the general elections were held. (Laughter and cheers.)

WORKING CLASSES HUMBUGGED.

The act had served its purpose. Again the working classes had been humbugged and deceived. And what became of the Bureau of Labour authorized by the act of 1890? The Government of the day, as further evidence of their bona fides, went through the form of obtaining a vote of $10,000 in Parliament wherewith to make a beginning, and it is one of the rare instances in which they did not spend whatever money Parliament voted. (Laughter.) When it came to applying the money in question in the interests of the industrial classes it remained unused. (Cheers.) The Government continued in office over six years after the passing of that act, and after they had obtained the vote of that money, but they took no further steps in fulfillment of their professed object of te nyears before, to establish a Bureau of Labour. (Hear, hear.)

ACTION VERSUS PROFESSIONS.

Well, sir, I am afraid that even on the labour question our opponents can scarcely establish against us the charge of having stolen their clothes—(laughter)—for their policy was to make profession of being in earnest, but to do nothing; ours to make no professions, but to act. (Cheers.) During our first term of office we obtained the necessary legislation for the establishment of a Department of Labour and the publication of The Labour Gazette, for the dissemination of useful information. (Hear, hear.) We organised the department promptly on a permanent basis, began, and have ever since continued its working, and though the department is yet in its infancy, it has already, I think, earned the approval of all classes, and gives promise of ever-increasing public usefulness as the years roll by. (Loud cheers.)

The concluding sentences of Mr. Mulock's great speech as showing that he is not simply an expert administrator but a statesman of imperial breadth of view, are well worthy of reproduction. His reference to the foundation of Britain's greatness and his eloquent appeal for Canadian unity of sentiment and purpose will strike a responsive chord in every truly Canadian heart. Mr. Mulock said:

One thought more, Mr. Chairman, and I shall have finished. Enemies and timid friends at times prophesy Britain's dissolution, arguing that there awaits it the same fate which in the ages that are past and gone has overtaken other mighty nations. But do they not overlook the fact that the stability of an edifice largely depends upon its foundation, and the fact that the British Empire rests upon the enduring foundation of justice and freedom, and that her flag, representative of those principles, waving over four hundred millions of all free, pledges to each one of them the strength of the whole empire in defence of the rights of the humblest of them all. (Cheers.) Such an empire is worth fighting for. (Renewed cheers.) No wonder that she is strong in the hearts of her people, and that, proud of her past and confident in her future, they are ready whenever the occasion demands to rally in defence of that flag. (Loud cheers.) As Kipling says:

It's only a small bit of bunting,
It's only an old coloured rag,
Yet thousands have died for its honour
And shed their best blood for the flag.

We hoist it to show our devotion
To our King, to our country and laws,
It's the outward and visible emblem
Of advancement and liberty's cause.

You may say it's an old bit of bunting,
You may call it an old coloured rag,
But freedom has made it majestic
And Time has ennobled the flag.
—(Prolonged cheers.)

"Mr. Chairman, it was my privilege and pleasure to visit not only Australia, but also many other parts of Great Britain's outlaying possessions and everywhere to hear, as we do in this hall to-night, those old patriotic tunes, so familiar, so welcome, to Canadian ears, recalling Daniel Webster's words, in reference to the extent of the sway of England, "Whose morning drum-beat, following the sun, and keeping company with the hours, circles the earth with one continuous and unbroken strain of the martial airs of England." (Cheers.) And as everywhere amidst such strains the citizens by their mottoes of welcome to England's future King and Queen, by their utterances and actions, expressed the sentiments of their hearts, that though of many races, they were yet of one people, with one King and one flag, my thoughts turned to my own country, and my heart became filled, as it is this night, with the devout wish that here in Canada there should forever be an end to all appeals to racial differences, and that we should also by our lives, prove to the world that the people of Canada, though of many races, are one people, with one resolve, the building up of our country under the inspiration and as an integral and permanent part of that world-empire, which in its extent, in its stability, in its magnificence, in its power, in the glory of its annals, remains unsurpassed by any other political organization the world has ever known." (Long and continued cheers.)

Doing a Good Business.

A Toronto woman, while shopping the other day, thoughtlessly picked up an umbrella belonging to another woman and started to walk off with it. The owner stopped her, and the absent-minded woman, with many apologies, returned the umbrella.

The incident served to remind her that she needed some umbrellas in her own family, so she bought two for her daughters and one for herself.

Later in the day, when she was on her way home, armed with the three umbrellas, she happened to glance up, and saw directly opposite her in the car the very woman with whom she had had the unfortunate experience in the morning.

The second woman stared at the three umbrellas very hard for several minutes, and then, with a significant smile, she leaned forward and said in an icy tone, "I see you have had a successful morning."

OLD LOOMS AGAIN IN LATE QUEEN VICTORIA'S ORDER DID MUCH FOR IRISH HOME WORKERS.

Spinning Wheels and Looms, Fallen Into Decrepitude for Decades, Furnished Up Again and Put to Work—A Bright Picture of the Industrious Peasantry of "Ould Ireland" Making Homespun.

In the little thatched cottages of Donegal and Connemara looms and spinning wheels are busy manufacturing homespuns for royal wearers. The kings and queens of Europe have decided that these manufactures are fit for court attire, and the peasants of the north and west of Ireland are reaping a golden harvest.

Two years ago Queen Victoria ordered a large quantity of Irish home-made woolens. This immediately created an outside interest in the goods and a few weeks sufficed to set all idle looms in motion. Orders are now being received from every city in Europe. A large order recently came from Persia, and even in Australia the homespun is not unknown. The Irish peasants are rapidly becoming prosperous compared with their circumstances a few years ago. The new market for their goods has claimed every yard they manufacture, so that while royalty flaunts the homespun the cottiers are content with the cheaper mill article.

For hundreds of years the peasantry of Ireland clothed themselves in garments of their own manufacture. Less than fifty years ago no wedding was complete without a spinning wheel heading the list of presents from the parents of the bride. Even in "poor ould Ireland," however, machinery has made such strides that had Queen Victoria delayed much longer in placing the first royal order for the homespun the sound of the loom would not now be heard in the land. As it is old wheels are being dusted and renovated; fingers that had almost forgotten the duties required of them are being quickened again to work and young hands are rapidly becoming expert with practice.

The accompanying pictures are illustrative of the homespun industry. An attempt has been made to convey an impression of the people engaged in the work, and also the houses in which they live. The workers are quite as interesting as the study of the cloth they manufacture, and their abodes are always a great attraction to the tourist.

Donegal is the centre of the present activity in homespun circles, and the cottages along the mountain sides are filled with the hum of busy workers. The entire family spend the winter months at reel, wheel and loom. When the days lengthen and the sun grows more genial work on the little patch of ground necessitates a decrease in production. Potatoes must be planted, a few cabbage plants "dibbled" in the ridges and a rood or two of oats "trenched." Then follows the haymaking season, with its delightful weather and cloudless sky. No matter how many orders royalty may send for homespun, these hardy hill folks will "take things aisy in summer days." These simple peasantry live to please themselves and their pleasure is usually the fulfilment of a general desire to take their own time for doing things. They like the sunshine and the growing meadows, the green pastures and the moss-covered banks; there is something in the whitethorn that calls them to the hedgerow when it is white with blossoms, and not for gold would they miss the the small birds' chorus. Therefore it follows that the homespun harvest will be reaped only when the rain beats pitilessly on the roof and the wind moans and groans in the wicker chimney.

A cottage owning a loom may always be known by its unusual length. The loom fills one end of the cottage, which is only one story in height. Additional floor space for spinning wheels makes a greatly increased frontage necessary. This is done at the expense of proportion and gives the abode a squatty appearance that is deceiving. The walls of the cottages are whitewashed a couple of times each year and are remarkable for their cleanliness.

The machines used in manufacturing the homespuns are amazingly crude in appearance. They are very serviceable and enduring, in spite of their lack of finished workmanship. Looms are handed down from one generation to another, and the secret of the age of most of the spinning wheels belongs to the workers of another time. All the machines are permeated with the odor of turf smoke, and the natural color of the wood used in their construction has long since been dyed black by the burnt peat.

It is astonishing with what accuracy these century-old machines operate. On a loom similar to the one pictured above was woven the Irish linen presented to Queen Victoria on the occasion of her jubilee in 1887. The linen was said to be the finest ever manufactured.

Predictions have been made to the effect that the homespun industry will again spread over the whole of Ireland. Little surprise will be caused by this, at least to those who have followed the growth of the lace industry during the past few years. In many districts it has been almost impossible to engage servants on account of their being busily employed working the most costly Irish lace and other kinds of fancy needlework.

Schools have been established at different centres of population for instruction in the work, and as many as fifty pupils attend single seminaries daily. Special sales of Irish home-made products have been held with great success in London, Dublin and Belfast.

The lace and homespun industries are closely allied. The peasants of the south have practically a monopoly of the lace business, while the homespun weaving centres are in the north. Years ago large quantities of woolen fabrics were manufactured near Belfast, but the cottage looms have long since been ousted by the big factories employing thousands of men and women.

Most of the homespuns are sold to the merchants of the many small villages dotting the country. They are then purchased in bulk by the big retailer, who receives orders from all parts of the world. At present an attempt is being made to deal directly with the people without the interference of the middleman.

As there is every chance of its succeeding, it is to be earnestly hoped that the weavers themselves will reap the profits.

Burdock Blood Bitters

Burdock Blood Bitters has the most natural action on the stomach, liver, bowels and blood of any medicine known, hence its effects are prompt and lasting. It cures, without fail, all such diseases as Dyspepsia, Constipation, Biliousness, Bad Blood, Sick Headache, Boils, Pimples, Tumors, Scrofula, Kidney Complaints, Jaundice, Coated Tongue, Loss of Appetite and General Debility. The fact that it is guaranteed to cure if used according to directions warrants any sufferer in giving a fair trial to Burdock Blood Bitters.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Hand Grenades For Fires.

Hand grenades for putting out fires, which were common enough 15 or 20 years ago, consisting of glass vessels filled with solutions of various kinds supposed to have special fire extinguishing qualities, date back to a much earlier time than is commonly supposed.

Probably the earliest form consisted of a wooden vessel or barrel containing a considerable quantity of water and having in its center a small iron or tin case full of gunpowder. From this case a tube was continued through the side or head of the barrel and was filled with a composition that readily ignited. When a room was on fire, one of these machines was thrown into it, the powder exploding, which dispersed the water in the outer receptacle in every direction.

In 1723 Godfrey, an English chemist, copied this device and impregnated the water with an "antiphlogistic" substance. He named his machines "water bombs," and the fire grenades of recent years seem to have been patterned very closely after them. In the year 1734 the Swedish government offered a premium of 20,000 crowns for the best invention for stopping the progress of fires, upon which a German chemist introduced an apparatus of similar character.

None of these early inventions, however, seem to have had longer careers than their short lived successors of the present century.

Stains For Picture Frames.

A rich dark brown color can be given to plain wood by applying a solution of potassium bichromate and exposing to light. A solution for staining green can be made as follows: Dissolve one ounce of the best verdigris and one dram each of sap green and indigo in 15 ounces of vinegar. Raise to the boiling point, and apply while hot. The hue may be altered by changing the proportions of the ingredients. The frames when dry should be lightly sandpapered and then varnished or polished with turpentine and beeswax, which will give a dull luster.

The Worm Turned.

Dentist (to patient from Wayback)—Did you ever take gas before?

Patient—Look, here, smarty! That joke's gone far enough. Ye kin talkin to that fresh hotel clerk, ain't ye?

THE BARBER'S VICTIM.

He Was Passive in the Chair, but Had His Revenge.

"Shave," said the stranger as he settled himself in that mysterious mechanical contrivance commonly known as the barber's chair.

"Hot cloths?" suggested the barber as he made away with the relics of the shave.

"Guess not," sighed the victim.

"Hot cloths great thing. Never tried them?"

"No."

"Well, just let me fix you up." And the barber proceeded to the laying on of the hot cloths.

"Hair cut?" he hinted after the hot cloth ordeal.

"No, not today."

"Your hair's rather long," persisted the tonsorialist as he toyed with the elongated fringe about his subject's ears.

"As you please, then," assented the man in the chair.

"Your hair's coming out," pronounced the barber as he pulled out a handful as evidence. "Want it singed?"

"No."

"Singeing is just what it needs."

The victim yielded.

"Shampoo?", softly cooed the gentle barber a few minutes later.

"Oh, no."

"Your head's quite dusty. The dust gets into the roots and ruins the quality of the hair."

The victim surrendered.

"Hair tonic?" sweetly coaxed the barber as he let up on the ragtime towel exercise.

"I guess so," answered the stranger dazedly.

"Bay rum, sea foam, witch hazel, paris green"—

"Yes, yes, yes!"

"Face massaged?" quoth the barber.

"Yes, yes; of course, old man!" faintly.

Silence for five minutes.

"There you are!" whispered the self satisfied, labor loving barber as he assisted the unfortunate out of the trap. "One dollar and sixty-five cents, please."

The stranger staggered slightly at the blow, his face kaleidoscoped the various colors of the rainbow in rapid succession and then:

"Here's ten cents for the shave. That's all I have."

MRS. BARNETT, OF PLATTSVILLE, ONT.

Cured Three and a-half Years Ago by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Further Proof of the Permanency of the Cures Effected by this Great Remedy—A Most Convincing Confirmation of an Interesting Statement Published in the Plattsville Echo, in May, 1898.

Plattsville, Ont., Dec. 18.—(Special.)—Some three and a half years ago The Plattsville Echo, the local newspaper published quite an extended account of a most miraculous cure of a well known and highly respected lady, Mrs. J. Barnett, who had been extremely ill for years and who claimed to be permanently cured by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. This good lady according to her own statement, had been a physical wreck, with nervousness, rheumatism in the left arm, pains in the small of the back, up the spinal column and back of the head, through the eyes, left side of the body, and occasionally the right side. She had no appetite and could not sleep at nights. The physicians had given her up and in this pitiful and hopeless condition, Dodd's Kidney Pills found her and completely restored her to good health without an ache or pain. Her appetite returned as her general health improved. She used in all but twelve boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

This was in the spring of 1898, and to-day Mrs. Barnett states positively and in the strongest and most grateful terms that the cure Dodd's Kidney Pills brought her three and a half years ago was absolute and permanent; that she is to-day stronger and better than she has been for years before taking the pills. Nothing could be more convincing than this good woman's plain and truthful statement, and it proves beyond doubt the lasting character of cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills."

A Clergyman's Mistake.

The last speaker was Rev. Dr. Donald Sage Mackay, whose subject was "A High Ideal of Civic Righteousness the Condition of All Real Civic Prosperity." He said in part:

"I am reminded just here of a sad break which a brother clergyman made the other day, or, at least, he told me so. At a funeral when desiring to improve on the hackneyed phrase common at funerals, 'An opportunity will now be given to view the remains,' he substituted in its place, with fatal results to himself, 'An opportunity will now be given to pass around the bier.' And, talking of beer, brings me by a simple and beautiful transition to my toast."

Which Was Schwab?

President Schwab of the steel trust makes the impression of being "a good fellow" wherever he goes. To the members of the Society of Naval Architects, with whom he dined in New York on Friday, he said that he could not help knowing that he was a great man.

The fact was brought home to him the other day in a little town in Pennsylvania, not far from Pittsburg. "I had my colored driver Bob sitting beside me," Mr. Schwab said, "and was driving through the town. A woman and a little girl, evidently her daughter, were watching us. 'That's Mr. Schwab,' I could not avoid hearing the mother say. 'Which one?' asked the child."

The Rings of Saturn.

"I wonder if Mars really is inhabited."

"Give it up, but if Saturn is I'll bet the politicians own it."

"Why?"

"Because you can see the rings."

TURNED THE TIDE

In half an hour after Mr. Lavers took the first dose of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart he was on the road to permanent recovery.

"I was under treatment with some of the best physicians in London (England) for what they diagnosed as incurable heart trouble. I suffered agonies through pains about my heart, smothering spells, palpitation and exhaustion. Also drowning sensations at a scare. I tried Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. The first bottle relieved me greatly, and when I had used two bottles all the symptoms of my heart trouble had left me."—A. Lavers, Collingwood.

THE COMING OF WINTER.

Out of the northland sombre wefrds are calling;
A shadow falleth southward day by day;
Red summer's arms grow cold; his fire is falling;
His feet draw back to give the stern one way.

It is the voice and shadow of the slayer,
Slayer of loves, sweet world, slayer of dreams;
Make end thy voice with sober plaint and prayer;
Make grey thy woods and darken all thy streams.

Black grows the river, blacker drifts the eddy;
The sky is grey; the woods are cold below;
Oh, make thy bosom and thy red lips ready
For the cold kisses of the falling snow.

—Archibald Lampman.

"BROWN AND I."

How Two Jolly Young Canadians Supperad Costly Titles at the Recent Pan-American at Buffalo.

"My chum Brown and I spent our summer vacation at the Pan-American Exposition," said a jolly young Canadian who came to this city, the other day on business for a Montreal firm, says The New York Tribune, "and in a spirit of mischief we thought we would play a trick on the Yankees by pretending we were British noblemen. We both could assume a good imitation of the most approved aristocratic accent, and, having heard a lot of the Americans' fondness for a title, we promised ourselves considerable fun.

"I introduced Brown as 'Sir Thomas Hay,' and he introduced me as 'Sir Arthur Banks,' though my real name is Dixon.

"Our first disappointment came when we could not find rooms in a first-class hotel in Buffalo, but had to be content with a third-rater. Our second disappointment came when we clearly perceived that our titles had only served to raise such suspicion in our landlord's breast that he demanded a week's room rent in advance. Our third came when we saw that our fellow guests were far too busily engaged in getting their money's worth to pay us anything like the attention we had hoped to attract.

"We could not very well abandon our fictitious titles, however, so we resolved to face it out, and we called one another 'Sir Thomas' and 'Sir Arthur' faithfully when speaking to third parties, though we felt rather silly over it. Nobody seemed impressed with us, and we were becoming thoroughly discouraged, when all at once a ray of light came.

"A London cockney waiter appeared at our table, and seemed so glad to meet two of his own countrymen in a foreign land that he could not do enough for us. He waited on us hand and foot, gave us our titles of 'Sir' at every breath, and occasionally dubbed Brown 'Me Lud.' We were delighted, and tipped him freely.

"The poor fellow came to our room that night, and asked to be allowed to act as our valet. We told him we were determined to rough it during our trip in America and were dressing ourselves. We allowed him, however, to brush all our clothes. He was so grateful that we tipped him heavily again.

"Next day the same thing was repeated, and by a few adroit questions I've learned that he was having a harder time getting a living in America than he anticipated when he left 'h'old h'England,' and was likely to lose his job as waiter that very night unless he could bribe the head waiter with a $5 bill. He got it. The next day his wife was taken dangerously ill, and no hospital would receive her for less than $10 in advance. He got that, too. Next day our vacation ended, and we started for home rather empty in pocket. Our friendly waiter packed our dress suit cases, and began another hard-luck story. We cut it short by saying that we had done enough for him already. His obsequious smile died out. With an impudent leer, he said: 'Well, good doi, Mr. Brown; good doi, Mr. Dixon.'

"We looked at one another. It was plain that he was 'on.' 'How did you find out?' we asked.

"'Hi went to a newspaper office h'and h'examined 'Burke's Peerage.' Hi didn't find your toitles there,' said he.

"'It was only a joke,' I replied. 'You won't blow on us, will you?'

"'Not Hi. Hi'm a bit of a loier meself,' said he, with another leer and a broad grin.

"A cruel suspicion took hold of me. "'Were all those hard-luck stories of yours fakes also?' I asked.

"'"Folkes" is the word. But you cannot deny but what I giv' yer good valley in toitles fer yer 'eads,' said he."

First Resident of the University.

The Rev. Dr. McCaul, first President of the University of Toronto, received his first Canadian appointment in November, 1838, when he came out on the nomination of the Archbishop of Canterbury as Principal of Upper Canada College. Born in Dublin, his career as student and tutor at Trinity College in his native city had been most brilliant. In 1842 he became Vice-President of King's College and professor of classics, logic, rhotoric and belles-lettres, and on the reorganization of the affairs of the college in 1849 Dr. McCaul was made its head under the new statute. Besides the reputation that still clings to his personality, he was the author of various editions of and essays on the classics, and for a while conducted a Canadian monthly magazine, which, under the name of The Maple Leaf, had at one time a considerable popularity.

His Refusal.

"That man once offered me money for my vote," remarked the practical politician.

"And you refused it with scorn?"

"I did. My conscience wouldn't permit me to take it. It wasn't more than half of what is customarily paid, and I couldn't have looked my fellow members of the legislature in the face if I had cut prices."

AFTER MANY YEARS

Of suffering from kidney disease, Miss Minnie Ryan, of St. Louis, Mo., found a complete cure result from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is such cures as this which establish the soundness of Dr. Pierce's theory: "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." Every other organ depends on the stomach for its vitality and vigor. For by the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition the food which is eaten is converted into nutriment, which, in the form of blood, is the sustaining power of the body and each organ of it. When the stomach is diseased the food supply of the body is cut down, the organs are starved, and the weakness of starvation shows itself in lungs, heart, liver, kidneys or some other organ.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and so cures disease of other organs which have originated through deficient nutrition or impure blood.

"I had been suffering with kidney trouble twenty years," writes Miss Minnie Ryan, of 1317 Loreliana Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., "and I had doctored with a number of the best physicians. Two years ago I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' and took also several vials of Doctor Pierce's Pellets. I took eight bottles (four of each), and I feel now perfectly cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

NURSING MOTHERS

A mother's poor health is bad enough for the mother but worse still for the nursing baby.

Mothers find Scott's Emulsion a nourishing and strengthening food. If the breast milk is scanty or thin Scott's Emulsion will make it rich and more abundant.

When mothers take Scott's Emulsion the babies share in the benefits. Thin babies grow fat. Weak babies get strong.

We'll send you a list to try, if you like.

A CULINARY NOVELTY.

How to Make a Fish Pudding in Norwegian Fashion.

Norway is the fish country par excellence. A slender strip of rugged, mountainous land bordered by a vast ocean, fish naturally play a prominent part in Scandinavian domestic and political economy, and it is to be expected that the Scandinavian cook will excel in fish dishes. One of the most popular Norwegian dishes is called fish pudding. Like the famous southern beaten biscuit, this dish presupposes cheap labor and plenty of it. However, the seeker after culinary novelties will feel amply repaid for the trouble. Fresh haddock is the first choice for this dish, but, failing that, the most perfect cod obtainable. Boil the fish until the skin and bones can be easily removed. This must be done lightly with the fingers, taking care neither to cut nor to crush the fish. Put it into a wooden bowl and beat it with a pestle, beating always the one way.

The beating should continue until a light paste is obtained, say half an hour; then for a medium sized pudding add gradually two well beaten eggs and half a pint of cream beaten in, drop by drop, with the pestle. This means another half hour of beating. By this time the cook should have a fluffy paste, which must be put in a pudding mold and steamed for an hour. It should cut exactly like snow pudding when done and is usually eaten with drawn butter sauce or melted butter and parsley with a dash of paprika.

Recipe No. 2 is much simpler and makes a delicious sandwich for a light lunch or a late supper with a drop of something to drink. Get a pot of anchovy paste, the imported kind, which comes in tiny white pots the size of an egg. Into half a teacupful of mayonnaise dressing (made with tarragon vinegar) work two teaspoonfuls of the paste and three hard boiled eggs chopped fine. Spread this mixture on thin slices of rye bread. Norwegian sandwiches are usually made with but one slice of bread. An ordinary French dressing may be substituted for the mayonnaise if preferred.

Recipe No. 3 is a very good thing to try with a chafing dish. Heat a smoked flanan haddie either in the oven or by steaming until skin and bones can be easily removed. Break the fish lightly into small bits. Into a spider or chafing dish put half a pint of cream or rich milk, and when it is very hot add a heaping tablespoonful of butter in which has been rubbed a tablespoonful of flour. Stir constantly until the sauce has thickened and then add the fish and let it cook for two or three minutes longer. Of course a dash of paprika should be added for seasoning. The flour may be omitted and the yolk of an egg used to thicken if a richer sauce is desired. The possibilities of smoked haddock are too little appreciated in this country. For a quick breakfast or for camp or picnic this dish is invaluable, as ten minutes in a double boiler is all the cooking required and a bit of butter all the seasoning.

An Embarrassing Query.

In a city where children above the age of five years have to pay full fare on the tramcars while those who are younger go free the passengers in a car saw one day a rather large boy, looking seven years old at least, held in his mother's lap as though he were a baby. The big child seemed restless about something.

Presently he cried: "Mamma! Mamma!"

The mother, as if with a premonition of something wrong, tried to hush him, but he still kept saying: "Mamma! Mamma!"

"Well, what is it?" she asked at last.

"Mamma, when do I have to say I'm only five?"

Then the passengers—some of them—laughed and the mother turned very red.—London Answers.

THE GHOST AT THE FEAST.

What the Hostess Saw and What Happened After Dinner.

In "The Story of My Life," by Mr. Augustus Hare, is told the following creepy story:

A regiment was passing through Derbyshire on its way to fresh quarters in the north. The colonel, as they staid for the night in one of the country towns, was invited to dine at a country house in the neighborhood and to bring any one he liked with him. Consequently he took with him a young ensign for whom he had a great fancy. They arrived, and it was a large party, but the lady of the house did not appear till just as they were going in to dinner and when she appeared was so strangely distrait and preoccupied that she scarcely attended to anything that was said to her.

At dinner the colonel observed that his young companion scarcely ever took his eyes off the lady of the house, staring at her in a way which seemed at once rude and unaccountable. It made him observe the lady herself, and he saw that she seemed scarcely to attend to anything said by her neighbors on either side of her, but rather seemed, in a manner quite unaccountable, to be listening to some one or something behind her.

As soon as dinner was over the young ensign came to the colonel and said: "Oh, do take me away! I entreat you to take me away from this place!"

The colonel said, "Indeed your conduct is so very extraordinary and unpleasant that I quite agree with you that the best thing we can do is to go away." And he made the excuse of his young friend being ill and ordered their carriage.

When they had driven some distance, the colonel asked the ensign for an explanation of his conduct. He said that he could not help it. During the whole of dinner he had seen a terrible, black, shadowy figure standing behind the chair of the lady of the house, and it had seemed to whisper to her and she to listen to it. He had scarcely told this when a man on horseback rode rapidly past the carriage, and the colonel, recognizing one of the servants of the house they had just left, called out to know if anything was the matter.

"Oh, don't stop me, sir!" he shouted. "I am going for the doctor! My lady has just cut her throat!"

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and erradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. Large outfit, $1; small size, 25c. Druggists, or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Hardest Worked Vegetable.

According to a writer in the New York Sun, the cucumber is the hardest worked member of the vegetable kingdom. At least it is if we may judge by the variety of its uses. From America to Asia Minor it appears as an article of food on dinner tables and supper tables, all over the civilized world. But that does not exhaust its possibilities by any means. In Egypt it is made to yield a pleasant, cooling drink by ingenious treatment. A hole is cut in the cucumber, the pulp is broken and stirred with a stick and the hole closed with wax. The cucumber, still fastened to its stem, is lowered into a pit. After a few days the juice ferments, and the Egyptian drawing it off has a liquor exactly suited to his taste.

A Mystery Cleared Up.

Squibbs—What is the reason mothers who go to the watering places are always accompanied by their daughters?

WAVES OF WATER.

The river Jordan has its origin in one of the largest springs in the world.

The Amazon is 3,944 miles in length, rising within seventy miles of the Pacific ocean and flowing clear across the continent.

The Amur, the great stream of China and Siberia, is 1,500 miles in length, but for nearly nine months in the year is icebound.

The Pacific ocean covers 40½ per cent of the water surface of the globe, the Atlantic 21 per cent and the Antarctic 19 per cent.

The water of the larger Norwegian fiords, or rock bays, though in direct communication with the sea, are so saltless as to be drinkable.

The Detroit river is the outlet of the greatest bodies of water in the world, aggregating 82,000 square miles of lake surface, which in turn drain 125,000 square miles of land.

The river Platte during the summer is dry along the greater portion of its course. The water runs underground, only an occasional pool appearing on the surface. By digging almost anywhere in its course a supply of fresh, cool water may be obtained.

A Wrong Burial Certificate.

When a physician issues a burial certificate for one who has died of consumption or throat trouble, he should say, Cause of death, neglect to take Four T's when the cough first started. Four T's cure a cough in 24 hours and end the worst cold in two days, and you get a large bottle for 25c. at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

A Unique Book.

A publishing firm which makes a specialty of expensive editions of standard authors has recently published an edition of the works of Dickens. The set is in thirty volumes and liberally illustrated and illumined. An eccentric buyer decided he would like to have a set composed of the proof sheets of the edition. These were, of course, much marked, corrected, noted and otherwise marred, but they were collected and bound in an exquisite binding and sent to the collector of original books. He paid $1,400 for the privilege of owning probably the most unique reprint of a set of Dickens' works in existence.

Woman is as old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigourous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .
WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN
THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.
2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.
3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.
4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.
5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.
6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.
7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $128 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.
8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THE CHRISTMAS BOUQUET.

Give flowers at Christmastide. "No worth they bring but their own gladness—making winter, spring." At the West-end Greenhouses is a choice selection of flowers in bloom and that will bloom all winter. What nicer present to give or to get than a plant in bloom. For christmas decorations you can order lillies, palms, ferns, foliage plants, etc., of the freshest, hardiest and handsomest kind. Telephone 21b, or visit the greenhouses, No. 495 Park street, at residence of G. M. Roger. A. Blade, manager. P.S. — Send flowers to your friends, the sick especially.

Mounting Board.

The Examiner has now in stock a complete stock of Mounting Board, ranging in price from 5c up, to 25c. This stock is guaranteed chemically pure, and includes the most serviceable shades.

Very Complimentary

are the remarks which our customers are making about our oysters. The reason is that we are selling the best oysters that come to town, and good, solid measure. Try them, and we are sure you will be a regular customer. S. A. Oke, 376 George street. Telephone, 18.

Christmas Begonias.

A very fine display at Jos. H. Cobb's, Aylmer street greenhouses. They are carefully grown from choice stock, with just the bloom of the season well started, at very moderate prices. Choice family of ferns and palms for Christmas decorations. Pretty fern bowls of different designs filled and unfilled—come and see — everybody welcome. Order early. Dracenas, carnations, chrysanthemums, mignonette, lillies, roses, geraniums, etc. Just to hand, Japanese fern baths, direct from Japan. The stock is beautifully fresh, nothing to beat it in town, either in price or excellence. Open till 10 o'clock every night. 'Phone, 132.

BRIDGENORTH BREVITES.

Bob Scott's Last Trip—Other Notes of Interest.

The high wind has put the new swing bridge out of business.

Joe Cahill and Jim Lynch passed through the village on Thursday on their way to Young's Point.

Bob Kingan and Harry Winch passed through the village on Thursday morning on their way back to Apsley on a rabbit hunt.

The shooting match in the west end on Saturday attracted a number of sports.

The Township Council met on Monday to wind up the business for the present year.

Mr. George Bell has his chopping mill in working order again. Farmers, bring along your chopping.

Mr. Wm. Brown shot a valuable horse on Tuesday night.

The pupils of the public school will give an entertainment Friday afternoon.

Mr. S. Morrison has offered his place of business for sale, including his livery.

Most of the farmers in this settlement are sending their milk to the Fourth Line Butter Factory.

Master Everett Mann, who had his leg amputated at the Nicholls Hospital some three weeks ago, has recovered sufficiently to be able to return home.

It is understood we are to have some new blood in our Township Council for the year 1902. It is whispered around that Mr. Wm. Mann is looking for municipal honours, and no doubt Bridgenorth should have a representative.

On Wednesday evening while Mr. J. H. Mann was putting his horse in the stable, after returning home from Peterborough, received a kick which dislocated his left arm. Dr. Morgan was called in at once and set the fracture.

Get your gun in shape for the shooting match in the park on Christmas afternoon. A skating race will also take place; one and a half miles and return.

On Sunday morning while Mrs Jas. Mann, Sr., was entering the Baptist church, she in some way misjudged the distance between the outer door and the folding doors in the entrance to the basement, and fell to the bottom of the steps, some ten feet. She escaped without any serious injury outside of a bad shaking up.

Bob Scott, the lightning steam thresher of Smith, steamed up to Chemong on Monday morning when the mercury was down below zero just the same as he would in the middle of summer. He was on his way up to Mr. W. B. Kelly's, where he spent most of the day threshing. This completes Mr. Scott's season's work.

A pugilistic encounter which has lasted for two or three days, at intervals, was brought to a finish on Monday night. They were both employees of a west end contractor. The result was, both participants, have since been discharged.

St. Joseph's Hospital Bazaar now going on in the Opera House.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Pauline Johnston and Mr. W. McRae gave an evening's entertainment in the town hall on the 11th inst., to a crowded house. They came highly recommended as entertainers of a high order and fully sustained their reputation. Their programme consisted of impersonations artistically given, Miss Johnson's own poems admirably rendered, anecdotes well told, and sketches of the ridiculous, full of laughter. Miss Johnson's patriotic pieces were especially good, while Mr. McRae's character sketches were equally good. All went away well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

School closes on the 20th inst. A children's concert will be given on Friday evning, consisting of a cantata.

Don't forget the annual school meeting of the ratepayers.

The skating rink will be ready in a few days.

Mr. Will Campbell of the Royal Military College, is home for his holidays.

Messrs. Henry Burnham and Fred were very much disappointed when refused as volunteers on the second contingent of the C.M.R.

Miss Molly Shaw is home from a visit with friends in Huntsville, Muskoka.

The children of Mather's corners school are giving a concert on Thursday evening of this week.

GIVES SCHLEY THE CREDIT.

Commander of Spanish Ship Says Dewey's Praise Is Just.

New York, Dec. 19.—Captain Diaz Moreu, who commanded the Colon at the battle of Santiago, says that Admiral Sampson could take no active part in the fight because his ship was 12 miles to the west of Santiago harbor when the Spanish squadron appeared, while Admiral Schley with the Brooklyn flying his pennant, and the Iowa, were close to the mouth of the harbor, cables the Madrid correspondent of The Journal and Advertiser.

"Both war ships," says Captain Diaz, "fought the Maria Teresa, which, seven minutes afterwards, was on fire. My ship, the Colon, appeared then, firing her larboard artillery against the Iowa, which not moving quickly enough, would have been sunk by the Colon had not the Brooklyn fought an hour and a half with the Colon. Evidently the credit of the first part of the battle, during which the Maria Teresa and the Vizcaya were placed hors de combat, belongs to Schley, as well as the second part, during which the Colon fought alone against the Brooklyn, the Iowa and the Oregon. She was finally vanquished by the superior artillery of the Iowa and the faster speed of the Oregon. I think Admiral Dewey's praise to Schley is just. It does not diminish Admiral Sampson's glory, to whom as superior commander, was due the positions the ships held in the first line of blockade, and without whose instructions the result might be seen in another light."

Admiral Schley's Exceptions.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Admiral Schley, late yesterday afternoon, through his counsel, presented to the Secretary of the Navy his bill of exceptions to the findings of the majority of the court of enquiry. The bill concludes with the statement that the proceedings of the majority of the court were irregular, that Admiral Schley's rights have been prejudiced and his testimony in many particulars not considered and that the evidence is absolutely insufficient to sustain the opinion which has been rendered, and that therefore a grave and incompurable injustice has been done Admiral Schley.

IT IS IMPORTANT

To Know What You are Taking When Using Catarrh Medicines.

Catarrh is the short route to consumption, and the importance of early and judicious treatment of Catarrh, whether located in the head, throat or bronchial tubes, cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The list of catarrh cures is as long as the moral law and the forms in which they are administered, numerous and confusing, from sprays, inhalers, washes, ointments, and snives to powders liquids and tablets.

The tablet form is undoubtedly the most convenient and the most effective, but with nearly all advertised catarrh remedies it is almost entirely a matter of guess work as to what you are taking into your system, as the proprietors, while making all sorts of claims as to what their medicines will do, always keep it a close secret as to what they are.

The success and popularity of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, is largely because it not only cures catarrh but because catarrh sufferers who use these tablets know what they are taking into their systems. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, are composed of Red Gum, Blood Root and similar valuable and antiseptic ingredients, and are pleasant to the taste and being dissolved in the mouth they take immediate effect upon the mucus lining of the throat, nasal passages and whole respiratory tract.

The cures that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have accomplished in old chronic cases of catarrh are little short of remarkable, and the advantage of knowing what you are putting into your stomach is of paramount importance when it is remembered that the cocaine or morphine habit has been frequently contracted as the result of using secret catarrh remedies.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets meet with cordial approval from physicians, because their antiseptic character render them perfectly safe for the general public to use and their composition makes them a common sense cure for all forms of catarrhal troubles.

All druggists sell them at 50 cts. for full sized packages.

Burglary at Petrolea.

Petrolea, Ont., Dec. 19.— Last Monday night a successful and daring burglary was perpetrated at Edv's Mills, which is a small place about 12 miles south of this town. The robbery occurred at Postmaster Kersey's place, who keeps the post-office, general store and the telephone office. It appears that money to the amount of $1,200 belonging to Mr. Joseph McTaggart of Alvinston, also $150, belonging to Mr. Kersey, was deposited in Mr. Kersey's safe. About 8 o'clock Tuesday morning Mr. Kersey was awakened by a heavy concussion, and on coming down stairs discovered the safe with its doors blown off, and the money gone, nothing but a few visible footsteps being left behind. The back window showed signs of being broken. Chief of Police Ferguson, accompanied by the postoffice inspector of London, visited the scene yesterday morning. Your correspondent is assured that Chief Ferguson has an excellent clue, and arrests are hourly expected, which, no doubt, will cause a sensation.

Over 30,000.

More than 30,000 invalids have taken Merrill's System Tonic, and the result has proven that this wonderful new medicine is not a doubtful compound, but one which always affects a radical cure of stomach, nerve, liver and kidney troubles. The 50c. bottles last three weeks. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

Mr. S. Russell Again.

Belleville, Ont., Dec. 19.—The annual meeting of the East Hastings Reform Association, which was held yesterday at Melrose, unanimously nominated Mr. S. Russell, the present member, for the Legislature.

One Killed, Seven Injured.

St. Louis, Dec. 19.—One person killed and seven injured yesterday by the fall of a passenger elevator in the department store of Schapar Bros. The drop was from the fourth floor to the basement.

BIG LOCOMOTIVE WORKS.

Will Be Largest in the World and Montreal Is Out After It.

Montreal, Dec. 19.—W. J. Arkell of New York arrived here yesterday, and announces that the largest locomotive works in the world will be established in Canada within two years.

B. F. Pearson of Halifax, N. S., one of the directors of the Dominion Iron & Steel Co., and of the Dominion Coal Co., stated in an interview yesterday that in his opinion Montreal was the best place at which to locate the new locomotive works.

"If this industry is started on Canadian soil," said Mr. Pearson, "it will certainly mean a great deal for this country. Kingston, as suggested, would be a good place for the location of the works, and I suppose it is likely they will ultimately go there, but to my mind, Montreal would be the best place in all Canada for the location of such an establishment."

Don't Waste Money.

If you have nerve troubles or dyspepsia take Merrill's System Tonic. It cures by purifying the blood and regulating the bowels. Then dyspepsia and nervous diseases disappear. This is the scientific and correct way of doing. Get a 50c. bottle of Merrill's System Tonic which last three weeks, at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

An Important Decision.

London, Dec. 19.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council yesterday gave an important decision in the Quebec case of Roy v. C.P.R., reversing the decisions of the courts of that Province, and holding that negligence must be shown before a railway company can be held responsible for damage caused by fire, caused by sparks from a locomotive. In this case, the courts of Quebec had erroneously held that the railway company was liable, even where they had done all they reasonably could to prevent the sparks.

What is Life to You?

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

Seventy Turks Banished.

London, Dec. 19.—Within ten days, says the Constantinople correspondent of The Times, seventy Turks have been denounced by spies as hostile to the present regime. All of them were arrested. They include Mahumed Bey, son of Ismail Kemal Bey. The Sultan has banished all seventy men to Hodaida, Arabia.

An Alleged Bigamist Escapes.

St. Catharines, Dec. 19.—Yesterday when the authorities went to Port Colborne jail to bring out Frederick Hine, a Dunnville man charged with bigamy, for trial, the jail was found to be empty. An adjournment was taken until he can be captured.

A Big Quarter's Worth

is always found in a bottle of Polson's Nerviline, the best household liniment known. It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, headache, sick-stomach, in fact is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for. Mothers find it the safest thing to rub on their children for sore throat, cold on the chest, sprains and bruises. Never be without Polson's Nerviline. It will cure the pains and aches of the entire family and relieve a vast amount of suffering every year.

Unconscious From Gas.

Galt, Ont., Dec. 19.—Thomas McGiverin, clerk of the Division Court, insurance and real estate agent, was found in his office in the Gore Block about 1 o'clock yesterday morning in an unconscious condition, caused by gas escaping from an opening cut in the pipe leading to the meter. Medical assistance was obtained and restoratives applied, which, after some hours, proved effective, and it is now thought the patient will recover.

The Cup That Cheers

Is there really anything so refreshing as a cup of tea! Of course, we don't blame some people who say there's not much refreshment about a cup of tea, because they're drinking something else that has had no acquaintance with the real tea leaf.

We sell tea—real tea—and if you want to know how refreshing it can be, make a cup from one of our fine varieties imported for the Christmas season.

THE ELECTION WRITS

The Vacancies Will Be Filled on January 15th Next.

OPPOSED BY CANADIAN PACIFIC

The Big Railway Corporation Does Not Regard the Proposition of the Vancouver, Victoria and Eastern Railway to Construct a Branch as a Part of a Canadian System—Hill's Interest.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—Writs were issued yesterday afternoon for a new election in each of the following constituencies: Ontario—Addington, West Durham, West Hastings, Kingston and West York. Quebec—Beauce, Laval, St. James' Division of Montreal, and L'Islet. Prince Edward Island—West Queen's. As announced yesterday, nominations will take place on January 8 and polling on January 15th. The following are the returning officers: Addington — Bernard Stewart O'Leaghlin; West Durham, Samuel J. Hall; West Hastings, George F. Hope; Kingston, James P. Gildersleeve; West York, Peter Ellis; Beauce, A. Fortier; Laval, Camille Paniquette; Montreal, Pierre M. Durand; L'Islet, Joseph Cleophas Leclerc; West Queen's, Walter B. Robertson, Sheriff.

Opposed by the C.P.R.

The C.P.R. is bent on defeating, if possible, the proposition of the Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern Railway to construct a branch line from its main line to Columbia and Grand Forks, which involves the crossing of the Grand Forks & Kettle Valley line. They regard the branch line not as part of a Canadian system, but as a loop which enables Canadian territory to be tapped by two railways belonging to the Hill system. C.P.R. officials say that Mr. Hill finds it difficult to build directly from Republic to Marcus, where he would be in touch with the Northport smelter. Accordingly the American railway magnate had devised a circuit, the north part of which is in Canadian territory, on the Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern Railway, between Carson and Cascade. This arrangement would enable the trains on the Hill system to run from Republic north to Carson, on the other side of the boundary line, thence east to Cascade. From Cascade the line would cross the boundary and reach Marcus, to the south, where the Spokane Falls & Western would give connection with Northport. The Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern Railway Company's application for approval of the proposed extension came before the Railway Committee yesterday morning. The C.P.R. did not then make objection on the grounds referred to above, but raised the question that the charter of the company applying for approval had lapsed owing to failure to commence work within the specified period of two years. On the strength of this objection the British Columbia courts had just issued an interim injunction against the Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern Railway Company until January 8th. In view of the injunction Mr. Moore, representing the Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern, asked for an adjournment, which was granted by the committee. The other counsel were Mr. W. J. Boland, of Toronto, for the Grand Forks & Kittle River Railway scheme, while Mr. A. R. Creelman represented the C.P.R. Hon. A. G. Blair was confined to his house through illness, and the committee consisted of Hon. D. Mills, Hon. J. I. Tarte and Hon. M. E. Bernier.

Christmas Another Day Nearer

BETTER CHOOSE THAN SCRAMBLE!

Some folks are born procrastinators. Neither advice nor entreaty proves availing. These "won't anticipate" and constitutional last-minuters, therefore must be content with pot-luck—depleted assortments. You are not in that category, are you? DELAREY FAGGED OUT

His Own Despatch Says His Finish is After January.

THE WAR OFFICE IS HOPEFUL

Polish Peasants Send Dewet a Pair of Waterproof Boots—Military Court Finds Mr. Schoeman Guilty—Advisor of Former President Kruger Says He Will Consider Peace Terms—War News.

London, Dec. 20.—The War Office has come into possession of a cipher telegram, purporting to have been sent from the Boer commandant, Delarey, stating that he could not hold out longer than January.

According to the correspondent of The Times at Pretoria yesterday morning, Delarey is believed to be 40 miles northwest of Klerksdorp, with about 400 men.

The War Office is taking a more hopeful view of the war than it has taken at any previous time.

BOOTS FOR DEWET.

Polish Peasants Sent Him a Pair of Waterproof Ones.

London, Dec. 20.—At a village wedding in Lithuania, the peasants bought a large pair of waterproof boots, which have been sent to General Dewet, with a letter enclosed in Polish, expressing the hope that they will be of use to him in his winter campaign against the English.

Mr. Schoeman, a member of the Cape House of Assembly, has been found guilty by the Military Court at Oudtshoorn of neglecting to bring in his horses, whereby they fell into the enemy's hands, and also of failing to report the presence of the enemy on his farm.

Boers Moderating Their Demands.

Amsterdam, Dec. 20.—The Boers are moderating in their demands. A prominent adviser of former President Kruger, when asked if Mr. Kruger would agree to meeting Lord Rosebery, according to the latter's suggestion in his Chesterfield speech, replied: "Yes, if he were amiably approached." Later, after a long consultation with Mr. Kruger and some of the local Boers, the adviser of the former President officially announced that Kruger was willing to discuss terms of peace.

Col. Evans in Halifax.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 20.— Col. Evans arrived here last evening and in the morning he will complete the work of organization of the contingent which has been going on under Major Merritt.

FIREMAN T. SMITH KILLED.

Fatal Collision of a Hose Wagon and Street Car in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Dec. 20.—While the firemen were on their way to a fire at Kerr & Coombs' moulding shop shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning, the Bay street hose wagon and a street car collided at the intersection of King and Bay streets, with the following sad result:

Theodore Smith, fireman, 20 Stanley avenue, killed.

Robert Cameron, fireman, 109 Queen street south, seriously injured; Robert Wilson, fireman, 224 Canada street, seriously injured; Robert Aitchison, fireman, 52 George street, slightly injured; John Quigley, motorman, 103 Locke street north, slightly injured.

An inquest was opened and after the body had been viewed, the jury adjourned to meet on Monday evening.

THE MARKET GARDENERS.

Suggest Certain Changes in Their Tariff—Consideration Is Promised.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—Representatives of the Market Gardeners' Association of Ontario and several Montreal men interested in its object waited upon Minister of Finance Fielding yesterday afternoon and urged the necessity for better protection of their industry. They represented that poor prices for garden produce had been the rule for years, owing, chiefly, to unfair competition from the United States. This, they represented, might be lessened by higher duties, so that the burden, if any, would fall upon a class that could well afford to bear it.

They suggested the following changes in the Canadian tariff, which would equalize it with the duties levied in the United States: Asparagus, 3 cents per lb.; cabbage, 3 cents per head; cauliflower, 3 cents per head; vegetables, salted in pickling, 1 cent per lb.; celery, 25 cents per dozen; beans, green, 50 cents per bushel; cucumbers, green, 20 cents per dozen, and onions, 40 cents per bushel of 56 lbs., all of which are now dutiable at 25 per cent.; potatoes, 25 cents per bushel, now 15 cents; tomatoes, 5 cents per lb., now 20 cents per bushel, and 10 per cent.; melons (water), 5 cents each; melons (musk), 3 cents each; spinach, 25 cents per bushel; vegetables, not otherwise enumerated, and green corn, 25 per cent.

The delegates, who spoke in favor of these changes, were J. D. Evans of Islington, president of the association; J. Westwood of Todmorden, vice-president; D. Harris, treasurer; F. F. Reeves, secretary, and George Syme of Humber Bay.

The Minister informed the deputation that their application would receive careful consideration.

BLAST FURNACE BLEW UP.

Ten Men on the Top Structure Met Horrible Deaths.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 20.—By an explosion of gas in the Soho Furnace of Jones & Laughlin yesterday morning ten men were burned to death, and probably twenty others more or less injured. The damage to the plant will amount to $20,000. The explosion occurred in one of the big blast furnaces. The men were at work at the top of the furnace, over one hundred feet from the ground. They were employed as fillers, and were just getting ready to quit work, being members of the night crew, when the gas, which accumulated in the furnace, exploded, and tons of molten metal, cinders and slag were thrown over the unfortunate men on the top of the structure. When the gas let go, a panic existed on the small platform about the top. All the men made a run for the elevator, but it had gone down, and there was no escape. To jump meant death, and to remain on the platform was just as certain doom. The tons of molten metal and flames fell upon them and burned ten men to death. Their bodies dropped to the roof, eighty-five feet below, every bone being broken, and an unrecognizable mass of flesh.

Eight Drowned.

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 20.—The steamer Karawha Bell, which runs between Charleston and Montgomery, went over Lock No. 3, at Pant Creek, on her down trip last night, broke in two, and is a total wreck. Eight of the crew, all deckhands and roustabouts, were drowned.

Premature Explosion.

Winnipeg, Dec. 20.—By a premature explosion of dynamite in the shaft of Gold Moose Mine, Dryden, Peter Peterson was badly injured. He may recover. He went in thinking three charges had gone off, but by mistake there had only been two.

TWO KILLED, SEVERAL HURT.

Collision at San Ardo, California, Causes a Loss of $40,000.

San Ardo, Cal., Dec. 20.—Southern Pacific train No. 9, bound for San Francisco, and No. 10, southbound, collided yesterday about 1.30 o'clock in the morning, smashing both engines, two baggage cars and one mail car into kindling wood. The cars took fire immediately and were entirely destroyed. Some mail and express packages were burned. The killed:

Fireman William Garland, San Francisco, jumped and was caught under the engine.

Assistant express messenger, name unknown.

Four Italians, two brakemen, a fireman and Engineer Jack Coffey were injured. Several passengers were slightly injured in the chair and smoking cars. The loss to the railroad company is said to be about $40,000.

Opened the Mail Bag.

Waterford, Dec. 20.—N. Jackson, aged 18, who carries the mail for Contractor Leonard Dean, between Waterford, Hartford, Boston, Bealton and Wilsonville, was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary on Wednesday for opening a mail bag between Waterford and Hartford, and extracting registered letters containing money. When Jackson was accused he made a full confession, and returned nearly all the money.

Both Were Seriously Injured.

Winnipeg, Dec. 20.—It turns out both Dr. Gunne and Brakeman Douglas sustained serious injuries in the rear-end collision near Rat Portage on Tuesday.

Fireman Ferris was badly scalded and burned last night near Beausejour. While he was stoking a steam pipe with 220 pounds of pressure burst into the fire-box, blowing the steam and hot coals back on to Ferris. He will recover.

Deadly Frost.

New Decatur, Ala., Dec. 20. — A stranger was found frozen to death on a straw stack near here yesterday. A card in his pocket bore the name "John P. Richmond, Cincinnati, Ohio."

Camden, W. Va., Dec. 20.— Walter Prove, a farmer, was found by the roadside near here yesterday frozen to death.

A Burglar's Confession.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—James Martin, who was yesterday sentenced to eight years in Kingston Penitentiary for burglary, has confessed that he was implicated in a big robbery in Paris, France, last summer, and he has told where a large amount of the booty is hidden. The information was given to a Pinkerton detective.

Child Burned to Death.

Rapid City, Man., Dec. 20.—As a result of a burning accident Wednesday night, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. McKinnon, died yesterday morning.

Your Throat.

Gargles can't go back far enough; sprays don't reach deep enough; but the air you breathe touches every part. Then why not put some healing medicine in the air and let them go along together? That is what Vapo-Cresolene is for. It puts the healing medicine right on the places that most need it. You now see why it so quickly cures sore throat, bronchitis, hoarseness, whooping-cough and asthma.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. SIR WILFRID ON CANADIAN TRADE

In Relation to the Empire and the United States.

CANADA CAN HOLD HER OWN.

Her Future an a Breadstuffs Producer.

No More Reciprocity Offers—Influence of the British Preference—Wisest Policy Ever Adopted in Canada.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of Canada, in his address at the reception in Toronto, spoke as he always speaks, eloquently and as a patriotic Canadian and staunch imperialist. His remarks upon the trade relations of Canada to Great Britain, the Empire, and the United States, though perhaps not entirely new, were something that is pleasant hearing and reading and consequently the following extracts are presented: After referring to Mr. Mulock's visit to Australia and the opening of negotiations with that Commonwealth with a view of increasing Canadian trade therewith, Sir Wilfrid said:

This policy is only in keeping with the policy which the Government of Canada has been trying to pursue since they have been in office. The policy we have undertaken since we came into office has been mostly to find markets for the products of Canada. Canada is a young giant. We feel we are growing, we feel we have a great future. We are producing more than we can consume, and must find markets. The policy we have introduced is already having its fruits. You hear every day that the nations of Europe are rebelling against the commercial tyranny of the United States. There is a great deal of truth in that, but let me say that the policy we are following will eventually place us in a position of advantage against the United States in our dealings with the nations of Europe. Our policy is a policy of revenue tariff. Their policy is to sell and not to buy. Our policy is to sell and to buy. Already you can see the results in the outside trade of the two countries. If you look at the trade of England to-day it shows that the trade per head is $97 in that great commercial nation, the mother of all commercial nations. You hear sometimes the enemies of England telling how she is going down; she is not keeping up with the other competing nations like Germany and the United States. England can afford to discount all these prophets of evil. England is to-day the great commercial nation as she was fifty or sixty years ago. Her trade is $97 per head of her population. The trade of the United States is, how much?—only $30 per head of her population. (Loud cheers.)

CANADA'S GOOD START.

And I may ask you the question, what is the trade of Canada to-day per head? Of course if you compare the bulk of the trade of the United States with the bulk of the trade of Canada the comparison will not stand. But the trade of a population of 5,000,000 cannot compare with the trade of a population of 75,000,000. However, if we take it man for man per head of the population, the trade of the United States is $30 per head and the trade of Canada is $70 per head. (Applause.) Of couse in this, I do not speak of the internal trade. I speak only of the external trade; that is, the importation and exportation. The internal trade is a very great figure in the United States. But, sir, no nation to-day can live within its own self. An oyster can live within its own shell, but a nation cannot do it. And even the United States to-day find that they must extend their market of trade. So long as the United States keep their pure revenue tariff, so long as they want to sell to other nations, but will not buy from other nations, and the other nations will have to pay them in gold—I say that the time cannot be very far distant when we shall meet American competition abroad and drive it away from the field. (Cheers.) How may this be done? The American nation will take nothing for what they sell but gold. If we can sell to the nations of Europe whatever they get from the United States and if we are willing to take, not gold, but exchanges, our products every time will and take their positions. (Cheers.) This is as true as the laws of nature. This is as true as the coming and going of the seasons. This is as true as the rising and setting of the sun. It stands to reason. To-day we can produce almost everything—not in the same quantity to be sure—that is produced by the American people. Already we are following very closely in their tracks in wheat production. The Americans to-day are still the great wheat-producers of the world, but the time is not very far distant, fifteen years at the utmost, perhaps ten years will see the day, when Canada shall take the front rank as the wheat-producing nation of the world. (Cheers.) To-day the Americans are the great iron and steel producers of the world—I think that they are taking the place of England in that respect—but the day is not far distant when the works at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, and of Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, will rival Pittsburg, and perhaps out-rival that place. Whatever can be produced in the United States can be produced in Canada. We can produce wheat, butter, cheese, iron implements—everything that they produce, we can produce—and if we are willing to trade with the nations of Europe upon the broad principles of exchange, buying and selling, I have no doubt as to the future of Canada's trade. (Loud cheers.) We have all this in view in the new policy which we are venturing to propose of the Canadian people.

DISPLACE THE AMERICAN PRODUCTS.

RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES.

Some time ago, speaking in the City of Montreal, I said, referring to the efforts we have made to obtain reciprocity from the Americans, that we would no longer send trade delegations to Washington. (Cheers and applause.) When I said that it was not because I had modified my views in any way. My views as to what should be the relations between Canada and the United States are well known. I love Canada; I love it in preference to any other land. (Applause.) But I do not pretend, I do not suppose, that to love one's own country means that we should hate another. I love Canada the best, but I have no hesitation in saying that I have great affection for our neighbours to the south. They are a great people, I have always admired them and I wish them every blessing. We have, also—and why should we not?—every blessing on earth. We have endeavoured to have the closest possible relations with them, but they would not receive our advances, and I do not care to make any more. (Loud and long-continued applause.) I have not, I repeat, changed my views as to the importance of the American market for a number of Canadian products. The American market is shut to many of our products for which it would be the most natural. But, while I say without hesitation that it may be true that the American market is the best and most natural for many of our products, still we can do without it. (Long-continued applause.) We can live without it; we can prosper without it, and we have prospered without it. (Renewed applause.) In 1891, when the McKinley tariff was established, it with the United States. The growers of the Dominion had found the barley trade a profitable one, and they were surprised when the tariff was adopted. They were equal to the occasion, however, and turned their attention to dairying, the making of butter and cheese. They have found as much prosperity in the cheese market as they formerly found in the barley trade with the United States. (Applause.) At the same time that the barley trade was cut off by the McKinley tariff the trade in eggs and poultry was cut off, too. But with the improvements in transportation and with the cold-storage system good markets have been found also for these. On the banks of the Richelieu, the St. Lawerence and Lake St. Peter there are large tracts of natural meadow which have been producing hay for over one hundred years. This was a drug at one time on the market. It has been truly said, however, that necessity is the mother of invention, and when the South African war broke out there was a demand for that hay, baled in a certain form. We found that way, and now we are shipping that hay not only to South Africa but to England as well. (Applause.) We can do without the American market, therefore, all along the line. (Renewed applause.) We can do without anything there which we at one time thought indispensable to our prosperity. (Continued applause.)

CUT OFF OUR BARLEY TRADE

Now, gentlemen, there is another thing I wish to take notice of, and that is our preference with Great Britain. Our preference with Great Britain is, perhaps, the wisest policy ever adopted in this country. If you want to know how wise it is, consult the conduct of the Conservative party in regard to it. They bark, they show their teeth, but they dare not bite. (Laughter and applause.) We challenge them to bring in a straight resolution in condemnation of it. We brought that policy forward for several purposes. One purpose was that we wanted it in order to obtain the denunciation of the Belgian and German treaties. We had opened negotiations for the denunciation of those treaties, but England would not do it. We gave her the option of choosing between Germany and Belgium, and ourselves, with what result you know. (Applause.) The second justification of our policy of a preference to Great Britain is in the fact that it has proved the best measure of tariff reform to the consumers of Canada. (Applause.)

TARIFF QUESTIONS.

We had to proceed very carefully, as you know. Under the system of protection, industries had been brought in which we could not entirely deprive at once of their protection, without, perhaps, endangering them, but by giving a preference to Great Britain we established a system by which we gave relief to the consumers and did not injure the industries. This preference gave us a preference in the British market, which was wide open; they had the wide open door, it is true, but open as it was we threw the door more and more wide open, and the result of that preference is that we have never had such a trade with Great Britain as we have had during the last four years. (Cheers.) There is the justification of our policy. In the face of that we are told, you must change your policy and give us another tariff. For my part, I am not prepared to change that which is all right at this moment. (Cheers.) I do not say the tariff is there forever. The tariff must move with the times, as everything else must move. For my part I am not disposed to follow the example of other nations in reference to tariff policy, to treat them as they treat us, to give them a Roland for an Oliver. Sir, Canada is not going to put herself at the beck of any nation; we are not to be imitators; we are pioneers in civilization. (Loud cheers.) Other nations can paddle their own canoes as they want; we shall paddle ours according to what we believe is in the best interests of Canada. We shall derive our inspiration from "Canada for the Canadians." That is the motto which we have put on the flag, and the motto by which we stand. (Cheers.) We are a nation within the British Empire. Australia is another nation within the British Empire, and within the circle of that great empire we think we can find all the prosperity we can desire for this generation, and for the generation to come.

The conclusion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech was the signal for a great demonstration, the audience cheering again and again.

THE FEAR OF HUMBUG

Prevents Many People From Trying a Good Medicine.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation to reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, although they are sold by all druggists under protection of trademark, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

Trains Will Run Dec. 25.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—George T. Marks of Port Arthur, who is at the Queen's, said he fully expected to see trains running on the Canadian Northern Railway between Winnipeg and Port Arthur by the 25th of this month, the road being completed to the latter place by that date. The last boat of the season left Port Arthur on the 15th.

FRUIT MEN ELECT OFFICERS.

Annual Meeting of Niagara District Association at St. Catharines.

St. Catharines, Dec. 20.—The annual meeting of the United Fruit Growers' Association of the Niagara Peninsula opened here yesterday. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, William Hendershott, Thorold; 1st vice-president, D. J. McKinnon; 2nd vice-president, Mr. Honsberger; 3rd vice-president, F. G. Stewart; 4th vice-president, James Dunlop; secretary-treasurer, Carl E. Fischer; Executive Committee, Albert Pay, William F. Armstrong, James Carnohan, R. Thompson, A. Haynes, W. H. Bunting, S. H. Rittenhouse, Thomas Berriman, C. W. Vanderburg, A. Railton, C. W. Vanduzer, F. A. Goring, M. Pettit, W. H. Gainer, W. A. Hutt, Geo. X. Walker, W. C. McCalla, William Freel, G. A. Robertson, S. M. Culp.

The San Jose scale question came up for discussion, and was spoken to by Messrs. D. J. McKinnon, W. A. Thompson, W. H. Bunting, E. Morden and others.

A committee of Messrs. W. C. McCalla, W. H. Bunting, William Freel, F. G. Stewart and James Titterington were appointed to report on the question at the next meeting.

At the afternoon session several subjects were brought up for discussion, and, among others, the grading of fruit. It was the opinion of many that apples should be graded, packed in boxes and marked by the growers themselves. In reference to dishonest packing, instances were given where the wholesale and commission men had been responsible for much of the dishonest grading, and had even gone so far as to mix high and low grade fruits.

W. H. Bunting, the Fruit Commissioner to the Pan-American, gave an address on the results of the Dominion exhibit there. He found much ignorance, even among the best classes who visited the Fair, on Canada and her products, and considered the splendid horticultural exhibits had been a great advertisement. Only three exhibits in the Horticultural Building had been awarded medals. Two went to California and one to Ontario.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Bunting by the association for the magnificent results of the Canadian exhibits in horticulture at the Exposition.

Amputated His Leg.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—Lieut.-Col. V. B. Ribers, R.C.A., intelligence staff officer at headquarters, had his leg amputated yesterday at the Protestant Hospital. The operation was performed by Drs. Cook and Webster, and the patient is doing well. Lieut.-Col. Ribers had suffered greatly from an incurable affection of the knee.

Murder Trial Begun.

Rat Portage, Ont., Dec. 20.—The assizes opened here yesterday afternoon before Judge Britton. A. C. Boyce, on behalf of the bar of the district, congratulated His Lordship upon his elevation. William Watson was placed on trial on the charge of murdering John McRae at Dinorwic, on Feb. 16 of this year.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Winnipeg Women Aroused.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 19.—The Equal Suffrage Club last night took exception to the remarks made by Crown Attorney Curry of Toronto, regarding women. The women think that staying at home and attending to their babies, and not meddling with public affairs, as advised by Mr. Curry, is not consistent with the principles of democracy. A resolution of protest was passed, and will be forwarded to Mr. Curry. His censure was severely criticised.

Rescued Crew in Distress.

New York, Dec. 19.—The Panama Railway Steamship Company steamer Advance, which arrived yesterday morning from Colon, rescued and brought to port the captain and crew of the three-masted schooner Edward W. Young of Boston, Captain Blake, from Georgetown, S. C., Dec. 13, for New York, lumber laden, which they were obliged to abandon at sea. The crew of the wrecked vessel numbered seven seamen and they were taken from their waterlogged vessel at 7 o'clock in the morning.

Nearly All Rescued.

Paris, Dec. 19.—Additional despatches received here from Marseilles announce that 46 of the members of the crew of 52 men belonging to the French steamer Kleber, ashore east of the mouth of the River Rhone, have been rescued through the use of life boats. The captain and the other officers of the Kleber have refused to leave the vessel.

To Shut Out American Meat.

Bremen, Dec. 19.—The Weser Zeitung says that the discontinuance of microscopical meat inspections in the United States, as has been reported, simply means that Germany's imports of American pork will cease on Jan. 1, 1902.

DESTROYING A MYTH

Mr. William Robins at the Manufacturers' Dinner.

PROTEST FROM HON. J. D. ROLLAND

The Walkerville Man's Speech on Imperialism Caused Him to Refer to the "French-Canadian" Race Question in This Country—What He and Mr. Rolland Said.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—A genuine sensation was created at the monthly meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in the Temple this last night. Mr. William Robins, during the course of his address, said:

"Now, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen," he went on, "in my judgment the time has come when, if we hope to be a nation and safeguard ourselves against those things that sometimes happen when least expected, we ought to do something to destroy the mythical idea a French-Canadian. I would not be a party to take from Ernest Lapointe one shred of what was given them under the constitution, but I would assess with them as to the weakness arising from one class of the people being called differently to another. I would deny to no man the right of his national origin, least of all the gallant sons of the foremost nation the world has ever seen, but as long as people who are citizens in every sense cling to the myth French-Canadian, there is a danger to the prosperity of this country. There is a paper saying the tri-color is their flag. God forbid that I should say a word against that flag, but no subject can have two flags any more than a man can have two fathers. [Applause.] It is within the range of possibility that Britain could go to war with the country flying that flag, and would French-Canadians then say that it was their flag? I fear we are careless and loose about flags. A flag is an important thing. A national flag means what? It means that in any part of God's earth you can claim protection under it. Will what follows that? That you should die for it if needs be. [Applause.] Therefore, as a lover of Canada, and alarmed from certain conditions which might arise, I say the time has come when we should ask our citizens of French descent to——"

At this juncture Hon. Mr. Rolland, paper manufacturer of Montreal, arose, and, in a voice that could be heard distinctly by all, said: "I protest against this. It is a delicate question, and I never thought it would be brought before this assembly, and I will leave."

The protest created a big-sized sensation.

The chairman, with a view of pacifying matters, said he hoped Mr. Rolland accepted the suggestion in the friendly spirit in which it was given. He was sure Mr. Robins would apply the statement to the Irish, Scotch or English.

Mr. Rolland: If I had time I would answer him, but I have to leave anyway to catch my train. I tell you the first tri-color flag we saw in Montreal was brought there by a British soldier after going thru the Boxer raid. Since that time I have always seen it mingle side by side with the Union Jack. We were always delighted to see them fly together, and I say so long as England treats us as well as she is we will be true and loyal to her, and in the words of R. P. Tache, "when England is attacked the last gun will be fired by a French-Canadian." [Prolonged enthusiastic applause.]

Mr. Rolland then left the hall, and Mr. Robins resumed, denouncing Mr. Goldwin Smith as a nuisance to this country.

On motion of Mr. Frederick Nichol, seconded by Mr. W. K. Geary, a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Robins for his address.

U.S. CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

Nicaragua Bill Will Be Taken Up on January 7.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Representative Hepburn of Iowa, chairman of the House Committee on Commerce, yesterday made the report of the committee in favor of the Nicaragua Canal Bill.

The House agreed to consider the Nicaragua Canal Bill on Tuesday, Jan. 7.

Senator Hanna yesterday introduced a bill granting a pension of $5,000 a year to Mrs. McKinley, widow of the late President.

A bill was introduced in the Senate by Mr. Penrose reviving the grade of vice-admiral of the navy, and promoting Admirals Sampson and Schley and Captain Clark to that rank.

Congress adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday, Jan. 6.

How They Would Balk Prohibition.

Winnipeg, Dec. 20.—At a meeting of prominent hotel men, held in the city recently, the prohibition question and its effects on their business was discussed. A suggestion was made that the moment the prohibition law was enforced the hotelkeepers should close up their hotels tight and refuse accommodation to any person, travelers and boarders included, and this was favorably received.

THE ONLY ONE.

The man who says that all patent medicines are worthless is a fool. For Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure has no equal. W. C. Switzer, Harrowsmith, O., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for ten years. He tried every known remedy recommended for the cure of rheumatism without obtaining relief. Six bottles of Dr. Hall's completely cured him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Reform Movement in London.

London, Dec. 19.—The Duke of Norfolk, at the head of a deputation representing the Westminster Council, yesterday called on the Right. Hon. C. T. Ritchie, the Secretary of State for Home affairs, in order to urge him to do something to check the evil condition of some of the principal London streets at night.

Died at 106.

Watertown, N. Y., Dec. 19.— Mrs. Virginia Young, the oldest person in Northern New York, is dead at Redwood, Jefferson County, aged 106. She was grandmother of "Tommy" Ryan, the well-known pugilist.

Josh Billings Said of Niagara Falls that the reason why people liked it was "Cawse nobody kin make wun jest like it." For the same reason people like Four T's, the great guaranteed cough cure. It is the only lung remedy made that cures coughs and colds in two days with perfect safety. Children like it and it cures croupy coughs. Sold in 25c. bottles by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

Don't Waste Money.

If you have nerve troubles or dyspepsia take Merrill's System Tonic. It cures by purifying the blood and regulating the bowels. Then dyspepsia and nervous diseases disappear. This is the scientific and correct way of doing. Get a 50c. bottle of Merrill's System Tonic which last three weeks, at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Annexation Proposal Opposed.

Indian Head, N.W.T., Dec. 20.—The mass meeting for the discussion of the proposed extension of Manitoba's western boundary, held here, was largely attended. The sense of the meeting at the conclusion of the debate was plainly with Premier Haultain and against annexation to Manitoba.

Mr. Jas. A. Ross Chosen.

Welland, Ont., Dec. 20.—At a Conservative convention for the County of Monck, held here yesterday, Mr. James A. Ross of Wellandport was given the unanimous nomination as the standard-bearer of the Conservative party for the coming Provincial elections.

NEXT MOVE, THE COURTS.

Information Laid Against Manager of Walcott-Ferns Fight.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 20.— Chief Griffin of the Ontario Police Force at Fort Erie, came here yesterday and laid information before Magistrate Logan of this town against J. Hermann of Buffalo, for being present and promoting a prize fight between Joe Walcott and James Ferns at the village of Fort Erie Wednesday evening. The officer returned home yesterday afternoon. The document will be served on Hermann at the first opportunity, and the next move will be the courts, where the Crown will attempt to prove that the alleged boxing bouts that have been conducted at the Fort Erie arena, known as the International Athletic Club, are prize fights, and contrary to the laws of the province, and, if adjudged as such, the charter of the International Athletic Club will be cancelled.

Extreme Case of Nervousness.

Female Weakness and Exhaustion—Had a Very Painful Operation—Was Pale and Weak and Fainted Often—Doctors Failed to Help Her.

There is scarcely a limit to the sufferings which women endure when their nervous system become run down and give way beneath the burdens which they are forced to bear. There are ills peculiar to women, which in nine cases out of ten are the result of a low state of vitality and a depletion of nerve force. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures women of their ills, irregularities and weaknesses by thoroughly restoring the vigour of the nerves.

Every woman will read with interest the following letter from a lady who has been cured of a serious illness by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She says the testimonials she reads are not half strong enough.

Mrs. Benjamin Hatfield, Hillyard street, St. Johns, N.B., writes: "For three years I was a sufferer from extreme nervousness and female weakness and found it necessary to undergo a very painful operation. I was pale and weak, had no appetite and would sometimes faint two or three times a day. For seven weeks I was under the doctor's care but he seemed unable to help me. Despairing of recovery, I took the advice of a friend, who told me that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food would build me up and make me strong and well again. After four months' use of this preparation I found myself greatly improved, but continued the treatment for one year, using in all sixteen boxes. I have been blessed with a young daughter now, and believe that I am as strong and well as ever in my life. As a result I cannot say too much in favour of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has performed a complete and thorough cure in my case, and I am healthier and fleshier than I have been for years. The testimonials I see are not half strong enough. I tell my friends and neighbours about it, and many of them join me in pronouncing Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most effective restorative obtainable. Desiring that other sufferers may benefit by my happy experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I willingly give you permission to use this testimonial."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is an up-to-date, scientific preparation of most extraordinary merit. It has proven itself the most effective nerve restorative of the age. It is certain to benefit everyone who uses it, because it forms new red corpuscles in the blood and creates new nerve force. It is especially efficacious in the cures of female ills and weaknesses; 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

"A handsome and useful Christmas present for your mother or grandmother is a copy of Dr. Chase's last and complete Receipt Book. Illustrated Soldier free."

Look the Other Way.

There are many thousand fathers who are terrorizing their little sons by seeing too much. Let all such learn to look the other way at times. Don't see everything your boy does. Give him some latitude and longitude. Don't keep the little fellow in a shiver of apprehension lest you find out some peccadillo. He must have his fun or die. If you see too much, he grows thin. Look the other way.—New York Press.

Crowds Buying Watches AND JEWELRY AT

Sanderson's

The rush has set in earnestly. The Holiday season at Sanderson's is now in full swing. This is a Christmas store in the most literal sense. Show cases gleam and glitter with many holiday allurements—Jewelry Trays sparkle with fine Gems—Sterling Silver Novelties—Quadruple-Plated Silverware—Toilet Articles—Clocks—and thousands of other things to brighten and gladden the time of gift giving. Sanderson's is popular the rest of the year, but at Christmas time it fairly surpasses itself. It has the people's confidence and keeps it.

Standard Watches.

Our pride is greater than ever in our Watch stock. As lives depend on accuracy, we give care to every Watch we sell. Only Standard Works go in our Watches. Nothing so intensely personal as the gift of a Watch or tasteful Jewelry. Prices are unquestionably the lowest that we ever quoted. Wish we could get the same prices as the City Jewelers.

Call and inspect our stock. Be early.

Cage Split His Head Open.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 20.—A terrible accident occurred at Dominion No. 1 colliery in Sydney yesterday. Daniel McPherson, a coal miner, was standing at the bottom of the shaft when a rapidly descending cage struck him and split his head open, causing instant death. He leaves a widow and four children.

John McDougall, one of the Steel Company's brakemen, was probably fatally scalded yesterday by a pot of boiling metal which tipped over him at the blast furnaces at Sydney.

The picture is especially arranged by the well-known and accomplished artist, Leon Moran, and is emblematic of the high character of "Queen Quality" shoes. A feature about the picture is that no advertisement appears on the front, but merely a note on the back of it states that it is with the compliments of Mr. J. T. Stinson.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

HOCKEY.

It's hard to understand why the Toronto papers do not demand an investigation into the action of the O.H.A. scrutineers who conducted the count in the recent elections in such a manner that incorrect results were announced. Surely the big city dailies are not trying to shield the O.H.A., and even if that is the case, such measures will be found ineffective, as the hockey public, accustomed to clean sport, will not stand any behind-the-scenes business. The O. H. A.'s escutcheon will be besmirched, unless it clears its skirts of the men who are at the bottom of the deal.

The London News says: — "The Toronto Telegram has been boasting of how well the O.H.A. is run, and has been calling upon other organizations to take a lesson from it. From the result of the recount yesterday one would think it is a very slovenly conducted organization, or else some one meddled with the ballots intentionally. Anyway, people up London way were of the opinion for a long time that it was not all gold that glittered and it begins to appear as though there were a heap of brass in the O.H.A. make-up. If a large-sized kick were to be registered against most of the doings of the Toronto people not many of their doings would stand the test. It is a terrible thing that such a terrible state of affairs should exist in that "holier than thou" organization the O.H.A."

ST. JOSEPH'S ANNUAL BAZAAR

Is at Present in Progress in the Opera House

And is Passing off Very Successfully—Many Interesting Sights to be Seen—The Various Booths.

The bazaar which is now in progress in the opera house under the auspices of the Sisters of St. Joseph and for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital, is proving a great success and is being patronized by a great many townspeople of every denomination. The interior of the opera house presents a decidedly attractive appearance just now with its Japanese tea table, its well stacked candy stall, its Gypsy camp and many other departments which are now in full swing. The committees in charge of their respective tables vie with each other in their endeavour to present the most attractive looking establishment, with the result that some exceedingly pretty stalls are in evidence. Last night the feature of the affair was the gypsy camp, which did an enormous business and many young men and women went away much wiser people by reason of the knowledge that is imparted to them by the fair young damsels for the small sum of ten cents.

But there are truly many interesting sights to see at the bazaar, and, what is more, there are many costly and valuable articles for one to purchase. Amongst these is a very handsome painting of Niagara Falls, by Miss Annie Simons. This is placed in the drawing contest and for a small sum somebody is going to get a pretty good thing. Miss Maggie O'Brien has placed at the disposal of the purchasing public a doll that is being much admired and which is being drawn for this afternoon.

There are many other such articles that are being warmly admired and are being eagerly purchased. There has been great taste and tact, indeed, displayed in the decoration and arrangement of every table and it would be rather difficult to particularize them in any way. Those in charge of the various tables are:

Prize table— Mrs. Merrill, Mrs. John Tromley, Miss Dillon and Miss Welsh.

Fancy table—Mrs. L. M. Hayes, Mrs. Vinette, Miss O'Donnell and Miss Dainard.

Clothing—Mrs. Peter Simons, Jr., Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. (Dr.) Moher and Miss Casey.

Hat band table—Miss Harkin, Miss Overend and Miss Scott.

Gypsy camp—Misses Kelly, Miss Hattie Cahill, Miss Legrandeur, Miss Brown.

Religious articles—Miss Haggarty, Miss Maggie Lynch.

Japanese tea table—Miss Gertie McFadden, Miss Coughlin.

Lottery table—Mrs. John Maloney, Miss James Dolan, Miss M. Kelly and Miss Galvin.

Dolls' Millenery—Miss Hilda Kelly, Miss Fannie Bogue.

Doll table—Mrs. H. LeBrun, Mrs. Shannon, Miss Sadie Dolan and Miss Dot Hackett.

Telegraph and stationary — Miss Fannie Holmes and Miss L. O'Brien.

Fish pond—Miss Annie Simons and Mrs. O'Brien.

Bower of sweets—Mrs. O'Sullivan, Mrs. M. L. Henry, Mrs. Gough and Miss L. Sullivan.

THE DINING ROOM.

The dining room is one of the best patronized departments in connection with the bazaar. It is situated in the dining room to the east of the main hall and is very handsomely decorated, and the tables are decked out in a becoming manner. Meals are being served at all hours and a noticeable feature in this connection is the number of business men that have taken advantage of running up for their meals to-day. The dining room is under the management of Mrs. John Simons and Mrs. Martin McFadden. The tables are in charge of the following ladies:

No. 1 — Mrs. George Ball and Mrs. M. McFadden.

No. 2—Mrs. Dwyer, Mrs. Macnamara and Mrs. Coughlin.

No. 3—Miss Welsh, Miss Madge Kelly.

No. 4—Mrs. Crowley, Miss Crowley, Miss Clunan.

No. 5—Miss Smith and Miss Dillon.

Others assisting are Mrs. Halpin, Mrs. Cronin, Mrs. O'Brien and Miss Welsh.

The success of the bazaar is in a large measure due to the untiring energy of Mrs. Dunn, who has laboured indefatigably in behalf of the affair. Mrs. Dunn has to a great extent superintended everything and is receiving much merited praise.

Another feature in connection with the bazaar is the smoking room that is fitted out. It is in conjunction with the Bower of Sweets.

Carise LeBrun Heard From.

The friends of Mr. Carise LeBrun, who formerly conducted the "Palace" Restaurant, will be pleased to learn from a private letter received in town that he is doing well in New York. He is filling the important position of city representative for the extensive firm of Heints & Co., the manufacturers of Heints's celebrated pickles and other goods of an allied nature. Carise writes that this world-known firm, who have four hundred and fifty travellers scattered all over the earth, are arranging for a great convention of all their representatives to be held in the city of Pittsburg on the 2nd of January. The object of this convention is to give their travellers a practical insight into all the details connected with the manufacture of their goods so that in whatever part of the world they are, they may be able to speak from a personal knowledge of the manufacture, packing and shipping of Heints's goods. Mr. LeBrun will be the New York city delegate to this convention, which is to last for ten days. A special train is to be provided to carry the New York contingent, and the whole expenses during the convention will be met by Heints & Co. How is this for pickles?

BENJ. ELLIOTT KILLED

While Employed in a Mine in New York State—Formerly of Peterborough.

Chief Roasel yesterday evening received the following telegram from Spragueville, N. Y.:

Spragueville, N. Y., Dec. 19th.
Chief of Police, Peterborough:

Man by name of Benj. Elliott, working in these mines was killed today. Please advise me at once by wire if his people live in your town, that I may forward the body. I await instructions before forwarding or having buried here.

C. S. WESTBROOK, Manager.

Chief Roasel soon located the relatives of the deceased here. They are Mr. Arthur Elliott, a moulder, who works in the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co's establishment, who lives at No. 587 Bethune street, and who is a brother of the dead man. There are also two sisters of the deceased living in Peterborough.

Young Elliott is about 25 years of age and was a son of the late Benj. Elliott, of town. He left here about a year and a half ago and his brother and sisters have not heard from him in some time. They did not know where he had been residing of late.

Chief Roasel in accordance with the desire of deceased's brother and sisters, wired to have the remains sent to Peterborough.

This morning Chief Roasel received a reply from the manager of the mines stating that the body would be shipped to-day ready for interment, express charges being all prepaid. Also that money was being forwarded to cover the expenses of interment of the remains.

MR. SMITH REMEMBERED

By His Scholars Yesterday Afternoon—A Presentation.

Yesterday afternoon at the close of the school, the pupils of Mr. Wm. Smith took occasion to present him with an expression of their kindly good feelings, in the form of an address and a book of poems. The address was read by Miss M. Stone and the presentation was made by Master C. Arnott. The address was as follows:

To Mr. W. Smith, Principal Central School;

Dear Mr. Smith,—We, the pupils of your class, feel that we cannot separate for the Christmas holidays without expressing our appreciation of your untiring labours in our behalf. As teacher, counsellor or friend we never appeal to you in vain. The willing help in our studies, the valuable advice in perplexity, and kindly sympathy, have not passed unnoticed by us. We know at times our seeming indifference has caused you anxiety, but we trust that you will attribute these imperfections to the thoughtlessness of youth and not to any intentional wrong on our part. The band of union is not yet broken between us as teacher and pupils, and upon our return in January, 1902, to resume our studies under your faithful guidance, we will endeavour to prove our appreciation by earnest application to our work.

As a slight token of our affection and esteem we would ask your acceptance of this "Book of Poems," hoping you will enjoy the perusal in your spare moments.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

Mr. Smith was taken by surprise, but was not overcome to such an extent to prevent his making a suitable reply, in which he expressed his appreciation of the kindness of his pupils.

MAGNETIC OFFERS IN CHRISTMAS FOOTWEAR.

Holiday Presents That Will Ensure the Appreciation of all.

A pretty pair of slippers is something every lady likes — displaying the foot to advantage, and at the same time comfortable and Christmas-like. Time is Nearly up.

This is the week of weeks! Preeminently and emphatically the holiday shoppers' week. The enthusiasm of the crowds at the Peterborough Book Store is unbounded, and the people all like it. Nothing we've ever done begins to equal what we're doing now. A holiday halo illumines this store as if Christmas electricity had struck the place. Christmas chances broaden—and the happy crowds tell better than anything else the relation of the store to the community. The business is in closest touch with the people. Only a few days more on the calendar. How the time will fly? You have barely time to make out your list and select your presents. Shop early at the Peterborough Bookstore and the time spent will be spent in pleasure. Storm the store! Hundreds have been served already out of our princely stock, but heaps of good things are still left. A. H. Stratton & Co.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Mr. B. F. Ackerman was Re-elected President.

VERY ENCOURAGING REPORTS

From the Chairmen of the Various Departments—The Affair Last Night Was of a Social Nature.

The twentieth annual business meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held in the parlour of that institution last evening, and was, without exception, the most successful meeting that has been held in the rooms this season. The audience was composed of the men who are backing the Association, and the interest that is taken in the work was forcibly manifested by the fact that such a number of manufacturers, merchants, mechanics and students had laid aside an evening on which to listen to and discuss the reports on the progress of the Y.M.C.A. for the past year.

Mr. J. W. Bennet occupied the chair, and the meeting was opened by singing "Oh God, Our Help in Ages Past," followed with prayer by Rev. W. L. Armitage.

The first report was that of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and it was read in an able manner by Mr. Harding. The ground covered by the Auxiliary during the past year was gone over, and it was shown that by their giving so much time and attention to the work for young men, the Ladies' Auxiliary have become one of the great powers that are supporting the institution. The report is as follows:

LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The year that has just closed has been in many respects one of the most successful in the history of the Auxiliary, and not a little has been accomplished towards carrying out the aim of the members in beautifying the building, and making it more home-like and attractive. The meetings have been well attended, and considerable interest has been manifested in the welfare of the association.

At the annual convention held in Kingston, in February last, the Auxiliary was represented by Mrs. Whiten, who brought back a most interesting report.

The annual "at home" was held as usual, in June, and passed off very enjoyably.

One of the most interesting events of the year was the gymnasium banquet on the first of March, which was arranged and carried out by the ladies. It was the first of the kind in Peterborough, and was very largely attended by the business men of the town.

The handkerchief sale held in November was also a success and realized over $160.

As a result of the Calendar scheme, which was only partially carried out, over one hundred dollars was added to their funds.

The Auxiliary has during the year furnished the boys' rooms down stairs, and helped to make the up-stairs rooms more attractive and comfortable by providing curtains in some of the rooms, a cosy corner in the parlour and two floor rugs.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

President.

MARY R. BROWN,
Treasurer.

Peterborough, Dec. 16th.

The report was adopted.

The report of the boy's work was read by Mr. A. Frewde, assistant secretary, and the manner in which that department is going ahead was a surprise and satisfaction to all. The report will be published to-morrow.

In moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Robinson referred to the significance of the work for boys that is being carried on by the Association. Few people were aware of the opportunities that are opened up to the members of this department, and he could say from experience that the work undertaken was in every way a success.

Mr. Dixon was next on the programme with a paper on the Educational work of the Association, which received the close attention of the audience, and it also is held over until to-morrow.

Mr. A. C. McCallum, in moving that the report be adopted, took occasion to give a suggestion as regards the future of Education in the Association. He said that probably $5,000 was annually sent across the line to the American Schools of Correspondence, and he did not think that value was received in proportion to the money expended. His idea was to form a class of the young men interested in a technical education, and get a tutor of their own, together with all necessary appliances. He thought the Board of Directors could arrange to form such a class, and hoped that next fall would see it started.

BIBLE STUDY.

The next report was that on Bible Study, and was read by Mr. John Manning. The extent of this department is known only to those who are in touch with it, and its record for the year is as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen, — In presenting the report of the Bible Study Department of this Association, I have much pleasure in being able to state that the past year has been the most successful in the history of this branch of the work among young men. It is becoming easier year by year to interest men in the Bible and to lead them to make it an every-day book.

The aim of our Association Bible study is four-fold: — First, general study; second, evangelistic; third, devotional; and fourth, training in personal work. Men are assigned to classes according to age and Bible knowledge.

As is our custom, we began the year's work with a Bible study rally day, at which Rev. Archibald Ewing, a returned missionary from Honan, China, was the special speaker. There were 150 men in attendance, and the meeting proved both pleasant and profitable.

We have a total enrolment of 157, 40 of whom are boys. Total attendance, 1,072. Total sessions, 212. Most of the classes are conducted for nine months of the year, though some are held only for six months.

A separate folder was issued devoted entirely to the interests of our work. Thirty dollars covered the expenses of advertising of all kinds.

While each class deserves special mention for some point in its work, I desire to call attention briefly to the Social Bible Club for this season. That it has solved a problem that has engaged the attention of the association for four years, namely, how to interest young fellows between fourteen and eighteen years of age. The Club has combined the study of the Bible with the social and intellectual development of these youths. The average attendance was 12, and bids fair to be considerably higher for our next report.

Let me quote you a few extracts from the expressed opinions of some of the members of the various classes:

"Your training class has established a stronger Christian character in me."

"I received greater energy for work in the Master's vineyard. Have started a Sunday school, where I teach. Lead a Bible class at home."

"The class I attended has given me a desire to study and to speak to others."

"The study gave me new ideas about the Bible—helped me in preparing League topics—feel I could now teach a Bible class, if called upon."

"The class was to me one of the most pleasant hours of the week."

The Social Bible Club was a source of pleasure; I never studied my Bible from one year's end to the other, except in Sunday school. The Club got me in the habit of daily study."

The classes have developed teachers. A young man who joined the Boys' Department five years ago, has now a boys' class of his own.

In closing I desire to lay before you a great need of this department — a good set of wall maps, and a Bible study library. A gift of one hundred dollars for this purpose would largely increase the efficiency of our work. I mention this in the hope that some one may be able to help us in this way.

Respectfully submitted.

JOHN MANNING,
Chairman.

Before Mr. Harding moved the adoption of the report, he told of the progress of one of the classes engaged in Bible study, and also paid a high tribute to the leader of the Social Bible Club, Mr. J. Manning.

Mr. Connal was next, with a good account of the work of the Physical Committee, and it was noted that the steady, even tread of this important department was only in keeping with the onward march of the whole association, and it was shown that the young men who lead in the gymnasium are not only trained athletes, but are all round men, being well developed in body, mind and spirit. Following is the report:

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

To the Officers, Board of Directors, and Members of the Association;

The Physical Department begs leave to report as follows;—

It is with much pleasure that we submit this report, because we believe this Department is well able to reach the young men of the town, benefitting them according as our gymnasium emblem signifies;—mentally, physically, and spiritually. We endeavour through the agency of the gymnasium and the athletic field to bring men together where they may train their bodies and rest so that they will be better able to stave off the diseases so prevalent in young manhood to-day. Above all, the object of this Department is that, through the influence of its leaders, and the Sword of the Spirit, they may consecrate their bodies to Him who is the source of all our power.

The number of men using the gymnasium during the year have found it in each case to benefit them physically, and special cases have been treated in prescribing exercise to those who were specially in need.

The total attendance for the year in the gymnasium was 5,936, or an average of 843 per month. This, perhaps, would have been even greater, but owing to an accident befalling the Physical Director at the most critical time of the year, caused the work to be hampered for some six weeks. However, the classes were continued under the direction of individual members during the Director's absence.

On New Year's night the public enjoyed a basketball match between a Toronto and a local team, interspersed with gymnastics.

A Basketball League composed of four teams was conducted during the latter part of the season.

The indoor gymnasium work was brought to a close at the end of April by a Junior Exhibition.

The outdoor work was conducted under the supervision of an athletic club, formed of Y.M.C.A. members. Tennis, football, lacrosse, and track athletics were some of the pastimes, and were heartily indulged in. Tournaments were conducted on the tennis courts, comprising some 35 men. Lacrosse was introduced the first time in twelve years, and great interest was revived.

On July 1st the Physical Director severed his connection with this Association to take up the work in a larger field, and subsequently accepted a position at Brantford, Ont. He was succeeded by Mr. H.E. Ayers, a member of this Association.

Trusting that this work may continue under the guiding influence of the Holy Spirit, we commend it to Him who is able to keep.

JAS. CONNAL.
Chairman.

Peterborough, Dec. 19th, 1901.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The General Secretary, Mr. Geo. H. Williamson, was afforded the attention he deserves in his account of the year's onward march. His efforts in the upbuilding of the association has not been in vain, as is shown in his report:

To the Officers, Directors and Members of the Association;

This the first year of the new century, the Jubilee year of the planting of the work in Canada, and the twentieth in the history of the Peterborough work, has witnessed greater progress than any preceding year. We have great reason for gratitude to God for the blessing which has rested upon the efforts put forth by those interested in the work for young men.

The year will be remembered as a Jubilee year indeed, because of the progress as shown in the statistics indicating the influence of the Association in the lives of men, as well will it be remembered as a marked one in history because during the year the building has been completed, bringing the third flat and the basement into service to meet the growing needs of the work.

The Jubilee year was duly celebrated by gatherings in Montreal and Boston in June, and at the latter a message of sympathy and interest in the world-wide work for men was received from His Gracious Majesty King Edward VII.

The work has been done for men by men, and the splendid showing to-night is largely due to an increase in the number of volunteer workers, and greater devotion on the part of those who have been workers of former years.

Reports have been presented from several of the departments which will require no further reference here.

The Men's Meeting has continued throughout the entire year with an average attendance of 42 for the winter and 24 for the summer. It is more and more becoming a centralizing point for other departments of work. Twenty-two have shown expression of religious interest as the result of personal work. A large number of these have given proof by their lives of decision for active work in the Association.

The Department interesting the largest number in the Strangers' Fellowship Club, the aims of which is to locate strangers, visit them in their boarding houses, introducing them to the pastors and the churches of their choice, and interesting them in Association work and membership, and reporting the names of young men who leave here for other towns. All strangers so located are accorded the full privileges of the Association for one month. Up to the present the total number of visitors' tickets issued is 496. Of these 28 per cent. have become members; 28 per cent. have attended the men's meeting, and nine per cent. have joined Bible classes.

The social life of the building during the winter months has been helped by the coffee room, in which 895 lunches were served during that time to members, the latter paying the cost of the same.

The membership of the Association shows an increase of 106 over last year's report, made up as follows—Honorary, 16; Sustaining, 59; Full, 197; Limited, 140; Intermediate, 115; Boys, 123. Total, 654. We regret to record the loss of two by death, in the person of the late James Campbell and the late P. McIsaac. Both joined the Association in 1887. We also regret the loss of two sustaining members, the late R. S. Davidson and the late George Munroe.

The work for boys shows steady growth. During the year a change was made, confining the school boys' work in the building to the hours of the day entirely, which worked most satisfactorily. The Board have shown wisdom in engaging a Boy's Secretary, thus contributing largely to this important branch of the work.

We are deeply indebted to the Ladies' Auxiliary for their untiring services and also to Messrs. Hall and McGill, trustees of the building, for the use of the lot on George street, besides in other ways co-operating. We wish to express our gratitude to the subscribers of the Association who have contributed to enable us to close the year with current expenses all provided for.

The completed building lays upon us increased financial obligations, and we trust that the work will be so conducted that it will not only receive a repetition of this year's liberality, but a large increase to meet increased needs.

We have endeavoured to give some indication by figures as to what has been done, but figures do not express all. Eternity, we believe, will only reveal the extent to which men have been helped in the development of all round manhood by the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association during the first year of the new century.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEO. H. WILLIAMSON,
General Secretary.

The chairman gave a brief idea of the extent of Mr. Williamson's work, and of the labour and energy he exhibited in that work. The report was adopted.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

Mr. Connal, who occupied the position of treasurer of the association, read the following report on the finances of the institution:

JAS. CONNAL,
Treasurer.

J. S. Knapman, auditor.

Mr. Ackerman, president, and the chairman, spoke of the healthy condition in which the association stands as regards finances, and the fact that all expenses had been met, was received with loud applause. The report was adopted.

REPORT OF NOMINATING COMMITTEE

Mr. R. Merrill read the report of the Nominating Committee, and the officers for the ensuing year were appointed. Mr. Ackerman was re-elected president, his protest not being heeded. The report was as follows:

President—B. F. Ackerman.
1st Vice-President—G. M. Roger.
2nd Vice-President—Frank Adams.
Treasurer—R. J. Kidd.
Directors' term to expire, 1904—G. M. Roger, W. D. Scott, M.D., B. F. Ackerman, F. D. Kerr, R. J. Kidd, Jas. Connal.
Director to succeed Mr. Peter Hamilton, term expires 1903—Mr. J. C. Shook.
Director to succeed Mr. T. H. Martin, term expires 1902—Mr. J. S. Knapman.

The Secretary spoke of the great service Mr. Ackerman had been to the association, and thanked all those who had in any way contributed to the success of the past year. It was gratifying to know that business men recognized the value of the Y.M.C.A. and were willing to give of their time and means to the cause of training our young men in the way that they should go. The report was adopted with applause.

Coffee and cake was then served, and the gathering took on a social aspect. Mr. McCallum's gramaphone furnished a number of selections, and an evening that will not be soon forgotten was brought to a close, and those who had listened to the different reports went away with a desire to do greater things in the future, and the era of growth and prosperity that is coming to the town of Peterborough, will be kept pace with by the organization of which the citizens of this town may well be proud.

CARVING THE TURKEY

A supreme moment of expectation could be easily turned into an hour of vexation by having a dull carver to wrestle with. Your Christmas feast would be one of annoyance unless you have a set of our Fine New Line Carvers, with good, serviceable handles, that will disjoint a turkey and carve it in wafer slices in a hurry. Our fine stock of Table Cutlery, for Christmas gifts, are useful and will be appreciated by the housewife.

THE KINGAN HARDWARE CO., Limited

The Cup That Cheers

Is there really anything so refreshing as a cup of tea! Of course, we don't blame some people who say there's not much refreshment about a cup of tea, because they're drinking something else that has had no acquaintance with the real tea leaf.

We sell tea—real tea—and if you want to know how refreshing it can be, make a cup from one of our fine varieties imported for the Christmas season.

POOL TABLE POCKETS.

They Are Made For the Most Part in Farmers' Houses.

"An odd occupation, surely," said a man acquainted with the business, "is that of knitting pool table pockets. A few persons find steady employment at it, but the greater number of those engaged in it take it up incidentally to some other employment.

"Of all the pool pockets used the largest proportion is made in farmhouses by farmers' wives and daughters. The women who do this work are mostly Germans and Swedes.

"Pool table pockets are all handmade. The largest producer of pool pockets is a concern in New York that employs at this work about thirty families, these mostly residing on Long Island. The bundles of material for the several families thus employed are made up in the shop and delivered to them, the finished pockets being at the same time collected.

"The knitting is done with a needle twenty inches in length, and the pockets are knitted with a peculiar knot that will not pull out. You might cut a hole in a pocket with a knife, but the hole would go no farther. As the pocket is knitted it will not pull or draw apart.

"Pool pockets are made of cotton, of wool and of silk. The first are sold for $1.25 or thereabouts a dozen. Silk pockets sell for about $10 a dozen.

"I should say that of all the pockets made perhaps half are of cotton, three-eighths of wool and one-eighth of silk. The pockets are most commonly green, but they are made in other colors as well—in maroon, for example, and in yellow and in blue for tables with cloths in those colors.

"Output? Well, the production of them is somewhat scattered. I should say that it might amount annually to about 10,000 dozen, valued on an average, roughly estimated, at $4 a dozen, making the total value of the output somewhere about $40,000."

THE HOME DOCTOR.

A soft linen bandage saturated with a 1 per cent solution of carbolic acid is excellent for a blistered finger.

To relieve a nervous headache apply hot water to the temples and back of the neck. A hot footbath will also materially aid.

Earache can frequently be cured by wringing out a flannel in boiling water, sprinkling a few drops of laudanum on it and applying it to the ear.

A small quantity of vinegar will generally destroy immediately any insect that may find its way into the stomach, and a little salad oil will kill any insect that may enter the ear.

When your feet are very tired and hot, plunge them into a basin of cold water and keep them there until a sensation of warmth begins. Then dry them and put on fresh stockings and shoes.

A writer states that a teaspoonful of finely grated nutmeg in a teacupful of cold water taken night and morning the first day and then missing a day, repeated on the third day, is a sure cure for boils.

MRS. BARNETT, OF PLATTSVILLE, ONT.

Cured Three and a-half Years Ago by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Further Proof of the Permanency of the Cures Effected by this Great Remedy—A Most Convincing Confirmation of an Interesting Statement Published in the Plattsville Echo, in May, 1898.

Plattsville, Ont., Dec. 18.—(Special.)—Some three and a half years ago The Plattsville Echo, the local newspaper published quite an extended account of a most miraculous cure of a well known and highly respected lady, Mrs. J. Barnett, who had been extremely ill for years and who claimed to be permanently cured by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. This good lady according to her own statement, had been a physical wreck, with nervousness, rheumatism in the left arm, pains in the small of the back, up the spinal column and back of the head, through the eyes, left side of the body, and occasionally the right side. She had no appetite and could not sleep at nights. The physicians had given her up and in this pitiful and hopeless condition, Dodd's Kidney Pills found her and completely restored her to good health without an ache or pain. Her appetite returned and her general health improved. She used in all but twelve boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

This was in the spring of 1898, and to-day Mrs. Barnett states positively and in the strongest and most grateful terms that the cure Dodd's Kidney Pills brought her three and a half years ago was absolute and permanent; that she is to-day stronger and better than she has been for years before taking the pills. Nothing could be more convincing than this good woman's plain and truthful statement, and it proves beyond doubt the lasting character of cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills."

CHRISTMAS ON A... RANCH

By Theodore Roosevelt

How the Rough Rider, Before He Became President, Hunted for Elk Lured For a Yuletide Feast and Went Home Cold and Wet.

One December, while I was out on my ranch, so much work had to be done that it was within a week of Christmas before we were able to take any thought for the Christmas dinner. The winter set in late that year and there had been comparatively little cold weather, but one day the ice on the river had been sufficiently strong to enable us to haul up a wagon load of flour, with enough salt pork to last through the winter, and a very few cans of tinned goods to be used at special feasts. We had some bushels of potatoes, the heroic victors of a struggle for existence, in which the rest of our garden vegetables had succumbed to drought, frost and grasshoppers, and we also had some wild plums and dried elk venison. But we had no fresh meat, and so one day my foreman and I agreed to make a hunt on the morrow.

Accordingly one of the cowboys rode out in the frosty afternoon to fetch in the saddle band from the plateau three miles off, where they were grazing. It was necessary to get to the hunting grounds by sunrise, and it still lacked a couple of hours of dawn when the foreman wakened me with a touch as I lay asleep beneath the buffalo robes. Dressing hurriedly and breakfasting on a cup of coffee and some mouthfuls of bread and jerked elk meat, we slipped out to the barn, threw the saddles on the horses and were off.

The air was bitterly chill. The cold had been severe for two days, so that the river ice would again bear horses. It had already frozen once and then again thawed. Beneath the light covering of powdery snow we could feel the rough ground like wrinkled iron under the horses' hoofs. There was no moon, but the stars shone brilliantly down through the cold, clear air, and our willing horses galloped swiftly across the long bottom on which the ranchhouse stood, threading their way deftly among the clumps of sprawling sagebrush. A mile off we crossed the river, the ice cracking with noises like pistol shots as our horses picked their way gingerly over it. On the opposite side was a dense jungle of bullberry bushes, and on breaking through this we found ourselves galloping up a long, winding valley which led back many miles into the hills. The crannies and little side ravines were filled with brushwood and groves of stunted ash. By this time there was a faint flush of gray in the east, and as we rode silently along we could make out dimly the tracks made by the wild animals as they had passed and repassed in the snow. Several times we dismounted to examine them. A couple of coyotes, possibly frightened by our approach, had trotted and loped up the valley ahead of us, leaving a trail like that of two dogs. The sharper, more delicate footprints of a fox crossed our path, and outside one long patch of brushwood a series of round imprints in the snow betrayed where a bobcat, as plainsmen term the small lynx, had been lurking around to try to pick up a rabbit or prairie fowl.

As the dawn reddened and it became light enough to see objects some little way off we began to sit erect in our saddles and to scan the hillsides sharply for sight of feeding deer. Hitherto we had seen no deer tracks save inside the bullberry bushes by the river, and we knew that the deer which lived in that impenetrable jungle were cunning white tails and that in such a place they could only be hunted by the aid of a hound. But just before sunrise we came on three lines of heart shaped footmarks in the snow which showed where as many deer had just crossed a little plain ahead of us. They were walking leisurely, and from the lay of the land we believed we would find them over the ridge, where there was a brush coulee. Riding to one side of the trail, we topped the little ridge just as the sun flamed up, a burning ball of crimson, beyond the snowy waste at our backs. Almost immediately afterward my companion leaped from his horse and raised his rifle, and as he pulled the trigger I saw through the twigs of a brush patch on our left the erect, startled head of a young black tail doe as she turned to look at us, her great, mulelike ears thrown forward.

The ball broke her neck, and she turned a complete somersault down the hill, while a sudden smashing of underbrush told of the flight of her terrified companions. We both laughed and called out "Dinner!" as we sprang down toward her, and in a few minutes she was dressed and hung up by the hind legs on a small ash tree. The entrails and viscera we threw off to one side after carefully poisoning them from a little bottle of strychnine which I had in my pocket. Almost every cattleman carries poison and neglects no chance of leaving out wolf bait, for the wolves are sources of serious loss to the unfenced and unhoused flocks and herds. In this instance we felt particularly revengeful because it was but a few days since we had lost a fine yearling heifer. The tracks on the hillside where the carcass lay when we found it told the story plainly. The wolves, two in number, had crept up close before being discovered and then raced down on the astonished heifer almost before she could get fairly started. One brute had hamstrung her with a snap of his viselike jaws, and once down she was torn open in a twinkling.

No sooner was the sun up than a warm west wind began to blow in our faces. The weather had suddenly changed, and before an hour the snow was beginning to thaw and leave patches of bare ground on the hillsides. We left our coats with our horses and struck off on foot for a group of high buttes cut up by the cedar canyons and gorges in which we knew the old bucks loved to lie. It was noon before we saw anything more. We lunched at a clear spring, not needing much time, for all we had to do was to drink a draft of icy water and munch a strip of dried venison. Shortly afterward, as we were moving along a hillside with silent caution, we came to a sheer canyon of which the opposite face was broken by little ledges grown up with wind beaten cedars. As we peered over the edge my companion touched my arm and pointed silently to one of the ledges, and instantly I caught the glint of a buck's horns as he lay half behind an old tree trunk. A slight shift of position gave me a fair shot slanting down between his shoulders, and, though he struggled to his feet, he did not go fifty yards after receiving the ballet.

This was all we could carry. Leading the horses around, we reached the buck

AFTER MANY YEARS

Of suffering from kidney disease, Miss Minnie Ryan, of St. Louis, Mo., found a complete cure result from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is such cases as this which establish the soundness of Dr. Pierce's theory: "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." Every other organ depends on the stomach for its vitality and vigor. For by the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition the food which is eaten is converted into nutriment, which, in the form of blood, is the sustaining power of the body and each organ of it. When the stomach is diseased the food supply of the body is cut down, the organs are starved, and the weakness of starvation shows itself in lungs, heart, liver, kidneys or some other organ.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and so cures disease of other organs which have originated through deficient nutrition or impure blood.

"I had been suffering with kidney trouble twenty years," writes Miss Minnie Ryan, of 1227 Lonsdale Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., "and I had doctored with a number of the best physicians. Two years ago I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' and took also several vials of Doctor Pierce's Pellets. I took eight bottles (four of each), and I feel now perfectly cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

bobbed my companion's saucer and then rode back by the dog, which I put behind mine. But we were not destined to reach home without a slight adventure. When we got to the river, we rode boldly on the ice, heedless of the thaw, and about midway there was a sudden, tremendous crash, and men, horses and deer were scrambling together in the water amid slabs of floating ice. However, it was shallow, and no worse results followed than some hard work and a chilly bath. But what cared we? We were returning triumphant with our Christmas dinner.—Philadelphia Times.

London's Christmas Pudding.

Many grave and reverend persons can recall the excitement of that moment when they were invited into the kitchen to stir the Christmas pudding, and though the day for them is passed when stirring and even eating the pudding brings any delight they may be interested to learn from The Master Baker that if all the puddings made in England in honor of Christmas were rolled into one the total weight would be 7,000 tons. It should encourage poultry farmers to learn that in the making of this monster no fewer than 32,000,000 eggs are used.

What Was His Idea.

"Look here, Mr. Hojack," said Mrs. Hojack, "I'd like to know why you asked me what I wanted for a Christmas present if you intended to get something entirely different?"

"I wanted to surprise you, dear," was Hojack's unsatisfactory reply.

Merry Christmas!

Many hundred years ago,
Where Judean rivers flow,
Early, o'er the morning light
Made the eastern hilltops bright,
Rose a star whose radiance mild
Shone upon a little child.
Hosting in a lowly manger
Who was found the little stranger.
Yonder by the star's soft light
Shepherds watched their flocks by night.

Chatting there upon the ground,
Lo, they hear a wondrous sound!
High in air and coming near,
Angel voices sweet and clear,
Rang the glad song from the sky,
"Glory be to God on high,
In the earth good will abound,
Peace and joy be ever found!"
Sing we now as they sang then,
"Peace on earth, good will to men!"
This is why the joy bells ring;
This is why the children sing.
Merry Christmas, great and small!
Merry Christmas, great and small!
As the angels from above
Sing of our Redeemer's love,
So on all glad Christmas days
We will sing the Saviour's praise!

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and erradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. Late, Indeed.

The chairman of a lecture committee of a literary society sat restlessly on the stage before a large and waiting audience, wondering why the expected lecturer did not arrive. Finally he felt that some sort of an excuse was necessary and stepped to the footlights.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "I regret this delay and am unable to account for the absence of Professor Smythe, who was to lecture here tonight. He told me that he would be on time if he was alive, and, as he is not here, we must conclude that he is dead."

Just then the professor rushed out on the stage all out of breath. "Ladies and gentlemen," continued the chairman, "allow me to introduce to you the late Professor Smythe, who will now address us on 'The Inferno.'"

Older Than His Father.

A curious tombstone has been discovered at Ilfracombe (England) churchyard by a correspondent. The inscription reads as follows: "In memory of William Griffiths, died October 25, 1885, aged 127 years. Also Wilm., father of the above, who died October 3, 1845, aged 73 years." According to the dates given, the son was sixty-five years older than the father.

Not a Hard Case.

"Ever been in any trouble before?" asked the judge.

"Well, sah, I was run over by a railroad once, but I never hurt the engine."—Atlanta Constitution.

Woman is as old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigourous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.

What Man O'Bell Says.

I should like to see education so cheap that university men might be found cutting stones and laying bricks, and I hope the Scottish-American millionaire's gift to the Scottish universities may tend that way.

When the educated commoner returns to his class, that class will be raised, and not till then; and, being raised, he will see through the fraud of modern society and stand it no longer.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS...

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policyholders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policyholders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policyholders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THE WOLF AT THE DOOR.

River Drivers Chased Into Their Shanty —A Young Lad Killed at Otter Lake.

According to reports wolves are both numerous and daring above Maniwaki. Mr. J. Coughlin, lumberman states that two of his drivers had a narrow escape recently. They were drawing logs through the woods and a pack of wolves attacked them. They escaped by unhitching their horses and riding them to camp, the wolves pursuing them all the way. Man and horses were in an exhausted condition when the camp was reached. The result caused one of the men who had a weak heart, to faint. He was carried into the shanty, and while his companions were endeavoring to resuscitate him the wolves came to the windows scratching and howling. They were driven away with firearms. The wolves are now so feared by the men that the latter never go into the woods unless armed. Mr. Coughlin maintains that the story of young Connors being devoured by wolves near Otter Lake is true.

TESTS WILL CEASE.

Marconi Proposes to Notify the Monopoly When He Resumes.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 20. — Marconi's local lawyer has informed counsel for the Anglo-American Cable Company that he will temporarily cease his tests in receiving signals by wireless telegraphy from England, and without admitting the rights of the Anglo-American Company, will notify that company prior to resuming his tests. The situation otherwise is unchanged.

Governor Boyle of Newfoundland gave a large luncheon in honor of Mr. Marconi yesterday. Among the guests present were Premier Bond, the Cabinet Ministers, the heads of departments, Marine Lloyd underwriters, officials and representatives of the press. The affair was practically a state function.

Governor Boyle, in proposing Mr. Marconi's health, spoke exhaustively on the inventor's work since his arrival in the colony.

London Lawyer's Troubles.

London, Dec. 20,—Arthur Stopford Francis, a lawyer, who until recently had a number of wealthy and aristocratic clients, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with misappropriation of £5,000 of trust funds belonging to the Countess of Orkley. Just prior to his arrest, Francis had appeared in the Bankruptcy Court, where his examination disclosed an indebtedness of £78,000, with assets estimated at £10,000.

How Turkish Troops Get Pay.

CHRISTMAS NONSENSE

A Stocking Full of Mirth Filled by the Jolly Jesters of the Day.

"If I am not in error," Miss Daisy Peachblow said earnestly, compressing her lips in an ominous manner at each pause, "if I am not wandering by the wayside mentally, you stated a moment ago that Reginald Bagley was a bright fellow."

"Well—er—er—I think I did make some such good natured remark," admitted Myrta Hapgood. "Why, isn't he a bright fellow?"

"Well," said Miss Daisy, "he is either a fool or a knave, and I'm quite sure he isn't a knave."

"Then he must be a fool. There's only the fool left. Aren't you rather severe, Daisy, dear?"

"Judge for yourself. He was here all Christmas eve, you know?"

"Yes. He remained until 12 o'clock, I believe you said."

"That's true—four long and weary hours until midnight, and, as you can see, I have this bit of mistletoe hanging from the chandelier in the middle of the room."

"Of course. Well?"

"Well, it was here last night, and during the long and weary four hours I naturally happened to drift under it a few times, and he"—

"Tried to kiss you, did he? Ha, ha!"

"Tried to kiss me!" cried the indignant Daisy. "What, that bright fellow try to kiss me? Listen! Every single time I happened under the chandelier he jumped up and down, waved his arms in the air like a crazy man and shrieked: 'Look out, Mith Daithy! Look out! You're right thquare under the mithletoe, Mith Daithy!' Bright fellow? Fool—f-o-o-l!" —New York World.

A Christmas Fact.

The future has a golden tinge;
The past, too, may seem pleasant;
But just about the Christmastide
There's nothing like the present.

Good For the Kid.

It is plain to see by the large amount
Of presents received by the kid
That Santa Claus never kept strict account
Of half the things that he did.
—Truth.

Dead Broke.

Johnson—Say, but wouldn't Christmas presents drive you to drink?

Jones—Drive? Why, hang it, I haven't money enough left to even take a street car to the saloon.

The One Exception.

The days of old may seem more pleasant,
For joy was never meant to last;
Yet we admit the Christmas present
Is better than the Christmas past.

of the powers consider him the strongest man in China after Li Hung Chang, and they think his presence in Pekin will have a good influence on the court.

Yuan Shi Kai has ruled the province of Shangtung, which is the most turbulent province in the empire and the seat of the Boxer movement, with an iron hand, and there are those who fear that his removal may result in disorder because of the friction with the Germans.

People Who Used to Eat Spiders.

The enjoyment of particular kinds of food is, after all, a matter of custom, and the Africans who revels in white ants is no more peculiar in his tastes than the European who eats cheese mites. A lady whom M. Reaumur knew was accustomed to devour spiders as fast as she could catch them, and a German lady gave it as her opinion that these creatures resembled in taste the most delicious nuts. A fellow countryman of this lady was in the habit of regularly hunting spiders in his own and his friends' houses. He used to spread them on bread, Rosel tells us, and vowed that they were far pleasanter to the palate than butter.

CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR THE PUPILS

Attending the Ashburnham Public School.

RESULTS OF PROMOTIONS.

Names of Those Who are Advanced a Grade as the Result of Consistent Work During the Day.

Below are given the promotions for Ashburnham Public School for the term ending December, 1901. The promotions are based on the weekly examinations, which are entered in the monthly reports. By this plan, regular attendance and steady, faithful work are encouraged, and pupils have no opportunity to pass by cramming for a few weeks before the end of the term.

In most cases, the parents take a genuine interest in the reports, and sign and return them promptly.

Parents and guardians are expected to insist on seeing the reports of every pupil once a month, except pupils in the Junior First Class. No reports are given to them, as they frequently lose them.

The names below are given in order of merit. "Honours" means half in each subject, and 75 per cent. of the total. "Passed" means 40 per cent. in each subject, and at least 60 per cent. of the total.

Senior Fourth—Total, 3480. — Clara Adams, 2918; Elsie Pollock, 2917; Lillie McCubbin, 2901; Martha Murray, 2870; Ethel Fakenham, 2716; Flossie Scott, 2656; Bertha Curtis, 2634; Janet Quinn, 2576; Lizzie Henthorne, 2511; Herbie Anderson, 2496; Willie Swanston, 2323; Charlie Crane, 2287; Bella Brasley, 2239; George Butcher, 2262; Alfred White, 2257; Flora Noyes, 2234; Ada Straine, 2230; Hattie Williams, 2030; Clara Craig, 1536.

Junior Fourth to Senior Fourth—Ethel Sawyer, Jennie Gillespie, Elva Greenwood, Herbert Geale, Muriel Scott, Ethel Quinn, Kathleen Long.

PRESENTATION TO MR. PRINGLE

The Principal of the Peterborough Business College Remembered by his Students.

On Friday afternoon, the students of the Peterborough Business College "put up a job" on their worthy Principal, which has afforded him a great deal of pleasure. When the hour for closing drew near the government of the school was quietly taken out of his hands, and he was politely requested to put in an appearance in his private office. Here he was confronted with a deputation of pleasant-looking students, who invited his attention for a few moments. Miss Maude Macfarlane then stepped forward and read the following pointed and appreciative address:

To Mr. Pringle.—As the time has come for closing for our Christmas holidays, we wish to express to you our sincere thanks for the interest you have taken in us. Your labours in our behalf have been untiring, and you have in every way done your utmost to facilitate our progress in our studies. We have found the instruction at the P. B. C. thorough and practical, and we hope the interests of your college will prosper in the future.

As a slight token of your untiring zeal, we beg you to accept this umbrella as a small evidence of our appreciation of your services.

Signed on behalf of the College,

E. CROSSLEY,
O. HUFFMAN,
W. DUGGAN,
E. GUARD.

December 20th, 1901.

Mr. Robert Duncan made the presentation.

The matter had been arranged so quietly that Mr. Pringle never got a hint of it. His pleasure, however was not slow in manifesting itself. He thanked his pupils for their kind thoughtfulness, but especially for their appreciation of his services, as expressed in the address. The spirit of the act was to him of the greatest value, because it taught him that the tutor who thinks that his pupils are not considerate and grateful, makes a mistake. He said he prized their gift very much, and it would help to make his Christmas vacation all the more pleasant. He wished his students a very merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

The umbrella is a very handsome tight-rolling, silk quality, with a fashionable handle, and solid gold mounted head, decorated with the initials of the recipient. The carving was done by Frost, the jeweller.

STILL INCREASING.

Another Rousing Meeting of the Peterborough Federation of Labour Last Night.

The regular weekly meeting of the Peterborough Federation of Labour was held last night in the Sons of England Hall. The feature of the evening was the address by Ald. G. M. Roger on the history of the Peterborough Waterworks. Those in attendance felt themselves greatly indebted to Ald. Roger for his very able presentation of the facts of this question and he was warmly thanked for his kindness in accepting the Union's invitation to be present.

About 35 new members were initiated into the Union last night and the membership has reached about 700. Some discussion took place as to the part the Union would play in the forthcoming Municipal elections, and it was resolved to not take any active part as an organization, although it is said that at the meeting on Monday night the candidates for municipal honours will be asked to express their opinions on the labour question.

A vote of thanks was enthusiastically passed to Rev. J. C. Davidson for his general interest in the Order and especially for his remarks on Sunday last.

All our goods are in. We waited until the very last minute to give you the very latest out.

GOUGH BROS.

Over 20,000.

More than 20,000 invalids have taken Merrill's System Tonic, and the result has proven that this wonderful new medicine is not a doubtful compound, but one which always affects a radical cure of stomach, nerve, liver and kidney troubles. The 50c. bottles last three weeks. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

DEATH OF JOHN McKEE.

His Unexpected Demise in New York City Today.

The many friends in Peterborough will regret to learn of the sudden death in New York to-day of Mr. John McKee, formerly druggist of Peterborough.

Dr. McKee wired the information to friends in Peterborough this afternoon, giving the sad and unexpected news. No details were furnished.

Mr. McKee carried on a drug business in Peterborough for many years, but a few years ago disposed of his business and moved to Toronto where he took a position as travelling representative for an important drug firm, his district being chiefly in the United States. About 3 months ago Mr. and Mrs. McKee removed to New York, where Mr. McKee intended to make his headquarters during the winter.

During his sojourn in Peterborough Mr. McKee made many friends, both in town and country, who will learn with deep regret of his unexpected and sudden death.

Mrs. McKee and two sons will have the sympathy of the community in their deep bereavement.

Mr. McKee was a member of Peterborough Lodge, A.F. & A.M., and other fraternal organizations, and was for many years a representative on the Board of Education.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Court Peterborough, No. 29, C. O. F., Elect Officers for Ensuing Term.

At the regular meeting of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F., held last evening, several candidates were initiated, and the following officers elected for the ensuing term:

ELECTED OFFICERS.

At the Thursday Night Meeting of the Royal Arcanum.

The annual meeting for the election of officers of Peterborough Council, No. 735, Royal Arcanum, was held on Thursday evening and resulted as follows:—

D W Dumble..... Past Regent
Chas Stanley..... Regent
C J Snyder..... Vice-Regent
A P Poussette..... Orator
J H Roper..... Chaplain
P. Campbell..... Treasurer
R E Wood..... Collector
B A W Hay..... Secretary.
Jas. Scobell..... Guide
B Maxwell..... Outside Guard
C Earls..... Inside Guard
G L Hay..... Auditor
E M Poussette..... Auditor

The officers were duly installed and a number of happy little speeches were made by the members. Mr. Chas. Stanley, who was re-elected Regent, expressed his thanks for the honour conferred upon him.

The prospects are that the Peterborough Council will be largely increased in membership this winter and an occasional social function will be the feature of the winter gatherings. Mr. Harry Brown, the popular organizer wound up the proceedings last night in a few well chosen remarks. Dr. Morgan and Mr. Morrison, of Bridgenorth Council, were amongst those in attendance and aided materially in the evenings entertainment.

A STERLING PUBLICATION.

The "Canadian Almanac" for the Year 1902.

"Sterling," as a fitting epithet, applies as well to the Canadian Almanac in the light of an indispensable reference record, as it does to the coin of the realm. The Examiner has to thank the Copp, Clark Publishing Company, of Toronto, for a copy of the Canadian Almanac for the year 1902, the 55th year of publication. It began publication in the year 1847, the year work began on the construction of the Grand Trunk Railway, and the year the first telegraph line was established between Quebec, Montreal and Toronto. The first of these facts is got from the title page of the Canadian Almanac, and the others from a "Short History of Canada," found in its contents, a circumstance which serves well to show how valuable the Canadian Almanac is as a book of reference. It is full of every sort of information relating to Canada, and is in so compact and clearly condensed a form that to indicate its range with any degree of completeness would be to republish the book. You can find in the Canadian Almanac almost anything you want in relation to things meteorological, national, general, historical, fiscal, postal, martial, political, provincial, ecclesiastical, legal, judicial, municipal, educational, medical, or social, (society.). If you want to find the name and residence of any clergyman of any church, the name of any member of any Government, or of any member of any Legislature, either Dominion or local, in Canada; if you want to know the name of any officer of any society, the head of any college, the name of any lawyer, or of the clerk or officials of any municipality, or any other information of this kind, you will find it in the pages of the Canadian Almanac, which is invaluable for reference, in any office, library or household. Toronto, Copp-Clark Company, Limited. Price, 25 cents, at any bookstore.

Mark Street S. S. Christmas Tree and Entertainment, in Town Hall, Ashburnham, Christmas night. Admission 15 cents, or 2 for 25 cents.

Miss Lillie Degenkolbe, Treasurer South End Society of Christian Endeavor, 3141 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill., Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When life looked brightest to me I sustained a hard fall and internal complications were the result. I was considerably inflamed, did not feel that I could walk, and lost my good spirits. I spent money doctoring without any help, when a relative visited our home. She was so enthusiastic over Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, having used it herself, that nothing would satisfy her until I sent for a bottle. I have thanked her a hundred times for it since, for it brought blessed health to me and cured me within seven weeks.

I now wish to thank you, your medicine is a friend to suffering women."—LILLIE DEGENKOLBE.

$5000 FORFEIT IF THE ABOVE LETTER IS NOT GENUINE.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone," and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT.

In three more days Christmas will be with us again; the Christmas spirit is already in the air. But not generally the true Christmas spirit — merely the stirrings of the custom of influence begotten of the custom of the season, without a deep enough intensity to lead us to a cultivation of the real and true spirit of the hallowed anniversary. If you want to bring yourself to the true spirit of Christmas go to your book shelves and take down your Dickens. Read with care and sympathy a "Christmas Carol in Prose"; go with Scrooge and his ghostly guides; see with their eyes what they see and hear with their ears what they hear, and you will learn, or learn anew, how full of depth is the true spirit of Christmas, and how homely, near at hand, and still how heavy are the responsibilities, which the season and the significance it represents, impose upon you and upon us all who have named the name of the sacred Founder of the season. If you do not rise from its reading with a keener appreciation of Christmas and what it implies, of its privileges and responsibilities, your heart will have proved harder, more shrivelled and encrusted with sordid callous, than was that of Scrooge himself, before the Second Spirit softened it with the droppings from its beneficent torch. Read the "Christmas Carol in Prose" of Dickens, if you haven't done so, or, if you have, read it again. It will do you good, and if it does you good it will do others good at this blessed Christmas tide. We know of no other piece of literature, sacred or profane, more sacred than this in its work of opening the heart and imparting an impulse of Christmas benevolence and beneficence. Read it, take its teachings to heart and, within your sphere of duty, and influence, and action, you will be in the spirit to contribute to a realisation of the piping prayer of Tiny Tim—"God Bless Us All!" — for in bringing blessing to others a liberal share will fall upon yourself.

Twelve Years of Awful Pile Pain.

A. E. Auringer, Braidwood, Ills., says: "After suffering untold agony for over twelve years from both forms of piles, and trying all sorts of pile remedies without relief, I am completely cured by Pyramid Pile Cure." Sold by all druggists, 50 cents a box. THE TIME FOR BUILDING.

A prominent local builder last night spoke to the Examiner respecting the bad habit prevalent in Peterborough of delaying building operations till too late in the season to do good work, or to erect buildings of any kind to advantage. In the first place by holding off beginning till late in the fall the expense of buildings is increased very largely. Early in the present season bricklayers were to be had for $2 and $2.50 per day; the price crept up to $3, and now on some of the buildings in course of construction, brick-layers are getting, so it is said, as high as $3.75. Then there is a loss in this, that even with the high price a workman, though he try his best, cannot do as much work at $3.75 per day as he could, and would do, at $2 per day in good mild weather. Then the workmen himself is placed at a disadvantage, and may pay dearly for the increased rate of wages he gets in unseasonable weather. He risks his health, if not his life. Standing on a high wall, swept by frosty winds, he is in danger of pneumonia, or some other form of disease, and the slippery condition of things about about him, conduces to serious accidents. During the past week, three workmen, at least, have met with serious accidents, resulting from the slippery nature of the surroundings in their work, and are put to an expense for treatment, not counting the loss from enforced idleness, which will wipe out, and more, perhaps, all the wages earned by their summer's work. Then employers do not get as good value for the work done, under such dangerous and disagreeable disadvantages. In addition to the extra expense of advanced wages for work done at or below zero, there is the cost of fuel, and additional attendants to maintain fires to keep mortar in workable condition. Nor is the work done in severe frosty weather, as good as that done when the conditions are right. The mortar, with the greatest precautions, freezes instead of setting properly, and in the spring, instead of the mortar being as hard as stone, it turns to dust, and settling and cracking of the walls result. In whatever way late season building may be regarded, it is unduly expensive and unsatisfactory. In many cases, it is true, it cannot be avoided, but in the majority of cases earlier building operations, with a little care and thought, are easily possible and better for all concerned. There is something wrong in a practice of delay of beginning operations, which leaves mechanics knocking around in comparative idleness in the spring and early summer, and makes extreme demands on their services in the late fall, or early winter, when they cannot, try as they may, earn the high wages they then receive, as well as they could do lower wages, at a more seasonable time of year; nor can they work with as much comfort and safety as regards health and person as they could do at the proper time.

Now is the time for those contemplating building, to make preparation for the coming season and begin in time.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. Mr. Foster advocates cheap transportation — something anybody would favour who has as much travelling as Mr. Foster has to do in finding a constituency.

Our evening contemporary calls upon the electors of West Hastings to show their resentment against the Government at a bye-election because the riding has been left vacant for nearly a year. What a truculent spirit to exhibit at this Christmas season of peace and good-will.

Hon. Mr. Foster speaking before the Galt Conservative Club, mentioned among other things, that Canada needs "high ideals in public life." Does Mr. Foster's idea of "high ideals in public life" consist in part of fomenting and committing treason to a government of which he was a member, and inciting to, and assisting in, the political assassination of his leader?

Marconi, the man who performed the great feat of sending messages across 1,700 miles of space with no other medium of electrical conveyance than the viewless air, is stopped for the present by a monopoly. Monopolies may be borne with by a long suffering public up to a certain point —they may fatten at the public expense—but when it comes to placing limits to scientific progress in the interests of humanity, they are treading on dangerous ground for themselves.

THE FEDERAL BYE-ELECTIONS.

The bye-elections for the Federal Parliament will be held on January 15th, the nominations taking place on January 8th. The vacancy in West Hastings was occasioned by the voluntary retirement of Mr. Harry Corby. Mr. Corby had held the seat since 1891. The history of the constituency is decidedly Conservative, the only break since Confederation being the election of a Liberal in 1878. At the general election the Liberal candidate in West Durham was Mr. Robert Beith, who had held the seat since 1891, and the Conservative candidate was Mr. Thornton. The latter was elected by a majority of 40, but was unseated by the courts for bribery by agents. The record of the constituency had been steadily Liberal until Mr. Thornton's election. West York was vacated by the death of Mr. Clarke Wallace. Mr. Wallace had represented the constituency since 1878, and carried it in the general election by 869. Mr. Archibald Campbell, an able and experienced Parliamentarian, bore the Liberal standard at the last election, and will do so again on January 15th. His opponent will be a brother of the late Mr. Wallace.

Addington was also vacated by the death of the sitting member, Mr. John W. Bell. The constituency has been at times in the Liberal fold, but Mr. Bell had held it since 1882, except in the seventh Parliament, when a Liberal, Mr. Dawson, was the member. The Conservative majority in the last election was 522.

The vacancy in Kingston was occasioned by the elevation of Mr. B. M. Britton to the Bench. Mr. Britton's majority was 192. Notwithstanding the close association of Kingston with the name of Sir John Macdonald, and therefore with the Conservative cause, it had since 1896 been represented by Mr. Britton, a Liberal. It is good fighting ground.

The election of Laval is occasioned by the appointment of Mr. Thomas Fortin, the Liberal who represented it, to the Bench. Mr. Fortin's majority was 348. L'Islet became vacant through the appointment of Mr. Dechene to the Senate. Mr. Dechene's majority at last election was exactly a hundred. There is also a vacancy in the St. James division of Montreal. It was occasioned by the appointment of Mr. Desmarais to the Bench. Mr. Desmarais' majority was 1,541. Beauharnois was vacated through the action of the Liberal member, Mr. Loy, in acknowledging improper practices on the part of some of his agents. Mr. Loy's majority at the last election was 277, and his opponent was Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, a Conservative leader. The bye-election in Beauce has been necessitated by the elevation of Mr. Godbout to the Senate. Mr. Godbout had represented the county since 1887, and and his majority at last election was 257.

One of the practices which the Liberals protested against when their opponents were in office was that of holding bye-elections, even when there was a number of vacancies, on separate days, the design, of course, being to enable the Government to bring all its forces to bear on one after the other. The holding of this batch of elections on one day shows that the practice of the Liberal leaders is as good as their precept.—Globe.

BYSTANDER ON THE FESTIVAL.

"A Bystander," (Goldwin Smith) in the Sun thus writes: "Few now fancy that the date of Christ's birth is known, or that our Christmas is an actual anniversary of that event. But the sentiment does not depend on the calendar. On this continent, however, where Puritan, rather than Anglican or Catholic, tradition rules, Christmas day has been partly superseded by Thanksgiving. For not a few, through the progress of religious doubt, the religious significance of the festival has been lost. Still the nativity of Christ remains a festival of humanity. If the Golden Rule can be found in other sacred books, in no other sacred book can it be found as distinctly and forcibly laid down as in the New Testament. Still more difficult would it be to find in any other system of religious belief an equally broad and impressive presentation of the brotherhood of man. The birth of Christendom and the part which Christianity has played, are facts which no criticism can overthrow. Christmas, however, is the feast of the family. It is the day on which the family gathers together those who are still present, and folds in the embrace of the heart those who in this shifting population of ours are to be embraced in the arms no more. As the festival of humanity and the family, if not of the old belief, let Christmas still be kept."

IT IS IMPORTANT

To Know What You are Taking When Using Catarrh Medicines.

Catarrh is the short route to consumption, and the importance of early and judicious treatment of Catarrh, whether located in the head, throat or bronchial tubes, cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The list of catarrh cures is as long as the moral law and the forms in which they are administered, numerous and confusing, from sprays, inhalers, washes, ointments, and salves to powders liquids and tablets.

The tablet form is undoubtedly the most convenient and the most effective, but with nearly all advertised catarrh remedies it is almost entirely a matter of guess work as to what you are taking into your system, as the proprietors, while making all sorts of claims as to what their medicines will do, always keep it a close secret as to what they are.

The success and popularity of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, is largely because it not only cures catarrh but because catarrh sufferers who use these tablets know what they are taking into their systems. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed of Red Gum, Blood Root and similar valuable and antiseptic ingredients, and are pleasant to the taste and being dissolved in the mouth they take immediate effect upon the mucous lining of the throat, nasal passages and whole respiratory tract.

The cures that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have accomplished in old chronic cases of catarrh are little short of remarkable, and the advantage of knowing what you are putting into your stomach is of paramount importance when it is remembered that the cocaine or morphine habit has been frequently contracted as the result of using secret catarrh remedies.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets meet with cordial approval from physicians, because their antiseptic character render them perfectly safe for the general public to use and their composition makes them a common sense cure for all forms of catarrhal troubles.

All druggists sell them at 50 cts. for full sized packages.

LAKEFIELD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. A. Roy Bravender, of Warners, N. Y., who has been engaged as chemist for the Lakefield Portland Cement Company, arrived in town Saturday. Mr. Bravender expects to become a permanent resident in the village.

Mr. Carmichael, of Toronto, was in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ridpath gave a very enjoyable "At Home" on Friday evening there being about forty guests present. The evening was spent in playing progressive Crokinole.

Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald, who has been in Ashburnham visiting Mrs. A. Fitzgerald, of that place, arrived home on Friday evening feling much better for the change.

Mrs. Runnie, of Warners, N. Y., arrived in town on Friday last.

Master Plater Sherin has been making marked progress for the better, and bright hopes are entertained for his speedy recovery.

The entire plant of the Lakefield Portland Cement Co. was in operation Wednesday of this week for the first time. The directors of the Company were here for the opening of the plant and were highly pleased with the working of the machinery. They expect to be manufacturing cement this week.

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and erradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. Large outfit, $1; small size, 25c. Druggists, or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Pleasure of Memory.

Drollichon bought a phonograph and insisted upon his mother-in-law having her voice registered by the instrument.

As the good woman refused he added maliciously:

"Oh, come, now; just a few words. You can't think how much pleasure it will give me to hear your voice—when you are gone!"

I Will Cure You If You Ask It.

Send no money, but say which book you need. It will tell you what I spent a life-time in learning. Pray don't let prejudice keep you from asking it.

With the Book I will send an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and he will let you test it a month. If satisfied, the cost is $5.00. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself.

No other physician ever made such an offer, and none ever will. But I have furnished this remedy to 655,000 sick ones on just those terms, and 39 out of each 40 have paid for it, because they were cured. I know now what this remedy will do.

My success comes from strengthening the inside nerves; these nerves from which each vital organ gets the power to act. No other treatment does that; and most of these diseases positively cannot be cured in any other way. Won't you write a postal to learn why?

Simply state which book you want and address Dr. Shoop, Box 67, Racine, Wis.

Book No. 1 on Dyspepsia.
Book No. 2 on the Heart.
Book No. 3 on the Kidneys.
Book No. 4 for Women.
Book No. 5 for Men (sealed)
Book No. 6 on Rheumatism

Mild Cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

THREE DEAD, ONE MISSING.

Terrific Boiler Explosion at Black Diamond Steel Works.

Pittsburg, Dec. 21.—Three dead, one missing and 12 injured is the result of a terrific boiler explosion at the Black Diamond Steel Works of Park Bros. to-day.

The dead: John Welvik, aged 32; Patrick O'Connor, aged 28; and an unknown man.

Missing: John Wilts (he is probably among the killed); Reuben Miller, jr., superintendent of the plant, states that the boilers were examined last week and pronounced in excellent condition. No known cause can be given for the explosion, but a thorough examination is now in progress.

THE ALASKA BOUNDARY.

Negotiation. For a Settlement May Be Resumed.

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—It is rumored that negotiations in regard to the Alaskan boundary question, which have been suspended pending the settlement of the Nicaraguan Canal question and the ratification of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, are about to be resumed. It is said, in fact, that diplomatic overtures have again been or are about to be made to the United States with a view of having the question referred to arbitration. If the matter is before the Dominion Government it is being treated with the greatest secrecy and no authoritative information one way or the other is at present obtainable. In outside circles there is an impression that the present time would be most opportune for taking up the Alaska boundary question. The opinion is held that, in view of Great Britain's generous behavior touching the Nicaraguan Canal, the United States might consent to a reference to arbitration, on conditions that would be fair and honorable to both countries. Probably the next few weeks may witness some development concerning this most important matter.

Rifle Associations.

Amended regulations for the government of civilian and militaty rifle sociations were issued yesterday, but they are practically the same as those published several months ago. When there is no Government range, helps towards the maintenance and rent of a private range will be granted on a basis of one dollar per head for an association of forty members, and an additional fifty cents per head up to a strength of eighty members, this assistance being conditional upon units of the local militia being afforded every facility to carry out their rifle practice on such range. No man may belong to more than one rifle association at the same time, or draw free ammunition more than once per annum. Any member may resign by giving three months' notice in writing to the captain of his association, and on such resignation being accepted his name shall be removed from the list of members. Those who are in possession of Government property must return the same in good order before the resignation can be accepted. The formation of civilian rifle associations at Caledonia and Clinton has been approved.

Major Ogilvie Wounded.

Montreal, Dec. 21.—Mr. John Ogilvie received a telegram from the Governor-General Thursday night informing him that his son, Major J. H. C. Ogilvie, had been dangerously wounded Wednesday at Kilpeat, in South Africa.

Major Ogilvie was a captain in garrison division of the Royal Canadian Artillery at Quebec, and was seconded for service with Baden-Powell's Constabulary. He accompanied the detachment of the permanent force sent to the Yukon, and accompanied the first contingent to South Africa as lieutenant. He was there appointed acting-adjutant to the R.C.R.I., and in that capacity was present at Paardeberg. He distinguished himself in this engagement, and received a staff appointment soon afterwards, which kept him in South Africa after the first contingent returned.

Montreal, Dec. 21.—Charles Marcil, M.P. for Gaspe, states in La Patrie that he has consulted Mgr. Falconio in the question of the division of the diocese of Rimouski, making a new diocese out of the counties of Gaspe and Bonaventure, with New Carlisle as the new seat of the episcopal see.

D'Arcy Scott Wants It Not.

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—Mr. D'Arcy Scott, president of St. Patrick's Society and son of Hon. R. W. Scott, will not accept a position on the Executive Committee of the Irish League of America if it is offered him, but so far he has not heard anything of it. "I am not," says Mr. Scott in an interview, "in accord with that part of the platform of the league which asks for the national independence of Ireland."

Fell 50 Feet to Death.

Ridgetown, Ont., Dec. 21.—A sad accident occurred at nine o'clock yesterday morning, when Mr. John Riddell, who had just gone to work on the new Town Hall, fell from the top roof to the frozen ground, some 50 feet below. Death must have been instantaneous, as physicians who were at the scene of accident in three minutes pronounced life extinct. Mr. Riddell was a resident of St. Thomas and had, with his son, the contract for roofing the new Town Hall. Both legs were broken at the hip, several ribs in the region of the heart, and there were several large wounds on the face.

Cured Three and a-half Years Ago by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Further Proof of the Permanency of the Cures Effected by this Great Remedy—A Most Convincing Confirmation of an Interesting Statement Published in the Plattsville Echo, in May, 1898.

Plattsville, Ont., Dec. 18.—(Special.)—Some three and a half years ago The Plattsville Echo, the local newspaper published quite an extended account of a most miraculous cure of a well known and highly respected lady, Mrs. J. Barnett, who had been extremely ill for years and who claimed to be permanently cured by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. This good lady according to her own statement, had been a physical wreck, with nervousness, rheumatism in the left arm, pains in the small of the back, up the spinal column and back of the head, through the eyes, left side of the body, and occasionally the right side. She had no appetite and could not sleep at nights. The physicians had given her up and in this pitiful and hopeless condition, Dodd's Kidney Pills found her and completely restored her to good health without an ache or pain. Her appetite returned as her general health improved. She used in all but twelve boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

This was in the spring of 1898, and to-day Mrs. Barnett states positively and in the strongest and most grateful terms that the cure Dodd's Kidney Pills brought her three and a half years ago was absolute and permanent; that she is to-day stronger and better than she has been for years before taking the pills. Nothing could be more convincing than this good woman's plain and truthful statement, and it proves beyond doubt the lasting character of cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills."

NEW CAPE FLYING COLUMNS.

Six Thousand Men Begin the Hunting Down Process.

Cape Town, Dec. 21.—The scheme of greater colonial activity in clearing Cape Colony of the enemy and catching the rebels has been brought into operation. Colonel Lukin of the Cape Mounted Rifles has been appointed commandant-general and Col. Crewe assistant, and a large military establishment has been arranged for the colonial Government and at the expense of the colonial taxpayer. A start has been made with a force of 6,000 men, and the hunting down process will be relentlessly pursued. None of the columns are to have wheeled transport of any kind. Everything a trooper requires he will have to carry on the back of his horse or on his spare horse, for it is intended that when columns are on the hunting trail each man shall have two horses. By this means, and by giving each column a fair amount of individual initiative and discretion, it is expected that a few months hence will witness the clearing of the enemy from the coast districts and from the native territories.

New Zealand Zealots.

New York, Dec. 21.—A despatch to The London Times and The New York Times from Wellington, New Zealand, says over a thousand volunteers for the eighth New Zealand contingent for service in South Africa presented themselves in one day, exclusive of those in several districts from which the returns have not yet been forwarded. One hundred and thirty-three officers volunteered for the 44 places. Sixty-three of them have previously served in the Boer war.

HANNA ON THE CONFERENCE.

Says Concentration of Interests of Labor and Capital Will Do Good.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Senator Hanna, Chairman of the Committee of Thirty-Six, who has just returned from the Capital-Labor Conference in New York, was at the White House yesterday, and talked most hopefully of the results of the conference.

"I consider the conference," said he, "the greatest step ever taken for the speedy settlement of disputes arising between labor and capital. The organization of capital, which has come to stay, was an evolution which was naturally preceded by the labor organizations, which also, has come to stay, and the concentration of interests of the two sides, which should be friendly, not hostile, into the hands of a comparatively few individuals, will make for the best interests of both."

MANY BECOME DESPONDENT.

Many persons become despondent because they have been unable to find a permanent cure for Eczema (Salt Rheum) and kindred skin diseases, such as pimples, and blotches. "Climax" Iron Tonic Pills will positively cure these ailments and make the skin healthy. Each box contains ten days' treatment. Price 25 cents, at all druggists, or mailed on receipt of price. Address: The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

May Lose His Sight.

London, Dec. 21.—Rev. Monroe Gibson, a famous preacher, formerly pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Shicago, and known in Canada, was hit in the eye by a ball while playing loft, and it is feared he will lose his sight.

"Britt, Orun, Rex."

London, Dec. 21.—The new coins to be issued on Jan. 1 will bear the effigy of Edward VII. They will be gold and bronze coins. Silver coins will be struck later. The inscription will be "Britt. Orun. Rex," King of all the Britains.

A Complicated Machine

is an object of admiration, but a complicated medicine is a thing hitherto unknown. Druggist Merrill of Brantford has combined iron and herbs and made a marvellous blood builder and purifier, as well as a tonic for the nerves. Affects a radical cure in stomach, liver and kidney diseases. Price 50c. per bottle of 50 doses. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

CHRISTMAS IN THE SOUTH.

How the Day Was Celebrated in Olden Times.

Sixty years ago skyrockets, Roman candles and Chinese firecrackers were unknown in the south. The same may be said of the Christmas tree outside of the old Episcopal parishes. And still the boys of those early days made a deal of pother by the bursting of hogs' bladders and the firing of shotguns at the break of day. The morning egg-nog was seldom omitted in their matutinal festivities.

The old time negroes, the happiest yeomanry of the world, were never refused their traditional Christmas dram. There were then no poorhouses, no charity hospitals, and the benevolent machinery of these degenerate days was unknown because not needed.

Country quiltings were all the rage in the rural districts, and when work was finished the neighboring fiddler was commenced. After no little turning and scraping the swains and their sweethearts edged up vis-a-vis in two lines. At the words "Set to your partners" they tested it quite nimbly through the mazes of the Virginia reel—no stately minuet, no highfalutin germans, but a rollicking movement that shook the floor until, as Burns puts it,

The roof and raftars o' dud dirt.

These were halcyon days the like of which is not seen nowadays.

LAXA LIVER PILLS

Those who have used Laxa-Liver Pills say they have no equal for relieving and curing Constipation, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Coated Tongue, Foul Breath, Heart Burn, Water Brash or any disease or disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels.

Mrs. George Williams, Fairfield Plains, Ont., writes as follows: "As there are so many other medicines offered for sale in substitution for Laxa-Liver Pills I am particular to get the genuine, as they far surpass anything else for regulating the bowels and correcting stomach disorders."

Laxa-Liver Pills are purely vegetable; neither gripe, weaken nor sicken, are easy to take and prompt to act.

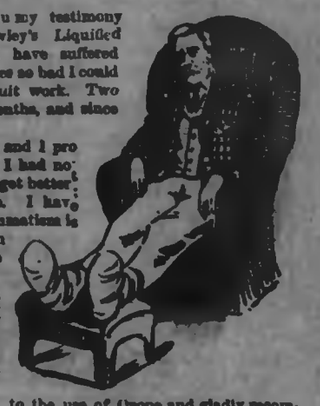
A Serious Case.

Jos. Coron says "For Weeks My Feet and Legs were Swollen so Badly I Could not Walk."



It is with pleasure I give you my testimony as to the curative powers of Powley's Liquified Ozone. For over two years past I have suffered very much with rheumatism, sometimes so bad I could not sleep at nights and I had to quit work. Two years ago I was laid up nearly two months, and since February last I have been very bad.

I saw your Ozone advertised and I procured a bottle and began taking it. I had not completed the bottle when I began to get better; my rheumatic pains began to leave. I have taken only three bottles and my rheumatism is completely cured. I am better in health now than I have been for the last ten years.

Sometimes for weeks my feet were so swollen and pained so badly I could not walk and my hands would swell up out of all shape. I could hardly endure the pain and could not use my hands.

I attribute my recovery entirely to the use of Ozone and gladly recommend it to all sufferers from rheumatism.

(Signed) Jos. Coron, 45 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P. Q.

When an excess of uric acid is in the blood it is deposited in the form of crystals in the joints of the extremities, muscles and kidneys. In the kidneys it produces inflammation which is noticed by lame back and other symptoms of kidney disease. In the joints, muscles and nerves these crystals cause intense pain, very severe during certain atmospheric conditions. That is rheumatism. Powley's Liquified Ozone is especially adapted for curing rheumatism. It dissolves these crystals of uric acid, cleans out the kidneys so they perform their work properly and rids the blood of all poisons. Ozone is not a medicine; not a combination of drugs and contains no alcohol. You will find that it will take hold from the first in a most astonishing way.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

Consumption

A cure that cures Consumption and its many kindred ailments is now within the reach of every sufferer. PUL-MO was perfected after many years of study and experimenting by a well-known German scientist, and has effected more cures than any other preparation which has been offered to the public. PUL-MO, while somewhat new in Canada, has been and is curing thousands of cases, and we have on file many testimonials and kindly letters written us by grateful people who have been returned to perfect health.

GRIP
BRONCHITIS NIGHT SWEATS

PUL-MO is the only absolute cure where there is Consumption, Throat and Lung trouble, Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, Night Sweats, Chills, Fevers, or any other symptoms which may indicate a tendency toward consumption. PUL-MO has cured thousands of cases which had been treated by physicians without success, and finally pronounced by them as hopeless.

PUL-MO stands alone—the use of any other medicine as an assistant is not necessary. Eat good plain nourishing food, get plenty of fresh air and out-door exercise, and use PUL-MO as directed. that is all—Nature will do the rest.

Large Sample FREE

We know positively that it does all we claim, and to demonstrate our implicit faith in the merits of PUL-MO, we will gladly mail a sample bottle free of charge, direct to your post-office address, securely sealed in a patent mailing tube or box; but as we have gone to considerable expense in securing these mailing tubes for the convenience of our patrons, we ask you to send 10 cents to cover the cost of mailing. Only one sample of PUL-MO will be sent to any one person. Give PUL-MO a trial and convince yourself that it cures. All we ask is, that you take it as directed. Remember, we pay the expense of the trial, it will cost you nothing.

PUL-MO is inexpensive, being sold by druggists at $1.00 per large bottle, or you may procure a sample bottle from your druggist at 15 cents.

Some very handy little pocket calendars are also being distributed.

Card of Thanks.

"H. L. Beale, Esq., Secretary Lansdowne Lodge, B. S., Peterborough,

"Dear Sir, — On behalf of myself and family, I beg to convey to you, and the officers of the Supreme Grand Lodge, my sincere thanks for the prompt manner in which the beneficiary claim of my late husband has been paid. I have to-day received cheque for the same. Yours truly, (Signed) Elizabeth Goodwin.

All Saints' Church.

Rev. W. L. Armitage will conduct both services to-morrow. Rev. Arthur Murphy, who has just concluded a very successful mission in St. Luke's church, has arranged to hold a mission in All Saints' before going west. He will begin on Sunday, Jan. 5th, and continue daily services, at 4.15 and 8 p.m. There will be Holy Communion on Christmas morning at 8.30 a.m., and also at 11 o'clock, when the sermon will be preached. Special music will be rendered.

Murray Street Baptist Church.

The services at the Murray street Baptist church to-morrow will be of a special character, partaking of a Christmas service. The pastor, Rev. J. Bastow, will preach both morning and evening. His subject in the morning will be, "The Humanity of Christ," and in the evening, "The Angels and Jesus." The music will also be of a special nature, and will consist of "Christmas Carols," by Bogt; anthem, "Hark, Hark, My Soul," by Shelley; solo, by Miss Hall, "Cantique De Noel," a Christmas song by Adolphe Adams; anthem, "Behold I Bring You Good Tidings," by Gem. The public are cordially invited to attend.

TOBOGGAN SLIDE ACCIDENT.

A Little Girl is Badly Cut and has her leg Broken.

Little Dorothy, the five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill, was very seriously injured yesterday afternoon as the result of a toboggan on which she was seated, running into a tree on the Smithtown hill. It seems there were five or six little ones enjoying the fun on the hill and that the toboggan got beyond the control of the one who was guiding it at the time and dashed into a tree with such force as to injure little Miss Dorothy, who sat in front, to such an extent that it was at first feared she was killed. Two ugly scalp wounds were inflicted on her forehead and the back of the head and she also bled profusely from the nose and mouth. A medical examination, however, resulted in the announcement that these wounds were not of a character to arouse any fear, but it was ascertained that the left leg had unfortunately been broken.

Miss Dorothy did not rest very well last night but was a little brighter this afternoon.

BADLY INJURED.

Norman Hines Caught in Some Belting This Morning—Arm Broken.

Norman Hines, an 11-year-old boy whose home is in Ashburnham, met with a very serious accident this morning at Mr. W. H. Robertson's printing establishment, George street. Young Hines has been employed as a messenger boy during the Christmas trade. It was no part of his business to go into the press room, but about 9 o'clock this morning he wandered into this department. A sort of jolt to the machinery told the other employees that something was wrong and Mr. Walter Dredge the foreman in the press room, at once saw young Hines tangled up in the belting. He had in some manner become caught in a pulley and had not the belt broken the consequences would have been more serious. As it was his right arm was broken and his head and body were badly bruised. Drs. McClelland and Pigeon were called in attendance and the boy was sent to the Nicholls Hospital.

THE BAND CONCERT.

It was Well Attended Last Night—Splendid Programme.

The band concert in the market hall last night by the 57th Regimental Band was very successful and quite as well attended as the preceding entertainments of its kind. Notwithstanding the severe weather there was an attendance of about 600 or more. The hall was heated and the audience was quite comfortable throughout in that regard.

The programme which the 57th Regimental Band furnished last night was one of the most entertaining of the series. The selections from the Burgomaster were highly delightful and were encored time and again. The Intermezzo, "Solome," too, was a great favourite and was excellently rendered. The Glee Club from the Canadian General assisted in the programme and proved to be great favourites. The next concert will be anxiously awaited.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC.

The Christmas music which will be given in Charlotte street church to-morrow, has been arranged as appended;

Carol—"Across the Dreary Waste of Sand."

Anthem—Christmas Anthem in Eb, Millard. (And There Were Shepherds.) Solos by Mr. Parks, Miss Stephens and Miss Pedlar.

Solo—"The First Christmas Morn."—Miss Hendre.

Offertory—Carol—"Now Let the Happy Tidings Ring."

Carol—"Come and Worship."

Anthem—"It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."—Warren.—Solos by Mrs. Pearse and Miss Hendren. Quartette, Mrs. Pearse and Miss Hendren and Messrs. Davis and Skitch.

Offertory Solo—"Night of Nights."—Vanderwater. Mr. A. L. Davis.

Paul.

There will be a large attendance at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday, no doubt, to hear Rev. W. L. Armitage speak on the character of Paul. The All Saint's church quartette will sing. You are cordially invited.

Offerings at Schneider's.

On the first page of the Examiner will be found the advertisement of the Christmas offerings at Schneider's the jeweller. This store is one of the most popular on George street. The display of goods is doing no small part towards attracting the crowds of shoppers and supplying gifts for the holiday season. To mention some of the special bargains at random, it could be stated that in the line of watches, clocks, diamonds and jewelry, which make most acceptable presents, the stock is varied as to make, kind and price. Sterling silver and silver-plate, are also well represented, and the range of price is adapted to cover all sized purses. The stock of ebony goods, silver-plated novelties and dainty little trinkets, is so carefully asserted that one can experience no difficulty in selecting. A special sale of rings furnishes unusual chances to ring buyers. In the line of recherche fancy goods, there is a tempting assortment of ornamental and decorative articles, which are quite new this season. The stock appears limitless, most modern, and up-to-date.

As was to be Expected.

Music lovers in Peterborough, who are in the slightest degree acquainted with the musical abilities, both as a vocalist and pianiste of Mrs. W. J. Morrow, will not be surprised to learn that she has created a decided sensation, and won the highest encomiums of the best critics by her recent vocal triumphs in Toronto. On Thursday, Mrs. Morrow sang at a recital at the Metropolitan School of Music, and she scored a notable success in the artistic rendition of a selection from the Opera of the Huguenots, and a ballad selected for her by Mr. Archibald, a member of the staff. Her rich, round matured and well-trained voice, used with cultured skill, called forth the warmest applause and encomiums, from the musical audience, and won the warm personal commendation of Mr. Forsythe, one of the leading piano virtuoses and teachers, of Toronto, Mr. Archibald, vocal instructor and musical lecturer of the Metropolitan School of Music, and Mr. Roberts, the Secretary. It is no suprise, therefore, that with such a triumph Mrs. Morrow secured, through it, other engagements in Toronto, the musical "hub" of the province. It is a pleasure to state that Mrs. Morrow will be heard in a concert to be given by her in Peterborough during the first month of the New Year.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

And the cat hasn't jumped yet, in regard to a mayoralty contest. It looks very much as though our popular mayor was to take his seat for his second term without an election. It will be different, however, a year from now, as if rumour is correct, a couple of the present aldermen will take the field against one another and there will be considerable searching of the records.

Matters are just as quiet in connection with the aldermanic contest as they are in mayoralty circles, but things will take a definite shape after Monday evening's public meeting in the opera house. This meeting is called at the request of the Federation of Labour and differs from the usual ante-election public municipal meeting, inasmuch as it will be held before and not after nomination day. This seems a little odd, as apparently the new men nominated for the council do not get a chance to speak, but it seems that the idea of the Federation for one thing is to ascertain from the present aldermen what stand they will take on a proposition to increase the wages of the corporation labourers by ten cents a day. If the aldermen raise an objection then the Federation will put a ticket of its own in the field.

It is hardly likely that the council as at present composed will make any demur about raising the pay of the corporation labourers, as the men are certainly entitled to the increase. Every employer of labour says that wages are higher now than for some years and there is no reason in the world why the corporation men should not benefit by this state of affairs.

* * *

The condition of the pavements during the last couple of days is ample verification of the fact that it doesn't do to scrape off the snow. It is far safer to have a coating of it on the slippery granolithic. In Ottawa the citizens are not allowed to remove all the snow from the walks.

It seems too bad that the year is almost at a close and yet Peterborough and Ashburnham are no closer together than at the beginning of 1901. This statement is not intended to give the impression that anyone expected the river to become any narrower, but refers rather to the matter of the uniting of the governments of the two municipalities. The remark has been made that Ashburnham may coquette too long, and the time may come when the breach will be so wide that it cannot be bridged. How would it do to look at the question through another pair of spectacles? What if some of Ashburnham's excellent manufacturing sites were picked up by some big industries and the village became a trade rival of the town? The result would be that two towns would grow up side side, like Berlin and Waterloo, neither amounting to a great deal, whereas, if they were united a municipality would be in existence, the trade relations of which would command attention.

Some of the Aldermen seemed inclined the other evening to hinder, rather than assist, the Otonabee Power Company in getting its power transmission line into the town. In this connection, Mayor Denne's remark will bear repeating to the effect that he "didn't care how many poles and wires there were on the streets as long as we had the cheap power to offer to manufacturers."

Life Insurance Opening!

EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY!

A leading American Life Insurance Company issuing the most liberal and thoroughly up-to-date contracts, with a deposit approaching $1,000,000 solely in the best Canadian bonds, with the Dominion Government, for the sole protection of Canadian policy-holders, established in Canada for upwards of thirty years, is desirous of securing the services of a General Agent for Eastern Ontario. The territory will include the City of Kingston, and will cover the entire field between Kingston and Toronto.

Very liberal commission and renewal contract, with the liberal advance and allowance for travelling expenses, will be accorded the right man. Preference will be given to an agent who has already made his mark in Life Insurance, but who is desirous to secure a permanency by which he will have a larger territory to develop than formerly, with an increasing income from year to year in proportion as he develops his field of operations.

Contract to date from January 1st, 1902.

THIS MORNING'S MARKET.

The Outside Market was Small—Inside was Large.

The Christmas market to-day was a very large one inside the market hall, but the outside market, considering the season of the year, was somewhat small. Not more than half the space was occupied on the market square, a fact that may be due to the rather poor weather. There was quite a lot of beef offering at 6 1-2c and 5 1-2c, whilst pork, dressed, moved off in great quantities at 7 1-2c. Other prices were as follows:—Lambs, 6c to 7c, potatoes, 40c to 45c, best apples, $1.00 per bag.

As before stated, the market upstairs was exceptionally heavy, and prices were high. Turkeys ranged in price from 75c to $1.75; geese 70c to 90c; chickens, 45c to 60c per pair; ducks, 55c to 95c per pair. Butter moved off freely at 22c, and eggs brought 35c per dozen.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The Classes Have Closed for the Holiday Season—The Victoria Club.

The regular educational and gymnasium classes, also the various clubs have closed for the Christmas season, and will not re-open until the second week in January.

The closing meeting of the Victoria Club took the form of a social afternoon. A short programme consisting of music, recitations and readings was excellently rendered by different members. The secretary was the recipient of a box of choice bonbons, accompanied by a short address, expressing the appreciation felt by the junior members of the pleasure and help the fall work in the Association had been to them.

The Association room will be open daily during the holiday season, excepting Christmas Day, and a reception will be held on New Years Day, to which all members of the Association and their friends are invited.

The Gospel meeting to-morrow afternoon will be addressed by Miss Carson of the Dominion Y.W.C.A. All young women are invited.

A FINE ANIMAL

That was Purchased From Mr. R. D. Dundas of the Lowlands, Springville.

Mr. Alex. McGregor, of Epsom, Ont., recently paid a visit to Mr. R. D. Dundas, of the Lowlands, Springville, and purchased the fine big Clydesdale stallion "Airdrie Lad," Vol. 24, B. C. S. B. This valuable horse was imported a short time ago with a number of other high class Clydes from the well known stud of Mr. W. S. Park, Hatton, Bishopton, Scotland. He is a typical Clydesdale. He has both size and bone, with substance and quality, walks like a true draught horse and trots excellently. In point of breeding he is all that can be desired, being sired by the very successful show and breeding horse, "Prince of Craig," and by the world's famed "Prince of Wales," while his dam is by the noted horse "The Hawk." "Airdrie Lad" will be a decided acquisition to the breeding interests of Ontario County, and though the price paid is a very handsome one, it may be safely predicted that Mr. McGregor will have no occasion to regret his venture.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

HOCKEY.

The executive of the Trent Valley Hockey League will likely meet in the Oriental Hotel on the evening of Friday, December 27th, when the schedule will be drawn up and final arrangements made for the season's work. The clubs of the League should have their players registered by that time with the secretary of the League.

Mr. W. T. Junkin, the vice-president of the Trent Valley League, has forwarded his resignation to the secretary of the League, and recommending as his successor Mr. M. H. McCallum, the president of the Fenelon Falls club. Mr. Junkin's reasons for resigning are that he has not the time to devote to the affairs of the League that he thinks he should have. This is to be regretted, as a more popular delegate does not attend the Trent Valley meetings than friend Junkin.

The Toronto papers are silent on the recent exposure of Mr. Simpson, of Newmarket, of the apparent attempt to rob him of a place on the O.H.A. Executive. However, no reflection need be cast on the association if it proceeds at once to have the matter cleared up. On the face of it there appears to have been an attempt on the part of some one to "do" Mr. Simpson.

In the O.H.A. intermediate series Peterborough has been grouped with Port Hope, Lindsay, Cobourg and Belleville, and in the junior series with Belleville and Cobourg.

Port Hope Guide: "Rolly Glover, who played outside home for the Ontarios, on the lacrosse field last summer, at a recent meeting was chosen as captain of the Peterborough Intermediate Hockey Club. His many friends here will extend congratulations."

Ben's Experience.

"Peterborough Ben" does not like geese—they look too much like Boers. On Wednesday of this week Ben was going down town with two young men—rather prominent young men. One was Ben's foster master, and the other his foster master's friend. When going by an express office there was something that attracted Ben's attention. A goose, a fine prize bird at that, sat in a box, the size of which was not consistent with comfort. However, Mrs. Goose was awaiting transportation, and in order to get a last look at George street, she shoved her head through the slats on one side of the box and majestically surveyed the situation. It was too tempting a sight for Ben, and he made a snatch at the head of the goose, very nearly tearing it off. His masters were in consternation, and immediately summoned a vet. to attend the injured bird. Ben, of course, was severely chastised for his action.

ON THE FOUR-SQUARE PLAN.

The four-square plan means that all customers, regardless of rank or station, receive the same careful attention and treatment at our store. We are as particular with the child who is sent to purchase some small article as we are with the experienced adult. We never substitute inferior drugs when filling your doctor's prescription. We never recommend the "something just as good," Sure and Unfailing.

Under all circumstances of sickness and disease Paine's Celery Compound is safe, sure and unfailing. It cleanses and purifies the blood, braces the nerves, corrects digestion, and builds up those who are weak and run down. If you are nervous or sleepless, try one bottle; the results will surprise you. Our stock of Paine's Celery Compound is always fresh and pure. H. H. Edmison, druggist, Peterborough, Ont.

A RACE FOR BLOOD

That Took Place in the Driving Park Yesterday Afternoon—Time 3.33.

Perhaps no speeding in the ring event has aroused so much interest in and around Peterborough in some time as the race which took place yesterday afternoon on the driving park, between Mr. Robert Duplop's 20-year-old pacer and Mr. Robert Scott's 15-year-old trotter. The event ended in a decided victory for Mr. Scott's horse and there can be no doubt now as to its supremacy over its competitor.

The Dunlop-Scott race was on the tapis for some weeks. Both owners claimed that their respective "flyers" would win the event and the money too, which amounted to $100 a side. Great interest—aye, excitement was aroused amongst sporting men and a throng of people assembled at the driving park to witness the affair. An admission fee of 15 cents was charged but this had no tendancy whatever to keep the crowd away, and well onto $100 was realized. The old race track presented its old time appearance, as in the palmiest days of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society or the time of the C. W. A. meet some years ago. Scott's horse was the favourite from the start in the betting, but there were a few takers on the Dunlop charger. The race was to be three out of five heats. When the animals lined up for the start before judges Warden Fitzgerald and Pat Cannan many hearts beat heavily with anxiety and the horses became impatient. The Dunlop horse was attached to a bicycle sulky fitted out with Dunlop tires and was driven by Dunlop, its owner. The Scott animal was likewise driven by its owner and dragged behind it a fair sized cutter. The noble brute had seen better days although it had one more race to run—one more race to win. Amongst its afflictions was a lame front leg and a spring halt behind. When the judges shouted "go" and the favourites shot around the track the tension of excitement was strained to the limit. Very shortly, however, it became quite apparent that the Scott animal had the most speed, the better staying powers and could win in a walk. After the second heat Mr. Dunlop discarded his bicycle sulky, and snagged onto a cutter but it was of no use—the day was lost. Great Scott won three straight heats and he returned to the town amid the applause of his admirers and the soothing and affectionate words of his owner.

MISS DAWSON HONOURED

By Her Cold Springs' Friends—Their New Teacher—Other Notes.

A very pleasant social evening was spent at the residence of Mr. Thos. Sisson on Dec. 19th, when the young people of the neighbourhood tendered a farewell oyster supper to Miss Ethel Dawson, who has been teacher here for the past year. Miss Dawson has been highly esteemed as a friend among the young people and many and sincere were the regrets expressed at her severing her present relations with us. The hearty good wishes of the community follow her to her new field of labour, and we hope that she may be as successful in the future as she has been during the past year. We hope to hold her ever as a friend and that we may often enjoy her pleasant company among us. On the afternoon of the same day the pupils of the school presented her with a handsome Ladies' Companion and very suitable address. The address was read by Fred Kelsey, and the presentation was made by Teresa McMartin.

Mr. John Rossel has been secured as our teacher for the next year.

The Cold Springs' Sunday School intend holding their annual Christmas entertainment on Monday, Dec. 23. A good programme is being prepared and an enjoyable evening is anticipated.—Com.

LADIES' WAISTS.
We are doing a great trade in our Ladies' Waists in Silk, Taffeta, Flannel, etc. Every lady now knows that our Waists are the standard of fashion and quality.

We have a great choice of Christmas Boxes. See our Lined Kid Gloves, Dress Gloves, Guantlets, Corsets, Table Drapes, Lace Ties, Boleros, Lace Collars, Fancy Handkerchiefs, Underwear, Underskirts, Dress Skirts, Children's Mantles, Fur Ruffs, Boas, Carriage Robes, etc. These fill the bill exactly for CHRISTMAS BOXES.

CARVING THE TURKEY

A supreme moment of expectation could be easily turned into an hour of vexation by having a dull carver to wrestle with. Your Christmas feast would be one of annoyance unless you have a set of our Fine New Line Carvers, with good, serviceable handles, that will disjoint a turkey and carve it in wafer slices in a hurry. Our fine stock of Table Cutlery, for Christmas gifts, are useful and will be appreciated by the housewife.

THE KINGAN HARDWARE CO., Limited

Choice Christmas Fruits, Turkeys and Oysters...

My Christmas stock is now very full, and fresh goods are arriving every day—I might almost say by every train. All those goods are the very choicest and best on the market. You will save yourself all worry and dissatisfaction by buying your Christmas catables here. The following are a few of the many lines which I offer:—

Florida Oranges, California Seedless Oranges, Mexican Oranges, Valencia Oranges, Pineapples, Malaga Grapes, Bananas, Jersey Cranberries, Table Raisins, Layer Figs, Nuts of all kinds, Lord Mott Oysters, Choice Turkeys, Lettuce, Parsley, Celery, and a great variety of Confectionery.

The Cup That Cheers

Is there really anything so refreshing as a cup of tea! Of course, we don't blame some people who say there's not much refreshment about a cup of tea, because they're drinking something else that has had no acquaintance with the real tea leaf.

We sell tea—real tea—and if you want to know how refreshing it can be, make a cup from one of our fine varieties imported for the Christmas season.

VARICOCELE

No matter how serious your case may be or how long you may have had it, our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure it. The "wormy veins" return to their normal condition and hence the sexual organs receive proper nourishment. The organs become vitalized and manly powers return. No temporary benefit, but a permanent cure assured. NO CURE, NO PAY. NO OPERATION NECESSARY. NO DETENTION FROM BUSINESS.

STRICTURE

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unsuccessfully. They may have a smarting sensation, sharp, cutting pains at times, weak organs, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you by cutting, stretching or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue, hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened, the nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

Cures Guaranteed

We treat and cure BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, IMPOTENCY, STRICTURE, VARICOCELE, SEMINAL LOSSES, BLADDER and KIDNEY DISEASES. CONSULTATION FREE. BOOKS FREE. CHARGES MODERATE. If unable to call, write for a QUESTION BLANK for HOME Treatment.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock were light at the cattle market to-day, 53 car loads all told; cattle 583, hogs 1377, sheep 737, and 15 calves.

The quality of fat cattle generally was only medium, few choice lots being offered.

Trade was not brisk, but all offerings found a market at fair prices, according to quality. Prices for good to choice animals were no weaker, but common grades were easy at prices given.

Sheep and lambs were in good demand and sold at firmer prices.

Deliveries of hogs were fair and prices are again 12½c per cwt. higher all round. Selects sold at $6.37½; lights, at $6, and fats at $5.87½ per cwt.

In all other classes prices were unchanged from Thursday's quotations.

Don't Waste Money.

If you have nerve troubles or dyspepsia take Merrill's System Tonic. It cures by purifying the blood and regulating the bowels. Then dyspepsia and nerveous diseases disappear. This is the scientific and correct way of doing. Get a 50c. bottle of Merrill's System Tonic which last three weeks, at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

THE ESQUIMO

The Esquimo eats blubber. The lumbermen eat pork. These people are constantly exposed to cold and physical strain. Experience has taught them that fatty foods give warmth and nourishment.

For those who have cold and thin bodies, or are threatened with consumption or any wasting disease, there is no fat in so digestible and palatable a form as Scott's Emulsion. Physicians prescribe it.

CHRISTMAS HUMOR.

A Bunch of Short, Crisp Yuletide Mirth by the Funny Fellows.

Mrs. Cobwigger—Oh, my! I feel more dead than alive. There is altogether too much asked of me. I was never used to housework, and it's killing me inch by inch. The first thing you know I'll be down with nervous prostration.

Cobwigger—Shall I call in the doctor, my dear?

Mrs. Cobwigger—What use would that be? He would only advise what I've been telling you I needed all along—complete rest.

Cobwigger—By the way, did you sew on that button?

Mrs. Cobwigger—Oh, Henry, how can you be so brutal! Any one but you could see that I am completely used up.

Cobwigger—So you're too tired to take a couple of stitches?

Mrs. Cobwigger—Yes; I can hardly raise my head.

Cobwigger—If it's really as bad as that, my dear, something has got to be done for you at once. Take this twenty dollars and go out and do some Christmas shopping.—New York World.

The best way to tell whether a present is a cheap one is to observe whether the price has been rubbed off.

The Party—Quite a rush of the matrimonially inclined, isn't there?

Preacher—Always at this time of year. It's cheaper to marry than buy Christmas presents, you know.—New York Journal.

Bessie—Do you really believe there is any Santa Claus, Tommy?

Tommy—Course not, but don't tell ma I said so, or she'll think I'm getting too old to have candy and toys and things.

* * *

Just because your wife tells you to buy her something useful, don't think she will be satisfied if you send her home a barrel of flour.

First Chick—How did Mr. Turkey make out in the race, yesterday?

Second Chick—Oh, he completely lost his head.

"Mrs. Small never minces matters," said the star boarder to the new acquisition.

"Not even when she is preparing the pies for the Christmas dinner?" asked the latter.

Askins—What makes you look so cheerful, Lanks?

Lanks (who boards)—Why, three of my fellow boarders were taken suddenly ill while eating their Christmas dinners—one with a stroke of paralysis, another with heart disease and the third with a fit.

"Great Scott! What cause for rejoicing is there in that?"

"Why, don't you see? I ate their shares of the dinner, along with my own, and so managed to fully satisfy my appetite."

What is Life to You?

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

CHRISTMAS WISH.

I wish that good old Santa
Would travel like a shaw
And to his tent of playthings
For nothing but me go,
And take along my stockings
To fill in laughing glee
With all the things he finally
Hangs on the Christmas tree.

I'd see the pantoheard camel
Wink at the kangaroo;
I'd see the rhino wombat
And quagga chase the gnu;
I'd see the rubber ostrich
Serenely wink his eye
To see the monkey captive
The peanut on the fly.

And then I'd see old Santa
With all his books of rhymes;
I'd grab him by the whiskers
And bite him fifty times
And on his back go riding
Beneath the baby dome
And with a lot of playthings
Go running gayly home.

'Tis then I think old Santa
Should up and go away
And in some other village
Put up his tent next day,
And then go on still farther,
And farther still and still
To let all lovely children
Their great big stockings fill.

'Twould then be always Christmas
All musical with joy
And bursting tree and turkey
And hobby horse and toy,
For while upon his travels
Old Santa'd scatter cheer;
He'd make a Christmas somewhere
Each day throughout the year.

WHO IS SANTA CLAUS?

Tradition Answers With a Pretty Story.

It is frequently asked, "Who is Santa Claus?" Here is a story about him that lets light upon his real character. He was bishop of Myra and died about the year 326. Among his parishioners (so runs one story) there lived a certain nobleman who had three daughters. From being rich he became so poor that there seemed to him no means of obtaining food for his daughters but by sacrificing them to a dishonorable life. Over and over again the thought came into his mind to tell them so, but shame and sorrow held him dumb. Meanwhile the maidens wept continually, not knowing what to do and having no bread to eat, and their father became more and more desperate. When St. Nicholas heard of this, he thought it a shame that such a thing should happen in a Christian land. Therefore one night when the maidens were asleep and their father alone sat watching and weeping he took a handful of gold and tying it up in a handkerchief repaired to the nobleman's dwelling. He considered how he might bestow it without making himself known, and while he stood irresolute the moon coming from behind a cloud showed him an open window. So he threw in the gold, and it fell at the feet of the father, who, when he found it, returned thanks and presented it to his eldest daughter as her wedding portion. A second time St. Nicholas collected a similar sum, and again he threw it in by night. So a wedding portion was provided for the second daughter. But the curiosity of the old nobleman was now excited. He greatly desired to know who it was that came to his aid. Therefore he determined to watch. When the good saint came for the third time and prepared to throw in the third portion, he was discovered, for the nobleman seized him by the skirt of his robe and flung himself at his feet, saying, "Oh, Nicholas, servant of God, why seek to hide thyself?" And he kissed his feet and hands. But St. Nicholas made him promise that he would tell no man.

A Wrong Burial Certificate.

When a physician issues a burial certificate for one who has died of consumption or throat trouble, he should say, Cause of death, neglect to take Four T's when the cough first started. Four T's cure a cough in 24 hours and and the worst cold in two days, and you get a large bottle for 25c. at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Christmas in the Orient.

It is a strange but significant fact that the natives of India—Hindoos and Mohammedans—call Christmas the great day of the year. "Barra-din" (literally "great day"), thus unwittingly bearing testimony of the influence of the Babe of Bethlehem, the world's Redeemer. No one knows the origin of this Hindustani phrase. The Hindoos have a great many festivals and celebrate the birthdays of several of their gods and goddesses, especially those who were the most famous, but no one of these days is called "the great day." Of course this expressive phrase in India is a constant argument in favor of Christianity. Christmas is indeed a great day in India. People begin preparing for it three months beforehand. Merchants send to London or Paris for dolls, toys, sweetmeats, Christmas cards and a great many other things. Native shopkeepers lay in a large supply of raisins, almonds and all sorts of material for cake and pastry; butter and eggs grow dearer and dearer. The courts adjourn and European banks are closed, for the holidays; visits among friends (there are very few foreigners in India who have relatives there) are planned, and great preparations are made for the festive season.

The native people, of course, do not celebrate Christmas. They know that Christians do, however, and this simple fact, to constantly observed, causes them to think about the power of Christianity. Many are led to ask: "Who was Christ? What did he do? Why do the Christians observe his birthday?" These inquiries call forth various answers; discussion follows, and thus the whole nation, with its many millions of people, is thinking and talking about the world's Saviour.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

He Could Cook.

"Can he cook?" asked the proprietor of the restaurant.

"Cook?" echoed the caller, who was rooting for a friend out of a job. "Can he cook? Say, I've seen that man make four squab pies out of one old pigeon!"

Apropos of the money question, nary a man in public life or out has yet developed a scheme which will give everybody all the money he wants.—Philadelphia Ledger.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $165 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

Old Beelzebub

A Christmas Bear Story By... ED MOTT

If you are ever at this time of year up on the Old Passadanky sit down at the Buckhorn tavern, select tiny one of the grizzled woodsmen you will find already sitting there, exchange a dime at not too infrequent intervals for a certain tipple that is popular with the natives and is called rum and tansy, and refer inquiringly to Old Beelzebub, the remarkable bear of Spook Run gully and the amazing Christmas present he made to one Paley Simco.

As the story goes, the oldest settlement in all that part of the original wildwood was at Passadanky. The deep gully and the creek that roared through it were there when the first settlers came. Neither had any name, and it was not until folks began to see ghosts along the creek and in the gully that appropriate nomenclature for them was suggested. Silas Grubb, so they will tell you, shot a deer one day. It fell, and he stepped up to it to cut its throat. As he was standing astride the deer he supposed was dead it rose suddenly and went bounding down the creek, with Silas on its back, clasping its neck and vociferating loudly that help would be welcome. Job Funk, who was hunting along the creek, saw the deer in its wild flight and emptied the contents of his rifle into it. He not only killed the deer, but bored Silas Grubb with his rifle ball as well.

HE MADE THE WILD PLUNGE.

Not long after that a specter deer, bestrode by a specter rider, appeared at intervals in the woods, dashing wildly down the creek until it reached the spot where Funk's rifle had done its fatal work, and there always vanished. Then folks took to calling the creek Spook Run and the gully Spook Run gully, and by and by a lumber company put a big dam across the creek and a log shoot three miles long through the deep, dark, crooked, ghostly gully, down which the logs were sent from the woods to the mill dam as swift as the wind, and down this shoot came dashing, astride a log, daredevil Bill Topson, having drunk more than generously of log driver rum and wagered that he would make the fearful ride. He made it, including the wild plunge from the mouth of the gully to the pond, fifty feet below. When he was taken from the pond, after his awful ride and plunge, his hair, which had been black when he started, was as white as snow.

"And if'd 'a' been queer if it hadn't turned white," any of the Passadanky narrators will tell you. "He rid that log them three miles in less than four minutes."

But the reason this feat of Bill Topson's has particular place of honor in the chronicles of Old Passadanky is because it was the culmination of the career of Old Beelzebub as a wonder working bear. When that bear was less than a year old, Jephtha Wiggins, the pelt gatherer, killed its father and mother and chased the orphan cub for days, with the hope of adding its pelt to the other two, but failed in his purpose. After awhile that orphaned bear returned to the vicinity of its old home, and, as everybody will tell you up there, it came back with a grudge against Jephtha Wiggins.

"That b'ar came back," they will say, "and if he hadn't 'a' come, there'd a been more sheep and pigs along the Old Passadanky than there was for the next three or four years. And he was so overpowerin' full of Satan that folks give him the name of Old Beelzebub. And Jepthy Wiggins had good reason to be sorry he ever pelted that bear's father and mother, for what happened to him when he begun to get the orders for black sheep pelts?—orders that came in thick and fast, although nobody never knowed what in the world made sech a call for black sheep pelts. What happened then? Why, black sheep pelts got scarce. I should say they did! And what made 'em git scarce? That b'ar with a grudge ag'in Jepthy Wiggins! That vengeful b'ar jest lugged off all the black sheep there was in the district. Not a smell of a white sheep did he fetch.

"But that makin' of a black sheepskin famine in the district wasn't a circumstance to what that schemin' b'ar done in layin' out his plan of vengeance ag'in, although it was included in it. He wouldn't 'a' gone as far as he did, though, if he hadn't happened to see Bill Topson shoot through Spook Run gully on the log that day. He see Bill shoot the gully and come plungin' out of that hole in the rocks down into the pond, and he didn't fergit it. He remembered it, and it give him the chance to give Jepthy Wiggins what he thought would be the worst wipe yit."

It seems that Jephtha Wiggins was the greatest pelt gatherer in the Old Passadanky country, and he had a daughter named Prudence. Paley Simco, a likely young woodsman, was in love with Prudence, and the feeling was reciprocal.

"Now," as the Passadanky narrator will tell you, "mebbe you mowt wonder what under the canopy Old Beelzebub had to do with that. Nothin', mebbe. 'Tain't likely that he cared a snap whether Paley Simco loved Prudence Wiggins. But Jepthy Wiggins cared. He had other ideas for his daughter, and well that amazin' bear knowed it. Jepthy wanted the Squire Bimbler possessions in his family, and he could git 'em by marryin' Prudence to the squire's son Jorum. Jorum didn't want to git married, and Prudence didn't want to marry Jorum, but Jorum and Prudence didn't have any say in it. The squire and Jepthy fixed it to suit themselves. The weddin' night come, but no Jorum. Along in the forenoon of the next day in come Jorum to Wiggins'.

"'Old Beelzebub kidnaped me as I was on my way over here through the woods yisterday!' said Jorum. 'He run me straight and fast to Germley's b'ar pen, way back at the head of the big swamp, and kep' me there all night.'"

Jephtha Wiggins swore that he would hunt down that vengeful and vindictive bear and strip off his pelt if it took him all the rest of his days.

"It was gittin' along to'rds Christmas time when Paley plucked up courage to ask Jepthy ag'in for Prudence. Jepthy turned on him, grinnin' the aggravatinest kind, and blurted out:

"'Yes, you kin have her—that is, if you fetch me two black sheepskins for a Christmas present! If you don't, you can't never have her!'

"Now, of course, that was just as good as tellin' Paley that there wasn't any use. He never knowed to his dyin' day what it could 'a' been that sent him roamin' and roamin' that day, but he went a-roamin', and the first thing he knowed he found himself on the edge of a scrubby lookin' clearin' in the Sour Medder district, and he seen a man clubbin' what he s'posed was a tame b'ar. That riled him more'n ever, and he shouted to the man:

"'What are you poundin' that poor b'ar for?'

"'It's my b'ar,' the man shouted back, 'and if you don't like what I'm doin' come here and I'll pound you awhile and give the b'ar a rest!'

"And what did Paley do but go over there, and I s'pose that when he got through with that citizen of the Sour Medder district the citizen was a leetle the worst whipped man ever seen in them parts.

"'There!' said Paley. 'When you pun ag'in me, you haven't got no b'ar to fool with!'

"And then Paley see that it was Bart Sproat he had been lickin' and that the b'ar was Old Beelzebub. Paley hadn't gone more than a hundred yards on his way when, lookin' over into Bart's field, he see two of the biggest and blackest sheep that ever cropped sorrel!

"'The only two black sheep in the hull blame country!' Paley groaned, 'and here I've gone and 'most hammered the life outt of the man that owns 'em! Tossed Prudence away jest to take the part of a rambunctious old sheep stealin' b'ar!'

"Paley actually batted himself ag'in his head with his fist and lifted up his voice and wept. After awhile he cooled down a leetle and got an idea.

"'I'll go back and apologise to Bart,' said he, 'and offer him twenty dollars for them sheep! That's as much as his hull clearin' would fetch!'

"So Paley went back. The b'ar laid on the ground lickin' himself, and Bart was settin' on a rock by the door. His head was swelled, and one eye was shet, and his wife was doin' of him up in rags.

"'Pison henbane!' he yelled as good as he could. 'Here he comes ag'in! Git the gun, Sairy, and load him full of lead!'

"'Hold on, Bart!' Paley shouted. 'I've come back to apologise and offer you twenty dollars for them two black sheep,' and Paley was soft enough to tell Bart what he wanted 'em for.

"'Say,' yelled Bart, 'when you see a white b'ar comin' to'rds you carryin' them sheep pelts, and it makes you a Christmas present of 'em, you kin have 'em, and not before! I'll 'ake 'em down and sell 'em to Jepthy Wiggins! Sairy, git the gun!'

"Sairy, she started as if she was goin' to git the gun, and Paley didn't wait to argue with Bart any longer. He give one awful glare at Old Beelzebub, who laid there with one eye peeled up at him, and wished that he had a gun himself to load the pesky b'ar with lead. But it was a mighty good thing for Paley that he didn't have none."

It seems that Paley resumed his roaming, and Bart Sproat and his boys killed the two black sheep, took their skins off and hung them in the shed.

"'I'll take 'em down to Jepthy Wiggins tomorrow,' said Bart, 'git a good, stiff price for 'em and cook that consarned Paley's goose at the same time!'"

Bart went out to get the pelts next morning. They were gone! So was Old Beelzebub. The amazing bear had stolen the sheep pelts and had made tracks for the woods. Bart and his boys started to find the trail.

The Passadanky story is that Paley Simco found himself at Spook Run mill pond that morning and was thinking that the best thing he could do would be to throw himself into it when he heard a great noise up in the gully.

"He looked up," the Passadanky narrator will tell you, "and there he see a sight that made him turn cold. Somethin' was whizzin' down the log shoot and so fast Paley couldn't make out what it was till it shot from the mouth of the shoot and came climbin' up the bank, right where Paley stood. Then the somethin' give itself a shake. Two big, black sheepskins tumbled off of it, and there was Old Beelzebub, but he was white all over! He jest give one look at Paley and tore away into the woods and was never seen no more. As Paley turned to look after him, there he see Bart Sproat standin', and Bart was most as white as the b'ar, for he had seen the hull thing and knowed what it meant!

"HERE HE COMES AG'IN!"

"That ride down the log shoot had scared Old Beelzebub's hair white. What did he do it for, then? So as a white b'ar could carry them sheep pelts to Paley and make him a Christmas present of 'em! By doin' that Old Beelzebub got even with Bart Sproat, and by Paley Simco havin' the pelts to make Jepthy Wiggins a Christmas present of 'em, and so forcin' Jepthy to give Paley his daughter Prudence, Old Beelzebub shoved his grudge deep into Jepthy, and he went off a-feelin' good.

"Well, all there was to it after that was that Paley got down to Wiggins' Christmas eve and knocked Jepthy speechless by handin' over the Christmas present. And Jepthy had to hand Prudence over to Paley, and they was married that very next Christmas day. The way it turned out, though, Jepthy was never sorry that Old Beelzebub had brought things to setch a pass, and if the vengeful b'ar had ever knowed that, it's more than likely that he'd 'a' come back and tried his plans ag'in Jepthy some more."—New York Mail and Express.

Callisthenics

Are a benefit to healthy women. But to women who are suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex they are an injury. When there is weak back or bearing-down pains, sideache or other indications of womanly weakness, exercise can only aggravate the condition. The womanly health must be first restored before strength can be developed by exercise.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It does this by healing the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It stops the drains that weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"When I first commenced using Doctor Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. George A. Strong, of Gansevoort, Saratoga Co., N. Y., "I was suffering from female weakness, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains, weak and tired feeling all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, and I began taking your medicine. After taking first bottle I began to feel better. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of 'Pleasant Pellets,' also used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me.

"I have a sister who is taking your medicine and it is helping her."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets promote regularity of the bowels, and assist the action of "Favorite Prescription." No other laxative should be used with Dr. Pierce's Medicines.

A Four Footed Bird.

There is a four footed bird, the Opisthocomus cristatus, which has such anomalies of structure that it is impossible to class it along with any other family. It is one of those survivors which tell us of extinct groups of whose past existence we would otherwise have remained forever ignorant. These, the only species of four footed birds, inhabit the island of Marajo in the lower Amazon. It is only during infancy that this remarkable feature of these birds is seen, the two fore feet appearing early in the development of the embryo and continuing perfectly formed for several days after hatching, when they are gradually shed. It is also known as the hoactzin or evil smelling bird, the flesh having an unpleasant odor, making it unpalatable to both man and carnivorous animals, which is probably one cause of its survival.

CHAPTER XIV.

As we continue our advance we pass the entrance to the men's quarters, and the sergeant's, finally reaching the saloon amidships, the rendezvous or habitation of our officers. These quarters are closely guarded, but we will not be molested this morning, for no sentry has as yet been posted, so we will quietly proceed, taking notice of the life boats, about twenty in all, above our heads, over the saloon, and suspended over the sea, ready to be launched at a moment's notice. We are now confronted by a temporary wall, placed in position during the remodelling of the vessel at Halifax, and in order to view the remainder of the upper deck we will be obliged to ascend the steeply ascending steps before us. Many bales of hay are scattered about promiscuously on this deck, and no doubt you will be a little surprised and amused to find a farm yard here, as well. Yes, we have about forty or fifty sheep on board, and the insatiety of our officers for fresh eggs accounts for the great number of hens that fly around with as little concern as if on the farm. They are so attached to the vessel that you can't chase them overboard, for I have witnessed the boys endeavouring to do so many a time, but their efforts invariably proved futile. They are real sensible Canadian hens, and you can't cod them, either, for they've travelled more than a hen's race from home. They're not so silly as that old New Yorker that sat on a door knob eleven weeks trying to hatch out a house and lot, but they are so charitable that we have all we can do to prevent them from divesting themselves of their plumage to make feather beds for our officers. When you hear the roosters crowing in the morning it seems so strange, fanciful and visionary that you believe yourself in a dream or incubus, but it is a grave reality, and the songsters seem to delight in these sunrise, free to all, open air concerts. The smoke from the funnel made the sheep black, eclipsing Diamond Dyes, before they reached Cape Town, and one of the boys was offered the wool if he would shear them, and it was indeed ludicrous to see him struggling with them, and as he strove to discharge the duty with an ordinary pair of scissors. I can't say definitely whether he ever completed his contract or not, but the poor sheep, patient in tribulation, looked as though their lives had been in jeopardy, and if circumstantial evidence counts for anything, we may reasonably suppose the shearer was granted not only the wool, but the hide as well, for doing the job. One night something disturbed these docile animals, perhaps they thought it was this same ruthless man with his instruments of torture, and one of them, rather than take chances on her life in another ordeal of the kind, leaped over the side of an open hatchway, only to be dashed to death fifty feet below. Some of the Artillery boys, unaware of the sheep's approach, were sitting around at the bottom, telling romantic tales, one of which no doubt came to an abrupt end as the sheep landed at their feet. The boys said they thought it was the devil himself, and were paralyzed with fear. I suppose they thought he had unexpectedly dropped in to claim his own, and none of them having the wherewithal to redeem themselves, made things assume a rather serious aspect, and accounts for the intensity of their fear. Next day our menu for dinner included fresh mutton, and quite a number of the khaki soldiers avered it was this suicide, but then one sheep wouldn't go far toward feeding such a multitude.

Descending a stairway similiar to the one behind us, we reach the wheel-house in which the machinery for guiding the vessel is placed. In the rear of this is the flag-pole of the stern, where the naval reserve flag is frequently unfurled to the balmy breeze. No, that is not a chronometer, but it resembles a cyclometer in a degree, and tells us how far we travel in twenty-four hours. It is what sailors call a log-line, and the metal on the farther end of the rope revolves in the water as the ship progresses, giving the entire line a winding movement, which works the interior of your so-called time-piece, and causes it to register the distance.

As we return to the bow, let us enter the stables situated in that portion of these temporary quarters, beneath the zoological gardens, and in this way we will obviate the necessity of climbing the stairs. The stalls, you will notice, are extremely narrow, just wide enough to admit of standing room. The partitions and all other woodwork are of pine plank or scantling, smoothly planed, carefully fitted and sufficiently substantial to resist any concussion. The plank in front of them as high as the horses' breasts has oat boxes suspended from it at meal times, and when the animals have finished their repast, these boxes are removed, inverted and neatly lined along the foot-board on the floor. The partitions are moveable, being set in grooves, and this is frequently necessary when a horse falls asleep and drops off its feet. In such a case the man on duty calls for help and then begins pulling down these temporary walls. He must remove several, so as to crowd two or three animals on either side more closely together, thus affording an opportunity for the culprit, who is now awake, to regain his former position. This is a very common offence, and the guilty party is generally punished by receiving a sharp reprimand and a few sound thumps with a cudgel to make sure he is awake. The animals on our right and left front each other, and their heads almost reach across the narrow passage, so if you are as nervous as the sailors, you will run the gauntlet on your hands and knees. At intervals are gangways descending to the lower decks, but it is unnecessary for us to go down since there is nothing new to be seen, and it will materially shorten our walk.

The hatchways are all closed at present, but in a week or ten days when the weather becomes more clement they will be opened, and electric fans in position will cause a draft through these funnel-shaped ventilators that will reduce the intense heat of the stables to a minimum. These barrels are filled with water with the hose, and it is no uncommon thing to see some unfortunate get a shower bath during the process.

Continuing our walk, we leave the stables on the port side of the vessel, and since it is almost identical with the starboard side, we need not devote any more time to its description, but hurry forward past the saloon and sergeant's quarters, cross over to the farther side, and descend the gangway to our sleeping and dining apartments. The tables are all numbered, parallel to each other, and each gradually inclines from the side of the vessel towards the centre. At the farther end are a number of tin cups, plates, cutlery, etc., for messing purposes. The tables, forms and floors are kept scrupulously clean by the mess-orderlies, who scrub them every morning. If there is one duty more distasteful and repugnant than another, to me this is most, and if I could bribe a comrade to become a substitute, I cheerfully gave him his reward. My reason for doing so was not because the courses were so numerous, nor the etiquette embarrassing, but owing to my inability to make a division of rations entirely satisfactory to all.

On our right are the racks in which our rifles stand, and they girdle the four sides of the open hatchway, overlooking the "pit" on the lower deck, where the boys have friendly pugilistic bouts every night. Those water tanks, instead of being a convenience, are a perfect nuisance, because they are rarely replete with water, and if they should by chance, it is so warm you upset the cup in disgust, and the contents spread over the shelf, and ultimately diffuse over the rifles and leaves them in a wretchedly rusty condition. Have we no ice? Sometimes we do get a little through the generosity of our staff, but very, very seldom.

Directly in front of this hatchway, on the side toward the forfecastle, is a small fibre-room filled with life belts, but they are of little value on the sea, thousands of miles from land, in a place infested with man-eating monsters, and, if you should escape these, these two fiends, Starvation and Death, still stare you in the face.

Moving on to the forecastle, we have the dispensary on our right and the hospital on our left. There are few actually confined in the latter, but close on eighty are under medical treatment. The dispensary is a small apartment, but it is really astonishing how much misery, indescribable agony indeed is sometimes confined in a small compass, and this, you would know, in verity, if you ever had occasion to use some of those tiny pills they manufacture here. Good goods and poisons, they tell us, are done up in small parcels, but I can't say whether these pain-producing pillets belong to the former or latter class. At all events, one dose was invariable sufficient, not because it affected a cure, but nobody cared to risk their life on another. Directly underneath, on the lower deck, where we have the guard-room,—a perfect dungeon,—on our left, the kit-bag room on our right, and the saddle room, harness room and magazine in our front. Our kit-bags must be relegated to the room constructed for them in the most remote corner of our miniature world, and if we desired to get anything out of them we must have a sergeant accompany us. This was a great inconvenience to both non-coms. and men, for it might so transpire that no two of us had reason to frequent the place at the same time, or it might be after we had returned we would learn of some new order that had been promulgated in our absence that would necessitate another visit to this compartment, and if the sergeant were out of humor, which was frequently the case, things became very unpleasant for us all. To increase the discomfort, someone unfortunately broke the globe of our incandescent electric light, and we were compelled to grope in the dark for what we wanted, while the sergeant, having least of all patience, was firing oaths at us by the cart-load, to hurry us up. This plan, the very essence of inconvenience, never worked satisfactorily, and we were very thankful indeed when the hay under our kit room became heated, and demanded the demolition of these divisions in that portion of the vessel. Had this forage been five degrees hotter, we would have had a conflagration on board, and owing to its close proximity to the magazine, a terrific explosion would have been inevitable, and neither the details of the catastrophe nor this story ever written.

You will be thinking it is near time for breakfast, but if you can procrastinate a little longer, we will retrace our steps to the engine room, and watch the stokers wheeling coal in barrows, and dumping it into the immense furnaces at the rate of fifty tons a day. Our transport had a cargo of three thousand tons of coal—enough to carry her through from Halifax to Cape Town and back. These firemen almost completely divest themselves of their garments while on duty, and work hard for four hours, at the expiration of which they are relieved for four. In front of the saloon, above the decks, is the "bridge," upon which the Captain and his mates take turns in doing duty. Day and night these officers alternately pace that bridge, from side to side, like a sentry at his post, and the wheelman in the centre guides the great vessel over the trackless seas.

PETERBOROUGH'S Y. M. C. A.

A Continuation of Yesterday's Report.

Several Committees Tell of the Progress That Has Been Made During the Past Year.

The following is a continuation of the report of the annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A., which was held Thursday night:—

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

Mr. A. C. Frowde, Boys' Secretary, presented the following report of the boys' department:—

To the Officers, Board of Directors, and Members of the Association;

The Boys' Department beg leave to repot as follows:—

During the past year our boys' work has developed into one of the most flourishing branches in Ontario and Quebec. People are beginning to realize the importance of boys' work more than they have ever done before, and hence we are getting more support and encouragement along these lines. It is really more important than the senior work, because if we get the boy we have the man. In Proverbs we find these words, 'Train up the boy in the way he should go, and afterward he will not depart from it." At the late convention held in Hamilton, it was clearly shown by means of a chart that a boy at the age of twelve years can be more easily reached for Spiritual things than he can at 21 and over. Therefore our efforts are to get at an age when we can influence his life most easily for the good. Also to enter the Association as a boy and to grow up in it, and in time he will become one of its best workers.

These are the purposes of the boys' work:—

1—To develop him Spiritually, mentally and physically.

2—To develop him into a superior Association worker.

3—To provide him a place where he can spend his leisure hours free from questionable influences.

New Rooms.—Our new rooms in the basement are now fitted up and ready for use. There is a reading room fitted up with table, chairs, cosy corner, and the following magazines:—Boys' Own, American Boy, Canadian Boy, Illustrated London News, Ram's Horn, St. Nicholas, etc.

The game room is in need of games, and ought to receive immediate attention. There is also a meet room, which will seat 75 boys quite comfortably, and the secretary's office.

The boys are allowed in the rooms from four to six o'clock every week day and all day Saturday. The number of school boys on our roll is 136, as against 92 of last year. This shows an increase of 41 per cent.

The boys' meeting, formerly held on Friday night from 7.30 till 8.30, was changed to Friday afternoon from 4.15 to 5 p.m. The change worked well, giving many boys an opportunity to attend who otherwise could not. The attendance averaged 34. The meetings are full of interest and enthusiasm.

The Bible classes were two in number. At first one was organized, and the attendance was so large that we were compelled to divide it, making two classes with twelve in each.

The Boys' Christian Circle was organized at the beginning of last season, and was well attended. The roll totalled 33, with an average attendance of 19. They meet at the close of the boys' meeting and review their home studies on the boy Christian.

During the year 34 boys expressed a desire to lead a Christian life.

Summer Camp.—Our 4th annual camp was held at Kawartha Park, on Clear Lake, in the month of July, and to use the boys' expression, it was a "hummer." 41 boys attended, and were divided into squads, each having its respective leader, in the shape of an overgrown boy. A Bible class was held every morning, and the attendance was optional. Thirteen sessions were held, with a total attendance of 119 and an average attendance of 15. Also a series of "Nature Studies" were taken up, prepared by Mr. H. Elcome. Mr. Peter Jamieson, Boys' Secretary of the Hamilton Association, states that of twelve different camps of which he has had the pleasure of attending, the Peterborough camp was the most successful. While we have every reason to be thankful to Him who controls our work, and in Whom we trust for strength and guidance, we still look forward to greater success in the future.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Signed on behalf of the Boys' Committee,

S. R. HALL,
Chairman Boys' Committee.

On motion of W.S. Robinson, seconded by Rollie Merrill, the report was adopted.

EDUCATIONAL COMMITTEE.

The report of the Educational Committee was presented by Mr. A. E. Dixon, chairman thereof, and was as follows:—

The Educational Committee of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association report as follows for the past year:—

This department of work has now begun its fifth year with a larger membership than any previous year. We began in 1897 with an enrollment of twenty-seven different men, and have increased each year. Our enrollment in the year just closed was one hundred and thirty, almost five times the number in the first year. The total number of sessions of classes was one hundred and fifty-seven, and the total attendance was one thousand, eight hundred and five, being an increase in attendance over the previous year, of 194 per cent.

This large attendance in the classes made it clear to us that to continue the work meant more class room. The Directors consulted with the Trustees of the building, and arranged to have the building completed, which was done during the past summer. This gives us us the extra class room we so much needed, on the third floor, and the addition of a suite of boys' rooms in the basement made it possible to convert the room formerly occupied by the boys into a library and magazine room for senior members. We require a book case for this room, and contributions for the establishment of a young men's library, which is needed in connection with our work.

At the close of last year's work in March last, a re-union of class members was held, and was addressed by some of the instructors and others interested in the work, including managers in the large workshops, and several of the students. Many of the students bore testimony to the value of the instruction they received and to their appreciation of the services of the instructors. Mr. Dixon read a few extracts from what some of the students said in regard to the benefits of the classes.

Classes were conducted in Mechanical Drawing, Electricity, Book Keeping, Arithmetic, Shorthand, English and Singing, under the following instructors;—Messrs. W.H. Collier, B.A., C. W. Laing, C.E. Brown, W.D. Campbell, J. McCreary, R. Merrill, J. C. Smythe, H. Finney, and F. W. Walden.

The Committee desire to express their thanks and the thanks of the Association for the splendid services rendered by these men, which, for the most part, was voluntary.

This department needs more money for its full development. When millions of dollars are being spent on our colleges and universities, which reach only about one per cent. of the young men of the land, what should be spent on the other ninety-nine per cent., to reach whom is the aim of the Association?

The report, on motion of Mr. A. C. McCallum and Mr. J.C. Brown, was adopted. Mr. McCallum and Mr. W.S. Robinson pointing out the value of a practical technical schooling, and the desirability that an institution for that purpose should be established.

GEN. DEWET'S FIASCO

After Four Hours' Fighting He Drew the Boers Off.

4 BOERS KILLED, 20 WOUNDED

Men From Australia—Mr. Chamberlain Has Cabled a Request to Premier Barton For One Thousand Men—Some South African Despatches Speak of Surrender, But a Volkerust Despatch Says Reverse.

Harrismith, Orange River Colony, Dec. 22.—The first fight in which Gen. Dewet has figured for some time is reported to have occurred at Langberg, Dec. 18. It was rather a fiasco, considering the recent ominous reports regarding the noted general's rejuvenated commando.

Dewet, with 800 men and two guns, clashed with Generals Dartnell and Campbell.

After a four hours' fight the Boers drew off, with a loss of four killed and 20 wounded.

The British loss was one killed and 14 wounded.

General Dartnell has been making a series of surprise visits to farms in the Harrismith district lately by night, and has thus captured 24 Boers in bed.

Fourteen Boers surrendered in a body yesterday near Standerton. Dartnell says signs are increasing of an inclination on the part of individual Boers to surrender.

Glad of a Thousand Men.

London, Dec. 23.—Telegrams received here from South Africa still refer to the probable decision of the Boers to surrender, but a despatch to The Daily News from Volksrust to-day declares that the Boers are determined to continue the war, and that their recent conferences have been with the object of planning a summer campaign.

A despatch to The Daily Mail from Sydney announces that Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, has telegraphed to the Right Hon. E. Barton, the Prime Minister of the Commonwealth of Australia, to the effect that the British Government would be glad of 1,000 men for service in South Africa, Premier Barton having previously declined to offer men unless the Government asked for them.

Fifteen "Friendlies" Shot.

London, Dec. 23.—A correspondent of The Daily Mail, says: I am in a position to state that by a proclamation dated November 15 General Botha ordered the execution of all Transvaal and Free State burghers enrolled among the British forces under the name of National Scouts who fell into the hands of his men. Up to the present 15 of these auxiliaries have been shot by Gen. Botha's orders and a certain number flogged owing to their comparative youth.

The National Scouts, who are commanded by ex-Generals Andries Cronje, Celliers and others, rendered valuable service in the capture of 93 Boers at Oshoek, near Ermelo, a few days ago, and on other occasions.

More Boers Reach Bermuda.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Dec. 23.—The British transport Harlech Castle, which sailed from Table Bay Nov. 24, has arrived here, having on board 600 Boer prisoners, guarded by the men belonging to a battery of the Royal Artillery. There was one death each from pneumonia and measles among the Boers during the voyage, and the transport has been quarantined.

Xmas Gift For Boer Children.

Utrecht, Dec. 23.—Rev. Mr. Schaefer, a Protestant clergyman of Remscheid, Rhenish, Prussia, presented to Mr. Kruger yesterday a purse of 10,000 marks, subscribed, as a Christmas gift, to the Boer children, by the children of the Rhine provinces and of Westphalia.

ARBITRATION ACCEPTABLE.

Majority of Delegates to Pan-American Congress Agree on It.

Mexico City, Dec. 23.—The United States delegation to the international conference conferred on Saturday with the Mexican delegation, and the same night the delegates of the different countries met and discussed the subject of arbitration, and, as a result, it is believed that a plan acceptable to the majority if not all the delegations to the conference has been reported. The projected convention provides that the contracting nations will oblige themselves to submit to the tribunal of arbitration all existing and future controversies which cannot be settled diplomatically, provided that in the exclusive judgment of either of the parties of the dispute, the said controversies do not affect the national honor or independence. Controversies concerning diplomatic privileges, boundaries, rights of navigation and the validity, interpretation and enforcement of treaties shall not be considered as affecting national honor or independence.

Farrell, 66th Regiment; Cadet London, R.M.C.; Lieut. J. W. Allen, 5th Royal Scots; E. B. Allen, late R.C.D., Windsor, Ont.

Field Hospital Accepted.

The offer of the Minister of Militia to furnish a field hospital of a bearer company with the Mounted Rifles for service in South Africa has been accepted by the War Office, and Hon. Mr. Borden will at once proceed with the organization of a complete field hospital service. It is understood that it will be under command of of Surgeon-Lieut.-Col. Worthington. Besides the lieutenant-colonel in command, there will be a major, Major Charlton Jones, Halifax; a captain and two lieutenants, one of whom will be quartermaster; with 35 non-comm. and privates; a transport section in addition consisting of a sergeant-major and 20 men, a grand total of 61 officers and men. The service will be thoroughly equipped and in every respect up to the standard of an imperial field hospital on war establishment. The transport wagons will be so constructed as to be convertible into ambulances, capable of carrying four men each in a recumbent position.

DEATH OF MAJOR OGILVY.

A Gallant Canadian Officer Succumbs to His Wounds.

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—His Excellency the Governor-General received a cablegram yesterday from the colonial Office, announcing the death of Major J. H. C. Ogilvy, D.S.O., who had previously been reported severely wounded in action.

Major Ogilvie went to South Africa as adjutant of the first contingent and received the distinguished service order for his gallant work at Paardeberg. He was also in action at Driefontein, Thabanchu, Israelsport, Houtnek, Zand River, Doorn Kop, and at the capture of Pretoria, being several times mentioned in despatches.

When the first contingent left South Africa, Major Ogilvie joined the staff of Gen. Smith-Dorrien, and was in close touch with the second contingent during the three months that the Canadian artillery were so actively employed around Belfast.

An unusual honor was paid to Major Ogilvie at the time of the departure of the second contingent. He was offered a captaincy in the Gordon Highlanders, which meant that every officer below him was willing to forego his seniority in favor of the intrepid Canadian officer. Major Ogilvie, however, declined the offer, and returned with the Strathcona's. But soon afterwards Major Ogilvie went back to South Africa and took an important position on the staff of Major-General Baden-Powells' South African Constabulary.

Canadian Ill.

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—Lord Minto received a cable Saturday stating that Archibald Purvis of Portage la Prairie is dangerously ill of enteric fever at Bloemfontein. His father is Mr. Purvis of Portage la Prairie.

MINISTER TO WITHDRAW.

Senor Portela Will Leave Chili on Wednesday For Argentina.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 23.—Gen. Mitre, president of the boundary commission and former president of Argentina, will approve the resolution of the Argentine Government to withdraw Senor Portela, the Argentine Minister to Chili.

The people are flocking to the public rifle ranges. Each citizen is allowed to shoot 35 cartridges, from a Mauser rifle, gratis. "Foreign legions" of soldiers are being organized.

Argentine Getting Ready.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 23.—It has now been decided to establish near Rosario a large factory for the making of bullets and cannon balls. The Principal machinery necessary has already been purchased in Germany. Twenty-two hundred seamstresses are actively engaged in making uniforms. It is expected that these will be finished by the end of January. The Cabinet has decided upon the organization of two new regiments of mountain artillery. A despatch from Sandiago says that the conferences between Senor Portela, the Argentine Minister to Chili, have so far been barren of result, and will probably be adjourned on Monday.

More Guards Called Out.

Valparaiso, Dec. 23.—A proclamation was read yesterday throughout Chili, calling out another contingent of the National Guard.

KOWEIT A CLOSED CENTRE.

Sheikh Mabarookh of Persian Gulf Refuses to Receive Sultan's Mission.

Bombay, Dec. 23.—It is feared here that fresh trouble is brewing in the Persian Gulf, Mabarookh, the Sheikh of Kowet (the proposed terminus on the Bagdad Railroad), has cartly refused to allow a special mission, sent by the Sultan from Constantinople, to land, and declined to accede to the Sultan's desire that he visit Constantinople and make obeisance to his suzerain at Yildiz Palace.

Mabarookh has also threatened a revival of the troubles with Ku Rahid, the Emir of Nejd, who, at the instigation of the Turks, has collected a fresh army. Mabarookh has again applied for British protection.

At Koweyt are the British third-class cruiser Pomone (2,135 tons), and the British gunboat Redbreast (805 tons.)

The Russian-American built cruiser Xaring (6,500 tons), has just arrived in the Persian Gulf. Her powerful searchlights and heavy guns have greatly impressed the natives. The Varing's commander is paying marked attention to the Sultan of Muscat, and Russian doctors are investigating the healthiness of Ormuz, opposite Bender Abbas.

Given Five Years.

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—Frank Wabey, half-breed, who was convicted of manslaughter at Hull a few days ago, was sentenced to five years in St. Vincent de Paul Saturday morning. He killed a man named McCabe.

Four Burned to Death.

Dubois, Pa., Dec. 23.—Four members of a family named Applaugh, living near Summerville, Jefferson County, were burned to death Saturday, one other probably fatally and four others seriously injured.

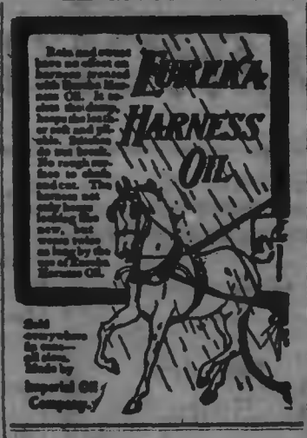
WEST PETERBOROUGH.

(From the Bobcaygeon Independent.)

A meeting of Conservatives was held in Peterborough last week, to consider the political position of West Peterborough. There ought not to be much consideration required, as this great journal settled the matter some time ago. Mr. Stratton, in West Peterborough, and Mr. Carnegie in East Victoria, are much too popular with their constituents to be defeated. Then where is the sense of putting up candidates to be knocked down, and throwing the two constituences into the disagreeable turmoil of an utterly useless contest. The expense is not of so much moment to the public, but it is ridiculous to incur such expenses in a contest, when there is absolutely no issue between the parties, beyond that of office. As for West Peterborough, Mr. Stratton is so popular that no opponent can be placed in the field who would have the ghost of a chance of success. No same man could enter the field with any real hope of winning. A wealthy man might have a shy at it for diversion, or an adventurer, if he could pull the right ropes, might have a fling for what there was in it. The result in either case would be the same. — Mr. Stratton would be elected. Peterborough could not have had a member more active in its interests, he is one in a hundred. As a member of the Government he is just as active in the interests of the Province. Born, reared, and with a life long training in newspaperdom, Mr. Stratton is thoroughly in touch with public opinion, and has the indomitable energy necessary to carry forward any policy of progress that may be decided upon. Peterborough, and the Province will avail themselves of the services of Mr. Stratton, beyond all reasonable doubt. Then why buck against the inevitable. This district will not be worried by any useless contentions if it knows itself, so the prominent citizens of Peterborough may just as well devote themselves to Cereal Companies and Beet Sugar Factories.

THE LUMBER SUPPLY.

One after another the great lumber mills of Wisconsin and northern Michigan are closing down on account of the exhaustion of the forests. Some have been moved into Canada, but the larger number of companies are transferring their operations to the hardwood forests of the Mississippi valley. In the lowlands of Arkansas are hundreds of miles of timber land having oak of many varieties, hard pine, red gum, cottonwood, hickory and several other kinds of wood, some of which, thought of little value, hitherto, are now found available for many purposes. Red gum, cottonwood and yellow pine are now used for interior finishing of houses, flooring, and in the manufacture of furniture. The Mississippi forest areas being on level ground near the river the timber can be easily transported, and will, it is estimated, supply the demand, if great care is exercised, for probably the next fifty years. This passing of the lumber trade to the south has given rise to some interesting speculations concerning the probable movement in the same direction of manufacturing concerns dependent on the lumber supply and the changes that must follow the introduction of new kinds of wood. There are, however, questions of greater import. It is scarcely fifty years since the destruction of the northern forests began. As time advanced the amount of timber cut became greater each succeeding year. It is quite reasonable to assume that the same acceleration in operations will continue in the southern forests to meet the constant enormously increasing demand. The forests of the south-eastern states, Georgia and the Carolinas, are considered as of little account in the calculation as to the probable time it will take to exhaust the new areas. These of the northwest are rated as of even less value, so that it seem the United States will reach the limit of its timber supply at a comparatively early date. In view of this possibility, and considering the evils caused by the wholesale destruction of northern forests, representations are being made at Washington for the enactment of laws to regulate the cutting of timber on scientific principles. If such regulations are not established, it is said, the United States will in a few years be wholly dependent on the Dominion of Canada for its timber supply, and it is significantly added, Canadians may have their own ideas as to the disposal of their great timber resources. There can be no doubt that the forests of Wisconsin and Michigan might be still flourishing had ordinary attention been given to the science of forestry. The same might be said of the white pine forests of Quebec and Ontario, where hitherto, are no wfound available for ting and great fires have desolated many hundreds of miles of country. But if our neighbours find it not too late to introduce better methods in the forests they have left, we should be prompt to imitate their example and escape the ruinous results that have followed from the utter destruction of the forests in the Northern States.—Montreal Witness.



GO INTO FRUIT, YOUNG MAN.

Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, speaking to the members of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, advised young men to turn their attention to horticulture, instead of entering the professions. There is this year a scarcity of fruit, even for local consumption, but even in years of plenty there will be no lack of a market, as soon as the cold storage system is perfected, for the appetite of the British consumer is insatiable, and his ability to purchase is practically unlimited. Whether we get prohibition in Ontario or not, the demand for pure cider will for a long time exceed the supply and the canning factories will get out of their swaddling clothes and begin to put up good fruit for export before many years pass away. The Northwest is filling up with a population that will consume fruit grown in Ontario, and the miners and metal workers of Northern Ontario will also buy freely of this healthful food. One of the Ministers in Ottawa told the writer last week that there were farmers in Nova Scotia who sold $7,000 to $8,000 worth of apples in a single year, their fruit being cultivated and packed with special reference to the export market. That is better than the average man can do in the practice of a learned profession.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF CANADA.

At the Gloucester Chamber of Commerce last month Mr. R. A. Lister gave an address on "Canada; Its Commercial, Agricultural and General Importance to the Empire." Mr. Lister referred to the fact that Canada imports from the United States far more than from Great Britain, and explained it by difference in business methods, and the greater suitability of American goods. There are other reasons — proximity and similarity in modes of life, business, farming, manufacturing, railroading etc. A good trade, however, is done in British goods, among which he mentions woollens and cutlery, and thinks there is a good opening for British hydraulic and other machinery for engineering work. Mr. Lister followed with an account of the resources and industries of Canada, with which he is deeply impressed.

Mr. Lister referred to the "noble precedent established by the present Canadian Government, under the able guidance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in granting unsolicited a preferential tariff of no less than 33 1-3 per cent, on all the manufactures of the United Kingdom sent to the Dominion of Canada. I cannot emphasize sufficiently the importance of this gracious act on the part of Canada, as it is giving the country a well-deserved, yet a substantial, advantage over our greatest competitors, viz., the United States and Germany, as in the case of either of these countries shipping goods upon which the duty amounted to £300, the British manufacturer would have a rebate of £100. This, on a heavy class of goods, with a quick turn-over, represents a fair profit." He expressed regret that Australia had not followed the lead of Canada in this respect.—Globe.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL MEETING.

The township council met in the Town Hall on Monday, Dec. 16th at 1.30 p.m., all the members being present and Reeve Bradburn presiding.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Reports were received as follows:

From the clerk, as to the account of A. McDonald, referred at the last meeting, stating that having examined the account he found that the material therein named was procured by Commissioners Revington and Galloway for culverts in their districts.

The clerk also reported having ascertained from the records of the township that the amount expended by the township of North Monaghan upon the maintenance and repair of the bridges upon the Cavan boundary during the years 1890 to 1901 inclusive, was the sum of $62.86.

A communication was read from E. G. Patterson, for the Canadian General Electric Co., asking if the signs placed upon the poles erected by them in the township of North Monaghan, were satisfactory. —Received.

From A. Hall, chairman of the beet sugar factory committee representing the council to appoint representatives to go to Michigan for the purpose of finding out facts, etc., with regard to the establishing and working of the factories in that place.

Mr. Thos. M. Hunter appeared before the council addressed them with regard to the communication. Mr. Hunter pointed out the advantages of securing such an industry as the growing of beets and manufacturing of beet sugar in this vicinity, and gave full particulars of the intentions of the committee interested in this matter.

Mr. Hunter strongly urged the council to send delegates to interview the farmers in Michigan and thus secure reliable information as to the results from the growers' standpoint before taking into consideration the offering of any inducements to a company to locate here.

The following accounts were then presented: Jas. M. Davidson, cleaning drains on 10th con. line, $6; Dr. Greer, Medical Health Officer, $8; S. Clysdale, refund, error in account, 75c; D. Galloway, repairing culverts and bridges on division No. 1, $4.80; Review, printing and stationery $45.15; Dennistoun, Peak & Stevenson, $10; A. McDonald, account as referred from last meeting, $28.26.

Messrs. James Booth and Samuel Medd filed declarations of not having a dog since June 1st, 1901, and were allowed a refund of $1.00 each as tax thereon.

The Township Treasurer submitted the annual financial statement up to Dec. 15th, 1901. After examination this statement was ordered to be published according to law.

Moved by Messrs. Madill and Dobbin, that this council send two delegates to Michigan for the purpose of investigating the statements made as to the sugar factories there. —This was carried.

On motion of Messrs. May and Smith, Messrs. T. M. Hunter and Jos. Madill were named as the representatives of North Monaghan to go to Bay City, and that their expenses to the amount of $50.00 be paid by this Township.

On motion of Messrs. Smith and Madill, the account of expenditions on the Cavan boundary bridges was ordered to be forwarded to the County Council of Peterborough County for payment.

On motion of Messrs. Madill and Dobbin, the accounts as presented were passed and ordered to be paid.

On motion of Messrs. Madill and Smith, the Road Commissioner of Road Division No. 2, was instructed to take down the fence over the hill on 10th concession line if necessary to avoid snow drifting.

Bylaw No. 501 was introduced and passed, fixing the places of nominations and elections for 1902. The usual places were fixed and N. W. Mabee and J. J. Bennett were appointed Deputy Returning Officers.

Orders were issued for the following salaries: Treasurer, $40; clerk, half year, $37.50; caretaker, $7.00; Reeve, $15.00; councillors, each $10.

Council then adjourned to meet on 21st Dec., at 5 p.m., in the Reeve's office, in Peterborough, for the purpose of receiving the balance of returns from the collection of taxes for 1901.

A BIG HANDICAP.

A man with a lame back does not feel much like working and you cannot blame him. Jeremiah Redden, carpenter, No. 7 Cowdy St., Kingston, Ont., suffered with rheumatism in his back (lumbago) for two years. Five bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure completely cured him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston.

Dispute Over Water Power.

Toronto, Dec. 21.—Hon. E. J. Davis heard a dispute yesterday over the water power on the Rainy River at Fort Francis. There are three claimants for the lease of the power, which is a valuable one. There are Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann, D. C. Irwin and Mr. Bachus of a Chicago syndicate. During the hearing Mr. Irwin announced that he had surrendered his claim to Mackenzie & Mann. Mr. Davis suggested that an adjournment be made to allow the interested parties to settle their dispute privately. The suggestion was acted upon and another conference will be held next week.

Drowned in a Cistern.

Thorold, Dec. 23.—The body of Mrs. Jas. Armstrong was found drowned in a cistern at her house here Sunday morning. It appears that she got out of bed during the night and while wandering outside her house fell into the cistern and was not found until morning. She feaves a husband, son and daughter. Coroner Dr. B. H. Lemon will hold an inquest.

No Liquor to Children.

London, Dec. 23.—A recent act of Parliament forbids saloon keepers from serving children under 14 with intoxicating liquors either for consumption on the premises or for the purpose of taking it home to their parents.

POISON-PAINS

Rheumatism is really a poison in the blood, and where there is poison there's disaster in a lesser or greater degree—but there's a cure.

South American Rheumatic Cure neutralizes the acid poison in the blood in a few hours, and hence relieves at once—the complete cure implicated a little more slowly, but surely. When the disease is of only a few years standing, not more than one to three days' time is required to effect a thorough cure. When it has been present in the system for 20 or 25 years the acid poison has permeated the flesh and often the marrow of the bones. In such cases, relief is obtained at once, but a cure cannot be effected under two or three bottles, or Octave Delaire, a lumberman in the employ of Wilson & Holmes, was instantly killed by a falling tree at Currie's crossing, five miles from Woodstock, Ont., Saturday afternoon. The unfortunate man's head was split open. He leaves a wife and family in Quebec.

John Roberts shot and killed brothers, and probably fatally wounded their father, G. H. Higgonbottom, 22 miles northwest of Lawton, Oklahoma, late Saturday. The tragedy was a result of a quarrel over the division of a quantity of hay. All are farmers.

At Paris Saturday President Loubet inaugurated in the Faubourg St. Antoine a statue to the memory of Deputy Charles Dandin, a representative of the people, who was killed on the barricade of the Faubourg St. Antoine, Dec. 3, 1851, the day following the coup d'etat of Louis Napoleon.

At Stratford death came very suddenly to John Pike Sunday morning. He was in his stable getting ready to hitch up his horse to drive up town, when he suddenly dropped to the floor. His granddaughter after a time found him lying on the floor, life being apparently extinct. A physician was immediately summoned, and he pronounced death due to heart failure. He was 85 years of age.

CANADA TO MARCONI

Invitation by Ottawa Government to Come and Visit Us.

NOVA SCOTIA AT HIS DISPOSAL

Most Encouraging Propositions Made to the Great Inventor of Wireless Telegraphy—Every Facility Will Be Given Him to Carry on His Experiments—Marconi Accepts the Invitation.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 23.—Finance Minister Fielding of the Dominion Government telegraphed to Marconi Saturday morning from Ottawa, offering him, in behalf of the Canadian Cabinet, every facility for erecting wireless telegraph stations on the Nova Scotian seaboard, making him most encouraging propositions, assuring him that there is no obstacle in the way of his carrying out his experiments in Canadian territory, and inviting him to Ottawa, to discuss the matter.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 23.—Mr. Marconi yesterday received a second cablegram from the Canadian Minister of Finance, Mr. Fielding, inquiring when the inventor would leave for Canada in order to arrange that some official of the Canadian Government might meet him at Sydney, N.S. Marconi expects to reach Ottawa next Sunday and to remain there about one week.

MR. TARTE'S VIEWS.

Says We Are Moving in Transportation Matters in the Right Direction But Not Quite Fast Enough.

Montreal, Dec. 23.—Under the heading, "What I would do if I were a member of Parliament," Hon. J. Israel Tarte contributes an interesting letter to La Patrie upon the subject of transportation of the St. Lawrence route. He says that as the session is near at hand he would make a study of the means of transportation, and would give neither the Parliament nor Cabinet any rest until it had adopted an energetic and definite policy in the matter. "We are moving in the right direction," says Mr. Tarte, "but we are not moving fast enough. Everything possible should be done in order that the St. Lawrence, which is the shortest route between the west and the markets of Europe, should be used for the bulk of the exportation." He insists especially upon the deepening of French River to 20 feet, and predicts that when that is done 25 to 30 million bushels of wheat will be landed on the shores of Lake Nipissing in the two months of the autumn when this trade is at its height. In his opinion this improvement of the French River is of the utmost importance. The cost would not be more than $4,000,000 at the most, a bagatelle of $100,000 a year in interest. Mr. Tarte adds that unfortunately he is not a member of Parliament, but merely a Cabinet Minister, which makes all the difference in the world.

Died Aged 128.

Lacrosse, Sis., Dec. 23.—Nuc-Se-Ca, the oldest Indian squaw in the United States, died yesterday in the Winnebago Indian camp, Barron's Island. She was said to be 128 years old. She was buried with the customary ceremonies in the presence of a large number of chiefs from all parts of the Northwest. She was mother of Red Snake and John Sherman, two of the best known chiefs in the Black River country.

Kaiser Prepares For Action.

Berlin, Dec. 23.—It is stated on good authority that the German Government is preparing for military action against Venezuela in order to compel a settlement of German claims against that country.

It is said that Germany has sent an ultimatum to Venezuela, threatening forcible measures to compel the satisfaction of German creditors of that country.

A PROHIBITION TEST

Mr. A. Campbell Comes Through Ordeal With Flying Colors.

W. YORK COMMITTEE'S REPORT

Questions Asked the Candidates by the Deputation Delegated For That Purpose—Mr. Campbell Answered Them in the Affirmative, While Committee Felt That "Mr. Wallace Simply Quibbled."

Toronto Junction, Dec. 21.— The West York Prohibition League held a meeting in Thompson Hall yesterday afternoon, with Mr. Austin in the chair. The meeting was called to hear the report of the deputation who waited upon the candidates for the Dominion House, and to take any action deemed necessary.

The committee appointed as a deputation to interview the candidates for the Dominion House, now in the field in West York, reported that these questions were asked the candidates, Messrs. Campbell and Wallace:

(1) Would you, if elected, vote in favor of amending the Canada Temperance Act, where it is now in operation, and where prohibitory laws may not be enacted, as, for example, the Province of Quebec, by passing such amendments as will make the Act more effective?

(2) Would you vote in favor of grouping several counties in one electoral division, so far as temperance legislation is concerned, so that if the Canada Temperance Act were carried it would come into effect in them all?

The report continued:

To each of these questions Mr. Campbell gave a decided affirmative answer.

On the general question as to whether he might be classed among the friends of temperance or against them, he asserted, though not a total abstainer, that with his record in the House for 18 years and his present views on the question, place him on the side of temperance.

The same questions put to Mr. Campbell were asked of Mr. Wallace, who either would not, or could not, see the points at issue, and who evaded each question by irrelevant discussion of other matters.

Your deputation feel that Mr. Wallace simply quibbled with the questions asked, wondering that we should expect him to vote for such amendments to the Canada Temperance Act, especially as, he said, "If the bill were introduced by the Government." F. Buchanan, Henry Moyle, J. W. Rae, W. J. Pady, J. A. Austin.

The chairman named Messrs. Stewart, Dean, Buchanan, Rae and Edmanson, a committee to draft a resolution, which, when completed, read as follows:

"That this convention expresses satisfaction with the answers of Mr. Campbell and regrets that the attitude of Mr. Wallace is so unsatisfactory to temperance legislation."

The resolution eventually carried.

What is Life to You?

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

Admiral Sampson's Objections.

Washington, Dec. 21.—The objection of Admiral W. T. Sampson to that portion of Admiral Dewey's report of the Schley Court of Inquiry, in which he says Admiral Schley was in command at the battle of Santiago, and entitled to the credit for the victory, was filed with Secretary Long yesterday. The document states: That Schley was not in command at that battle; that the President and Navy Department had decided that Admiral Sampson was in command and Admiral Schley second in command; and that the question was not referred to the court for consideration, and evidence on the point was excluded.

This is the Way of it.

Friday twelve new cases of smallpox were reported from a lumber camp in Patterson Township, south of Lake Nipissing. There is also an outbreak at French River, and new cases have appeared in Woodhouse Township, Norfolk County and Stephen Township, Huron County.

Toronto Junction has another case of child desertion. About 11 o'clock Friday night a male infant, apparently about a week old, was found on the steps leading to the home of W. W. Howell. The youngster was in a peach basket, warmly clad, and with the child was a nursing bottle. The foundling was handed over to the police.

The Anglo-Saxon Union of Toronto, an organization to promote a better feeling between the people of the Anglo-Saxon race gave a farewell banquet in the Arlington Hotel Friday night to Col. William L. Sewell, for four and a half years United States Consul in Toronto, and who has been transferred to Pernambuco, South America.

No Mixed Drinks.

"Did the prisoner indulge in intoxicants?" asked the young attorney of the witness.

"No, sir," replied the latter. "I never knew him to take anything but whisky."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

AN UNUSUAL STOCK OF UNUSUALLY GOOD THINGS!

CHRISTMAS AT THE BIG SHOE STORE!

"Where do we come in at Christmas?" you ask. That's easy. We come right on the top of the stockings.

Our offers are big enough and capacious enough to cover everything. Besides the gifts selected from our stock are sensible, helpful, comfortable and timely. And that is a deal more than can be said about the average Christmas Gift. Our gifts get a firm foothold in every family. Here's a few suggestions for buyers:—

SLIPPERS
Gentlemen's Fancy Slippers in Velvet, Felt, Dongola—all sizes, handsome and comfortable.

MOCCASINS
These make charming presents. We have them beautiful, soft, ornamented and shapely to lace, and the prices are:—Men's, $1.00, Boys', 85c, Ladies' 85c, Children's, 60c.

LEGGINGS
These be comfortable. Snow, no matter how deep, has no terrors for a legging-clad limb. Misses' Leggings, 45 to 60c, Children's corduroy, button and 3 buckles, 75c.

MORE SLIPPERS
Goats' Slippers in Felt, a new line, and tip-top value, 40c, and 50c.

LADIES' ROMEO, Felt Slippers, the very latest thing, in reds, browns and blacks, $1.00.

MISSES' Sizes, in red brown and black, 75c.

LADIES' Dongola Kid one and two strap Slippers, at $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 to $1.75.

SKATING BOOTS
Hockey and Skating Boots in tan and black, a capital present for boy, youth or man. The Slater Hockey Boot is the best. If you want to excel, buy the Slater.

Crowds Buying Watches AND JEWELRY AT Sanderson's

The rush has set in earnestly. The Holiday season at Sanderson's is now in full swing. This is a Christmas store in the most literal sense. Show cases gleam and glitter with many holiday allurements—Jewelry Trays sparkle with fine Gems—Sterling Silver Novelties—Quadruple-Plated Silverware—Toilet Articles—Clocks—and thousands of other things to brighten and gladden the time of gift giving. Sanderson's is popular the rest of the year, but at Christmas time it fairly surpasses itself. It has the people's confidence and keeps it.

Standard Watches.

Our pride is greater than ever in our Watch stock. As lives depend on accuracy, we give care to every Watch we sell. Only Standard Works go in our Watches. Nothing so intensely personal as the gift of a Watch or tasteful Jewelry. Prices are unquestionably the lowest that we ever quoted. Wish we could get the same prices as the City Jewelers.

Call and inspect our stock. Be early.

MONDAY, DEC. 23, 1901.

Yesterday's Funeral.

The remains of the late Benj. Elliott, who was killed in New York State last week, arrived here on Saturday night and were conveyed to the residence of his brother, Mr. Arthur Elliott, No. 507 Bethune street. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery.

Your boy will value a Y. M. C. A. membership more for Christmas than anything else.

Curious Mr. Brittain.

Mr. F. H. Brittain desires the Examiner to state that he has received an anonymous note from a "Well-wisher" enclosed with a small package containing an article of furniture. The writing being apparently that of one of the gentle sex, Mr. Brittain would be glad if the mysterious personage would communicate further with him in case she would like to adopt him or provide him with any suitable presents such as this particular one.

The Dominion Express Office, No. 138 Hunter street, will remain open until 10 p.m., Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, for the convenience of customers sending parcels. Our drivers will make calls up to this hour. Telephone No. 373. Delivery made Christmas day all over Canada. E. J. Salisbury, agent.

Malaga Grapes, Oranges, Lemons, in fine fresh condition, at W. H. Hamilton's, Metropolitan Grocery.

Dr. Watson's Address.

Rev. Dr. Watson gave his second address in the opera house yesterday afternoon, his subject being "The Pre-Millennial Coming of Christ." There was a large number present, and his earnest address on the different aspects of his subject, was listened to with rapt attention. He took as his text the passages in the Gospel of Matthew relating to the Transfiguration of Christ, and drew similitudes between that event and His coming at the end of this dispensation.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late John Judd which took place on Saturday morning from St. Peter's Cathedral was quite largely attended. Solemn High Mass was sung at the Cathedral ere the body was taken to its last resting place in the Roman Catholic Cemetery. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The deceased leaves to mourn his demise, a father, mother, four sisters and two brothers. The sisters are Mrs. J. McGinnis, Mrs. M. Dick and Mrs. J. V. Devine, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Miss Agnes, of town. The brothers are Messrs. James and Wm., of town.

Merry Christmas.

We are lending our efforts to make the season a pleasant one by doing everything we can to cheapen the price of some useful article of Millinary and Dress requirements. Nowhere else in Peterborough can you enjoy the advantages in selection and price that is being offered at this store. Millinery and Mantles are going actually at half price. Gloves, Laces, Ornaments for the hair and other needs for evening wear in newest ideas. New and beautiful handkerchiefs, neckwear, collars, fascinators, infants wear and many other pleasing remembrances for Christmas buyers. Miss Delaney.

At the entrance of G. E. Whiten's photo studio there can be seen as fine a display of artistic photos as any one would wish to look at. Have your best photos taken at Whiten's, corner of George and Hunter streets, west side.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The Board of Works meets at 7.30 this evening.

—The annual Sunday School entertainment of All Saint's church will take place on Friday, Jan. 3rd.

—St. Andrew's choir will practice to-night at eight o'clock. The members are kindly asked to be present.

—Mr. Adam Hall handsomely remembered his employees on Saturday night by presenting each of them with a beautiful turkey.

—A meeting of the Non-commissioned Officers of the 57th Regiment will be held in the drill shed on the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 8th. Matters of importance will be discussed.

—On Friday evening five Intermediates came into the Y.M.C.A. Building and took out membership tickets. Judging from appearances, and indications like that of last night our membership roll will be larger than ever. It also speaks volumes for the work that institution is doing. A suitable Christmas gift would be a Y.M.C.A. membership ticket.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

HOCKEY.

As many of the following players who can, and any others who intend playing this year are asked to turn out for practice to-night, Thursday, and Saturday, of this week from 6.30 to 8 o'clock:—Comstock, Glover, Armstrong, VanEvery, Gilman, Morgan, Whitcroft, Craig, McPherson, Hamilton, Parker, Cameron, Roy Armstrong, Fred Roy, Lynch, Watt, Parnell, King, Meagher, Crowley, Graham, McGrath, Paterson, Wasson, Graham and Robinson.

The intermediate schedule for this district will be published in a short while and it is of material importance that players are in shape for the opening games.

Y. M. C. A. GYMNASTICS.

Have you used the gymnasium during the past three months? There have been 75 young men over 18 years of age using the gymnasium since October first, and they claim that the exercise has been of physical benefit. New men are enrolling for the New Year's classes when the work will be started anew. There is nothing like beginning at the start and get in the general swing of things. Intermediates are enrolling also for their class and if you are under 18 years of age, join now.

PRESENTATION.

Mr. R. J. Kidd Remembered by his Fellow Employees.

The retirement of Mr. R. J. Kidd from the position of manager of the Ackerman Harness Factory, to accept the position of manager of the wholesale department of Mr. R. Neill's boot and shoe business, served to show his popularity with the staff. About a dozen of the employees of the harness factory waited upon Mr. Kidd at his residence 257 Rubidge street, and presented him with the following address:

To Mr. R. J. Kidd,—

Dear Friend and Fellow-Workman,—We, the employees of the Ackerman Wholesale Harness Factory, desire to express our regret at losing our manager. Having filled this position for thirteen years and rendered such service both to employer and employees as probably few could excel and scarcely any equal, we wish to present you, on the eve of your resignation, with this book case and secretary as a slight token of our esteem and kindly feeling, hoping that in your chosen occupation you shall be even more successful and happy in your labours.

Mr. Kidd's modesty was surprised by the visit and its accompaniments, but no one else who knows his popularity with his fellow employees and his friends is at all surprised at so handsome and appropriate a recognition.

DANIELS IS GRATEFUL.

He Received the Cheque Granted by the Town Council.

Word was received in town to-day, by a friend, from Trooper Geo. Dan-Daniels, of C. Squadron, 2nd C.M.R., now at Halifax, one of the Peterborough boys, that his fellow townsmen and himself have each received through Col. Edwards, the $25 voted to each by the Town. From the letter it appears that Daniels particularly appreciates very keenly the thoughtfulness of the council in remembering him in this handsome way, especially as it comes in extremely handy for him in preparing for the long voyage. The boys there wish all their friends in town the compliments of the season.

PERSONALS.

Mr. J. H. Hall is home for Christmas.

Dr. Berry of Hastings, is in town to-day

Mr. Claude Rogers is up from Cordova Mines.

Mr. Bert Thompson is up from Montreal for a few days.

Mr. Maitland Boswell is home for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Mona O'Shea is home from St. Joseph's Academy for the holidays.

Mr. Harry Rogers is home from Trinity College School for his holidays.

Rev. Dr. Symonds will preach in All Saints church on Sunday evening next.

Mr. Walter Wood, Ashburnham, is able to be out again after several weeks illness.

Mr. Frank Burnham is down from the School of Practical Science for the holidays.

Mr. Harry Rogers is home for the Christmas Holidays from Trinity College School, Port Hope.

Miss Edna Macfarlane has successfully passed her Normal School Examinations in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Knapman and family are leaving to spend the Christmas holidays in Uxbridge.

Mr. Aleck Mann, of the Auditors' Department, of the C. P. R., Montreal, is at home for the holidays.

Miss Ethel Robertson, who has been paying a visit to friends in Bellaville, returned home to-day.

Miss Emma Smith, of Detroit, is in town, the guest of her brother, Mr. John H. Smith, of Ashburnham.

John F. VanEvery, B. A., of Napanee Collegiate Institute, is home for the holidays, at 208 Rubidge street.

Mr. Albert Spencely, of New York, is expected home to-morrow, to spend Christmas with his father, Mr. Mark Spencely.

Mr. and Mrs. William Scott are called east on a sad errand this evening through the sudden death of the latter's mother.

Mr. Harold A. Morrow, C. E., is home for the holidays from Prince Edward Island, where he is engaged in engineering work.

Miss Jennie Coe of the Charlotte street Sunday school, was presented by her class of boys with a handsome hymn book on Sunday.

Miss Lota Bennett is home after a prolonged visit to her grandparents in Bowmanville, accompanied by her friend, Miss Ethel Reynolds.

Messrs. Norman Cameron and Hamilton Munro, of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, are home for their Christmas holidays.

Mr. H. Forsythe, formerly of Ashburnham, who left here for Milita, Man., about twelve years ago, is in town visiting friends for the winter.

Mr. Eden Vandusen, of the Peterborough Business College staff, will spend his Christmas holidays at his home in Picton during the College vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wilgar, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Macfarlane, of Winnipeg, are spending Christmas at the residence of Mr. Andrew Macfarlane, Homewood avenue.

Miss Maggie O'Brien was the fabricator of the most profitable doll that figured at St. Joseph's Hospital Bazaar. This "hustling" dollie accumulated the handsome sum of $76 and the young lady who dressed it and managed it, is entitled to great credit.

SICK CHILDRENS' HOSPITAL.

At George street Methodist Sunday School yesterday the collection towards the Sick Children's Hospital amounted to $5.60, and at All Saint's the collection for the same purpose amounted to $7.45.

The Sunday School children of St. Andrew's church have arrived at a most praiseworthy conclusion in deciding to forego their Christmas treat and give the money to the Sick Children's Hospital. A collection will also be taken for the same object in the school next Sunday.

THE LATE MR. PARSONS.

His Demise Occurred at 8 O'clock on Saturday Evening—Funeral To-day.

The death occurred at eight o'clock on Saturday evening at his home No. 149 Rubidge street, of John Ernest Parsons. The deceased was 29 years of age and had been ailing for some time from a chronic disease.

The late Mr. Parsons was an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company, and will be greatly missed by his fellow-employees. The sympathy of the community will go out to his wife and child in their time of sorrow. The only relatives in town are Alderman and Mrs. Jos. Batten, the parents of the grief-grief-stricken wife.

The deceased was a member of the Foresters and Peterborough Lodge I. O.O.F., under whose auspices the funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock, from his late residence, Rubidge street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

PRISONERS MUST BE CAREFULLY GUARDED.

Warning Issued to all Persons in Charge of Jails.

The Provincial Secretary, through the Inspecter of Prisons for Ontario, has just issued a circular to all sheriffs and persons in charge of the prisons, jails, and lockups in the Province, informing them that they must impress upon their jailors, turnkeys, and guards the absolute necessity of exercising the greatest vigilance and adopting the strictest precautions to the end that the prisoners in their charge are kept safely and have no preventible opportunity to escape. In the case of known desperate criminals it will be regarded as inexcusably culpable to neglect to surround them with such vigilance and conditions of secure detention as cannot be evaded. In cases where investigation shows that a prisoner's escape is due to carelessness or neglect the services of the officials concerned will be dispensed with.

Worth Seeing.

Three of the big, steel, fifty-ton-capacity coal cars of the New York Central Railroad, which have been the subject of so much comment, are now at J. E. A. Fitzgerald's coal sheds, with a consignment of coal for that firm. The cars are well worth seeing, and will be on exhibition for a day or two.

The Great Apostle.

Rev. W. L. Armitage's talk on Paul at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday was listened to with deep interest by those who attended. He pointed out that men of reality were what men liked to see to-day. Paul was an ideal one. Two points that made his character, his finding out himself, and his finding some One greater than himself. The latter giving him his keynote for life. "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain." The All Saint's quartette supplied the music, rendering the two selections in much appreciated manner, "Sweet Sabbath Eve," and "Saviour Comfort Me." Messrs. Legg and Brown sang "Tarry with me."

Fresh English Walnuts, two pounds for 25c. W. H. Hamilton's, Metropolitan Grocery.

Barristers' Troubles.

F. L. Webb, a barrister of Colborne, has applied for an injunction, returnable in three weeks, restraining H. F. Hunter of the same village from practising law there. According to the statements of the plaintiff, Hunter bound himself by agreement with Webb not to practise law within 25 miles of Colborne after the expiration of a partnership, formed between them in January, 1895. This partnership was dissolved in January, 1898, and it is claimed that Hunter practised in Warkworth and Cramahe, villages in the neighbourhood of Colborne. In March, 1898, another agreement was made, by which Hunter again bound himself not to practise within the prescribed territory. This agreement has also, it is alleged, been violated.

DEATH OF MR. J. C. McKEE.

Toronto Globe.—Mr. John C. McKee, of Toronto, traveller for the English drug firm of Allan & Hanbury, dropped dead in New York on Saturday while in the branch office of the firm. Mr. McKee was a resident of Peterborough most of his life, where he conducted a successful drug business for many years. He removed to Toronto three years ago, on taking the situation with the English firm. He had held the position of Vice-President of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, and was also on the Pharmacy Council for many years. Mr. McKee was fifty years of age. He is survived by his widow, who was on her way from New York to Toronto when the death occurred. Two sons also reside in Toronto, Dr. C. S. McKee of Spadina avenue and Mr. Harry McKee. The body left New York last evening, and will be interred at Peterborough on arrival in Canada."

A telegram was received this morning stating that the remains would arrive in Peterborough this evening. The funeral will take place to-morrow, in all probability, arrangements to that end being in progress.

BIRTH.

BEAL.—At 61 Weller street, on the 22nd of December, 1901, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Beal.

DIED

You get a full assortment and do away with the crushing and rushing of the last few days, and you get waited on satisfactorily. We have lots of things to interest you this year, suitable for gifts and all useful. You won't find any trashy trinkets or toys in this store, but a host of good things that belong to the Dress Goods trade. We can show you lots of them that will be more appreciated for presents than trinkets.

Ladies' Kid Gloves

There is nothing that makes a more suitable present for a lady than a pair of Kid Gloves. This is the store for Kid Gloves. We have the best Goods made—Perrin's Freres, and we have the biggest assortment and the lowest prices. Is really wonderful value the glove we are offering at a dollar a pair this Xmas. All colours, and guaranteed to give satisfrction. Its equal to any other make at a dollar and a quarter

Men's Furnishings

We don't forget the men at Xmas. We have lots of good things for them in Warm Lined Gloves, Ties, Handkerchiefs, etc. You will be sure to find something that will suit your fancy here, and prices here ought to be lower than regular furnishing stores.

Handkerchiefs

We want everybody who wants Handkerchiefs for this Xmas to see our immense assortment. Hemstitched, Embroidered or Tape Borders, both ladies' and gentlemen's. Such a range of qualities and prices. We can suit any inquiry in the way of Handkerchiefs that can come our way. We are making special reductions by dozens and by the half dozen that is meeting with great approval. Our single prices are evidently away below ordinary stores by the way they are being picked up. Remember this store for Handkerchiefs.

Linens

Tray Cloths, Sideboard Scarfs, French Cloths, Doylies, Table Cloths, Napkins. We have a grand lot of Linens here, and remember Linens mean Pure Linen here. Some of them German Linens, but mostly Irish—the kind that wash, iron and wear for years.

Housefurnishings

Our Housefurnishing Department has many things that make very appropriate presents. There's Carpets, Rugs, Curtains, Cushions, Table Covers and lots of other things that will gladdeen the hearts and make the home happy. Don't forget our Housefurnishing Dept.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.

Gunner Boyle Takes Offence Where None was Intended.

Mr. Dick Boyle, writing from the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms, Halifax, N.S., forwards the following letter to the Examiner:

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — Some of the Peterborough boys having received a check for 12½ from the town by this morning's mail, I thought I would receive one too, but I see the town took good care that they didn't send it to me. Well, if I am not able to take care of any money for myself, I will let the town know. It was just the same last time; I only received it about ten minutes before the boat sailed, whereas the others got theirs a few days after they left town. I shall write and tell my mother to return it. I don't consider it a favour granting me $36, and I don't care whether they do so or not. They must send it to me direct or not at all.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

Yours respectfully,

R. A. BOYLE, No. 29,

3rd Troop, C Squadron, 2nd C.M.Rs.

The reason Pte. Boyle did not receive his money at the same time as the other boys who enlisted lies in the fact that Lt.-Col. Edwards was given the cheques for those who had enlisted from the 57th Regt., and as the commanding officers of the corps to which the other men belonged did not reside in Peterborough, the money was given to their mothers instead, and will doubtless be forwarded in due time.

Lift Look Envelopes.

Owing to the demand for these envelopes we were out of stock the past two or three days, but are now able to supply in quantities from one package up.

Stationery in Boxes.

These boxes of stationery and envelopes make pretty, inexpensive and useful gifts, especially for corresponding friends, or for the boy or girl whom you would encourage to neat letter writing. The Peterborough Bookstore has a pleasing display of artistic and dainty note paper papeteries. These will be an ornament to any writing desk. The boxes are decorated with pretty designs, and the paper and envelopes are done up with fancy ribbon and other neat effects. Very distingue. We also beg to assure you of the genuine utility of our fountain pens. A. H. Stratton & Co.

KINDERGARTEN EXERCISES.

Took Place Last Week in Ashburnham —Very Successful.

The closing exercises of the Ashburnham Kindergarten took place on Thursday afternoon, and passed off very successfully. Miss Williamson, the director, has on more than one occasion demonstrated by exercises of the kind, the wonderful power the teachers have over the little ones and the affection, so to speak, that seems to exist, but Thursday's exercises were perhaps the most successful in this regard that have taken place in some time.

The chair was occupied by Rev. K. A. Langfeldt, and on the platform with him were Rev. O. L. Thompson; Rev. J. G. Potter and Rev. George Yule of town, and Rev. Mr. Hyde of Warsaw.

Mr. Harry Neil as usual performed the duties of Santa Claus to the delight of the little ones.

The room was tastefully decorated and the entertainment afforded by the little ones was heartily enjoyed.

Miss Williamson was ably assisted by Miss Thompson, Miss Tully, Miss White and Miss Calcutt.

Prayer, Morning Hymn.
Good Morning, Sunrise.
Solo, "Doll Song," Lulu Greenwood.
Family Song, "Ball for Baby," "The Mother," "The Grandmother."
Recitation, "Grandmother's Spectacles," Ethel Goodenough.
Family of Fingers — (a) Shut them, open; (b) Eight white sheep.
Family of Birds — Bird band.
Sung by Little Miss Georgie Long, accompanied by a band of Robins, Blue Birds and Golden Orioles. (Parry Ferguson, Freddy Long, Heber Rogers, Percy Neil and Neil McAllister.
Winter Songs (a) The North Wind; (b) Jack Frost; (c) Old Winter.
Christmas Songs, "A Christmas Box" by five little girls, Lelia Kerman, Georgie Long, Roxy Castle, Amy Fakenham, Susie Duffis.
Recitation, "Give our Best," Lulu Greenwood.
Chorus, "Christmas Picture."
Recitation, "The Sick Dolly," Mabel Pringle; "The Naughty Girl," Elsie Sherin.
Kindergarten Home Economics — a practical illustration of everyday life, by seven little girls representing each day of the week.
Monday, Washing Day, Lizzie Manlece
Tuesday, Ironing Day, Beatrice Melan
Wednesday, Mending, Lulu Greenwood
Thursday, Playing, Susie Duffis.
Friday, Sweeping, Greta Fakenham.
Saturday, Baking Day, Ethel Stevens.
Sunday, Rest and go to Church, Bertha Record.
Concluded by recitations in concert.
Gifts and occupations, consisting of Transition class, cutting, 1st division, sewing class, 2nd division, fourth, gift, babies; setting the Christmas table.
March and games — In march each child carries small Union Jack; children sing patriotic songs; solos of "Greeting to the King," and "Johnny Canuck," taken by Miss Georgie Long.
Games concluded by Christmas Fairies the "Fairy Queen" being Alice Neil, dressed in white spangled with gold stars, wearing gold crown, and carrying sceptre. Ten fairies also in white come out and bow and dance around the Queen, singing all the while. They are followed by ten Brownies, who also after bowing to the Queen skip in their characteristic manner.
After this the children in a circle sing "Tickety Tock." In the last verse all fall asleep, but are awakened by the sound of bells. Then Santa Claus comes in and distributes presents off the Christmas tree.

The presents were for the most part made by the little ones for their parents, and were very cute looking indeed.

The chairman, in his closing remarks, spoke in very eulogistic terms of the work of the little ones, and of the efforts of Miss Williamson, the director.

THE LINDSAY DEPUTATION

Reported to the Citizens on Friday.

PAID A VISIT TO MICHIGAN.

The Impressions They Gained Regarding the Sugar Beet Industry—Some Interesting Facts.

(From the Lindsay Post.)

The small attendance at most public meetings nowadays, whether held in town or country, would be most disheartening to those who take an interest in public or local matters of importance, but for the fact that it is generallly recognised as being a natural result of the growth of the reading habit in a community. It is an indirect compliment to the press, indicating as it does a firm confidence that the matters dealt with will be fully and fairly covered in the next issue, but there is at least one serious drawback—a meagre attendance makes it extremely difficult to guage public opinion as to the merits or demerits of the question at issue.

These remarks are called forth by the smallness of the gathering at the meeting held yesterday in the council chamber to receive and discuss the report of the delegates sent to Michigan to acquire information relative to the growing and cultivation of the sugar beet and the operation of sugar beet factories. It was a meeting in which the farmers of the county might reasonably be expected to show the keenest interest, yet the number present, including citizens of the town, was under 100, and many of those were almost an hour late and missed hearing the reading of a large part of the report. However, the audience comprised many of the representative farmers of the district and considerable enthusiasm was manifested.

Mr. E. H. Hopkins, chairman of the special Sugar Beet Committee, occupied the chair, and Mr. F. C. Taylor was appointed secretary pro tem. The following report was then read by Delegates Ellis and Channon, each reading a portion. The discussion in connection therewith will appear in Monday's issue.

Gentlemen,—The undersigned members of the delegation appointed by you to go to Michigan to investigate the sugar beet industry in that State, beg to report as follows:

Mr. Charles Fairbairn, whom you appointed to assist us in our investigations, was unable to accompany us, so that we performed our task to the best of our ability without his aid.

By a committee appointed by you at the same time as we were, we were furnished with a list of questions to guide us in our work. They were as follows:

1. What kind of soil is best adopted for raising sugar beets?
2. What is the best mode to prepare the land in the fall before the crop?
3. What cultivation is given in the spring for the sugar beet together with the amount of seed required per acre?
4. What is the cost per acre and what implements are required for that purpose?
5. How many tons per acre and what price is received per ton and what percentage of sugar per ton did they test?
6. What other crops do the Michigan farmers raise in competition with beets, and what money returns do they get from them?
7. It is claimed that the average Michigan farmer is less careful in his methods than the farmers of this province. Try and satisfy yourself as to the truth of this charge.
8. Does the work of handling the beets interfere seriously with fall plowing, etc.?
9. How did you come to grow sugar beets?
10. How was the industry started?
11. What was the effect (1) on the country, and (2) on the town?
12. What is your method of disposing of the pulp?
13. What becomes of the labour during the winter when not required for sugar beet culture?

We were also instructed by your committee to ask for a man from the Agricultural College, who should accompany us to Michigan and assist in our work. We left Lindsay on the morning of Thursday, the 5th inst., and proceeded to Guelph, where we saw Principal Mills, of the Ontario Agricultural College, who referred us to a leading sugar manufacturer in Michigan, and sent Mr. Harcourt, the chemical expert of the college with us to Michigan, and for four days gave us valuable help. We reached Bay City, Michigan, shortly after noon on Friday, and spent a week getting information on the sugar beet industry. In that task we were given every assistance by the gentlemen whom we approached, and found both farmers and manufacturers most courteous and anxious to give us all the information they could.

The gentlemen to whom we were referred by Principal Mills was Capt. Boutell, of Bay City, who was largely instrumental in establishing the sugar beet industry in the State, who is financially interested in several factories, holds stock in the Wallaceburg factory in Ontario, and is known as the Sugar King of Michigan. He gave us very valuable assistance. Capt. Boutrell told us that he had formerly been in the lumber business and made considerable money, but that when the Ontario Government stopped the export of logs he sold out his business and turned his attention to establishing the sugar beet industry. The country, he said, really needed it, for the grain crop had empoverished the land, and financial disaster threatened many of the farmers. Yet it was a difficult matter to persuade them to grow beets. He made a canvass that cost $400, and secured only eight plots. By perseverance he at last got enough acreage promised to justify building a factory at Bay City. The beets to keep that factory going the first year were gathered from twelve counties, and brought from as far as 106 miles away. That was in 1899. Now there are four factories, in that city and they bid the required beets in half the former territory. Capt. Boutell's description of the difficulties of getting the industry started agrees with the brief but pointed answer given by one farmer who, when asked what first led him to grow beets replied, "Hard coaxing and hard times."

We visited Bay City, Saginaw and the town of Caire, besides going a good deal among the farmers at their homes. They are industrious, intelligent men, and work their land well. We talked with them a good deal as they delivered their beets at the factories. Most factories use 500 tons of beets per day. We learned that the beets grew best on a clay loam, with a good clay subsoil, but that they do well on a sandy loam. On real sandy land or black muck they do not thrive.

There are many very large plots grown, but the great bulk of the beets grown in Michigan are grown on patches of from three to ten acres, and handled by the farmers themselves. The best seed bed is obtained by plowing down clover stubble nine or ten inches deep in the fall. That is worked with the disc harrow and roller several times in the spring. When the land is lumpy, a pulverizer, made of half-a-dozen planks attached to each other in clapboard fashion, and drawn over the land broadside, is used to make it fine. The beets are sown on the level in rows, twenty inches apart, any time between the 15th of April and the 10th of June. Where large plots are grown, the time of sowing is varied in different parts of the field, so that the cultivation of the entire plot will not be necessary at the same time. About 15 pounds of seed is sown to the acre.

To be continued.

MR. KINDRED REMEMBERED.

The Trustees and the Pupils Both Read Addresses to the Popular Young Principal.

On Thursday afternoon as Mr. H. C. Kindred was closing his school in Havelock, and bidding adieu to his scholars prior to leaving to take a course at Trinity Medical College, he was interrupted by the entrance of the members of the School Board, when Mr. Mathieson read the following address:

Havelock, Ont., Dec. 20th, 1901.

To Mr. H. C. Kindred, principal of the Havelock Public School,—

Dear Sir, — As you have on your own account deemed it advisable to sever your connection with the profession of school teaching, and to depart from our midst, we, the present trustees on behalf of your pupils and their parents, feel that we cannot allow you to leave us without thanking you most heartily for the excellent success you have enjoyed as principle of our school and the progress your pupils have made under your tuition.

Each parent, and also your pupils, in speaking of your departure, do so with great regret, as they, like us, feel we are losing a faithful friend and a clever teacher.

We trust that they may all progress in the future as they have done in the past, keeping in mind the happy days spent at their studies under your guidance, and that you in your future life, may look back with pleasure to the time spent with them, and with the large circle of friends you have made in Havelock, owing to your gentlemanly ways, which have made you a favourite in the school, the church, and the athletic field.

Trusting that prosperity may crown all your undertakings through life, and that God's blessing may always precede and brighten your pathway hereafter, we regretfully and sorrowfully bid you farewell.

Signed on behalf of the school board.

JOHN MAIDENS,
Secretary,
T. H. PATTERSON,
Chairman,
W. S. WOOD,
WM. MATHIESON,
W. R. RITCHIE,
J. BARLOW.

Miss Lily Walton on behalf of the pupils, then read the following address, while Miss Lillian Campbell made the presentation.

Dear Teacher, — As the long-looked-for holidays are almost here, we are reminded of the impending separation between you, our teachers, and us, your pupils and friends.

We feel that this is an opportune time to assure you of our keen appreciation of your methods of teaching, and of your faultless example while amongst us, as well as of our sincere regret at your decision to leave us.

We request you as a favour to accept this clock and set of brushes, and to regard it as a remembrance of friendship and school life in Havelock.

Wishing you success in your future life, we sincerely hope that you may ascend the hill of prosperity and never meet an enemy.

Signed on behalf of your pupils,
LILY WALTON,
LILLIAN CAMPBELL.

Mr. Kindred made a feeling reply, expressing his regret at leaving the school and the pupils, to whom he had become much attached. He hoped that his successor would receive the same kind treatment at their hands. He closed by wishing all the compliments of the season.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ST. JOHN'S.

At St. John's church yesterday evening Mrs. Harry Johnston, of Millbrook, rendered a solo in a very pleasing manner.

BETHANY TABERNACLE.

The series of special services which have been in progress in Bethany Tabernacle for the past two weeks, were brought to a close last evening. Dr. Watsons preached in the morning on Rebekah at the well, and in the evening on the atonement.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

The music was exceptionally good at both services. In the morning the choir opened the service with the carol "Christmas Hymn." The anthem was "Behold! I Bring you Good Tidings," by Goss. In the evening the beautiful carol "Angels from the Realms of Glory," was sung by the choir, Mrs. Hunter taking the solo. The anthem was entitled "Hark, Hark My Soul," by Shelley. The solo was taken in excellent voice by Mr. W. E. Werley, the soprano obligato by Miss Florence Hall. During the offertory Miss Hall sang with great taste and expression the beautiful solo "Cantique de Noel," by Adolphe Adam.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

On Christmas Day Holy Communion will be held in All Saint's church at 8.30 and 11 o'clock. At the 11o'clock service special Christmas music will be rendered including Te Deum, by Constance and Jubilate by Schilling. The anthem will be "Hark, What Means those Holy Voices."

The decorating of the church will commence to-night.

The music at All Saint's church was of a special nature. In the morning Messrs. James Browne and Joe Legg sang the duet "Tarry with me." The The selection was given unaccompanied.

ST. PAUL'S.

At St. Paul's church Rev. Dr. Torrance preached in the morning and Rev. Orr Bennett in the evening. Rev. Mr. Bennett delivered a very intresting sermon in the evening, taking for his text, Matthew, 14; 25—"And when He had sent the multitudes away He went up into a mountain apart to pray, and when evening came He was there alone."

The music at St. Paul's was very appropriate to the occasion. In the morning the anthem "The Birthday of the King" was rendered, Mr. Milne taking the solo. It proved to be a very highly apppreciated anthem, and was repeated in the evening by special request. Mr. Milne rendered the solo passages in an excellent manner.

LOCOMOTIVE WORKS FOR CANADA.

W. J. Arkell Tells Montreal People That the Largest in the World Will be Built.

A Montreal despatch to the New York Sun reads as follows:

"Canada will soon have the largest locomotive works in the world," said W. J. Arkell of New York, today. Mr. Arkell is largely interested in the American Locomotive Works. "I cannot go into details," he continued, "but, mark my words, within two years Canada will have a locomotive manufacturing company under way, which will be the greatest thing of the kind on the earth. I can't tell where it will be located, nor who the men are who are in it, but it is sure to come.

"These works will be located in Canada, because this is the best place in the world for them. Canada has, or will have, the cheapest steel in the world; labour costs less than it does in the States, and the facilities for cheap shipping are the best on the continent. The locomotives will be sold in Canada or in Europe, or wherever there is a demand for engines. They can be made more economically here than anywhere else, and therefore they can be sold anywhere in the world. The demand for locomotives is growing steadily. New railways are being built in Europe, in Asia, in South Africa, and in South America, and old engines are wearing out. The demand was never so heavy as at the present time."

Mr. Arkell left New York in the private car Columbia with a party of sixteen, several days ago, to make a tour of Canada

Christmas Day

Its Early ...History | Massacres by the Romans

It is a generally accepted belief that on the date that we call Christmas day Christ was born. This is questioned by some chroniclers, but the doubt does little harm, says the Brooklyn Eagle. Every one is satisfied to take this date as the nativity of Christ, and it matters little whether it is historically correct or not; one day in the year, it is believed by all good Christians, should be set aside for the celebration of the birth of Jesus of Nazareth, and the 25th of December is as good a day as any on the calendar.

It is necessary to go back to the Roman era to find the first recorded reference to a festival on the date known to us as Christmas day, so that it need not be cause for surprise if through all the past ages the record of the exact day on which Christ was born should have become lost. History tells us that the first feast to be celebrated on the 25th of December was established by Commodus, emperor of Rome, who flourished about 185 years after the birth of Christ.

After that there are many references to the meetings of the new sect called the Christians, who gathered on this day to celebrate the birth of the God Man. It is not until a century after the time of Commodus that we find a particular reference to the persecution that the Christians underwent at the hands of the pagan emperors having culminated in a grand Christmas day massacre.

Diocletian was the Roman who decided to celebrate the date by killing off a few Christians. He did so with a vengeance. The most horrible deed perpetrated during the festival was on Christmas day, when the assembled Christians, gathered in their place of meeting, were set upon and slaughtered, while the Romans looked on in great glee at the sight of antipagan people being put to death for their religion's sake.

When Rome was no longer a pagan state, the feast began to be celebrated in the Christian style, although some of the songs that were sung and some of the rites of the festival would greatly shock the strictly orthodox churchgoer of the present day. At that time there were no excursion trains to carry those who wished to take part in a public celebration from point to point, and the electric telegraph had not been thought of. Consequently those who celebrated the birth of Christ in early days did so in widely separated countries, sometimes at widely separated periods of time and according to no set programme. It was every community for itself, and no one to criticise the others for not being careful about the date.

As a matter of fact, the ancient celebration of Christ's nativity was left entirely to the discretion of the different bodies, and as every community had divergent interests the time was arranged to suit the exigencies of the case. If Christmas day happened to come upon a time when there was too much work to be done to permit of a holiday, then it would be postponed until a more suitable season. Owing to this indifference to precedents the exact date when the birth of Christ ought to be kept was hopelessly lost.

On only one thing were all the ancients agreed—namely, that the festival in commemoration of the birth of Christ ought to be the most magnificent of the year. In some cases it was kept up for days and the meaning of the festival was forgotten long before the revelers returned to their homes again.

It is interesting to observe that the custom of giving presents at Christmas time, which has survived to this day, was begun in the first days of the Christmas feast. So was the custom that is known as carol singing. The songs of today are based on the event that makes Christmas day a time of rejoicing, but at that time they were not overparticular as to the subject chosen by the singers. In fact it would be difficult to find in some of them an excuse for the singing of such ditties at a religious festival.

It is a striking feature of this Christmas celebration that from its earliest recorded history there is no sentiment in connection with it but those of kindliness and good feeling. However much the old style of celebrating Christmas might be objectionable to the twentieth century critic of orthodox tendencies who frowns at the frivolity of some of the customs, it was always a time for the better side of human nature to be exhibited and for people to take gifts to each other in a spirit of peace and good will. This kindly spirit has been maintained until all over the world today it is seen in the merry-making, the happiness conveyed by the glorious institution of Santa Claus, the steaming hot dinners presented to the poor, the frolic and the fun-making in almost every home, and the gathering together for the yearly reunion of those whom circumstances separate for the greater part of the year. May the season never cease to be famous for its power to bring out the better attributes of men and women, as it did of old!

Origin of Mince Pie.

English plum pudding and mince pies both owe their origin, or are supposed to, to an occurrence attendant upon the birth of Christ. The highly esteemed ingredients refer to the offering of spices, frankincense and myrrh by the wise men of the east to the Christ Child.—New York World.

Josh Billings said of Niagara Falls that the reason why people liked it was "Beaws nobody kin make wun jest like it." For the same reason people like Four T's, the great guaranteed cough cure. It is the only lung remedy made that cures coughs and colds in two days with perfect safety. Children like it and it cures croupy coughs. Sold in 25c. bottles by Ormond & Welch, druggists.

Carpenters' Kidneys.

Carpentering is not an easy trade. The constant reaching up and down, the lifting and stooping over are all severe strains on the kidneys. No wonder a carpenter exclaimed, recently, that every time he drove a nail it seemed as though he was piercing his own back. He was now on the first sign of Backache and is able to follow his trade with comfort and profit.

"I have had kidney and urinary troubles for many years with severe pain in the small of my back and in both sides. I could not stoop without difficulty, and I had severe neuralgic pain in both temples. Seeing the advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box. They have given me quick relief, removing the pain from the back and sides, and banishing the neuralgic pains from my head. The urinary difficulty is now entirely gone. I feel fresh and vigorous in the mornings, and am much stronger in every way since taking these pills." CLARENCE E. SIMMS, Carpenter and Builder, Trenton, Ont.

ROAST TURKEY.

How to Select and Prepare the Bird For the Table.

Select a nice young turkey of ten pounds in weight, singe, draw and wash it quickly in cold water, then wipe it dry with a towel. Season the bird inside as well as outside with one teaspoonful of salt in all. Soak one-half pound of bread two days old in cold water till soft, inclose it in a napkin and press out all the water. Place a saucepan with one tablespoonful of lettuce and two tablespoonfuls of fine chopped onions over the fire, stir and cook five minutes without browning. Then add the bread, stir and cook five minutes. Remove, and when cold mix it with one pound of sausage meat, season with one even teaspoonful salt, one-half teaspoonful thyme and one-quarter teaspoonful pepper. Fill the crop and body with this forcemeat, sew it up and truss nicely. Cover the breast and thighs with thin slices of larding pork, tie it firmly with a cord, lay the turkey in a roasting pan, pour over two ounces of melted butter and place the pan in a medium hot oven to roast. Baste freely with its own gravy till the bird is light brown on all sides, then add a little water. Continue to roast, basting frequently till done. A turkey of ten pounds will take two and one-half hours cooking. Place the giblets in a saucepan covered with cold water over the fire, add one teaspoonful of salt, and when it boils add a small onion. Cook till done. Shortly before serving lay the turkey on a hot dish, remove the skewers and strings, free the gravy from all fat, mix one tablespoonful of cornstarch with one-half cupful of cold water, add to it the gravy, stir and cook a few minutes, then add sufficient giblet broth to make one pint of sauce. Cook five minutes, strain through a sieve, rub the liver fine with a spoon, add to the gravy and serve.

As a Cure For Piles

Dr. Chase's Ointment Never Disappoints—It Has Won World-wide Fame on Account of its Magical Control Over the Most Severe Cases of Itching, Bleeding and Protruding Piles.

Doctors may tell you that nothing short of a surgical operation will cure piles. In this they are mistaken, as we can prove in a host of cases where Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used. It is not infrequent that people tell us that Dr. Chase's Ointment has succeeded in effecting a cure after operations had failed. There is too much risk in a surgical operation, too much suffering and too much expense. If you take the advice of scores and hundreds of your friends and neighbours, you will avoid operations, and resort to the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It will relieve you almost at once. It will thoroughly cure you in a remarkably short time.

Mr. J. Wolfe, Arnprior, Ontario, states:—"I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles, and can assure the public that there was never anything on the market to equal it. I was disappointed time and time again when trying remedies for the ailment, and you can scarcely imagine my gratitude when I found that Dr. Chase's Ointment was an effective and thorough cure for this ailment. From the first application this magical ointment gave me relief, and a few boxes perfectly cured me. Since being cured of piles I always keep Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house and find it useful in scores of ways as a treatment for every form of itching skin, chafing and skin irritations."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is indeed useful in scores of ways, as Mr. Wolfe says, and people who once make the acquaintance of Dr. Chase's Ointment are loath to be without it in the house. For pimples, blackheads, eczema, salt rheum, chapped hands and face, chilblains and each and every form of raw, itching or chafed skin, it is an incomparable treatment. It is especially recommended as a cure for piles, because it is, so far as we know, the only actual and guaranteed cure for every form of this wretched and loathsome disease. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

"A handsome and useful Christmas present for your mother or grandmother is a copy of Dr. Chase's last and complete Receipt Book. Illustrated folder free."

The Dinner Table.

The Christmas dinner table should be appropriately and prettily decorated with evergreens, holly, a bunch of mistletoe hanging below the chandelier and sprays of wintergreen everywhere they can be tucked. Roses and chrysanthemums seem to be the favorite flowers. Wherever ribbons are used let them be of a rich, bright red, for that is a warm and glowing color, and especially fashionable this season. Branches of holly placed tastefully among the draperies of an apartment add much to the cheerful feast day appearance.

CHRISTMAS FEATURES

Interesting Facts About the Mystic Mistletoe Bough, the Yule Log, the Giving of Presents, the Carols and the Custom of Decorating the Home at Yuletide . . . . . .

Christmas was first kept as a holy day in A. D. 98, but for three centuries it was the most movable of festivals. The date, Dec. 25, was selected in the fourth century by a commission of theologians.

This is the height of the rainy season in Judea, which makes it improbable that shepherds would be watching their flocks by night and that the stars would be visible. October is the month agreed upon by many investigators.

The Decorations.

The custom of decorating dwellings and churches with evergreens is a relic of paganism.

It was transmitted to the English races of today directly from the Druids of ancient Britain, who believed that if a house were mantled in holly, laurel or bay the good sylvan spirits that loved those growths and kept them green by protecting them from winter frosts would also protect the dwelling from harm.

As a Festival.

In its aspect as a religious celebration Christmas entered into rivalry with the pagan festivals of the winter solstice in Rome.

Of these the most popular and the most scandalous were the Saturnalia. Making allowance for the mercurial Latin temperament, the fathers of the church deemed it wise to give Christians an opportunity to make merry no less than their heathen neighbors and established the celebration.

The Gifts.

Why should people make presents at Christmas? 'Tis a gracious custom, subject to abuses, but what was its origin? Unlearned piety, to investigate the matter, studies the New Testament and reaches the conclusion that the exchange of gifts symbolizes the homage paid to the infant Jesus by the kings and wise men of the east.

But historians say that the early Christians exchanged gifts because their pagan neighbors did.

The Yule Log.

There is nothing Christian in the Yule log, which has almost become obsolete in these days of steam heat and "gas logs." It belonged to the Saxon feast of Jul (pronounced Yule).

The custom passed into Christian observance when the god Jul was forgotten and the barons made their hearths big enough to accommodate the Yule log. Lighted on Christmas eve it was a sign of good luck if it continued to burn after dawn of Christmas day.

The Mistletoe Bough.

To the mistletoe bough our heathen ancestors attached the greatest importance. The forest yielded no more sacred emblem. The very oaks on which it grew were hallowed.

No significance belonged to mistletoe from any other tree than the oak—and it may be found on the fir, the lime and even the apple tree. The graceful parasitic creeper with its pale berries symbolized the choicest blessings of the gods and was a defense against evil.

The Carols.

Christmas carols were another invention of the early church to offset the joyous license of paganism. Song was an expression of rejoicing among the Romans.

Hence the making of pious canticles, simple in form, so that they might be sung by learned and ignorant. Such is the origin of the custom, which still lingers in certain parts of England, of "waits" going from house to house on Christmas eve and singing carols.—New York World.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

An Odd Being.

Bertha—Don't you tell a soul, Edith, but really I believe Fred and I were made for each other. We have played golf together three times, and we never have quarreled, except two or three times when Fred was clearly in the wrong.

He Wasn't So.

"My dear Miss Biltmore," coldly wrote young Hankinson, "I return herewith your kind note, in which you accept my offer of marriage. You will observe that it begins 'Dear George.' I do not know who George is, but my name, as you know, is William."—Chicago Tribune.

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and eradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. Heart Disease

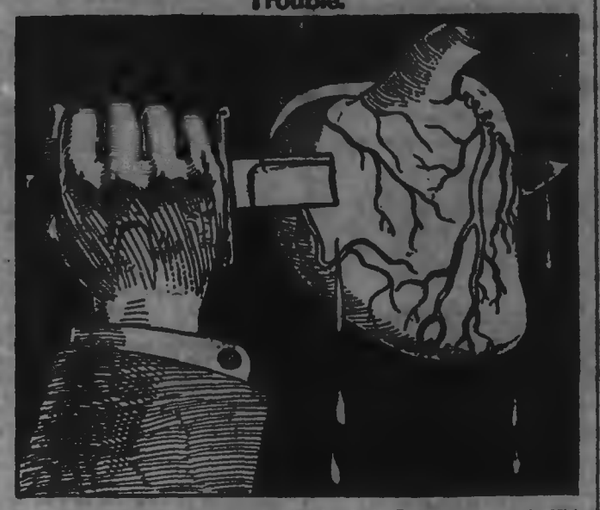
Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.



Heart trouble, at least among the Americans, is certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and the Pneumogastric.

In another way, also, the heart is affected by poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest, caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the proper assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contains valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant and convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

Mrs. Lydia Bartram, of Assyria, Mich., writes:—"I have suffered from stomach trouble for ten years, and five different doctors gave me only temporary relief. A Mr. H.R. Page advised me to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and four boxes did me more permanent benefit than all the doctors' medicines that I have ever taken.

Mrs. G.H. Crotsley, 138 Washington street, Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as older folks. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say 'tablets' and she drops everything else and runs for them."

Miss Lelia Dively, 827 Plummer St., Pittsburg, Pa., writes:—"I wish everyone to know how grateful I am for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I suffered for a long time and did not know what ailed me. I lost flesh right along until one day I noticed an advertisement of these tablets, and immediately bought a 50c box at the drug store. I am only on the second box and am gaining in flesh and colour. I have at last found something that has reached my ailment."

Phil Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says:—"Your dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

The Best Gift of All

By... HOWARD FIELDING

Copyright, 1901, By Charles W. Hooke.

AT 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Saturday, Dec. 22, Dr. Donald Lafarge, chemist to the board of health, affixed his signature to an official document and swore with gentle earnestness that he would not do any more work until Tuesday. His assistant, Dr. Hale, who had just entered the office from the laboratory, remarked that everything seemed to be in shape to take care of itself for awhile and forthwith removed a long apron, stained and ragged, which he viewed with stern dissatisfaction as he rolled it up and thrust it into a drawer.

Hale was a dark visaged young man, with a picturesque shock of black hair and eyes as fierce as a pirate's. He had a deep and rumbling voice, a compact and rugged form, and he went about the simplest duties of this life with an air of ruthless determination—as if they were crimes.

"What are all those things?" he asked, indicating a great number of parcels on Lafarge's broad, flat topped desk.

Lafarge, who had been bending over the parcels, straightened his tall figure and pushed back the silky blond hair which would always fall over his forehead when he stooped.

"Christmas presents," said he.

"You've got more friends than I have," said Hale.

"More and better friends than I deserve," was the reply, "and not a great many at that. I'm a lonesome, unamiable brute. There's no reason why anybody should care for me."

"Well, somebody does," growled Hale.

Lafarge became interested.

"Do you think so, old man?" he asked, with an eagerness that was very youthful. "I can't get a line on her myself". But you're mighty shrewd, and I've seen her quite a number of times down here. These little things"—and he swept his hand over the packages—"are intended for the Christmas tree at her house."

"Whose house?"

"Miss Mallory's," answered Lafarge. "Perhaps you didn't mean"—

"Her? No, confound it! I meant myself. Idiotic thing to say, of course, but I was sparring for an opening. You see, I've got a little thing for you here, and I didn't know how to excuse myself for giving it to you. Here; take it," pulling a package out of the drawer beside him. "It's nothing but a box of cigars, and they're pretty rank, I guess. Cheap, anyway. But they'll do for visitors."

He tossed the package upon the desk and stood a moment, his bow legs apart like a sailorman's, and his manner as awkward as a schoolboy's who has forgotten his "piece" and can neither go on with it nor get back to his seat.

Lafarge, also, was considerably embarrassed, for he had neglected to buy anything for Hale, or even to think of him in such a connection.

"Upon my word, old fellow," he began, extending his hand, but at that instant the queer little scene was interrupted by the sudden entrance of District Attorney Blake Wallace.

The district attorney had a package in his hand about the size of an ordinary cigar box, wrapped in brown paper and tied with a red string. He carried it in a peculiar way, with his finger and thumb upon one corner of it and his arm extended in front of him almost grotesquely. He did not say a word until he had put down the package on the desk. Then he backed toward the door, at the same time saying:

"Come out here, Lafarge. I want to talk to you."

"Is it anything so confidential that Dr. Hale can't hear it?" demanded the chemist in surprise.

"No, no!" exclaimed Wallace. "Let him come, too, and the quicker the better."

Wallace seemed to breathe easier and to recover something of his official dignity when he had passed the door. He put a hand upon a shoulder of each of the others, and, with the imperceptible dexterity of the practiced trickster in law, kept them between himself and the office as he said:

"That thing is an infernal machine—at least I believe that it is. You know about Kensley?"

"The Wall street man?" said Lafarge.

"Yes," responded Wallace. "This thing was left at his house scarcely more than half an hour ago. He has been receiving threatening letters for some weeks, and the police have had a good many men out on the case. This is the result of it."

"I'd like to know what you fellows will load off on to me next," grumbled the chemist. "For heaven's sake, haven't I enough to do in my own department without monkeying with your dynamite bombs?"

"If you feel any hesitancy about touching it"—began Wallace. But Lafarge interrupted him.

"I'm not afraid of it, if that's what you mean," said he. "If you think I am, just watch me."

"Thank you," responded Wallace. "I think I'll just run down to my office, and—and you can make your report to me there."

"You may bear my report before you see it," laughed Lafarge. "You know, my friend," he added, more seriously, "that while ninety-nine of these things are as harmless as children's toys, the hundredth one is loaded to the muzzle."

"I'll take care of this one," said Hale, suddenly turning toward the office.

"Not by a jugful," rejoined Lafarge. "I don't turn this sort of thing over to another man. That's not like me at all."

Hale was within the office by this time, and he reached the desk first. Wallace, upon the threshold, saw the two men in a friendly struggle for this extraordinary prize.

"Hold on!" he cried. "Be careful! The thing has clockwork in it. It was ticking when I brought it in. You'll set it off."

At that moment Hale sprang away from the desk, pushing Lafarge back. He ran to the laboratory door, where he stood an instant with the package held close to his ear.

"It has stopped ticking," he said. "I'm not afraid of it."

He dodged into the laboratory as Lafarge advanced and locked the door behind him.

Lafarge begged and threatened, but Hale was obdurate. His heavy tread could be heard as he walked away from the door.

"There's no way to get in there," said Lafarge. "I suppose I might as well attend to these things."

With a hasty hand he wrapped the various small packages into one big bundle, and as he completed this labor the bent form of old Tom McGrath, for many years a "handy man" for the health department, appeared in the doorway.

"What's this I hear about dinnymite bombs?" said he. "Is that what you'd be wantin' me to carry up town?"

"The 'dinnymite' is all in the laboratory," said Lafarge. "Dr. Hale is playing with it. These things are to go to the address on the paper, and you're to be as careful of them as if they were nitroglycerin, every ounce of them."

The old man took the package with great care, and Lafarge ran across to the door of the laboratory.

"In just a minute," called Hale in answer to his chief's demand for admittance. "I'm getting at the inside of this thing now, and"—

There was a considerable pause.

"It's all right," cried Hale, approaching the door. "There's nothing in it except some sort of machinery; no explosive whatever."

He admitted the two men, Lafarge ahead, and Wallace hanging back a bit, despite Hale's assurance.

On a marble slab beside a sink full of water stood the infernal machine. Hale had given it a thorough soaking and had then wrenched off the bottom of it, for one does well not to open these mysterious packages in the way that would be most natural.

It was a box of a handsome dark wood, and within could be seen many wheels and a great spindle of a curious shape. Lafarge cast a hastily glance at this object. Then he turned it over.

"Jerusalem the golden!" he exclaimed. "This is my Christmas present to Grace Mallory!"

Hale put a hand on Lafarge's shoulder and turned him half round, staring into his face, speechless, and with the look of one who has been stabbed.

"It's a music box," continued Lafarge, with awesome calmness. "I bought it in Germany last summer. You must have got the wrong package off my desk."

"Doctor," said Hale hoarsely, "I'd rather have been blown up."

He was interrupted by the district attorney, who at that moment stepped between the two chemists.

"Doctor," said he, tapping Lafarge on the breast, "where did you send that bundle?"

"Saints of paradise!" yelled Lafarge. "I have sent that infernal machine to the Mallorys!"

Breaking away from the others, he ran into the office. A glance dispelled any possible doubt. Beyond question he had put the bomb with the presents and had delivered it to McGrath.

"We must catch him!" cried Hale, dashing his hand against his dripping forehead. "Oh, isn't this Jim Hale all over? Wasn't I born into the world for it?"

"You did it for me, Jim," said Lafarge. "You were in a hurry because you didn't want me to get hurt. And the mistake was natural. There were half a dozen of those bundles that looked just alike."

He spoke with a consideration and a friendliness that disguised his feeling. In reality he was so nervous that he could not find his hat and overcoat. Wallace handed them to him.

"You didn't tell me where that thing had gone," he said. "You mentioned a name, but"—

"I've sent it to the woman I love," responded Lafarge.

"Never mind," said the district attorney soothingly. "Probably it will go off before it gets to her. Let us hope so—though that's a little rough on old McGrath."

"Have your friends a telephone?" asked Hale.

"No!" groaned Lafarge. "We must depend upon our speed."

"They live in the Clyde apartments, don't they?" said Hale. "Well, I know the druggist on the corner. He has a telephone, and he will send a message."

He ran out of the room and along the corridor to an office in which was one of the telephones used by the health department. The others waited a few minutes in the hall, and then Lafarge's impatience overcame him. He had been absentmindedly pushing the button of the elevator, though well aware that the car had stopped running for the day. Suddenly ceasing this useless attempt, he rushed down the stairs, and Wallace clattered after him. The scrubwomen stared at them, and the watchman at the outer door assailed them with questions, but got no reply.

As they were about to board an electric car Hale overtook them. He looked a shade more cheerful than before.

"It's all right," he said, dropping into a seat beside Lafarge. "I've sent a message that on no account must they let McGrath bring those things into the house."

He relapsed into gloomy meditations, from which Lafarge charitably endeavored to arouse him.

"The Mallorys are a fine, old fashioned family," said he. "There's the grandfather—a magnificent, patriarchal old chap—and Mr. and Mrs. Mallory, with their four children—Jack's the eldest; he's eighteen—and Aunt Sarah, who isn't very well just now, I'm sorry to say; and Grace, who's only distantly related to the others, though she's like a daughter in the household—Mrs. Mallory's cousin, you know; so I'm very much at home there. Isn't Grace the sweetest, prettiest"—

Hale writhed in his seat.

The Clyde is an apartment house of a pretentious character. Liveried servants open doors and stand ready to answer questions with glib misinformation. Lafarge and Hale entered, leaving Wallace to search for McGrath on the outside.

"Yes, sir," said an obsequious youth; "the man was here, but we got a message from you, that we mustn't let him bring the bundle into the house."

"What did you do?" demanded Lafarge.

"We sent word up stairs," responded the liveried youth, "and Miss Mallory came down and brought the bundle in. She said she understood what you meant."

"Lafarge, this is fate!" said Hale, striding toward the elevator, with a scowl upon his face that made the colored man in charge of the car turn white.

A neat maid opened the door of the Mallory apartments.

"The things you sent have come, Dr. Lafarge," she said.

The chemist responded with a groan, as he leaned for a moment against the wall.

"Why, what's the matter, Donald?" asked a most agreeable voice, adding immediately: "How do you do, Dr. Hale? I'm so glad Donald brought you along."

"Grace," gasped Lafarge, "what did you do with that bundle?"

The girl seemed bewildered by the strange behavior of the man, but she could have no notion that anything really serious had happened. All this must be a part of the agreeable mysteries of the Christmas season. Perhaps Donald was afraid that the people for whom the gifts were intended had seen them prematurely.

A boy of ten stood beside her, his arm around her waist. She disengaged herself from the child, and, turning him around till his back was toward her, gave him a gentle tap between the shoulders.

"Run along, Bert," said she. "This is confidential."

"She's hidden all the presents, Uncle Donald," said the boy. "But I'll bet I know where they are."

"Hurry, Grace!" said Donald, approaching her.

"I put the package in Aunt Sarah's room," whispered the girl. "It's right by the foot of her bed. Aunt Sarah has 'nerves,'" she added, smiling at Hale. "The children don't dare to rummage around in her room."

Hale and Lafarge exchanged an agonised glance, and the latter stepped hastily toward a passage that ran rearward.

"Donald, what is the matter?" exclaimed Grace, running after him and laying a hand upon his arm.

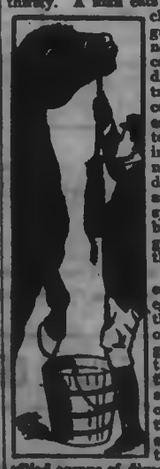
Horse Sense.

"Any fool can take a horse to water, but it takes a wise man to make him drink," says the proverb. The horse eats when hungry and drinks when thirsty. A man eats and drinks by the clock, without regard to the needs of nature. Because of careless eating and drinking "stomach trouble" is one of commonest of diseases. Sour and bitter risings, belchings, unnatural fulness after eating, dizziness, headache, and many other symptoms mark the beginning and progress of disease of the stomach.



Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases of other organs which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach, and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, cures obstinate cough and heals weak lungs.

"I was taken with Grippe, which resulted in heart and stomach trouble," writes Mr. T. B. Caudill, Moatland, Alleghaney Co., N. C. "I was unable to do anything a good part of the time. I wrote to Dr. Pierce about my condition, having full confidence in his medicine. He advised me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did. Before I had finished the second bottle I began to feel better. I have used nearly six bottles. I feel thankful to God for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I can highly recommend it to all persons as a good and safe medicine."

A Christmas Lay.
[With added.]

'Tis now the joyous Christmas time;
The panes are etched with gems of rime.
(Alas, that one so young as I
Should lend myself to such a lie!
Alas, that truth should be dulled
When both the windows at my side,
Though screened by wire, are open wide.)

The air is rent by sleet and hail;
The snow is deep on hill and dale.
('Tis hard to think that this is true
When grass is green and skies are blue,
But think it true a part must,
Though every wanton, wayward gust
Increase his table's cost of dust.)

The yawning grate with flame's aglow;
The walls are green with mistletoe.
(And yet upon the street without
I hear the melon buckster's shout,
And as I toil to earn a check
My collar stiff becomes a wreck,
And beads of sweat run down my neck.)

The singing wires are harped, I wean,
By frosty fingers all unseen.
(Another $5 for which I'm paid—
In fact, it's ninety in the shade;
But art demands the swan bird,
And Christmas lays can't be deferred;
I'm laying this on August third!)

AGREEMENT WITH BRIGANDS.

It Is Said They Will Accept £14,000 and Release Miss Stone.

London, Dec. 23:—According to a Sofia despatch to the Daily Telegraph, an agreement has been reached between the brigands holding Miss Stone captive and the American legation at Constantinople, under the terms of which the brigands are to accept £14,000 for the release of Miss Stone. It is said the ransom is to be paid on Bulgarian soil and that Miss Stone is to be liberated in Turkish territory.

Disposes of Schley Case.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Secretary Long has disposed finally of the Schley case, so far as the Navy Department is concerned, by acting upon the findings and conclusions of the Court of Inquiry. He also asked Admiral Schley's defamer, Edgar S. Maclay for his resignation.

Ten Years in Kingston.

Rat Portage, Dec. 23.—After an absence of four hours the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter against William Watson, charged with killing John McRae. Judge Britton on Saturday morning sentenced the prisoner to 10 years in Kingston Penitentiary. It was proved that Watson had escaped from a lunatic asylum in Oklahoma.

China Opposes Russia.

Pekin, Dec. 23.—The first discussion of the Manchurian treaty between Paul Lessar, the Russian Minister here, and the Chinese plenipotentiaries, Prince Ching and Wang Wen Shao, occurred here yesterday. Prince Ching and Wang Hen Shao displayed much less compliance with the Russian policy than had the late Li Hung Chang.

Uganda Railway Open.

London, Dec. 23.—A despatch from Mombasa, East Africa, states that the first locomotive for the new Uganda Railroad reached Port Florence, the terminus of the line, on Victoria Nyanza Saturday. It traversed 582 miles from the coast. Work on the railroad was commenced in 1896.

Christmas Superstitions.

To be born on Christmas day is, according to an old superstition, to be lucky all one's life.

The great event of the Christmas dinner 400 or 500 years ago was the entry of the chief cook bearing the boar's head, garnished with rosemary.

In Cornwall Christmas eve is a special holiday with children, who are allowed to sit up till midnight and drink to the "Mock"—as the Yule log is called there.

The Twelfth cake was formerly made full of plums and with a bean and a pea. Whoever got the former was king and whoever found the latter was queen of the corepanion.—New York Herald.

OVERWORKED CHILDREN.

Fully 300,000 Who Should Be in School Are Now Working.

London, Dec. 23.—One of the really social problems which will likely demand the attention of Parliament is the overworking of school children. A report just issued by the committee appointed by the Home Secretary reveals some astounding statistics.

The number of school children also employed at work in mills, shops or factories during hours when not in school-room is 150,000. These children all attend school the regulation number of hours. In addition to these, there are more than 105,000 other children who attend school half days and work the other half. All these are young children. Of those between the ages of 13 and 14 years, only 208,000 out of a total of nearly 600,000 are on the school lists at all. The committee estimates that fully 300,000 children who should be in school are now engaged in mills, mines, shops, factories, etc.

EXPLOSION IN PITTSBURG.

Seven Men Scalded and 20 or 30 Others Slightly Burned.

Pittsburg, Dec. 23.—For the third time within 72 hours, Pittsburg steel workers have been killed or maimed by terrible explosions. Following on the heels of the awful disasters at the Soho Furnace of Jones & Laughlin, on Thursday, and at the Black Diamond Steel Works Friday, the city was shocked Saturday morning by the report of another explosion at Singer-Nimicks' West End plant of the Crucible Steel Company of America, in which seven men were scalded, one badly cut, and 20 or 30 others slightly burned.

At 6.55 o'clock, two of a battery of five boilers used to operate the sheet mill exploded with terrific force. Scalding water played havoc among the workmen, who had just started in for the day, while pieces of the boilers caused great destruction to the mill property. Of the seven men scalded, four have died.

Couldn't Say Yet.

Winnipeg, Dec. 23.—A delegation representing the liquor interests of the city waited on the Premier on Saturday with the object of learning the Government's intentions in regard to the Liquor Act.

The Premier informed the delegation that he and his colleagues had been so busy with other pressing matters that they had no time to go into the question. He also intimated that it would be premature to enter upon any discussion at present.

The delegation then withdrew.

Queen Alexandra Sick.

London, Dec. 23.—The court circular announced last night that the journey of King Edward and Queen Alexandra to Sandringham, where they were to go to spend Christmas, has been postponed in consequence of a slight indisposition of Queen Alexandra.

U.S. Battleship Moves.

Kingston, Jamaica, Dec. 23.—The United States battleship Indiana left here yesterday morning for La Guayara, Venezuela. The German training ship Moltke is now here.

Pianomakers Out at Toronto.

Toronto, Dec. 23. — Between 400 and 500 pianomakers are out on strike this morning because their demands for an increase in wages and a shorter working day were not granted. The decision to strike was reached at a meeting of the men held on Saturday night in Richmond Hall. Over 600 were present, representing all branches of the trade.

In the case of the Prince Piano Company and the Nordheimer Piano Company, action was withheld pending a further conference. In these two shops, where several hundred are employed, the men will return to work this morning. A committee will wait upon them to-day, and, if possible, arrange a settlement.

The following firms are affected: Heintzman Piano Company, 120 men; Gerhard Heintzman Company, 100 men; Mason & Risch, 150 men; Palmer Piano Company, 60 men, and Mendelssohn Piano Company, 60 men.

The only firm to grant the men's demands was the Newcombe Piano Company. In this factory 100 men are employed.

The strikers have secured the sanction of the International Council, who will stand at their back during the struggle.

HE KILLED THE CASE

FATAL EFFECT OF BROTHER SPEARS' MUSICAL TESTIMONY.

After the Jury Heard It They Acquitted the Naughty Children Who Laughed in Church and Disturbed the Religious Assemblage.

A well known lawyer of Lancaster, Mo., related the following legal incident: One of the most original lawyers I ever met in my life was Sam Dysart, who many years ago was a resident of our county. Sam was a born humorist and could have made his fortune in the lecture field. When he lived up our way, he was engaged on one occasion to defend a lot of boys and girls charged with disturbing a religious assembly out in the country. "Laughing and giggling" is the way the information read. The case was tried before Squire A. C. Bailey, a good old man who has long since gone to his final reward. Like all cases of the sort, it attracted an immense crowd from the vicinity of the alleged outrage.

T. C. Tadlock prosecuted, and he was instructed by the church people to spare no pains to convict the disturbers, who were very much frightened by being dragged into court. All the defendants were children of good families, and it was their first offense. They candidly admitted they laughed out in church, and the state insisted that by their own mouths they were condemned.

Brother Tice Spears, a righteous man of Puritanic type, was the main prosecuting witness. He had conducted the service, and he testified that the peace was sadly disturbed by the unseemly behavior of the "rioters." After he told his story in chief he sat down with clasped hands, waiting for the defendants' attorney to begin on him. He didn't have long to wait. The examination began like this:

"Brother Spears, you led the meetin' that night?"

"I did, sir."

"You prayed?"

"I did, sir."

"And preached?"

"I tried to."

"And sang?"

"I sang."

"What did you sing?"

"There Is a Fountain Filled With Blood,' sir."

Here Mr. Dysart pulled a hymnbook from his pocket and handed it to the witness with the remark:

"Please turn to that song, Brother Spears."

The witness did so.

"That's what you sang that night?"

"It is, sir."

"Well, stand up and sing it now, if you please."

"What!"

"You heard what I said, Brother Spears."

"But I can't sing before this sort of crowd."

"Brother Spears," with much apparent indignation, "do I understand that you refuse to furnish legitimate evidence to this jury?"

"No, no—but, you see"—

"Your honor," said Mr. Dysart, "I insist that the witness shall sing the song referred to just as he did on the night of alleged disturbance. It is a part of our evidence and very important. The reason for it will be disclosed later on."

There was a long jangle between the lawyers, and the court finally ordered the witness to get up and sing.

"And mind you, Brother Spears," said Dysart seriously, "you must sing it just as you did that night. If you change a note, you will have to go back and do it all over again."

The witness got up and opened the book. There is a vast difference between singing to a congregation in sympathy with you and a crowd of courtroom habitues. Brother Spears was painfully conscious of the fact. You know how these old time hymns are sung in the backwoods settlements? You begin in the basement and work up to the roof and then leap off from the dizzy height and finally finish the line in the basement.

That's the way the witness did. He had a good voice—that is, it was strong. If Gabriel's trumpet ever gets out of whack he could utilize that voice and wake the dead just as readily. It seemed to threaten the window lights. The crowd didn't smile, it just yelled with laughter. The jurymen bent double and almost rolled from their seats. The court bit his corncob pipe harder and looked solemn. It wasn't any use. There were only two straight faces in the house. One belonged to a deaf man and the other to Sam Dysart. The singer finished and sat down. He looked tired. Sam immediately excused him.

When the time for speechmaking came Sam remarked to the jury: "If you gentlemen think you could go to one of Brother Spears' meetings and behave better than you have here, why you may be justified in convicting these boys and girls."

That was all he said, but it gave the jury lots to think about. They brought in a verdict of not guilty, with the request that Brother Spears sing another song. But that gentleman had gone home and court adjourned.

Dresden Beet Sugar Factory.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 23. — Capt. James Davidson on Saturday awarded to the American Construction and Supply Company of New York the contract for a sugar factory, to be erected at Dresden, Ont., and to cost $600,000. Associated with Capt. Davidson in the project are S. J. Fitzsimmons and James H. Walsh of Detroit. The factory is to be ready for operation by Sept. 1, 1902, and the first year's supply of beets is already contracted for.

A TIRED MUSICIAN.

How Strauss Once Snubbed a Russian Court Dignitary.

When Johann Strauss took his orchestra to Russia, he had some unusual experiences not generally vouchsafed to those who live outside an autocratic government.

One day he received the czarina's commands to play before her at her summer resort and was told, on arriving there, that he would have to rehearse his programme three times before the performance. He begged to know the reason for that, but no explanation was given him. These were her majesty's orders, and he could only comply. Still, his astonishment grew when he saw during the three rehearsals an empty court carriage drawn by a pair of horses slowly going back and forth in front of his orchestra.

Throughout the final performance the mysterious act was explained. The empress, having a sharp attack of gout, was obliged to recline in the carriage, her foot on a cushion, while the concert took place, and the object of rehearsal had been to accustom the horses to a full string band lest they should take fright and bolt with her.

At the end of the performance an exalted dignitary of the court bade Strauss follow him to a splendid grand piano, saying:

"Now be good enough to play me all the newest Vienna music."

Although he was pretty fatigued by his three rehearsals and state performance, Strauss thought it expedient to comply, but after he had played continuously for over an hour he stopped, saying, "I presume that will be sufficient?"

"I am not at all tired," coolly rejoined his excellency.

"But I am!" said Strauss and rose from the instrument.

To Talk or Not to Talk?

Is Silence Golden or Is It Foolish and Unsocial?

Is the old figure of a "golden silence" being washed away in the flood of twentieth century volubility? And is it right that it should be so washed away? We do not know the answers to these questions. Perhaps you, gentle reader, know and will tell. We do know that there is a good deal more talk in the world than would have been considered strictly necessary by our forbears. If you don't believe this, go to the nearest library and ask to see the bound volumes of The Congressional Record. You might also take along a certificate of sanity in case the librarian became alarmed at the request.

The old timers used to tell the youth of the land to consider if what they were about to say were not only "true and tried," but also "necessary." The idea held for quite a time that it was as reprehensible to waste words as to dissipate wealth.

Our old friend Montaigne, however, had a tender place in his heart for the talker. He declared, "The most natural and fruitful exercise of the mind is conversation, and I find the use of it more sweet than any other action in life."

In some quarters members of the feminine sex are credited with an indorsement of Mr. Montaigne's sentiment.

Is it wise to talk much? Or is it foolish? Is silence golden? Or is it unsocial and therefore against civilization? What do you think?

A Wide Open Library.

Dr. Parker was asked how he managed to draw thousands to his City temple in London. He said, "You would understand if you read my library."

"Is it such a good one?" asked a listener.

"Oh, it's good, bad, indifferent, grand and squalid," answered the mighty talker. "It's everything. It's in underground trains and on buses, in aerated teashops, smart restaurants, at churches, stations, parties, receptions, meetings, jubilees and sickbeds; you find it in princes and boudoirs. The fact is you can never get away from it. We call it 'human nature' for want of a better name. I study it. That's why I call it my library. Most men don't, you see. But that's why I'm listened to."

How She Helped a Young Man.

A druggist in Memphis was holding forth recently on the difficulties which beset a young man in his first struggle with the world. "I had a hard time when I first started in business for myself," he said, apropos of a remark made by one of his hearers. "The public has good intentions toward you, but it sometimes has strange ways of expressing them. An old lady used to come in to buy postage stamps. I observed to her one day that she was evidently a great letter writer. 'Oh,' she said sweetly, 'I don't really need all the stamps I buy here. It's only because I wish to help a young man like yourself, just beginning to build up a business, that I purchase them.'"—Kansas City Star.

The Cup That Cheers

Is there really anything so refreshing as a cup of tea! Of course, we don't blame some people who say there's not much refreshment about a cup of tea, because they're drinking something else that has had no acquaintance with the real tea leaf.

We sell tea—real tea—and if you want to know how refreshing it can be, make a cup from one of our fine varieties imported for the Christmas season.

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS

IS THE SENTIMENT OF THE GOLDEN LION.

Take our "Merry Christmas" this evening as a personal one—it is given in much the same spirit as a cheery "Good Morning" from friend to friend.

But may we not speak a word of business too? As it is Christmas time, we'll do it in a very cordial way.

In our daily and weekly announcements, we try to tell you of the store happenings in much the same manner as a personal friend. The store is yours, and in it you may come and go at will. Take this friendly way of serving you in lieu of a personal handshake.

The store will be closed all day to-morrow. If for no other reason, the day's holiday is due our help for the extra hours and efforts they have given in the past week's holiday service. To-morrow will be theirs to enjoy—we hope it will be yours as well. Let's enjoy it in the broadest, most liberal way, forgetting business in a day of good cheer.

"Another Christmas, and another greeting,
Just the old wish that many are repeating,
And no new wish one half as much can say
As these few words—'Bright Be Your Christmas Day.'"

Sincerely Yours,

SOUTHERN REPUBLICS

May Refer Petty Dispute Between Them to Great Britain.

AN ARBITRATION PROTOCAL.

Said to Have Been Signed by Chili and Argentina—Settlement Asked for Between Them to Cross Britain, But the Latter Must Not Yet Step Down of Such an Appeal to the Good Offices.

London, Dec. 24.—The British Government is watching with considerable anxiety the progress of the dispute between the Chilian and Argentine republics. A representative of the Associated Press was informed yesterday that neither side has yet approached the British Foreign Office. If both Chili and Argentina request Great Britain to arbitrate the matters in dispute between them Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, will promptly acquiesce.

The statement, however, of Dr. Alcorta, the Argentine Minister of Foreign Affairs, that Argentina has referred the matter to the arbitration of the British Government under the agreement of 1898, appears to be inaccurate, for the Foreign Office says the present contention is quite beyond the powers of that commission. As the Foreign Office understands the case, it is not one of boundary between the two countries, but whether Chili has the right to build neutral roads in the disputed territory. This commission of which Lord MacNaughton is president, has been sitting in London for nearly two years, and is now almost ready to go out and personally inspect the disputed boundaries. For various reasons, however, the departure of this commission has been delayed, and is likely to be delayed for some time to come. The appeal of Dr. Alcorta has not yet officially been communicated to the British Foreign Office. When this appeal does reach Downing street, it will meet with the foregoing answer. Although Lord Lansdowne, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, holds that the MacNaughten commission to be powerless, he will intimate the willingness of Great Britain to arbitrate the difficulty between the two countries if Chili agrees to that proposition. Up to a late hour last night neither country concerned had requested Great Britain to take this action.

Opinion in Downing street is that while the cause of the dispute is petty, serious consequences may ensue unless prompt action is taken.

Reported Protocol.

Valparaiso, Dec. 24.—It is reported here that the governments of Argentina and Chili have signed a protocol by which they agree to submit the questions pending between them to the arbitration of Great Britain.

To Explain To-Day.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 24.—The Chamber of Deputies voted yesterday afternoon to accept the proposal to prohibit the exportation of horses and mules. The Chamber will to-day discuss an interpellation asking that Senor Alcorta explain the present status of the Chilian matter.

FOUR BOER REVERSES

Lord Kitchener Reports Some Recent Sharp Fighting.

COL. DAMANT'S GALLANT RALLY

Showed Resource and Courage in Resisting Him With 300 Boers, and Drove Boer General From a Kopje—Was Dangerously Wounded, However—British Casualties Severe—Smit's Close Shave.

London, Dec. 24.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Johannesburg, dated Saturday, Dec. 21, sends reports of sharp fighting in the Orange River Colony. Two hundred mounted infantry, in the neighborhood of Beginderyn, were divided into parties and were searching farms when they were attacked by three hundred Boers and forty armed natives, under Commandant Brits. The Boers charged determinedly in overwhelming numbers. The British casualties were severe; but no details have been received.

The engagements occurred Dec. 18, 19 and 20, at points widely apart. The casualties, so far as known, aggregate about 150, equally divided; but, heavy British losses, the totals of which have not yet been reported, have occurred in the Transvaal.

In the eastern part of the Transvaal Colony, Col. Mackenzie attacked Commandant Smit's force of Boers at Lake Banagher, Dec. 20, and killed six and captured sixteen of the enemy. Commandant Smit escaped.

A force of Boers, during the night of Dec. 19, attacked the British post at Eland Spruit, but the burghers were driven off, leaving eight men killed, including Commandant Kriese. Field Cornet Mahon, who was wounded, and three other wounded men were also left on the field. The British casualties were seven men killed and six officers and eighteen men wounded.

Lord Kitchener also reports that during Gen. Dewet's attack on the British force, commanded by Generals Dartnell and Campbell, at Langberg, Dec. 18, the Boers charged bravely and fought desperately for several hours. Dewet was driven off with the loss of twenty men. There were twelve casualties on the side of the British.

On Dec. 20th M. Botha, with eight hundred Boers, surprised Col. Damant's advance guard at Tafel Kop, Orange River Colony. The Boers rushed a kopje commanding the main body and the guns; but Damant rallied his men and drove the Boers from the kopje. The British casualties were heavy. Damant was dangerously wounded, two officers and twenty men were killed, and three officers and seventeen men were wounded.

The Boers left six dead on the field and dispersed. The British pursued the enemy and captured a number of prisoners, including Commandant Keyter.

Later, the Boers, under a flag of truce, asked permission to remove their dead. They admitted having buried twenty-seven men.

In the fight at Tafel Kop the Boers dressed as British yeomen, engaged in a splendid race with the British in the attempt to be first in gaining the crest of the kopje. The Boers gained the summit first and opened a heavy fire on the single troop of Damant's horse, which took part in the race for the kopje. These troopers took advantage of all the small amount of cover available immediately below the Boers, and fought until all but four of them were killed or wounded. By that time reinforcements of Damant's Horse came up and charged and captured the kopje.

Boers Have the Measles.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Dec. 24.—The Boer prisoners of war landed on Hawkin's Island have been isolated, several of them are suffering from a mild form of measles.

Australia to Send 1,000 Men.

London, Dec. 24.—A despatch to The Times from Sydney, N.S.W., says the Federal Government has decided to send a contingent of 1,000 men to South Africa.

Canadian Casualties.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—According to the cablegram received by His Excellency from Cape Town, Major G. H. C. Ogilvie, D.S.O., died of his wounds on Thursday last.

The Governor-General has received the following from Mr. Chamberlain: London, Dec. 23.—"Regret to inform you Hugh Gordon McNaughton was dangerously ill Dec. 18. No reports as to nature of disease. His father is R. McNaughton, Black River, Northumberland County, N.B."

The Casualty Department at Cape Town has cabled Lord Minto as follows: "Please inform James H. Elliott, Porter's Hill, Ont., that his son, Samuel Herbert Elliott, South African Constabulary, died of enteric fever, near Bloemfontein, Dec. 6th."

Eighteen Men Chosen in Toronto.

Toronto, Dec. 24. — During yesterday twenty-seven men were examined and passed the medical test, 18 of whom also passed the riding and shooting trial. Nine others will be tested in shooting, and the three new men chosen to-day, when all will be sworn in. They will leave on Thursday evening to join the advance corps at Halifax.

Six Killed in Railway Wreck.

Allentown, Pa., Dec. 24.—A Philadelphia and Lehigh Valley Traction Company car, which left Allentown at 6.30 last evening for Coppersburg, carrying 20 passengers, jumped the track on a sharp curve at the foot of Lehigh Mountain, due to wet rails and snow. The car toppled over the embankment, and it is reported that six persons were killed and that all the others are injured.

THE QUEEN'S ILLNESS.

Christmas Festivities in the Royal Household Thereby.

London, Dec. 24.—The Associated Press hears that the condition of Queen Alexandra is more serious than has been given out, and that it causes some anxiety. Doctors are in constant attendance on Her Majesty. A bulletin issued at noon yesterday says the Queen is progressing favorably, but that the extensive arrangements made for Christmas festivities at Sandringham, including large shooting parties, have all been upset, and that Their Majesties will spend Christmas at Marlborough House.

It was announced later in the day that the Queen was suffering from a chill, but that her condition is not considered to be dangerous. It is expected that Her Majesty will be able to leave her room in a few days.

Two Brothers Arrested.

Sarnia, Dec. 24.—Provincial Detectives have arrested the Kersey brothers on the charge of having been concerned in the robbery at Eby's Mills in the Township of Dawn. The prisoners were brought here yesterday afternoon and lodged in jail. It will be recalled that the published accounts of the robbery were to the effect that entrance to the store of Walter and Isaac Kersey at Eby's Mills had been forced during the night or early morning of Dec. 17, the safe blown open and $1,800 stolen. Of the stolen money $1,150 had been left by John McTaggart for safe keeping with the Kerseys, and $150 belonged to the two brothers.

Tunnel Became a Furnace.

Liverpool, Dec. 24.—An explosion in a fuse box set fire to a train on the Electric Overhead Railway at Dingle Station yesterday. Several of the railway employes were terribly burned, and two were killed. It appeared that the burning train entered a tunnel stored with sticks of impregnated railroad sleepers. These were also set on fire, and the tunnel became a blazing furnace.

Later the bodies of the station foreman and the signal boy were extricated. Seven deaths have been reported so far, including the driver and the guard of the train.

Child Badly Burned.

St. Thomas, Dec. 24.—The little daughter of W. E. Caughell, Antrim street, was terribly burned Sunday night by the explosion of a lamp. The child's clothing took fire, her hair was burned off, and her face, back, chest and arm very severely burned. Dr. Lawrence attended the child and says that though badly burned she will recover. The little girl is six years of age and was carrying a lamp, and, stubbing her toe on a mat, fell, causing the explosion of the lamp.

Woman's Absence Mysterious.

Vancouver, Dec. 24.—Mrs. Grace Powell, a young German woman, living on Seventh avenue, Mount Pleasant, a suburb of Vancouver, has been missing for three days, and is supposed to have been murdered. On Thursday the woman was at home with her father and was called to the door by a stranger, an undersized man, who wanted to sell her some poultry. She agreed to buy and the man said he had the fowls at his place, a short distance away. She threw on her shawl, took her purse, containing $45, and went out, saying that she would be back in a few minutes. Since then she has not been seen.

Killed Five of His Children.

Chartreus, Dec. 24.—After a week's trial, which has attracted the attention of the whole of France, Briere, the farmer of this vicinity who on April 21 murdered four of his daughters, aged respectively, 14, 11, 5 and 4, and his son, 7 years of age, stabbing and beating them to death while they were in bed, was found guilty yesterday and was condemned to be decapitated by the guillotine. Briere persisted in declaring himself innocent.

Rev. Dr. Flannery Dead.

London, Ont., Dec. 24.—A cablegram received in this city Sunday from Ireland contained news of the death on the previous day of Rev. Dr. Flannery, a well-known and greatly beloved member of the Roman Catholic clergy of this diocese. The news of his death was heard with unaffected regret here.

Frozen to Death.

Watertown, N. Y., Dec. 24.— The frozen body of George Leach, an employe of the Newton Falls Paper Company, was found in the woods near Oswegoatchie yesterday morning. Leach became lost in the woods Sunday night while on his way home and fell from exhaustion, where he was found.

Last of a Noted Brotherhood.

Concord, Mass., Dec. 24.— William Ellery Channing, the last of the brotherhood, including also Thoreau, Hawthorne and Emerson, which made Concord famous, died yesterday. He was born in Boston Nov. 29, 1818.

Compulsory Vaccination.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Miss W. Childs-Blackburn Tells How She Was Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I take pleasure in acknowledging the effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In my estimation there is no female remedy to equal it. Weakness not properly attended to, together with the close confinement at my desk brought on nervous prostration, so much so that for a year I doctored continually. I tried different remedies which only succeeded in poisoning my system, and my stomach refused food. A neighbor who had suffered with ovarian troubles and was perfectly cured, called my attention to your Vegetable Compound, and I made up my mind to give it a two months' fair trial. However, before one month had passed I was like a new woman, and after six weeks faithful use of the Compound I was in perfect health. It certainly is of great benefit to women, and I wish every poor suffering woman could have a chance to try it. Yours very truly, Miss W. CHILDS-BLACKBURN, 3922 Fifth Ave., Rock Island Ill."—[Above forfeit if above testimonial is not genuine.]

MISS W. CHILDS-BLACKBURN, Secretary Rock Island Literary and Art Society.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

PAID A VISIT TO MICHIGAN.

The Impressions They Gained Regarding the Sugar Beet Industry—Some Interesting Facts.

(From the Lindsay Post.)

As soon as the beets are nicely up a scuffler is run between the rows, and this is used occasionally until the fourth leaf appears, when the beets are ready to thin. They are left about seven inches apart; and this thinning process is what entails the great amount of labour connected with growing sugar beets. On patches up to ten acres the work is generally done by the farmers themselves, with some extra help occasionally. Those who raise large plots often employ Poles or Germans — men and women — and give them $20 an acre to do all the work, except the scuffling, until the beets are ready for market. These people live in town at other times.

The beets are pulled in October. Two instruments are used in the work of pulling. One is like a scuffler frame, with two long feet that curve down and forward and come within two inches of meeting at the tips. These feet go clear under the beet and loosen it up so that it tips back in the row like weeds cut by a scuffler. The other is like a subsoiling plow, with a wide flange that goes under the beet from the side and leaves it so that it can be picked up. The beets are then thrown into small heaps. The tops are next removed with a strong knife, and the beets are ready for the market, whither they are drawn in wagons over distances not greater than six or seven miles, and otherwise on the cars.

By the terms of a farmer's agreement with the factory, there are to be three deliveries during the fall, one in October, another in November and a third in December. The beets are kept in a pile, covered with a little earth and some tops, until the last delivery. Freezing does not hurt them, if they are kept frozen till they reach the factory. To harvest and market the beets entails a lot of work that has of course, to be done very largely while fall plowing is on hand, and interferes more or less with it. On a well managed farm, however, the most of the ploughing can be done by the end of October. It is necessary to arrange all work with the beets in mind, for they must be regarded as a legitimate part of the farming operations, and worth all they cost.

From a very reliable farmer we got the following table of expenses of raising and harvesting five acres of beets—

Ploughing.....	$ 7 50
Dragging and filling.....	4 50
Drilling.....	2 50
Seed, 20 lbs.....	13 50
Thinning at $5 per acre...	25 00
Cultivating four times.....	3 00
Pulling and topping, at $8 per acre.....	40 00
Drawing, 28 loads.....	28 00
	$124 00

That represents a cost of $25 per acre. Some of the items—the cultivating four times, for example — seems to us rather less than they should be, and from what we learned, we think the cost of production is generally not less than $35, nor more than $40 an acre in Michigan. The man who raised the five acres referred to in the above statement of cost, got 67 tons 200 lbs. of beets off it, and sold them for $4.62 per ton. That is, for what cost him $124, he got $310, a clear profit of $186, or $36 per acre. The average yield of beets is about 14 tons, and they test from 12 to 18 per cent. sugar. Those grown on clay lands are richest in sugar. On the books of the factory at Cairo were the names of several farmers who made from $30 to $50 an acre over all expenses. No other crop pays nearly as well. They grow 25 bushels of wheat to the acre and sell it at 73 cents, 70 bushels of oats at 47 cents, 120 bushels of potatoes at 30 cents, beans, at $1.30, and hay at $10 a ton.

When the beets are grown at a greater distance from the factory than six or seven miles they are sent in by train. The railway company gives a special freight rate, which is as follows up to 100 miles:

Up to 25 miles, 30c per ton.
From 25 to 45 miles, 50c per ton.
From 45 to 60 miles, 60c per ton.
From 60 to 80 miles, 70c per ton.
From 80 to 100 miles, 80 per ton.

The sugar company unload the beets from the cars free of charge. The pulp is given to anybody that will draw it away, and is loaded by the company free. It makes excellent fodder, but there is so much of it that the companies are glad to get rid of it. There is talk of drying and preserving it for export, but it will eventually be used largely as a fertiliser.

There can be no doubt that the sugar beet industry has had an excellent effect on the State of Michigan. Their cultivation has greatly improved the land, both by clearing it of weeds and increasing its fertility. The financial returns to the farmers are highly satisfactory. Many young men from the farm get employment at good wages in the beet factories while they are in operation. The profits on the beets have already lifted the farmers out of hard times into comparative affluence. A banker told us that three years ago 75 per cent of the farms in that district were mortgaged, but that half of these mortgages had already been paid off. As a matter of fact we learned that in the last eighteen months, $200 mortgages had been paid off in three counties by the returns from sugar beets; and it was estimated that half as many more would be paid off by this year's crop. The price of farm land has been increased by $10 to $25 per acre. Mr. H. M. Lick, a gentleman, formerly of Oshawa, but now of Cairo, Michigan, said to us.

"This part of the state has been under cultivation but a few years, and the people who settled here had, in most instances, little or no capital to commence with. They had grubbed along and had begun to make a little showing, when the hard times of 1893 and 1894 gave them quite quite a set-back, and got them discouraged; but to-day this has all been changed again, and it has been almost miraculous. The farmers are prosperous and contented, and getting their farms under a better state of cultivation. They are fitting up their homes, building more substantial building of all kinds, and all this wonderful change has been brought about by sugar beets."

The towns and villages have all shared in this prosperity, but the towns in which the factories are situated have, of course, benefitted most. A leading doctor in Cairo told us that seven new blocks had been built there in three years, that houses which only that long ago rented for $6 a month, now bring $10, and that the increase fairly represented the increased prosperity of the place since the sugar beet industry had been established. When it is known that a 600-ton factory has 1600 patrons, cultivating 6000 acres of beets, from which they gather about 84,000 tons of beets, for which they receive $5.50 per ton, and that such a factory pays $2000 a week in wages, it is not hard to understand that both farmers and townspeople are deriving excellent results from the sugar beet industry.

While gentlemen, the above report does not answer catagorically the questions furnished us by your committee we trust that it embodies information on all the points involved in those questions.

OBITUARY.

Demise of Mr. Duncan Anderson in Toronto on Saturday Last.

The many friends in Peterborough County of Mr. Duncan Anderson, formerly Crown Lands Agent at Apsley, will learn with regret of his demise, which occurred at Toronto, on Saturday last.

For many years Mr. Anderson was Crown Lands Agent at Apsley and in that capacity made many friends in Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos. Mr. Anderson, in addition to being agent of the Crown Lands, carried on a business as general merchant at Apsley. He was a careful, industrious, intelligent man, who deserved great credit for the stand which he took upon all moral and religious questions, and in the various agitations for the advancement of the temperance cause. He was always a leader in the locality in which he resided.

He took a deep interest in the development of the district included in his agency, being Justice of the Peace, Treasurer of the municipality, Secretary-Treasurer of the Agricultural Society, and holder of many other local appointments. In politics he was a Conservative, and in religion a member of the Baptist church

The deceased, who was in his seventieth year, was a son of the late John Anderson of Dummer. In 1856 he married Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. Robert Ritchie, formerly Warden of Peterborough Couty, and she survives him. About six years ago he suffered a severe illness, from which he never fully recovered. He leaves eight children—John H. Anderson of Haliburton; R. M. Anderson of Northway & Anderson, St. Thomas; T. J. Anderson of Folwell Bros. & Co., Philadelphia; Dr. H. B. Anderson, professor of pathology, Trinity University; Mrs. Bell, widow of the late Rev. John Bell of Burgoyne; Dr. D. M. Anderson, house surgeon in the General Hospital, Toronto; Miss Rose Anderson, and Archibald Hume Anderson, a fourth year medical student in Trinity College.

BLOOD HISTORY

Born in bone marrow—dies in the liver. This is the beginning and the end of the rich, red blood that keeps us all alive. Blood history makes a fascinating story.

Scott's Emulsion often plays a most important part in blood history. At the very beginning—that is where its influence is greatest.

Scott's Emulsion is a blood food—a rich material for making new blood. Nothing better for bringing color to pale faces.

DRESDEN SUGAR FACTORY.

Contract for $600,000 Building let to the American Construction Co.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 21. — Capt. Jas. Davidson to-day awarded to the American Construction & Supply Company of New York the contract for a sugar factory to be erected at Dresden, Ont., and to cost $600,000. Associated with Capt. Davidson in the project are S. J. Fitzsimmons and Jas. H. Welsh of Detroit. The factory is to be ready for operation by September 1, 1902, and the first year's supply of beets is already contracted for.

WHAT THE POPE DESIRES.

An American Representative at Vatican to Be an Ambassador.

London, Dec. 24.—The Pall Mall Gazette yesterday published the following despatch from Rome: "The Vatican is becoming decidedly more hopeful that the United States will yield to the Pope's great desire and appoint a diplomatic representative to the Vatican. So anxious is the Pope for the success of his project that he would be satisfied at present with a semi-official representative, in the hope that he would eventually be turned into a minister or ambassador."

The Pontiff's Rebuke.

Rome, Dec. 24.—The Pope this morning received the Cardinals, who offered him their Christmas greetings. The Pontiff made a lengthy address, during which he condemned the excessive liberty of thought indulged in at the present time. He sharply criticized Socialist agitation for divorce and the hostility between different sections of the church, and urged a union of the Christian churches.

The Church, said the Pope during the course of his remarks, is now confronted by difficulties similar to those of earlier times. There were attempts everywhere to make the masses enemies of the church. The religious orders were subjected to all kinds of vexations, proscriptions and laws were being passed in open defiance of God's eternal laws.

In his reference to Socialism, the Pontiff said the only means of successfully combatting it was for Catholics to hearken to and obey the instructions of the church.

Side of House Blown Out.

St. Catharines, Dec. 24.—An explosion of gasoline in a Mary street residence Sunday resulted in blowing out one side of the house and other damage. The house where the accident occurred was occupied by Mr. Eugene Kidder. His wife was preparing a bath of gasoline and hot water, when the fumes filled the room and ignited from a burning gas stove. A terrific explosion followed, and one side of the house fell out. Mrs. Kidder's clothing caught fire, but she was fortunate in getting them off before she was seriously burned. She was otherwise uninjured. The house caught fire and the alarm was given, but the flames were extinguished before the department arrived at the scene of the wreck.

500 MEN ON THE STREETS

The Piano Makers at Toronto on Strike or Locked Out.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—The mandate issued by the Amalgamated Woodworkers' Union of America, calling a strike in the piano factories here yesterday morning, was obeyed by 500 men. The strikers as early as 7 o'clock met at Richmond Hall, where a meeting was held. The committee appointed to interview the employers was instructed to wait on the various firms affected and report at another mass meeting to be held this morning at 9 o'clock in the same hall. The men declare that they will stand together until their demands are recognized.

In only two factories are the men working, the Newcombe and Prince Piano Companies. In the Nordheimer factory, when the men returned to work yesterday morning, was found a notice to the effect that the factory was closed down. This the men looked upon as a lock-out and joined with the strikers. Several other firms also posted similar notices on their factory doors. The manufacturers did this, they say, in order to avoid any trouble that might occur. They will in the meantime accept the opportunity for taking stock. The manufacturers all look upon the demands made as unreasonable.

IT IS IMPORTANT

To Know What You are Taking When Using Catarrh Medicines.

Catarrh is the short route to consumption, and the importance of early and judicious treatment of Catarrh, whether located in the head, throat or bronchial tubes, cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The list of catarrh cures is as long as the moral law and the forms in which they are administered, numerous and confusing, from sprays, inhalers, washes, ointments, and salves to powders liquids and tablets.

The tablet form is undoubtedly the most convenient and the most effective, but with nearly all advertised catarrh remedies it is almost entirely a matter of guess work as to what you are taking into your system, as the proprietors, while making all sorts of claims as to what their medicines will do, always keep it a close secret as to what they are.

The success and popularity of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, is largely because it not only cures catarrh but because catarrh sufferers who use these tablets know what they are taking into their systems. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, are composed of Red Gum, Blood Root and similar valuable and antiseptic ingredients, and are pleasant to the taste and being dissolved in the mouth they take immediate effect upon the mucous lining of the throat, nasal passages and whole respiratory tract.

The cures that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have accomplished in old chronic cases of catarrh are little short of remarkable, and the advantage of knowing what you are putting into your stomach is of paramount importance when it is remembered that the cocaine or morphine habit has been frequently contracted as the result of using secret catarrh remedies.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets meet with cordial approval from physicians, because their antiseptic character render them perfectly safe for the general public to use and their composition makes them a common sense cure for all forms of catarrhal troubles.

All druggists sell them at 50 cts. for full sized packages.

Aged Official Dead.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—Capt. Jevits de Boucherville, aged 76, died here yesterday morning. He was a cousin of Senator de Boucherville, and a son of Lieut.-Col. Thomas Verchores de Boucherville. For many years he was employed in the public service.

No One Is Expected.

Toronto, Dec. 24.—In a report to the Attorney-General's Department, Police Magistrate Bartlett of Windsor, says he has inspected the pipes and finds that no natural gas is being exported to the United States.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S DESIRE.

A Suggestion That Sable Island Be Placed at Mr. Marconi's Disposal—The Field Hospital For South Africa and Its Equipment—Canadian Exhibits—Yukon and White Pass Railway Rates.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—A telegram received by Hon. W. S. Fielding from Signor Marconi yesterday stated that he would leave Newfoundland to-day and would go to Nova Scotia or Ottawa. It appears, therefore, to be doubtful whether the now celebrated scientist will pay a visit to the capital or whether he will simply explore the coast of Nova Scotia in search of suitable sites for further experiments in transatlantic wireless telegraphy. The British Government is evidently desirous of affording Signor Marconi every assistance in carrying out his experiments, as the Marine Department has received an official communication inquiring whether land can be obtained on the Island of Anticosti. The island is now of course in possession of Mr. Menier, with the exception of the small plot immediately surrounding the lighthouse there. This land might perhaps prove suitable for experiments. Mr. D. H. Keeley, Superintendent of Dominion Telegraphs and Cables, makes the suggestion that Sable Island be placed at Signor Marconi's disposal.

The Field Hospital.

The impression prevails here that Surgeon-Major H. D. Johnson of Charlottetown will be offered the position of Captain in the field hospital now being organized for service in South Africa, and that Surgeon-Captain F. Fenton and Surgeon-Lieutenant J. A. Roberts of Toronto will be invited to go as Lieutenants. Recruiting will probably take place about January 2nd, but definite information on this point will be announced in a day or two. In addition to the five officers and a warrant officer, 55 non-commissioned officers and men will be required, making a total of 61 of all ranks. The equipment for the field will consist of general service wagons, 1 forage wagon, 1 water cart, 28 horses, 8 sets of saddlery, 20 sets of harness. The technical equipment of the hospital will be as follows: Two medical companions, 4 water bottles, 2 surgical haversacks, 2 pairs medical field panniers, 1 surgical pannier, 1 field fracture box, 1 antiseptic case, 16 field stretchers. There will also be a portable X-ray apparatus. Tents and blankets are also included in the equipment.

Canadian Exhibits.

The Minister of Agriculture has given orders for space to be reserved for a Canadian exhibit at the Wolverhampton Exposition, which opens in May next. A Canadian pavilion to cost about $5,000 will be erected. Mr. Fisher has also asked for space to be reserved for Canada at the Cork Exposition, which takes place about the same time. Mr. W. B. Scott, who was commissioner for Canada at Glasgow, is on his way to Canada to discuss matters with the Minister, having sailed on the 21st inst.

Yukon and White Pass Railway Rate

Complaint having been made that the rates on the Yukon & White Pass Railway to White Horse through Canadian territory were exorbitant, an amended schedule has been sent to the Railway Department. It is stated, however, that the rates under the latest schedule are still too high. The officials of the company have been seeking a conference with the Minister of Railways on the subject, but he has been confined to his house through illness for some days past. The latest reports are that Mr. Blair is improving, and before long will be back at his department.

Marconi to Edison.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 24.—There was no new development yesterday in the situation between Marconi and the Anglo-American Telegraph Company.

Marconi sent the following telegram to Thomas Edison last evening:

"Thanks for your very kind letter to the press. I hope soon to show you wireless telegraphy working between the United States and Europe. I wish you a happy Christmas."

The Urlin Inquest Adjourned.

Dutton, Dec. 24.—The coroner's jury in the adjourned inquest regarding the mysterious death of William E. Urlin, who was found Dec. 15 with two bullets in his head on the premises of his brother-in-law, Albert Hertel, assembled here yesterday afternoon. The parties, not being ready to proceed, the inquest again adjourned without taking any evidence until Jan. 7.

Smiles 90 Years Old.

London, Dec. 24. — Dr. Samuel Smiles, author of The Self-Help series, celebrated his ninetieth birthday yesterday. His last published book, "A Publisher and His Friends," netted him £10,000, which he gave as a Christmas gift to his four surviving sons and daughters.

The Fifth Victim Dead.

Pittsburg, Dec. 24.—Five of the victims of the Singer-Nimick mill explosion, which occurred last Saturday morning, are dead. The fifth victim died yesterday morning. Another is not expected to live.

SEND CANADA THANKS.

The Salmon Ova Arrived in Tasmania in Good Condition.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—The acting Minister of Marine and Fisheries has received the following letter from Peter Lewis of Tasmania

Nov. 14, 1901.—I have to inform you that the salmon ova which your Government so generously presented to this State, has now been landed in Tasmania in a satisfactory condition. The officer deputed to take charge of this consignment speaks very highly of the assistance rendered to him by your inspectors and all the other officers with whom he was brought in contact. Permit me to again convey to you the deepest thanks from the people of Tasmania for the valuable gift your Government has been good enough to make this State. (Signed) N. E. Lewis.

The salmon ova was sent from British Columbia.

Woman is as old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigourous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.

"Jennie June" Dead.

New York, Dec. 24.—Mrs. "Jennie June" Croly, journalist and organizer of Women's Clubs, died yesterday in this city from heart failure. Mrs. Croly, who was 72 years of age, was born in England. She became a newspaper writer in this city under the nom de plume of "Jennie June" in 1855 and achieved a wide reputation. She organized Sorosis over 30 years ago, and through her efforts the federation of women's clubs in this country was formed. At the time of her death Mrs. Croly was president of the New York Women's Press Club.

Millions of Bushels Inspected.

Winnipeg, Dec. 24.—Grain Inspector Horn issued his weekly statement yesterday, showing that during the week ending Dec. 21 there were 918 cars of grain inspected, a small total as compared with those of previous weeks. The total amount of grain inspected since Sept. 1, the beginning of the present crop year, to Dec. 21, is therefore 23,555 cars, or a total of 24,152,770 bushels of grain.

Japanese Exhibition in 1903.

Montreal, Dec. 24.—Mr. N. Kanzaki, commissioner to Great Britain from the Japanese Exhibition to be held at Osaka in 1903, left here yesterday for the Orient. He expects England and the United States will send a great many exhibits, and also hopes that Canada will be represented. There is, he adds, a demand for all kinds of machinery, a great deal of which is made in Canada.

Sir Joseph Gilbert Dead.

London, Dec. 24.—Sir Joseph Henry Gilbert is dead. He was well-known as a chemist and former sibthorpian professor of Rural Economy in the University of Oxford, and he made a lengthy visit to Canada and the United States in 1882 and 1884, to study the conditions of agriculture. He was born in 1817.

A Wrong Burial Certificate.

When a physician issues a burial certificate for one who has died of consumption or throat trouble, he should say, Cause of death, neglect to take Four T's when the cough first started. Four T's cure a cough in 24 hours and and the worst cold in two days, and you get a large bottle for 25c. at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

The Rival Gorillas.

Once upon a time a gorilla was in love, and while he delayed his proposal a rival appeared on the scene, gained the affections of the one he loved, proposed, was accepted and soon married her.

A year passed, and the disappointed lover called on his successful rival while he was swinging on a hickory limb, with a crying baby in his arms, and silently listened to his wife scolding him for some fancied breach of household regulations.

"That was a narrow escape," he said as he turned quickly in his tracks and hurried away.

Moral.—Delays are dangerous for the other fellow.

What is Life to You?

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

Shopping in Athens.

In his volume on "Modern Athens," George Horton says that shopping in the Greek capital is a more elaborate, time consuming and minute process even than with us. "The oriental method of doing business still prevails. The dealer sets a price, the buyer another, and often three or four hours of patient will contest pass before a compromise is reached. The patron asks, 'How much is this piece of silk?' 'One dollar a yard,' is the reply. 'Thirty cents' is offered. The merchant is thrown into something resembling an apoplectic fit. He swears by his father's soul that it cost 95 cents.

"The lady takes a seat with a sigh and after twenty minutes inquires innocently, 'Finally, 30 cents?' 'Never! But to keep you and not lose your custom, you may have it for what I paid, 95 cents.' 'You poor thing!' sighs the lady sarcastically. There are a dozen or more women sitting about the store. When finally the proprietor comes down to a price that one is willing to pay, she rises, receives her bundle and departs, declaring good naturedly that she had been swindled and that she will never come back again."

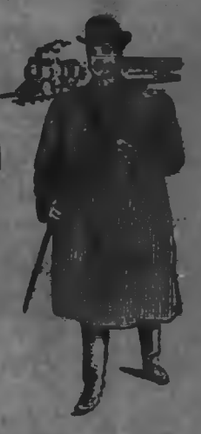
Claims Clerk G. T. R.

Thos. McCheane of Montreal Was Greatly Run Down, Ozone Built Him Up and Made Him Well.



It is with much pleasure I write you my testimony to the wonderful merit and curative powers of Powley's Liquified Ozone.

For the past thirty years I have been in the employ of the Grand Trunk R. R. Co (12 years in Montreal) as claims clerk. For the past three years I have been on the decline and greatly run down in health. I began taking Ozone about the first of June and I am now pleased to state my health is good. I have no more that tired, weak feeling, but am strong and vigorous, and able to perform my labor with ease I have taken three large bottles of Ozone, and am still taking it. I would not like to be without it as it strengthens and refreshens me very much.

My daughter has also taken it for weak constitution and she finds it strengthens her greatly We would not be without Ozone in our house, as we consider it the best family remedy on the market to-day.

(Signed) THOS. McCHEANE,
45 Quesnel St., Montreal, P. Q.

You require just the same course of treatment as Mr. Thos. McCheane, if you are troubled in the same way as he was. Powley's Liquified Ozone will build you up because it is oxygen in fixed liquid form. It is blood food, forming sound flesh, making all the organs of the body healthy. Now let us give you a word of advice, take Ozone after meals and at bed time. It assists the digestion and creates a healthy appetite. Ozone is not a medicine; it contains no alcohol and is not a combination of drugs. It is nature's element for the cure of humanity's ailments.

GOUGH BROS.

The Wonderful Cheap Men, To Their Ten Thousand Patrons and Friends—

GREETING!

On the occasion of the first Christmas-tide of the 20th Century we wish to extend to our hosts of patrons and friends the most hearty Christmas Greeting that words can express. We do so because Christmas is the season of Peace and Good Will. Having sowed a big crop of gilt-edged bargains, we have reaped a heavy harvest. Never in the history of this mammoth establishment has such a magnificent stock been placed on our shelves and tables at such self-selling prices.

The tide of prosperity has been flowing over Canada, and we have been in the swim, supported and cheered by the liberality of thousands of customers. Therefore, we have cause to be, and are, grateful and gratified. To everybody the glad hand is extended at this Christmas season. Out of the crush of trade and hum of business, we pause to extend our hearty wishes for a Merry Christmas.

GOUGH BROS.

The Holy Communion will be administered at 8.30 a.m. and 12.15 p.m., and there will be the usual service at 11 a.m. with special Christmas music and short address. This service will be short, lasting only an hour or a little over. All are very heartily invited.

SKATING!

The 57th Regimental Band will be at the rink to-morrow afternoon.

At Park Street Church.

On Christmas night, at 8 o'clock, at the Park street Baptist church, a lecture on the Holy Land will be given by Mr. W. P. Reekie, B. A. The lecture will be accompanied by limelight scenes, illustrating the land and life that form the background of so much Bible narrative and teachings. Those who come will kindly remember that a freewill offering will be taken to defray expenses.

Quietly Married.

A quiet wedding took place last night at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Fields Brisbin, Lake street, Ashburnham, when his daughter Miss Millie was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Joseph Phillips, of West Elizabeth, Penn. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt. The bride was attended by Miss M. Brown, of Roseneath, while Mr. Wm. Roberts of town, was best man. The newly married couple will reside in West Elizabeth, Penn.

The Bugle Band.

The members of the bugle band are kindly requested to be on hand at the armouries on Thursday evening next at 8 o'clock in uniform, to take part in the send-off to the boys going to South Africa, particularly two of them, comrades Drummer Bert. Cranfield and Leo Connors. The bugle band will receive a knockout in the departure of these two leading members of the corps, but heartily join in wishing them a safe voyage and speedy return after their rugby game with the Boers. It will be a touch down if they don't hold their end up in their scrimmage with the pig skins. They are beaters, hard to beat, wherever their beat may be.

A BIG DEAL IN L. & P. STOCK.

The Cereal Company now has the Controlling Interest.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company's System Passed Into Other Hands Yesterday.

The citizens at large will be interested in learning that as the result of a deal in stock yesterday, the controlling interest in the Peterborough Light and Power Company passed into the hands of the American Cereal Company.

It has been known for some time past that the Cereal Company was anxious to take over the system, and that quite a number of shares had been picked up by them. The controlling interest, however, was centred in the Dickson Estate and the Bradburn Estate, and it was not until yesterday that a deal was consummated whereby the stock of these two estates was transferred to the Cereal people. It is understood that the stock was purchased at par, and that in securing it the Cereal Company are placed in possession of all of the stock with the exception of about $1500 worth held by scattered individual shareholders.

CHRISTMAS AND THE CHILDREN

Wards of the Children's Aid Society Substantially Remembered.

Children have a special claim, in a sentimental sense, at least, to Christmas, for Christmas came with the birth of a Child. At any rate to no heart does the season bring such unalloyed, such incalculable joy, as to the heart of childhood. It was therefore to be expected that the wards of the Children's Aid Society would be especially remembered. Provision has been made for giving under the auspices of the Society Christmas cheer to sixty-five in the Shelter, and in a number of homes otherwise unremembered. The ladies of the Society undertook providing for a certain number, the ladies of the Murray Street Baptish Church for others, and the King's Daughters of St. John's, in addition to their regular parochial benefactories, for additional others, the whole totalling sixty-five. Not only Christmas cheer will be provided in the shape of food and other presents, but warm clothing and other necessities, will also be provided.

In the latter connection it seems that there are grounds for concluding that human wishes to good ends are met by influences that can, without irreverence, be regarded as Providential. Mr. George Cochrane, agent of the Society, was naturally anxious as to ways and means. He related a couple of experiences to a citizen, which came later to the ears of a representative of the Examiner. A day or two ago he was walking along the street, pondering on what was at the time uppermost in his thoughts. He said to himself, "If I only had ten dollars more I would be sure of the underclothing needed for the children." When he came to the corner of George and Hunter streets, he was met by a gentleman who gave him, without solicitation, a cheque for ten dollars, and it was not long till the required underclothing, in proper sizes, according to the list of ages, was purchased. On leaving home the next morning the agent remarked to his family that if he had two dollars to get some boots for certain children he would be satisfied for this season. He had not reached his office — he was stopped in front of the post office by a young man about twenty, a stranger to him, who gave him $2 without solicitation, for the Children's Aid Christmas treat. Is there not something more than mere chance in these two instances?

CHRISTMAS DAY.

For three hundred and sixty-four days many of us have toiled diligently in the interests of making the most of this world; and it seems that, with the approach of Christmas Day, our thoughts might be profitably turned to considerations of the claims of another world. As to what the conditions in the next world may be we need feel little concern. We shall be safe in our relations to it if we only live in this preparatory state in accordance with the spirit of the Christanity, which came into the world as at this time, 1902 years years ago. That glorious advent elevated man beyond the low standard of individual responsibility in relation to self and established on a divine foundation the brotherhood of man. Christmas the anniversary of the great Gift brings this home to us all, in many cases unconsciously. The Christmas spirit is in the air and permeates us all, though all do not acknowledge it, and expresses itself in the little gifts and added kindnesses that mark our relations to our friends and neighbours at this season. And Christmas marks a wider range of benevolent activity. Before the Babe was cradled under the star in the Bethlehem stable the world knew not of the evidences of love and charity that now exist. It is only in Christian lands that the charity "that is kind" finds organized expression in the maintenance of asylums and refuges for the shelter and healing of the afflicted, the embodiment of the wider spirit of Love that came to the earth in the form of the Son of Man. Christmas opens the heart. At this time the most sordid chips the shell of self and gives some thought to others. This is the season of the giving of gifts and of kindly remembrances of those bound to us by the ties of kinship or social ties. This is the season when long-absent friends are re-united, when the children who have left the parental roof to plant a roof-tree of their own, gather around the old hearthstone and enjoy the delight of the family reunion. From far and near the plunging ships and the rushing trains bring the welcome guests. But we are glad to know that the Christmas spirit does not confine itself to the home circle. How many thousands even in this favoured land are there to whom the festival brings no significence, the day no gladness. Want, cold, hunger, nakedness stalk through the wretched rooms of thousands of abodes. In our own merry-making we should not, and do not, forget those around us, and we endeavour, to some extent, to brighten for one day, at least, these darkened homes, and perhaps again kindle the expiring blaze of hope well nigh quenched, and perhaps give new courage to fight more successfully and hopefully the battle of life. In this spirit of universal charity to all those around us may we observe the dawning and the light of Christmas Day, and in this spirit the Examiner wishes all the town, all the country and all its readers

REMEMBERED BY HIS PUPILS.

At the close of the term on Friday evening last a rather unusual event took place in Providence School, S. S. No. 14, Otonabee. It being the occasion of their teacher Mr. W. B. Warne severing his connection with them to attend Victoria University, Toronto. A large number of children, parents and friends had gathered for the occasion, and as a slight token of their love and appreciation of one who had laboured successfully among them for four years, he became the recipient of a magnificent Gentleman's Companion. The presentation was made by a pupil, Miss Mamie Breakey, on behalf of the school, while her classmate, Miss Ethel Hatherly, read the following address:

To Mr. W. B. Warne:

Dear Teacher,—Having learned with regret that you are about to sever your connection with us, we, the scholars of your school, cannot allow you to leave us without expressing our deep appreciation of your labour on our behalf and the great esteem in which you are held by the people of the section. During your sojourn of about four years among us we have recognized your unselfish devotion to duty and to whatever tended to promote our interests. Your qualities as a true gentleman and friend have won the confidence of the whole section as well as the love of your pupils, and now, dear teacher, we ask you to accept this gentleman's companion as a slight memento of our love and best wishes for a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

We hope that you may have the same success throughout your college career as you have had as a teacher of our school. We also trust that when our work is done on earth we may all meet in that celestial land where we'll never say good-bye; but now, we will bid you farewell, again wishing you many happy returns.

BIRTH.

SANDERSON.—At Fairmount, Cavan, on Tuesday, 17th of December, 1901, the wife of Mr. A. H. Sanderson of a son.

THE LATE JOHN C. McKEE.

The Funeral Obsequies Took Place This Afternoon.

The funeral of the late John C. McKee, Esq., whose remains arrived in town from New York last evening, took place this afternoon at two o'clock from D. Belleghem's undertaking establishment. The cortege which followed the body to the Little Lake Cemetery was a representative one, and gave evidence of the very high esteem in which Mr. McKee was held amongst his former townsmen. The floral tributes were very handsome.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of St. John's, conducted the service and the pall bearers, who were selected from the Board of Education and the Masonic Order, were Messrs. Peter Hamilton, J. J. McBain, W. H. Hill, R. E. Wood, Adam Hall and Dr. Carmichael.

Dr. Charles S. McKee and Mr. Harry McKee, of Toronto, sons of the deceased were in attendance as well as his brother Mr. George McKee, manager of the Bank of Commerce, at Woodstock, and other relatives from outside points.

GOT A SHOT GUN.

A Presentation to Mr. G. H. Dawson at the C. G. E. Works.

Mr. G. W. Dawson was presented with a shot-gun, yesterday afternoon, by a number of his admiring shopmates at the Canadian General Electric Works. The accompanying address was worded as appended:

Mr. G. H. Dawson;

Dear Fellow Workman,—We the members of the Can. Gen. Electric Pattern Department on this Christmas Eve, and on the eve of your departure on an extended trip over the Eastern Province, feel that we cannot but express to you in some tangible manner your hearty good will, and hope for your safe return. We cannot but admire the strenuous efforts you have made to excell in the field of sport, especially that of hunting. We therefore pray you to accept this shot gun as a token of our good will. We hope it may be a great source of great enjoyment and bring you rich reward in the shooting contest you no doubt intend entering in the east.

Signed on behalf of the Pattern Department;

DISCUSSION ON WATER WORKS.

Details of the Purchase Fully Entered Into.

PUBLIC MEETING OF CITIZENS

Ald. Best and Ald. Roger Explain at Length the Report of the Committee Which has Been Negotiating With the Company.

The public meeting called by the Mayor in response to a petition from the local branch of the Federation of Labour, convened in the Opera House last evening, with an audience, which though small, was most attentive. It was composed almost entirely of members of the Labour organization, as the time was one not suited for the merchants to be able to leave their business.

His Worship, Mayor Denne, took the chair shortly after eight o'clock and invited those present who intended to take part in the discussion to take chairs upon the platform. Amongst those who responded to his invitation were Rev. J. C. Davidson, Ald. Shortly, Wm. Henry, J. W. Miller, S. R. Armstrong, Reeve Adams of Ashburnham, Ald. G. M. Roger, J. H. McClellan, William McNamara.

Mayor Denne stated that the principal object of the meeting was to discuss the matter of the purchase of the waterworks, and he was convinced that the matter would be fully ventilated during the evening, as well as any other question which the meeting took up. He then called upon Mr. J. W. Miller.

Mr. Miller stated that it was his pleasant duty to move a vote of thanks to the Mayor and members of the present council for the efficient manner in which they had performed their duties during the year. Large industries had been brought to the town chiefly through the influence of the Mayor and Council. The workingman might ask how he was benefitted by this? His taxes were increased, and he saw no benefit. The town was prosperous as a whole, and in the general prosperity the workingman's lot could be improved by an increase in wages, or a decrease in the hours of labour. Peterborough workingmen were fortunate in only having to work nine hours a day. He hoped all the present council would be re-elected, and that the vacancies would be filled by the most capable men which could be found.

Rev. J. C. Davidson in seconding the motion stated that although the audience was a small one, it was of the right kind, being composed of a class of men who had followed the work of the council very closely through the year. He hoped the citizens would not take the position of wanting to know "what there was in it for them" in connection with the town's prosperity, but rather what they could put into a town that was doing so much for them. The speaker paid a very high tribute to the council as at present composed, and assured the members that their future course would be watched with a warm interest. He said said that the council had behind them the support of the intelligent body of the citizens.

Mr. Wm. Henry, President of the local branch of the Federation of Labour, tendered the thanks of that organization to the Mayor and Council expressing his appreciation of their work.

The resolution was put to the meeting by Mr. S. R. Armstrong and carried unanimously by a standing vote.

Mayor Denne in replying to the resolution stated that he had only done what he considered to be his duty during his term of office. He was pleased to be able to state that during the past year two large industries had located in town, and were erecting buildings, two dams on the river above the town were being harnessed by electricity, and he hoped all the other dams would also be used for the same purpose. The Mayor then went on to speak of the pole difficulty and put himself on record as choosing rather to use the streets for poles which would would bring cheap power into the town rather than reserving them for their beauty. He thought the streets were for use and the best use he knew of that they could be put to was to assist in bringing in cheap power. He urged that the Dominion Government be pressed during the year to complete the Trent Valley Canal and mentioned the fact that Hon. Geo. A. Cox had told him that if he could secure a pledge from the Minister of Railways and Canals that the upper section of the canal would be finished next year that he could procure for Peterborough the largest manufacturing industry in the Dominion. At present the Council had under consideration several offers from very important industries, which were about to change their location. Before concluding, the Mayor expressed the opinion that the best possible bargain had been made for the purchase of the Waterworks system.

The next speaker was Ald. Best. He spoke of the appointment of the committee by the council, which had carried on negotiations with the Water Works Company for the purchase of the plant during the year. He read the report made by the Committee to the Council a few weeks ago, which was published at the time the papers. In discussing the report Alderman Best stated that if the debentures for the purchase of the Water Works were issued at 3 3-4 per cent., the works would be self-sustaining and yield a surplus of fifteen or sixteen hundred dollars.

Rev. J. C. Davidson—"That is if the works are managed as economically as by the present company."

Alderman Best stated that he would go into the question of management later, and proceeding said that a fact which was not generally known was that if the town wanted to own the works inside of thirty years they had to be acquired now. In the speaker's opinion the large revenue at present yielded by the Water Works was the result of the good management of the Superintendent, Mr. Henderson. The Directors, of course had looked after the financial part of the management, but he could not see why two commissioners could not manage as economically as a Board of Directors. In the case of other towns which had acquired their water works, they had all been able to reduce their rate in a few years. He thought the rate for domestic purposes should be reduced as low as possible. The hydrants would have to continue as a general tax. They now cost $35 each for some hundred or so, but as the revenue from the works grew larger this expense would be reduced, as well as the domestic rate. The speaker then read some correspondence showing that in Brantford and Galt, which cities own their own systems, the water rate is 25 or 30 per cent. lower than in Peterborough. There was no reason why the rate here could not be reduced by the same percentage. It had been said that the pipes in Peterborough were not sound. In regard to this he might say that a pipe which had been laid 18 years ago on George street, was broken recently on account of being laid over a pipe of masonry which would not give with extra pressure. It was new in the water works yard, and an examination proved it to be in a fine state of preservation. With reference to the valuation it was shown that the net earnings of the water works was equivalent to 7 per cent on the purchase money. The city of Moncton had been put to an expense of $10,000 in buying its water works at $25,000, with a net annual income of $16,000. This was no showing at all as compared to Peterborough. Mr. Kennedy, the engineer, reported that the Peterborough water works were one of the best constructed in the Dominion.

Ex-Ald. J. L. Hughes queried as to whether a fair price was being paid for the works, how it was proposed to pay for them and whether the purchase would increase the taxes?

In replying, Ald. Best stated that the report made had been based on the statement of 1900, and the assurance of the president of the company that the earnings in 1901 had been increased by $1600. The citizens taxes would not be increased by one dollar, but, on the contrary, the water works would be a revenue producer over and above all expenses of operations. Even if the debentures had to be issued at 4 per cent. instead of 3 3-4 there would be an annual surplus of $2000 even on last year's showing. Mr. Kennedy, one of the foremost engineers of Canada, had been instructed to value the water works without favour to either the sellers or the purchaser. His estimate was $283,000, and it was proposed to allow the extra $27,000 to the company for the trouble and expense incurred in putting the system on a paying basis.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn—"How do you propose to provide for future extentions?"

To this Ald. Best answered that any ordinary expenses would be met out of the surplus. The extensions had heretofore only meant the annual expenditure of a few hundred dollars. It was a little larger this year on account of the mains being put into the Cereal Company's premises. The cost of any extensions commenced this year would be deducted from the purchase price.

Mr. Bradburn mentioned the fact that the extensions made by the Water Works Company had been limited through the circumstance that they put in no additional mains unless guaranteed hydrants every 500 feet by the council. The corporation would not be in a position to limit extensions in this manner. It was doubtful if the commissioners would limit their extensions in such a way. He was afraid that the system of extensions would finally come down to a frontage tax and he would have to pay for the water whether he wanted it or not.

Ald. Best answered that he would not be in favour of any such arbitrary measures.

Mr. Bradburn stated that in London the reserve fund for extensions amounted to $20,000 a year.

Ald. Best went on to point out the great benefit which the town would derive, through owning the Water Works, in connection with the insurance rates. He understood that the underwriters were going to instal a new system of classification whereby the towns would be rated, separately, on their ability to fight fire. The hydrants in Peterborough were too far apart, but by placing a hydrant in between each two at a cost of only $65 each the rate could be lowered so that it would mean that the town would have the lowest rate in the Dominion. This was an important item to be considered in the purchase. At present the five directors received $100 per annum each for their services. Two of the town's best citizens could be selected to act as commissioners at a like capacity for $100 or $150 each.

Mr. Wm. Eyers asked Ald. Best to repeat his statement concerning the result if the ratepayers vetoed the bylaw.

In compliance Ald. Best said that if the bylaw authorizing the purchase was voted down, the town could take no further action before July 1903, when arbitrators would take the matter in hand. After the award was made then the bylaw would come before the people. If it was vetoed the town would have to pay the whole cost of arbitration and the Company would have control of the works for five years before another bylaw could be submitted.

ALD. SHORTLY.

Ald. Benj. Shortly was introduced by the chairman and received a cordial reception. He was pleased to be present to meet the ratepayers of the town. However, he did not propose to take up their time by going into the details of the water works question, as this had been done by previous speakers, but he might say that when he was appointed on the committee to investigate the question he had no idea it was going to be such a big task. It had taken up a good deal of his time, as well as the time of other members of the committee; neither he nor they were sorry for it. As for himself he felt that he owed the town something, as it had done considerable for him, and he was only glad to assist in any way he could. He thanked them for the attention they had given him.

ALD. G. M. ROGER.

Ald. G. M. Roger made one of the best speeches of the evening. He thanked the audience for the hearty vote of thanks they had tendered each one of the members of the council, and he was pleased to know that their services which were offered with a public spirited motive, were to some extent appreciated. Ald. Roger then took up the water works question, and began by saying that the Legislature had decided that the council shall not deal with it directly, but but it shall be disposed of by the people. It is not the council's duty to advise or retard the movement for the purchase of the waterworks. They did not propose to make any comment thereon but to gather such facts as would give them all an intelligent opinion thereon. The remarks that Mr. Best had made concerning the water works put the question in a pretty fair light, as far as the council was concerned, and he himself would speak as a private citizen. Mr. Bradburn's questions would lead one to think that there were objections. As a matter of fact they had to look at the question from both sides; they did not want to go blindfold into the bargain, but they should consider the question in all its phases. One thing is certain, and that is, that suppose the town can carry on the water works as economically as the present company has done during the past few years we would own the years, the fact is that in thirty system without paying any of our own money for it. If any man could go into a house and pay a certain sum of money as rental knowing that he would own that house in a certain number of years by reason of the rent money applying on the purchase price, would he not prefer this to paying rent for a house at the same rate per month but which he would never own if he were to pay this monthly amount? This is what I consider the great feature in this connection. However, I don't think that the town will manage the Water

RECEIVED THEIR CHEQUES.

Peterborough Boys Pittingly Express Their Thanks to the Town.

The following letters, which speak for themselves, have been received at the Town Clerk's office:

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 18th.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor of Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Sir, — I desire through you to thank the town council of Peterborough for the gift of a cheque for $25, which I received to-day. I hope that I may do my duty as one of your representatives and be a credit to the town, and country. The boys are all well, and appreciate the enthusiastic send-off which you gave us. I wish you and the good old town every success, and wishing you and all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, I remain gentlemen, yours for King and Country,

PTE. TRUBLER,
2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles,
Halifax, N.S.

To Mayor Denne and the Town Council of Peterborough, Ont.,

Gentlemen, —I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your cheque for $25, which you so generously granted me on the eve of my departure for South Africa, for which kindly accept my sincere thanks, as it is appreciated very much, more so from the fact that it was far beyond my expectation. I have no idea when we will leave here. The western men came in last night and are a very fine lot of fellows, yet our Ontario boys are no second. Last but by no means least, "the noble dozen," as Corp. Brown, formerly Major Brown, of 3rd Dragoons, calls us, have both feet in the correct place every time. Everyone here speaks of us as the "noble dozen," and trust we may live to merit the title. Wishing the town and Council, not forgetting yourself, Mr. Mayor, the good wishes and prosperity of one who when his term expires, will be pleased to again get back to the best town in Canada. I am, dear sir, your humble servant,

REG. H. TURNER,

To His Worship, Mayor Denne, and the Council of the Town of Peterborough.

Gentlemen, — Kindly accept my sincere thanks for your kindness in granting me the sum of $25, which I received yesterday. I might say that it was somewhat of a surprise to me, therefore making it all the more acceptable. Thanking you again, and wishing you all the compliments of the season, and in the hope of getting back to the good town again, I am, gentlemen, yours most thankfully,

GEO. DANIELS,
No. 219, 2nd Troop,
C Squadron, 2nd C.M.R.

And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrappped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will towards men.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the inmate of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Nervousness and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other diseases combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even entail their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been drained from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Combined Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Ruined Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for Physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Combined Treatment will Strengthen Manhood, Lost Power, Failing Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, write and consult us. Correspondence Free. YULETIDE CUSTOMS.

How the Day Is Observed in Many Countries.

In England

In England in the early Anglo-Saxon days Christmas was celebrated with almost saturnalian revelries, the lords of misrule holding full sway, but the first breath of Puritanism scorched the zeal of the revelers, and it became a heinous offense to so rejoice and be merry. The year 1643 saw the abolishment of all saints' days, and those who observed the "three grand festivals of Christmas, Easter and Whitsuntide, were heavily fined." With the restoration a sad countenance was not at a premium, but rather a merry one, and all the observances of these festival days were revived.

In Spain

In old Seville and the other beautiful cities of Spain Christmas is largely an out of door celebration. The Anglo-Saxon idea of hearth and home is foreign to the Latin temperament, and the gracious climate lends itself to al fresco merrymaking. All is movement, color, tumult, dance and song. The great plazas are kaleidoscopes of human movement. The cathedrals and churches are thronged. Piety and gayety mingle.

In Italy

Inspired by the ancient poetical thought of cheering the Virgin during the pangs of maternity, young men and maidens throng on Christmas eve before her shrines in Italy and play upon their guitars and mandolins, singing songs of praise. It is their part, too, to decorate the beautiful old churches most profusely, a loving service at which they spend the greater part of the night, refreshed by a collation after midnight mass.

In Germany

Germany is the land of Santa Claus, the home of the beautiful legend of Kris Kringle, which is a corruption of Christ Kindlein, or Christ Child. While the good child finds its little stocking laden with Kris Kringle's gifts, the naughty child finds nothing but a birch rod placed there by the avenging Pelsnichol (St. Nicholas with the fur). Such an experience makes the small victim intensely miserable.

In Australia

In Australia Christmas comes during the midsummer season. The mercury may register 100 degrees or more. Families, instead of being united, are divided, for this is the time of the long vacation. Still, English traditions are preserved. Plum pudding is the dessert and holly the decoration. Moreover, the Australians have a decoration of their own—a crimson flowering shrub which they call Christmas bush and which blooms only in December.

RIDING IN CHINA.

Using the Donkey, the Shentzu and the Wheelbarrow.

Here comes a gorgeously clad lady riding a donkey, her husband by her side. She rides straddle legs, but round her is drawn an embroidered petticoat, displaying all its beauties when riding. her face is painted and powdered, her lower lip is one large daub of vermilion, and her wonderfully dressed hair is shining with grease and gum. She wears no hat, however hot the day, but she carries a fan or an oil paper parasol, and she looks very glum as the barbarian passes, for he is not supposed to see her, though very probably she stoops and chatters to her lord and master once he is well out of the way.

Next there comes a shentzu—that is, a long chair with a hood hung between two mules walking tandem fashion. Sometimes there is another gayly dressed woman in it, sometimes a magistrate or other grandee, but oftenest of all come the shrieking, creaking wheelbarrows, the universal vehicle of China.

The wheel is in the middle, and there is a seat on either side, and the way those tortured wheels cry out is excruciating—the air is full of the sound. The Chinaman cannot be prevailed upon to grease them. In the first place, he is economical and would not waste the grease, and in the next he looks upon a silent wheel with suspicion. "Would you have him going like a thief?" he asks plaintively.

Nevertheless these wheelbarrows are the only wheeled vehicles, and a cooly will wheel two men and their baggage easily. The bishop of northern China declares he has traveled thousands of miles on a wheelbarrow.

As a Cure For Piles

Dr. Chase's Ointment Never Disappoints—It Has Won World-wide Fame on Account of its Magical Control Over the Most Severe Cases of Itching, Bleeding and Protruding Piles.

Doctors may tell you that nothing short of a surgical operation will cure piles. In this they are mistaken, as we can prove in a host of cases where Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used. It is not infrequent that people tell us that Dr. Chase's Ointment has succeeded in effecting a cure after operations had failed. There is too much risk in a surgical operation, too much suffering and too much expense. If you take the advice of scores and hundreds of your friends and neighbours, you will avoid operations, and resort to the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It will relieve you almost at once. It will thoroughly cure you in a remarkably short time.

Mr. J. Wolfe, Annprior, Ontario, states:—"I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles, and can assure the public that there was never anything on the market to equal it. I was disappointed time and time again when trying remedies for the ailment, and you can scarcely imagine my gratitude when I found that Dr. Chase's Ointment was an effective and thorough cure for this ailment. From the first application this medical ointment gave me relief, and a few boxes perfectly cured me. Since being cured of piles I always keep Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house and find it useful in scores of ways as a treatment for every form of itching skin, chafing and skin irritations."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is indeed useful in scores of ways, as Mr. Wolfe says, and people who once make the acquaintance of Dr. Chase's Ointment are loath to be without it in the house. For pimples, blackheads, eczema, salt rheum, chapped hands and face, chilblains and each and every form of raw, itching of chafed skin, it is an incomparable treatment. It is especially recommended as a cure for piles, because it is, so far as we know, the only actual and guaranteed cure for every form of this wretched and loathsome disease. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Kindles Holy Fires.

My sentiment is that the Christmas is, of all our festivities, the one most thoroughly interwoven with the home and family. It is the day which kindles in midwinter the holy fires of love and gratitude—Robert Collyer.

Welcome Every One.

On Christmas day we shall shut out from our firside nothing.—Charles Dickens.

This is the Way of it.

The glycerine in Scott's Emulsion soothes the rough and irritable throat. The hypophosphites tone up the nerves, and the cod-liver oil heals and strengthens the inflamed bronchial tubes and air cells.

XMAS CHILDREN'S PARTY.

Merry Times For the Little Folks of the Household.

Christmas is the children's own season. The youngster who goes through childhood without having stored up the memory of many whole sealed Christmas frolics is being robbed—a robbery of the worst character. Not only the great day itself, but the entire holiday week should be remembered in the mind of the small person for its "jolly good times."

But, apparently, in the whole range of entertaining there is nothing so difficult to "give" successfully as a simple party for children. This comes about because a little sensible thought is not brought to bear upon the subject beforehand.

The keynote of catering for children should be extreme simplicity, says What to Eat.

Do you remember that rabid little joke which accompanies one of Du Maurier's society drawings? "Papa, dear," says tender hearted mamma, who can't bear to see the tots disappointed, "the children have been invited to a party at the Johnsons' on the 10th, to one at Thomsons' on the 14th and at the Simpsons' on the 20th. May I write and accept for them, papa?"

"Oh, I suppose so," growls the pater savagely, "and while you're about it, suppose you drop in at Dr. Brown's and tell him to stop here on the 11th, the 15th and the 21st."

Plain, wholesome food, of which the youngsters can eat plenty without injuring their health should be provided in satisfying quantities. Serve everyday viands, but serve them in such a way that they will appear to be of most unusual varieties.

For example, plain bread and butter cut in the usual way the youngster who goes a-partying would scorn; but cut the bread into fancy shapes—diamonds, hearts, triangles—with a cake cutter; form it into sandwiches, tied with bebe ribbon—such sandwiches will be considered delectable feasting.

Don't serve tea or coffee. Pure milk, chocolate not too rich and lemonade are the more sensible beverages.

For a buffet refreshment serve cold sliced meat, preferably lamb, beef or chicken; bread and butter sandwiches, with perhaps a little good marmalade spread between well baked rolls, hot bouillon, pure ice cream with homemade cake, fruit and simple bonbons. If the feast is to be a "sit down" affair, have something on the following order: Clear beef soup with croutons, chicken with cranberry sauce and one or two of the vegetables in season, or chops with peas or spinach and baked potatoes, a simple pudding, ice cream and cake, with fruit.

But whatever the plan of the festivity may be let a number of merry little catches be introduced. Children love mysteries and surprises. Provide plenty of the german favors which contain paper caps, etc. Have a bag suspended from the ceiling which, when struck with a cane, bursts, showering sugared almonds and other good things.

In the center of the table on which the feast is spread have a miniature Christmas tree arranged to stand upright in a green basket or box. This tree is resplendent with tinsel paper, and from its branches dangles an inexpensive gift for every child of the number.

Around the tree, upon the cloth, may extend a wreath of red carnations. After the meal this wreath is discovered to be composed of boutonnieres—as many as there are children in the gathering. Each child receives his gift by drawing the red ribbon which lies nearest his hand.

If it is desired to make the children's Christmas party a fancy dress affair, the Yuletide season may be cleverly suggested by a "Meeting of the Toys." This is a version of the costume ball. It is newer than the Mother Goose or fairy book ideas, which are by this time pretty well worn out.

To the invitations issued for an affair of this kind a note is added, requesting each invitee to come costumed as a toy. Little girls are invited to come, if they prefer to do so, representing their favorite dolls. And when the great day arrives, what a motley gathering! Dogs, wolves, bears, monkeys, elephants, horses, goats, sheep, donkeys, and so on—mechanical figures, too—jumping jacks, woolly Sambos, acrobats, gymnasts, organ grinders.

No merrier plan for a Christmas carnival could be invented.—Buffalo Express.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

The Last Nickel.

The Philadelphia Record tells of a little Sunday school boy who always receives a nickel from his father to place in the collection plate. Last Sunday his father gave him two nickels, saying, "One is for the Lord, and the other is for yourself." As it was too early to start for Sunday school the little boy sat on the porch steps, playing with the two nickels. After awhile he dropped one of them, and it disappeared down a crack. Without a moment's hesitation and still clutching the remaining coin in his clinched fist, he looked up at his father, exclaiming, "Oh, pop, there goes the Lord's nickel!"

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and arradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. "No. Look at me. Ever since I can remember I have kept myself back by placing too light an estimate on my importance and ability."

No Screaming.

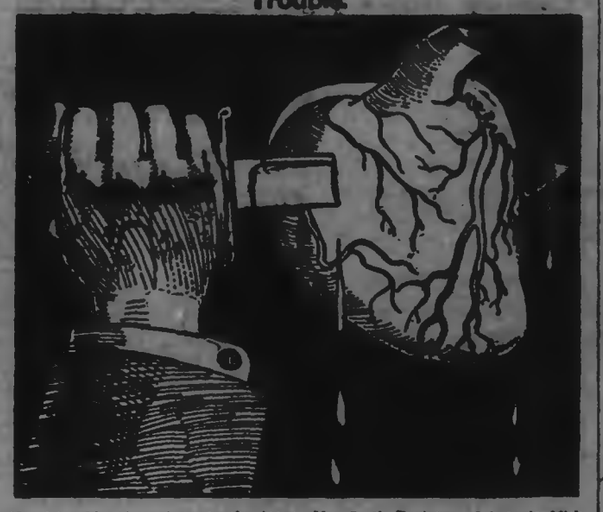
Ethel—Dreadfully!

Gladys—And did you scream?

Ethel—Oh, no! It was a still alarm! —Puck.

Heart Disease

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.



Heart trouble, at least among the Americans, is certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and the Pneumogastric.

In another way, also, the heart is affected by poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest, caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation, and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the proper assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contains valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant and convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

Mrs. Lydia Bartram, of Assyria, Mich., writes:—"I have suffered from stomach trouble for ten years, and five different doctors gave me only temporary relief. A Mr. E.E. Page advised me to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and four boxes did me more permanent benefit than all the doctors' medicines that I have ever taken.

Mrs. G.H. Crotsley, 533 Washington street, Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as older folks. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say 'tablets' and she drops everything else and runs for them."

Miss Lelia Dively, 4627 Plummer St., Pittsburg, Pa., writes:—"I wish everyone to know how grateful I am for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I suffered for a long time and did not know what ailed me. I lost flesh right along until one day I noticed an advertisement of these tablets, and immediately bought a 50c box at the drug store. I am only on the second box and am gaining in flesh and colour. I have at last found something that has reached my ailment."

Phil Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says:—"Your dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

Full sized packages of these tablets sold by druggists at 50c. Little book on stomach troubles mailed free. Address, F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $107 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

The Best Gift of All

By Howard Fielding.

(Concluded from yesterday)

"That's right," cried Hale. "Hold him, and I'll get the thing."

Lafarge seized him by the shoulder, and the three were for an instant most absurdly posed.

"Grace," said Lafarge, "there has been a fearful mistake. A package sent to my office for examination got mixed up with those presents."

"My goodness! Is it poison?" she gasped. "How dreadful! Yet it really can't do any harm, since the mistake has been discovered. Nobody has touched the things. I'll go and get them."

She slipped away from Lafarge and ran straight against Hale, who, with remarkable agility, placed himself in her path.

"It's an explosive," whispered Lafarge. "Don't scream. You'll scare everybody to death. The children are watching us from the parlor. They think this is a new Christmas game, I guess. The thing was sent to a man who has been threatened, and some detectives captured it in time. Don't—don't be alarmed! It's probably quite harmless, but we can't take any chances."

The girl was trying to speak, but she succeeded in uttering only some unintelligible exclamations, for Lafarge checked her at every attempt by an added impressiveness in his own manner and voice. Meanwhile, however, she had clung to Hale's arm. But at last he succeeded in freeing himself and darted toward the open door.

"Come back!" she cried. "Oh, Donald, she's in there!"

"What? Here. Hale— Why, I thought I saw her in the parlor."

"She's there! And she never saw him. He will scare her into a fit."

While these hurried words were exchanged Hale had reached the door. He glanced through the crack of it, and, seeing no one within, he entered.

Aunt Sarah, a tall and angular person of forty summers—which she had passed in single blessedness—had been standing in such a position that the open door of a wardrobe had hidden her. Hearing Hale's heavy tread, she stepped out.

As has already been intimated, Dr. Hale is a man of exceedingly formidable appearance. The expression of deadly, irresistible purpose which his face wears in its calmest moments was greatly intensified by his natural emotion at this time. Even if Aunt Sarah had not been afflicted with nerves, she might well have given herself up for lost at the sight of this desperate character breaking in upon her.

"Aunt Sarah," cried Grace from the hall, "it's Dr. Hale, and he is after that bundle."

As Aunt Sarah had never heard of Dr. Hale, this remark did not contain the conso'ation which it was intended to convey. It is not so easy, by the way, to think of just the right thing to say at such a time. Aunt Sarah understood only that the man was after the bundle that had just been put into her room.

Such being her view, it was especially creditable that she should have had the courage to attempt to thwart him. The bundle lay between them, and in some mysterious manner Aunt Sarah got by him and darted into the hall, with the precious bundle in her arms. She ran straight into Lafarge.

"Here! Take it!" she gasped, and the next moment she fainted in Grace's arms.

Lafarge cast one hasty glance around. It seemed to him that he could hear the mysterious clockwork ticking along toward the final catastrophe for the execution of which it was designed.

"Rip it open!" exclaimed Hale, who had followed close upon Aunt Sarah's heels.

But Lafarge had a sudden idea.

"Not here!" he cried, and, dodging Hale, he darted toward the rear of the house.

"Jack's room!" he called over his shoulder to Grace.

He ran to the end of the hall and applied a hasty hand to the knob of a door.

"Let me in! Let me in!" he called, and presently the door was opened, and a head, with hair parted in the middle and very neatly brushed down, was thrust cautiously out.

"What's the row, doctor?" inquired a gentle and somewhat effeminate voice. "I was just getting ready for dinner."

Lafarge burst into the room without stopping to answer any questions. The door closed behind him and was locked, as Hale discovered half a minute later. He had paused long enough to see Grace resign the care of Aunt Sarah to a maid and various members of the family to whom the occasion seemed favorable for him to be presented.

He shook the door and called upon Lafarge to let him in. There was no response, but he could hear a murmur of voices.

Suddenly the door was flung open, and a tall youth—the same whose head had been visible before—dashed out so hastily that he almost overturned Hale. He was clothed in a long overcoat that reached almost to his heels and was liberally supplied with trimmings of fine fur; but there were indications that he had not very much on beneath it.

"Well, upon my word!" he exclaimed. "I think Donald has a good nerve. He says he wants to soak an infernal machine in my bathtub, and I was just going to get into it myself! I say, we'd better not stay here."

Meanwhile Hale had tried the door, expecting to find it locked, for he had heard Lafarge turn the key behind Jack. The bolt of the lock had not caught. Hale entered the room, and Grace got in after him, despite his efforts to keep her out. Once in, she closed the door and locked it securely.

"Keep the children away!" she called to Jack through the door. "But don't tell what has happened."

It was a large and elegantly appointed chamber, with windows opening on a broad court at the rear of the building. In an alcove to the left stood a great porcelain tub, half full of water, and beside it stood Lafarge, with a parcel done up in brown paper in his hand. On the floor was the big bundle, open.

"I hope you've got the right one this time," said Hale.

"No doubt of that," replied Lafarge. "It's the one with no name on it. Grace, will you please go away?"

As he spoke he stooped down to immerse the box in the tub.

"Wait—wait, Lafarge, till I can get her out of here!" exclaimed Hale. "If that's one of those sulphuric acid machines, it may go off when it touches the water."

His words came too late. The box was already under the surface. Lafarge, somewhat pale, looked around at them, while he gently moved the box back and forth in the water.

"I guess it's all right," he said at last, withdrawing it and taking off the wrapper. "It's a cigar box. That's what they commonly use. I don't see any trick about the cover"— putting a knife under it gingerly. "There! It's open. Why, upon my soul! What's this? The confounded thing is full of cigars!"

He lifted some of them, soaked and sodden. Hale stepped quickly forward.

"The very Old Nick himself is in this thing!" he cried. "We haven't got it yet. That is my box of cigars—my Christmas present to you."

He turned and pounced upon the pile of packages that lay beside him. This time there was no mistake. His hand was upon the one that Wallace had brought. Kneeling beside it, he paved her hands. Her face was perfectly white, but its expression was resolute and in strange contrast with her attitude of abject terror.

"I will not go while you stay here," she said, looking at Donald. "I—I want to be with you, whatever happens."

Hale looked at her steadily as he kneeled beside the package. His face was haggard and drawn.

Suddenly he seized Donald's wrist and dragged him down, so that, still kneeling, he could whisper in the other's ear.

"I love her!" he said. "I always have, ever since I first saw her. And she loves you. Now, is there any doubt which one of us can best afford to take this chance? She won't go without you, and she mustn't stay. Listen! This infernal thing is ticking again. The clockwork that was somehow interrupted in the office has begun to go, and you know what that means. Get away! Get away, and take her with you."

Lafarge straightened up.

"Grace," said he, "Dr. Hale has just told me something which makes it absolutely necessary that you should leave this room and that I should stay."

He stepped up to her and took her hand.

"If you love me," he said, "go."

"I do, I do," she sobbed, clinging to him. "That's why I can't leave you. I want to run—I'm frightened to death—but I'd rather stay with you. Oh, can't you throw this terrible thing out of the window?"

"Listen!" said Lafarge.

There was a moment of silence, in which the sound of children's voices rose from the court beneath the window. The voices ceased, and the ticking of the infernal mechanism seemed as loud as a drum.

Suddenly the measured clicking became a whir. Hale crouched down, placing his body directly over the box—between it and his friends. Lafarge pushed the almost fainting girl toward the door, shielding her behind himself.

And then a strange sound rose from the box—a queer, cracked melody, familiar and trivial.

"Oh, I don't know; you're not so warm!" it sang in a weird, uncanny key.

Hale stood about, his dark visage singularly pallid, yet for some strange reason looking almost handsome. His eye met Lafarge's in a single glance. Then he wrenched the wrapper off the box, which the next instant he burst open with a blow of his clinched fist.

Wheels and springs flew out and scattered over the floor. In the midst of them was a large white card. Hale picked it up and glanced at the writing which it bore.

"Our friend, the district attorney, always was a practical joker," said he, "but I don't believe he ever succeeded quite so well before. He wishes you a merry Christmas, Lafarge!"

"If I had him here!" said the chemist between his teeth.

The next moment Grace was laughing and crying in his arms, while Hale, upon one knee, in the attitude of one who has been almost felled by a blow, looked up at them. He seemed to experience a difficulty in getting to his feet, but once erect he stood sturdily.

"On second thought, Lafarge," said he, "would you really do him any harm? His agreeable jest has shown you what you wished to see. When he and those other humorists that consort with him were fixing up this 10 cent music box and its clockwork attachments, they had no idea what strange measures we should tread to the tune of it. I fancy that this is your best Christmas present and more than a fair exchange for the pretty instrument I smashed in the laboratory."

"I'll tell you what this absurd joke has done," said Lafarge earnestly. "It has revealed you to me as a brave and splendid fellow, Jim."

"Oh, wasn't he brave!" exclaimed the girl. "Why, he thought only of us! He positively smiled in that last second before the horrid box began to play a tune—in that second when he must have expected to be blown up in the very next one. Why, he hugged the thing to his heart!"

"There are worse things than dynamite for a man's heart," said Hale, "and he may smile at them if he possesses the necessary resolution."

He advanced toward them, extending a hand to each, and there was a smile upon his strong and rugged face.

THE POISE

Of a woman in perfect health attracts the eye at once. Such a woman is all too rarely seen. The most of women bear scars of suffering on their faces which no smiles can hide, and often in their very carriage betray the womanly weakness which oppresses them.

There can be no perfect health for the woman who suffers from disease of the delicate womanly organism. Her general health is so intimately related to the local health of the womanly organs that these must be cured before the general health can be established.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It cures womanly disorders and diseases; brightens the dull eye, rounds out the hollow cheek and gives strength for widely duties and maternal cares.

"My health is the best now that it has been for four years," writes Miss Phoebe Morris, of Ira, Cayuga Co., N. Y., Box 52. "I have taken but two bottles of your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' The medicines have done me more good than all that I have ever taken before. I couldn't do my work only about half the time, and now I can work all the time for a family of four. Before I took your medicine I was sick in bed nearly half the time. My advice to all who are troubled with female weakness is to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery'—the most wonderful medicines in the world."

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

A VERY SEVERE TEST.

When the constitution is neglected, indigestion, sleeplessness and nervousness will surely follow. A tonic is then needed, and the proper medicine to take is "Clinias" Iron Tonic Pills. They build up the system, improve the appetite and strengthen the nerves. Each box contains ten days' treatment. Price 25 cents, at all druggists, or mailed on receipt of price. Address: The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dolls.

The ivory doll of the Roman child was too costly for the ages that followed the fall of the empire. For many centuries dolls must have been chiefly of home manufacture. The first shop made dolls after the middle ages were the jointed wooden dolls of the Netherlands. These were known in England and in this country, too, in colonial times as "Flanders babies."

There is a good deal of quiet satisfaction in seeing somebody else run against fresh paint.

FROST'S CHRISTMAS GREETING.

This is our first Christmas greeting to the people of Peterborough, but we hope it will not be our last. Although comparatively new in the business ranks of the town, there has been an unexpectedly large expression of good will shown toward us. We would fail in our duty and deprive ourselves of a pleasure if we did not take this opportunity of acknowledging that the warm reception accorded us has been anything but a—

DISCUSSION ON WATER WORKS.

Works any cheaper than the present Company There are certain very objectionable features that will prevent this economical management. For instance if we try to induce any manufacturers to come to town they will, as in the past, ask for exemption of taxation, free site and in addition they will want free water. This is one of the disadvantages that attend the management of the Waterworks by the Public. Again no municipal corporation can employ labour as cheaply as a company can and in this connection Mr. Itoger explained the difficulties to be encountered. Mr. Bradburn asked also what provision we are going to make as to prevent unnecessary extensions. I hope that this will be one of the advantages as it is too frequently the case that when an extension is asked at the present time it cannot be obtained unless under certain circumstances, that sometimes cannot be met. But I am of the opinion after weighing the advantages and disadvantages that it would be wise to take it over. We have at the present time 123 hydrants at a cost of $35 each, making an outlay during the year for hydrants of $4,500. If we put in more hydrants, making them closer to each other we would not be paying more for them other than the original cost of installing them. These are facts that are staring us in the face. Not only this, it would improve our insurance rates and cheapen our street watering besides other advantages that might arise from time to time. Then we have our own town lot for storage, we have our own town offices and the engineer who went into the affairs of the Company states that there is at the Water Works' power station 500 horse power more than is needed. Why not buy out our Electric Light Company and run the lighting of the town with our own power. Another point is this, that when the Water Works Company first started in business they were not a paying concern — very few undertakings of the kind are, but they have out-lived these early stages, and now is the time to buy; when the future is assured, we can count on maintaining the present revenues, as well as additional revenue that is sure to be obtained from the location in town of new manufacturing industries.

Mr. Roger then proceeded to read a number of letters the Mayor had received from towns that were now operating their own water works. The Mayor of Brockville wrote that it was practically the unanimous opinion that their venture was a decided success in that town. Eight years ago they had taken over the system and the rates now were 25 per cent. cheaper, and they were turning over a profit in revenue to the town. The fire service of the town had also been greatly improved. Kingston had purchased their water works system in 1867. At that time they had 42 hydrants, and it cost them for water $1575 per year; now they had 225 hydrants, and it cost them only $750. In 1867 they had 900 water takers, the revenue from these amounting to $38.53 per head. In 1900 Kingston had 2415 water takers and it cost them only $3.64 per head, one-fourth the previous cost. These figures spoke for themselves. If it is advisable, and he thought that it was worth risking, we should take up the present option. As a matter of fact we are paying every dollar the water works system is worth, but still we can't possibly get any better. We can't get the water works without paying for them and unless we take up the present offer we will have to arbitrate. That will mean an expense of anywhere from ten to forty thousand dollars. Don't forget the fact that if we arbitrate in the matter that you have to pay the cost, no matter how the award goes. Taking the matter all around I think that Peterborough can do just as well as Kingston or Brockville in the management of the water works system. As to the revenue we had an expert examine the books and he found that for 1898 the revenue was $13,874; in 1899, $12,906; and in 1900 it was $14,977. The net revenue for the past year would have paid the sinking fund and left a balance to the credit of the town. The Water Company has made 6 per cent. on their investment, made any necessary extensions and have placed away $2000 a year.

Mr. A. C. McClellan — Suppose a manufacturer seeks location in town and asks and gets free water, what would you then propose to do with the manufacturers located here already in this regard?

Mr. Roger — Well, as I stated, that comes up as one of the disadvantages to be encountered.

Ald. Roger then directed his attention to the matter of pulling the streets. He had been criticised in the press for his action towards the Otonabee Power Company, but he wished it understood that he did not object to the Otonabee Power Company or any other Power Company getting the use of the streets, but he had objected to the manner in which the Company went about obtaining that privilege. He would still object to any Company coming to a council in its dying hours and asking for a franchise. A franchise is a thing that is very easily given but hard to withdraw.

A voice—Why not put the wires underground?

Ald. Roger—To ask companies to put their wires underground in Peterborough would be to prohibit them entirely, but all franchises that are given now and that have been given are granted under the expressed condition that the Companies will avail themselves of the very latest systems as regards insulation, etc.

In conclusion Mr. Roger said that when he stood on this platform a year ago he prophesied that they were on the verge of an era of prosperity such as the town has never witnessed—such he was glad to say had been the case. Look at that magnificent pile of buildings on the river bank, and that is only a sample of what is to follow. The manager of the Quaker Oats Company had told him to-day that he would start operations in the spring for the construction of a dam that would cost $250,000.00. Not only will we receive the benefit of this outlay but we will derive the advantage of the increased water power. Mr. Stewart of the Quaker Oats Company has said that one of the strongest points they considered in coming to Peterborough was the advantages of the Trent Valley Canal. We are going to have a commercial interest at our back that will compel Railway Companies to lower their rates. We don't begin to realise the immense significance of that Canal, nor the magnitude of the Quaker Oats concern which intends making the Peterborough mills the finest of their series plant. The United States thought that their's was a great and glorious flag but they are beginning to find that there is a greater and more glorious flag—the flag that flies over British dominions.

Did it ever strike you what has caused these Americans to come to Canada with their money?

Rev. J. C. Davidson — Why, the National Policy.

Mr. Roger—It is just the National Policy reversed. They found that by their high policy of exclusion that other countries were ceasing to trade with them, and they had to seek the foreign market through Canada with its low tariff advantages. I think that we are only at the beginning of this great wave of prosperity and that before long English capital will be finding safe investment in our midst. (Applause.)

Mr. MacNamara, a member of the Federation of Labour, was called upon and addressed the audience briefly.

MR. McCLELLAN.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, who followed, claimed that he did not come to make a speech, but to gain information. All knew his position on the water works question, as he believed that all public franchises should be owned and controlled by the people. He severely criticised the Mayor and council for not advising the people which course to take in the matter. They were in a better position to advise the town than the ratepayers were to advise themselves. Instead, however, they threw a lot of data at the people, told them to decide, and that they, the council, would follow. He would like to have received more information on the subject. For instance, what is each shareholder getting for each dollar's worth of stock? They have not been told what the company is capitalised at. He was pleased to hear the Mayor congratulate the people on securing the power from No. 5 dam, and he hoped that every dam on the river would be so utilised. Mr. McClellan also referred to the Trent Canal, and the advantages it would be to Peterborough commercially.

Mr. Poussette inquired as to the legality of certain clauses of the by-law, which were afterwards explained by Ald. Roger. Mr. Poussette's contention was that we would be doing something for posterity, but what had posterity done for us?

The meeting adjourned after three cheers had been given for the King and three more for Mayor Deane.

GOUGH BROS.

MARK STREET, ASHBURNHAM.

The pastor, Rev. C. L. Thompson, occupied the pulpit at both services on Sunday. The services morning and evening, were well attended, and partook of a Christmas character.

In the morning the choir sang, "Glory to God in the Highest," by Lorenz, the solo being ably taken by Miss Hooper. During the offertory, Miss White of Lakefield, sang "The Christmas Story," by Pitt, with highly pleasing effect. Miss White's voice is singularly sweet and possessed of great range and power.

At the evening service the choir sang, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing," by Excell, and during the offertory Mr. Watson was heard in his usual good voice in the singing of the "Anthem Celestial," by Adams.

The Most-Talked-About Food.

No other subject concerning home health and economy is receiving such close and devoted attention as the subject of breakfast grain foods. DEATH OF D. W. DORAN.

A Former Resident of Emily Passes Away in Minnesota.

A Minnesota paper contains the following reference to the death and history of Mr. D. W. Doran, a former resident of Emily and brother of Mr. Martin Doran, Reeve of Ennismore:

This whole community sincerely mourned when the announcement was made Tuesday evening that Daniel W. Doran had suddenly died. Mr. Doran was enjoying his usual health up to within an hour of the time of his death. He was at Hotel Gladstone in the evening and about twenty minutes to 10 he felt sick, and started for his home in company with his son Charley. Upon reaching the livery barn, of which Mr. Doran was proprietor, he was compelled to enter the office because of his weakened condition. In less than ten minutes he breathed his last. Medical aid was summoned but before the doctors could arrive life was extinct. The remains were immediately removed to the family residence. High mass was celebrated for the dead at St. Joseph's Catholic church yesterday at 9 o'clock by Rev. Father Mackey, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon funeral services were also held at the church. The largest funeral procession ever witnessed in Grand Rapids followed the remains to their last resting place in Itasca cemetery. Every available vehicle in the village was utilized, while many were the disappointments because of the inability of friends of the deceased to secure rigs. Death resulted from heart failure.

D. W. Doran was one of the most loyal, enterprising and enthusiastic friends that Grand Rapids ever had. He was public-spirited and generous in everything that was calculated to advance the interest of the community in which he has resided since 1891. When coming to Grand Rapids ten years ago from Alkin he assumed charge of Hotel Pokegama which hostelry he conducted for nearly a year with marked success.

In 1902 he built the Hotel Gladstone, one of the finest hotels in the northwest, and personally conducted the same until April 1903, since which time he had been engaged in logging operations and in conducting a livery business. The deceased was 50 years of age, having been born in Peterborough county, Ont., in 1851. At the age of 19 he left his native country and came to the States, locating in Wisconsin. Twenty-nine years ago he married Catherine E. Allen, who survives him, together with thirteen children. Mr. Doran was a prominent Oddfellow and took an active part in the welfare of that benevolent order. No death that ever occurred in Grand Rapids has caused such general and sincere mourning as that so plainly shown for big-hearted, honest, generous Dan Doran. He was known to nearly every man, woman and child in the county, and enjoyed an extensive acquaintance throughout the state because of his prominence in politics as a leading Democrat. He served as mayor of Grand Rapids in 1896, and in the same year was the Democratic candidate for the legislature from this district. During the past seven years he had served as president of the Agricultural society, in which capacity he rendered valuable services to the material advancement of the county's agricultural interests. To the bereaved widow and children the heartfelt sympathy of all who knew them is most sincerely extended.

HIS CHRISTMAS PIPE.

A Wompah Solicitude and a Tobacco Dealer's Perfidy.

The bachelor had been invited to a Christmas dinner. His friend and his friend's pretty wife were just vying with each other in their efforts to dispel from his soul the gloom supposed to come to the man without a home upon this day above all others. They had wined him and dined him, and now that they were seated in the library facing the burning logs in the fireplace the hostess brought out the bachelor's Christmas present. It was a brierwood pipe, with a beautiful curved mouthpiece as transparent as glass.

"Now, I bought this myself," she explained sweetly, "and I told the pipe man that if you didn't like it after smoking it I was going to make him exchange it. You must try it now."

This the bachelor proceeded to do, thanking his hostess for her solicitude in picking out the pipe herself.

"I think the mouthpiece is such pretty, clear amber," she went on as she saw her guest stick it between his teeth and begin puffing away.

"Yes, it's remarkably pretty," he assented, but there was just a tinge of doubt in his tone.

The bachelor sat in his chair, with the mouthpiece between his teeth and two fingers of his left hand clasped about the stem, smoking very peacefully when there was a sudden blinding flash before his eyes, a fierce pain at the tip of his tongue and a cloud of camphor smelling smoke rising to the ceiling. The bowl of the pipe fell to the floor and the burning tobacco was spilled upon the carpet. The mouthpiece had vanished. The hostess screamed, the two men sprang to their feet.

"What happened?" cried the woman in alarm.

"Oh, nothing," explained her husband, "except that your beautiful amber mouthpiece is celluloid and has burned up."

Then he stamped out the burning tobacco and gazed ruefully at the big hole in the carpet.

"Oh," exclaimed the hostess to the bachelor as blushes came to her cheeks and tears to her eyes, "what can I say? That horrid pipe man! He promised so faithfully that he wouldn't swindle me."

The bachelor didn't know quite what to say himself. He had a hole in the end of his tongue, and this didn't help him any in choosing the right words, but he managed to stutter that he was sure it wasn't her fault and that all pipe men were born villains.

"Remember, my dear," remarked the husband, with a reminiscent smile, "that the good Lord never intended women to be good judges of cigars, tobacco or pipes."—New York Sun.

STEELE TAKES BOERS

Canadian Colonel Surprised a Laager and Captured 32.

ANOTHER CORPS OF BURGHERS.

A Fresh Wing to Operate in the Transvaal—Boer Leaders to Be Elected by the Boers Themselves—Recent Successes of Gen. Bruce Hamilton Aided by Crouje and Cellliers.

New York, Dec. 26.—The Daily News prints the following from London: A despatch from Cape Town says: The Boers yesterday celebrated Dingaan's Day at Kaffrkop. Gen. Dewet and ex-President Steyn addressed the people. It is reported that both urged a most strenuous revival of activity in the carrying out of the war.

Lord Kitchener reports several engagements antedating his recent reverses. His report reads:

"Monroe and Scobell, in the northern district, have reduced Fouche's and Myberg's commandoes to about 200 mounted men. Bentinck and Dorans have driven Kritzinger's remaining followers from the Camdoboo Mountains.

"Commandant Haasbrook was killed on Dec. 16, and his brother, a field cornet, was killed on Dec. 19.

"Methuen has captured 37 Boers.

"Col. Steele, on Dec. 18, surprised a laager west of Ramanskraal and took 32 prisoners, including Field Cornet Schooman.

"Colebrander has captured 62 Boers, including Commandant Adrian Nigel."

ANOTHER BURGHER CORPS.

A Fresh Wing to Operate in the Transvaal Colony.

Pretoria, Dec. 26.—The formation of a new burgher corps, to be known as National Scouts, has aroused great interest among the surrendered burghers. In view of the numerous meetings and applications, Gen. Lord Kitchener has authorized the creation of a fresh wing to operate in the northern and eastern Transvaal, under prominent Boer leaders, elected by the burghers themselves. It is stated that much of the recent success of the British is due to the co-operation of the Celliers' and Cronje's commands, acting under Gen. Bruce Hamilton.

Damant's Casualties Number 72.

London, Dec. 26.—The list of casualties of Col. Damant's engagement at Tafel Kop, Orange River Colony, Dec. 20, when the Boers, dressed as British yeomen, defended a kopje against Col. Damant's advance guard, is heavier than first reported by Lord Kitchener. It now appears that the British lost three officers and 20 men killed, and had five officers and 35 men wounded.

Captured Sixty Prisoners.

Pretoria, Dec. 26.—Lieut. Colenbrander's force surprised a Boer laager in the Pietersburg district, Dec. 22 and captured sixty prisoners.

Over 400 Accounted for.

London, Dec. 26.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Johannesburg, dated Monday, Dec. 23, reports the week's results as being 45 Boers killed, 26 wounded, 310 made prisoners, and 35 surrenders.

Asks Arbitration for Boers.

Topeka, Kas., Dec. 26.—Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon's large congregation on Tuesday night unanimously joined the pastor in petitioning Congress to declare for arbitration to stop the Boer war. Rev. Mr. Sheldon is a strong supporter of the Boer cause.

The Yeomanry Hospital.

London, Dec. 26.—Lady Howe has received a telegram from Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel C. R. Kilnelly, C.M.G., Grenadier Guards, informing her that the Imperial Yeomanry Hospital at Elandsfontein will be transferred to the authorities on Dec. 26, and that the medical officers, sisters, and other members of the staff will return to England by the first available transport.

THEY LEAVE TO-DAY.

Twenty-Five More Men Sworn in for the Third Contingent.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—Twenty-five men were sworn in Tuesday in the second draft for the third contingent to South Africa. Seven others passed the medical examination, and will be given the riding test this morning, when the remaining five will be chosen and sworn in. The thirty men will parade at the Armouries at 10 o'clock a.m., and again at 8 o'clock p. m., to-day, under the charge of Lieut. Brunton of the 12th York Rangers, will leave on the 10 o'clock p.m. express for Halifax.

Extra Men Chosen.

St. John's, N.B., Dec. 26.—The 10 extra men of St. John's quota for the South African force were selected yesterday. They left last night.

Prayer for Soldiers' Success.

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—At the Christmas union service of the congregation of Dominion and Eastern Methodist Churches, special prayer was offered for the success of British arms in South Africa and the welfare of Canadian soldiers in the field.

Paris-Pekin Train Service.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 26.—According to advices from Shanghai, the agent of the trans-Siberian Railway there announces that by May next the big railway will have a semi-weekly service between Paris and Pekin, and passengers will be able to get from Shanghai to London in three weeks.

Died From the Effects.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—James H. Moody, the carpenter, who was admitted to the Emergency Hospital at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, suffering from opium poisoning, died three hours later without regaining his senses. Coroner N. A. Powell decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Steel Teeth No Barrier.

London, Dec. 26.—The law hitherto in England, prohibiting men with false teeth from joining the regular army, has been repealed, so that men with those dental equipments can now shoulder their guns and fight for their country's cause.

Was Born in Montreal.

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 26.—Alfred S. Dewitt, U. S. Commissioner and City Clerk of Guthrie, died yesterday. He was a native of Montreal, Canada.

Died Aged 101.

Hobart, N. Y., Dec. 26.—Mrs. Rhoda Olmsted, the oldest resident of Central New York, died here yesterday aged 101 years.

TERRIBLE COLLISION

Express and Work Train Smash Into Each Other at Full Speed.

FOUR OF THE CREW KILLED

Engineer McDivit of North Bay Killed in This Awful Accident on the "Soo" Branch of the C.P.R.—Several Others Hurt—Collision Was Head-on, But Details Are Hard to Get.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 26.—The local express, which runs between the "Soo" and Webbwood, on the "Soo" branch of the C.P.R., leaving here at 5.02 p.m., collided with a work train which was returning from the east near Theesalon at 6.45 last evening. Full details of the wreck, which is one of the most terrible that ever happened in this district, are hard to obtain, but it is known that besides extensive damage done to both trains four men or more are killed, and up to a late hour last night their bodies had not been found. Engineer McDivit of the C.P.R. was on the work train, and the crew of that train, which it is believed contributed most to the killed, are from the Michigan "Soo." Of the crew of the local express there are Engineer M. Christopher, Fireman D. Miller and Conductor A. Gould, all of this town. Those three are said to have been injured seriously, as well as the baggageman. The local does not carry mail. The accident occurred a few miles east of Thessalon, which is forty-six miles from here. The news was taken to that point on foot, and immediately after its receipt here a special train was made up and went down at 9.30, taking doctors and the district coroner and a number of citizens who wished to assist at the scene of the accident. The names of the four killed could not be learned last night. The collision was head-on with both trains going full speed. An ambulance train will arrive at 8 a.m. with the injured. Fireman D. Miller of this city had his leg broken in three places. The crew on the work train were "Soo" linemen. Engineer McDivit, killed, was from North Bay, and had been engineer only a couple of months.

GIVEN UP FOR LOST.

Schooner With Crew of Seven and One Passenger Probably Foundered.

Gloucester, Mass., Dec. 26.—The schooner Eliza H. Parkhurst of this port has been given up for lost by her owners. She left the Bay of Islands, N.F., on Nov. 24, for this port, with a cargo of salt herring. It is believed she foundered during a gale. The crew numbered seven, all of whom, save the captain, John D. McKinnon, belonged in the provinces. Lawrence McDonald of this city, who has been in Newfoundland on business, took passage home on the schooner.

Advertising on Stilts.

Paris, Dec. 26.—The latest advertising dodge in Paris is that employed by a well-known biscuit manufacturer, who has hired and trained a brigade of canvassers to parade the streets of the city mounted on stilts.

The sight of several men perched on high stilts stalking in Indian file the principal thoroughfares, clothed in shaggy fur coats, and distributing bills detailing the virtues of So-and-so's biscuits created much amusement, and the enterprising tradesman who hit upon the novel idea should have no reason to regret his inspiration.

King Edward's Christmas.

London, Dec. 26.—Christmas in London was fairly fine, but the heavy snow returned in Scotland. The King and the Princess Victoria attended service in the morning at the Chapel Royal in St. James' Palace, and later dined quietly with the Duke and Duchess of Connaught at Clarence House. The Queen sent an enormous quantity of toys, with autograph cards to the children hospitals of London, and the Royal Family made generous gifts to other hospitals. King Edward sent contributions to the dinners of all regiments of the Household troops.

Three Burned to Death.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 26.—The stern wheel steamer Sun, plying between this port and Fulton, Tenn., burned to the water's edge at 5 o'clock yesterday at her moorings at the wharf on the city front. The boat arrived from Fulton about midnight Tuesday night, with 15 passengers, all of whom were asleep on board when the fire broke out. Of these, three are known to be lost.

Sable Island Prisoner Released.

Halifax, Dec. 26.—The Government steamer Alfredon returned to Halifax last night from Sable Island bringing Mrs. Parsons, the wife of the agent of Marine and Fisheries at Halifax, who has been a prisoner on the island for seven weeks.

Rumored Suicide.

Edmonton, N.W.T., Dec. 26.—It was reported last night that Mr. A. McDonald, accountant in D. R. Fraser's lumber mill, has committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver.

Pugh Is Guilty.

Barrie, Dec. 26.—Tuesday Judge Ardagh gave a verdict of guilty in the case of Frank Pugh, who was charged with shooting to do grievous bodily injury. Pugh attempted to shoot Mrs. Reed of Arditrea on Dec. 1 because of her refusal to become his wife. The sentence was reserved until the 28th inst.

A TEMPORARY TRUCE

The New Protocol Between Chili and Argentina Signed.

NEWS OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED

Both Countries, However, Still Continue Their Warlike Preparations—Chili to Spend Fifteen Millions in Railways—Argentina to Order Two New Warships to Be Built in Italy.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 26.—The new protocol between Chili and Argentina has been signed.

The newspapers say the new protocol between Chili and Argentina dispels the immediate danger of war, but that the remedy is not permanent. The armies of the two countries in the meantime are continuing their warlike preparations. Chili has decided upon the erection of new fortifications at Talcahuano and Punta Arenas.

At a recent session of the Chilian Senate yesterday the Government demanded authority for the expenditure of $15,000,000 in preparations for defence. The sitting was an exciting one, but it was finally decided to authorize the floating of a loan for the purpose.

According to The Diario and The Commercio, Argentina, for her part, in view of the new naval aquisition by Chili has decided upon the construction of two warships of 8,000 tons in Italy to be ready by the end of 1902.

A despatch from Santiago de Chili says that Prime Minister Tocornal, in replying to an interpellation in the Chamber of Deputies, said that the statement that a new agreement between Argentina and Chili had already been signed was premature, but that a communication had been forwarded.

KING HONORS EGAN.

Saver of Twenty-Three Lives Was Born in Toronto, Canada.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—Arthur Egan, the 17-year-old hero of 23 life-saving exploits in Lake Michigan, has been decorated by Edward VII., King of England, for his heroism. Yesterday young Egan was notified by Consul Wyndham of the local British consulate that a gold medal of the Royal Humane Society, bestowed by King Edward, in recognition of the daring of a British subject, awaited him. Egan is the first resident of the United States to receive such honor. He is a British subject, by reason of his birth in Toronto, Ont.

The Irony of Fate.

New York, Dec. 26.—After climbing some of the tallest steeples and chimneys in the United States, "Steeple Jack" Roberts lies at his home, No. 102 Erie street, Jersey City, helpless from a fall of 12 feet. He has injured his spine, and his physicians fear he will never walk again. While repairing the top of a waggon, a few days ago, he fell to the ground. Roberts feels humiliated. He has stood on the top of a 300-foot chimney, and has looked down from the weather vane of a church steeple, and has been safe. To fall only 12 feet and be injured is the irony of fate.

Bull Charges Automobile.

Geneva, N.Y., Dec. 26.—A bull charged the automobile occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Brayton of Cleveland, O., who were on their way to New York, while they were making the run between Lyons and Palmyra. The bull stood by a farm gate and watched the automobile as it approached. He lowered his head as it came up and ran full tilt into the machine. Mr. Brayton put on full speed, and tumbled the bull over. The animal regained his feet, but he did not overtake it. Mr. Brayton thinks he followed them about a mile.

Suicide in Italy.

London, Dec. 26.—The Daily Mail learns from its Rome correspondent that Mr. Henry Eagle Shaw, an American, committed suicide yesterday in his bedroom in the Hotel Washington, in Florence, by cutting his throat with a knife. The manager of the hotel says he was a millionaire. He was 40 years old. The reason for his act is unknown.

Canadian Created an Impression.

Buffalo, Dec. 26.—A festival mass, the music by Charles A. E. Harriss, a Canadian composer, created a profound impression here upon its initial production under the composer's direction at the midnight service Christmas eve, held at the Church of the Holy Angels in the presence of a vast concourse of people.

Will Advise Chinese.

Victoria, B.C., Dec. 26.—The steamer Brasmer, which arrived last night from the Orient, brings news that the Chinese court has decided to engage an American adviser. The name of the official is not given by the Oriental papers, but the Chinese press states that the salary is to be $15,000 a year.

A Million Dollar Fire.

Mexico City, Dec. 26.—Word reached here from Merida, Yucatan, that a great fire has been raging at Progresso. Some 10,000 bales of henequin were exposed to the flames, and it is believed much of it has been destroyed. The loss is estimated at a million dollars.

Schwab Will Go to Europe.

New York, Dec. 26. — Charles Schwab, president of the Steel Trust, will sail for Europe on La Savoie of the French Line. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Schwab, and plans to remain abroad for two months.

THE CHEESE INDUSTRY.

A Review of the Season's Canadian Business.

Decreased Consumptive Demand in England Causes Lower Prices.

The cheese market this season has certainly been of a most peculiar character, and various powerful influences have co-operated to make it so. In the first place prices all along have ruled considerably below those of the preceding year, and this condition was all the more curious in view of the fact that exports from the North American continent from week to week, since the opening of the manufacturing season, have shown an average decrease of over 11 per cent.. The difference in value has ranged all the way from 1-2c. up to 2c. per pound, the most striking decline this year, compared with last, being recorded during the months of August, September and October. On the whole, therefore, farmers this season have had to be content with $1.00 per box less than last year, and as a result of it their aggregate return from cheese this season has fallen off fully $4,000,000. Decreased consumption of cheese in Britain has been unquestionably the chief influence in bringing this about, for in no other way can the remarkable stagnation in the trade be accounted for. Such, in fact, was the actual decrease in the sales of cheese on the other side that several London importing firms had to succumb to the inevitable, and their goods were forced on the market causing the acute decline witnessed during August, September and October. In London, also, the system of distributing the receipts of cheese is different to what it is at other British centres. The goods there have still to pass through the hands of both an importer and a receiver. At Bristol, Liverpool, Glasgow, etc., the receiver has been wiped out of the business, as he has also in Montreal, the exporter, on this side and the importer in England being the sole handlers of the goods between the Canadian factoryman and the British retailer. Another strong depressing influence this season has been the attitude of the latter towards cheese. For the past two years, owing to the high cost, the British retailer had little margin on cheese, and, therefore, did not push it, leading to its being placed in the background, as to speak, as the big department stores did not make it a leader either. As a result of this indifference, prices have sagged from time to time, because the firms who usually bought and put goods into cold store, were also very cautious this season owing to the heavy losses they incurred during the preceding two years. Taking the situation as it now stands, therefore, the question is whether present prices are low enough to bring on consumption. Basing an opinion on precedent, they should be, as at their present level they permit of a six-penny retail cut, which has at the past always induced the retailer in England to push cheese as an article of consumption. There is of course, apart from this the broad question of whether the Canadian dairymen should not go in more for butter than cheese, and if the experience of the past season is a criterion, he certainly should do so, for the latter has been much more profitable than cheese. This aspect of the question, however, will be treated later on when the butter season is discussed.

In the country the conditions opened with climatic conditions greatly in favour of the greatness, the month of May being generally admitted to be two weeks ahead of the previous spring, and for this reason the output of May compensated to a considerable extent for the reduced production of undesirable April fodder cheese. During the latter part of May white cheese was at a premium, and the colour retained its position until well on into July, commanding 1-4 to 3-8c per pound more than coloured goods. During this month also another curious circumstance was noted, viz., that buyers scoured the country for new goods, while, strange to say, a large proportion of the old make had to be shipped out on consignment. Towards the middle of May also the volume of the output was undoubtedly in excess of that for the corresponding period in 1900 as the pastures were in excellent condition. At the same time the inducements to make cheese last spring were not as great as they were the previous one, 8 1-2c being the rule against 10c the previous year, while the strength of the butter market and the advance in its price tended to prevent factories working on butter in May from shifting on to cheese. Another influence that contributed to keep down the price at this time was the discretion used by holders in Great Britain in working off their old stocks. They took care not to offer in too large quantities at a time lest buyers should find out their approximate dimensions, and so check the current consumptive demand. In fact, had it not been for these held over supplies it is quite likely that values would have averaged 5s higher per cwt. for the new spring and early summer make arriving in England from Canada.

After varying but slightly during May and June, the market developed more strength towards the end of the month, prices advancing to 1-4 to 3-4c. The shortage of about 250,000 in our exports at this time had a good deal to do with the result, and the more remunerative prices obtained had one very good effect in that it led factorymen to sell the make close up, without trying to hoist prices to a pitch that interefered with the demand. After the opening of July, however, this desirable condition of affairs was interrupted by active speculative operations, and sales of new cheese were made at 41s to 42s c.i.f., at U. K. ports, which cost the sellers in some cases 42s to 42s to fill. Naturally the filling of these short sales put prices above the legitimate export basis.

July, however, as a saving influence against the injurious effect of the short sales, it was established unquestionably that the make, which was good earlier, had fallen off materially in volume while advices at the same time made it clear that the English make was behind also. Indeed, it now became certain that the output of Canadian cheese would be behind last season's make, even if there were a big October and November production, which it has since transpired there was not.

The long spell of hot and dry weather during July caused a remarkable shrinkage in the flow of the milk, yet despite this circumstance values remained stolid and immovable. Last year's disastrous wind-up was a potent influence with other causes in this connection. With their disagreeable experience fresh in their memory, English buyers did not run up prices as they did the previous year. This attitude was all the more striking because during August it became well known that production in England could not possibly catch up with this shortage. August passed by without any snap being shown in the demand despite the fact that values were generally considered reasonable. Another factor, however, that acted as a deterrent at this time was the quantity of heated cheese arriving in England at this time. Little change was shown in the market until the end of September, when a momentary firmness supervened and prices touched 10c. It did not last, however, and by the first week of October, buyers resumed their indifferent attitude. The market, in fact, had ruled in their favour all along so well that they were encouraged to pursue their holding off tactics, with a pertinacity that nothing could waver. At the same time it was unquestionable that if prices were above a legitimate basis last fall they were away below it this. Of course this policy meant that both importers and retailers on the other side were carrying very light stocks, and it remains to be seen whether they will find the same policy of caution and indifference profitable to follow throughout the remainder of the current season. Recent advices from England are calculated to create a doubt in this respect, as they say that stocks are found to be lighter than estimated. Possibly this accounts for the improved enquiry noted lately. In any event, holders here believe that cheese is a good property, with the light fall make in view, and profess to be reasonably certain of realising much better prices after the turn of the year.

During the year numerous complaints were received of the defective quality of Canadian cheese of 1900 compared with the high standard reached in previous years. As already noted, a great mistake was made last year of trying to make a soft, meaty cheese, by leaving too much whey in the curd, causing the cheese to turn rancid and bad flavoured, besides making a serious loss in weight. This no doubt accounted for the many complaints of short weight by English firms during the season. Factorymen must bear in mind that whey soaked curds will never produce silky, close cutting, clear flavoured cheese, which is wanted by English consumers. Factorymen should also use stronger and better boxes, and discontinue making 90-lb. cheese, which are too large and strongly objected to in all parts of England. An average weight of 80-lbs. is far preferable, with the weight neatly stencilled on the box. Factorymen must stop pencilling the weights on boxes, which often arrive in a broken and dirty condition, causing the pencil marks to become erased indistinguishable. A stencil costs only 25c., so there can be no excuse for not stencilling the weights on boxes. Factorymen should also see that in carting both cheese and butter from the factories to shipping points, tarpaulins should be used in order to keep out the moisture in wet weather, and the dust off in dry weather. It will pay to have the goods arrive on the other side as attractive as possible. Bitter complaints have also been made by English buyers respecting cheese being shipped in too young and green condition from factories, and if such practice be not discontinued it will surely lead to trouble and a loss of that reputation which it has taken years to build up. If factorymen would study their best interests they will see in future that no cheese leave the factories until they are fifteen days old, as the cheese is not properly cured before that time.

Cured—32 Years of Awful Pile Agony.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 15, 1901.
"For 32 years I suffered constantly from protruding piles and finally had to abandon my trade of stone-mason. Four months ago I began using Pyramid Pile Cure, and before I had used up one 50c. box the disease had entirely disappeared and there is no sign of its ever returning. I am completely cured. F. Capps, 718 N. Minnesota Ave." Sold by all druggists, 50c. a box. Book, "Piles Causes and Cure," mailed free. Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

These pills cure all diseases and disorders arising from weak heart, worn out nerves or watery blood, such as Palpitation, Skip Beats, Throbbing, Smothering, Dizziness, Weak or Faint Spells, Anaemia, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Brain Fag, General Debility and Lack of Vitality.

They are a true heart tonic, nerve food and blood enricher, building up and renewing all the worn out and wasted tissues of the body and restoring perfect health. Price 50c. a box, or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists.

IT IS IMPORTANT

To Know What You are Taking When Using Catarrh Medicines.

Catarrh is the short route to consumption, and the importance of early and judicious treatment of Catarrh, whether located in the head, throat or bronchial tubes, cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The list of catarrh cures is as long as the moral law and the forms in which they are administered, numerous and confusing, from sprays, inhalers, washes, ointments, and salves to powders liquids and tablets.

The tablet form is undoubtedly the most convenient and the most effective, but with nearly all advertised catarrh remedies it is almost entirely a matter of guess work as to what you are taking into your system, as the proprietors, while making all sorts of claims as to what their medicines will do, always keep it a close secret as to what they are.

The success and popularity of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, is largely because it not only cures catarrh but because catarrh sufferers who use these tablets know what they are taking into their systems. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, are composed of Red Gum, Blood Root and similar valuable and antiseptic ingredients, and are pleasant to the taste and being dissolved in the mouth they take immediate effect upon the mucous lining of the throat, nasal passages and whole respiratory tract.

The cures that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have accomplished in old chronic cases of catarrh are little short of remarkable, and the advantage of knowing what you are putting into your stomach is of paramount importance when it is remembered that the cocaine or morphine habit has been frequently contracted as the result of using secret catarrh remedies.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets meet with cordial approval from physicians, because their antiseptic character render them perfectly safe for the general public to use and their composition makes them a common sense cure for all forms of catarrhal troubles.

All druggists sell them at 50 cts. for full sized packages.

FRANK RICH SHOT.

Toronto Man Got a Rather Warm Christmas Present From a Near-by Neighbor—Feud Was Long-Standing.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—A shooting affair occurred Christmas afternoon at 1578 West Bloor street, the house of Robert Turan, the victim being Frank Rich, residing at No. 1562 on the same street. Rich is now in St. Michael's Hospital, and an effort will be made to-day to extract the bullet, which entered the right leg just above the knee. Turan claims the shooting was done in self-defence. About three months ago Turan had Rich bound over to keep the peace, and, yesterday afternoon, while the two men were in the Plaza Hotel, the old trouble was discussed, culminating, it is said, in Rich threatening to kill Turan. Turan, who was let out of the rear door of the hotel by the proprietor to avoid further trouble, went to his home, followed by Rich and his chum, Frank McNamara, 1384 West Bloor street. Rich went right into Turan's house, and followed him to the stairway. Turan fired one shot in the air and expected to frighten Rich, but the shot did not prevent the latter from following him. Another shot was fired, which struck Rich in the leg. The wounded man limped home, and Turan was subsequently arrested. Turan will appear in court this morning.

ORDINARY BREAKFAST FOODS ARE FLAT AND LACK TASTE.

Malt Breakfast Food is Delicious and Appetizing.

Some of the common objections to oatmeal and other grain foods are, that they are flat and lack taste and flavour. Malt Breakfast Food is the acme of deliciousness; its flavour captivates all who use it. Malt Breakfast Food is predigested, therefore requires little digestive effort. It is the only grain food that agrees with invalids and convalescents; it is the kind that keeps well people healthy and strong. Ask your grocer about it.

MILES AND DEWEY SNUBBED.

President Roosevelt Will Not Send Either of Them to Coronation.

Washington, Dec. 26.—The Washington Post yesterday says: "Neither Admiral Dewey nor Lieut.-General Miles will represent this Government at the coronation of King Edward VII.

"While it cannot yet be stated who will be selected for this honorary mission, it is positively known that the President will not designate the highest officers of the navy and the army. The original program was to send Admiral Dewey in the Olympia, the ship he commanded at the battle of Manila Bay, but the Kearsarge has now been chosen to take its place.

"The assignment of Gen. Miles was not considered so certain, but it was understood that if the highest officer of the navy represented that branch of the Government, no subordinate would be sent from the army.

"It is an open secret in official circles that Admiral Dewey's ambition is not to be realized, because he went out of his way to commend Admiral Schley, while Gen. Miles is in the same position."

Coronation Naval Review.

London, Dec. 26.—The Standard hears that an important feature of the coronation ceremonies will be a naval review at Spithead on an unprecedently large scale, to which foreign warships will be invited.

Over 30,000.

More than 30,000 invalids have taken Merrill's System Tonic, and the result has proven that this wonderful new medicine is not a doubtful compound, but one which always affects a radical cure of stomach, nerve, liver and kidney troubles. The 50c. bottles last three weeks. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

Firemen Hurt at Duty.

Rochester, Dec. 26.—A disastrous fire in J. S. Graham Machine Company's large factory on Lyell avenue, destroyed the plant, covering a large area, entailing a loss roughly estimated at $100,000. At 4.45 the machinery in the upper floors of the main building fell, crushing out the west wall. Men of Hose No. 4 were working close to the building, and although they ran for their lives as soon as they heard the noise of the falling machinery, three of them were caught and more or less severely injured.

William Deering Retires.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—William Deering has retired from the harvester company, which he founded, leaving his sons, Charles and James, and his son-in-law, Richard F. Howe, to manage the business. A desire to rest after 50 years of active business life, and failing health, led to his retirement. Mr. Deering established the Deering Harvester Co. at Deering, now a part of Chicago, in 1879.

New Irish Land Bill.

London, Dec. 26.—The Daily News gives it as a rumor that the Government is preparing an Irish land bill, providing an equivalent to compulsory purchase. It is believed that the measure provides that the tenant may buy at 17 and the landlord sell as 20 years' purchase, the state providing the payment of the three years' difference.

Pawnee Indians on Warpath.

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 26.—The Pawnee Indians are on the warpath. The whites in the remote parts of the reservation are coming to Pawnee and they report the Indians are acting threateningly towards them. The U.S. Indian agent at that point has been notified and has made a report to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Washington.

NO USE FOR THE CACTUS.

After Seeing His Friend Lashed to One by Apaches and Tortured.

"No, I can't say that I have any admiration for that sort of plant, however fine a specimen it is," said an Arizona man as he passed a casual glance at a giant cactus in the lobby of a hotel. "I have seen altogether too many of them, and there is a circumstance that is often recalled by seeing them that I had rather forget." The Arizonian hesitated and would have passed on, away from the curiously formed plant, had he not been asked to tell what was this circumstance which seemed to deeply affect him. He began:

"I have lived in Arizona a great many years. In fact, I am one of the pioneers of the territory. When I went there in 1865, there were few white people, but no end of Indians. The Indians were not all friendly. It was a year or so after coming to the territory that, with a small party of prospectors, I was crossing the great Arizona desert from Phenix to where is now the King of Arizona mine. We were all provided with food and water and were making the trip over the hot sands and under a scorching sun with as much comfort as was possible until we were overtaken by a straggling band of Indians. I think they were Jicarillas.

"There was nothing to do but to make a run for it, and we gave them a hard race for five hours until Archie Hazzard, one of the party, fell behind and was taken. Then we turned and made a fight, but it was no use. The Indians made off with their prisoner, a part of them keeping us off from those that had him in charge. We followed until night, when the Indians made a halt, and there, before our eyes, they stripped Hazzard of his clothes and lashed him to a big cactus.

"Such suffering! They raised him just far enough above the ground that his whole weight fell on the sharp needles of the plant, thousands of them piercing his flesh. While half of the Indians held us away the others danced about our suffering partner. There were only four of us and about twenty Indians, but we succeeded in driving them off after a fight that lasted until near midnight.

"When we reached Hazzard, he was nearly dead from the loss of blood and the terrible agony that he suffered. We got him back to Phenix, but he died in a few days.

"I have been caught in the desert and have been saved from dying of thirst by drinking water that is contained in the cactus, but I never can feel any gratitude to the plant after that first experience. And I never can tolerate an Indian."

What is Life to You?

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

Didn't Appreciate Uncut Edges.

A letter was received by a firm of eastern publishers the other day from a prominent New England physician who had just examined a subscriptio scription set of Mark Twain's books. These books have uncut edges — the uncut edges being a feature which is is difficult to get the average man to appreciate. Thereby hangs this correspondent's tale of woe:

Gentlemen,—You do not find enclosed the payment you are expecting, but you are no more disappointed than we were when we opened our package of books, for instead of finding what we bought—viz., a set of nice finished books — we find books with edges (all except the top edge) which looked as though they had been chewed off by rats instead of being cut smooth, only they were not chewed deep enough. There were left innumerable leaves still unchewed which the reader must disconnect ere he could pursue his narrative.

A Bisexual Pronoun.

A correspondent comes forward to fill a few of the gaps in the English language, says The London Chronicle. He notes the awkwardness caused by the lack of a bisexual pronoun to cover "him" and "her" and the rest. Well, the word "Eurasian," made up of Europe and Asia, gives the clew. Why not commingle "he" and "she" and make "heesh?" And "himmer" is the obvious resultant of "him" and "her," while "his" and "her" precipitate into "hisser." What do you think of this sentence, which illustrates the new English: "A writer is annoyed when heesh finds hisser work treated as public property, rather than hissers, and instead of being credited to himmer is pirated by papers by which heesh is not remunerated."

TO STUDY MEDICINE

EAST INDIAN PRINCESS GOES TO CHICAGO FOR THAT PURPOSE.

Princess Sophie Dhuleep Singh, Daughter of the Maharajah of That Name and Granddaughter of the Famous "Lion of the Punjab," Resolves to Study for the Benefit of Her People.

Princess Sophie Dhuleep Singh, daughter of the Maharajah Dhuleep Singh, and granddaughter of the famous "Lion of the Panjab," is a student in bacteriology at the Northwestern University Medical College, Chicago, Ill. She is fitting herself to become a practicing physician, and then she intends to return to India, where doctors and their work are as precious as the waters that fall upon the Gola Naddi, or those in the bed of the mighty Satlej.

The Princess is lovely in features, an olive-skinned beauty, high-spirited, reserved, well bred.

The Princess is strong in form, well lined, a finely poised head, deep-lighted eyes, a sensitive mouth. She dresses in the height of fashion, and has as constant street companions her English maid, an English Great

PRINCESS SOPHIE DHULEEP SINGH.

Dane dog, and a Russian setter. Her manner in public is unassuming and retiring. "I shall study medicine four years," she says, "and then return to India to practice medicine."

In India there is the land of the Panjab, or, as the word signifies, "of the Five Rivers." It is the land of the Jats, Sikhs, the Awans and Gakkars, of Hindus and Afghans. In the northwest at Peshawar is the bulwork of the English Empire of India. The fortress of Bala-hissar looks over the plain, and English guns man it. Beyond is the shadow of Russia.

Coming away from where war constantly threatens, Lahore, or Lohawar, is reached, and it is the capital of the Panjab. If you know ancient history you will remember the time the Ghaznevide sovereigns had there, it is in Lahore that the story of the maharajahs begins, and the life history of this Princess Sophie, now a part of the western world. The Sikh rajahs built their great palace in Lahore, and thanks to the enlightened spirit of the Sikh inhabitants, Lahore has become the centre of letters and learning for the whole of northern India.

In this land of 110,00 square miles there are more than 20,000,000 people, and it is to these that the Princess Sophie is to return some day with the message of healing. They are a great people, with an extraordinary history, too long to be told here. But out of them within the century came a maharajah or ruler, Runjeet Singh, who so much resented the English rule and the advance of white men over sacred ground that he fought and fought until his name was known the world over as that of the "Lion of Panjab."

After him came a Maharajah of Lahore, who also fought the English in 1845 and again in 1848, and he was Dhuleep Singh. The maharajah called "the lion" was the grandfather of this young woman, and the second maharajah who gave England bloody war twice was her father.

Maharajah Dhuleep Singh of Lahore wavered all his days between allegiance to England and regard for Russia. After England annexed the Panjab in 1848, and the settlement on him of an annual allowance of $200,000, he was not content to let well enough alone, and he made trouble until the day of his death.

MAHARAJAH DHULEEP SINGH.

Dhuleep Singh, on his way to England after the loss of his empire, lingered in Egypt, and at Cairo met the daughter of a German missionary, Miss Bamba Muller. Her mother was a native Copt, as the Christian natives of Egypt are called, and she was a woman of intelligence. She and Dhuleep were married by Christain rites, and immediately left for England, where to all appearances the late maharajah became a Surrey squire.

Three children were born to him by this marriage—Prince Victor, the Princess Sophie and the Princess Bamba, the latter named after the mother. All three are still living, Prince Victor having married in 1898 the Lady Ann Coventry of England, and the Princess Sophie, having been one of the bridesmaids at the wedding.

The maharajah renounced England and Christianity, and renounced his Christian wife, 1886, who shortly afterwards died. He married a second time, a Parisian woman, who survived him. He attempted to raise up a European party to assist him to the maharajahship once more, and, failing, and being financially embarrassed, he sought pardon of Queen Victoria and the English Government. His former allowance was restored, and he lived upon it in Paris until his death in 1893. The story of his life is that of a hundred others where the oriental mind and oriental will has come in contact with those of the West. If hearts were broken, it minded little so long as Governments triumphed.

His son, Prince Victor, and brother of the Princess Sophie, is quite popular. He receives $40,000 a year from the English Government. He has served in the English army as subaltern of a cavalry regiment in England and then on the staff of the commander-in-chief in Canada.

There will be no more maharajahs in Lahore. The old order of things has passed.

NO JOY IN THIS FAMILY.

Illness of the Head of the House Makes the Festive Season a Very Sad One.

The Dyspeptic is generally very cross and irritable. It is impossible to be happy or to make others happy when distressed and worried by the pains of indigestion. The Dyspeptic's family is seldom a happy one, for when the one who should lead the others in all merry making is nursing a pain which racks his body and irritates his brain, it is very difficult to get up much enthusiasm.

And there is no reason why this should not be forever banished, and at once, for Dyspepsia can be presently relieved and permanently cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many who have been cured of Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and Bloating by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have given their testimony. This evidence multiplies as time goes on.

At Milford, Ont., lives Mr. A. D. Miller, who for years suffered untold pain through Dyspepsia. His physician treated him for Liver Complaint, but he grew worse. He would bloat up terribly after eating; his appetite was capricious, sometimes couldn't eat at all, at other times ravenously hungry; his heart suffered also, palpitation being so bad that he could not sleep at night. He was so run down that he was hardly able to get around.

He commenced a treatment of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and soon began to improve. He says:

"After using two boxes I was well and felt like a new man, and I have had good health ever since."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have changed many a miserable victim of stomach troubles into a healthy happy man or woman, and the best of all is that once cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets means permanently cured.

A BURSTING BOILER.

How It Looks When a Locomotive Is Blown Up.

"I am one of the very few persons who ever saw a locomotive blow up," remarked an old railroad man to a reporter the other day. "Generally the men who witness the explosion of a steam engine are so dead when the smoke has cleared away that they are never able to give an account of the disaster.

"Like many other accidents, the one I saw was the result of carelessness—low water in the boiler—for the engine had just come from the shops and was in complete repair. It was on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in West Virginia a number of years ago. I was on a locomotive some distance behind the one which exploded and was looking ahead out of the cab window, so that the ill fated engine was immediately before my eyes. Suddenly I saw the machine rise in the air. It seemed to me to be about as high as the telegraph poles beside the track, which, as you doubtless know, are not so high as telegraph poles in the city. Then came a cloud of dense black smoke and dust, which hid the engine from view, and almost simultaneously I heard the roar of the explosion.

"Both the engineer and the fireman were killed, and the locomotive was fit for nothing much but the scrap heap when it fell to the ground. The crown sheet over the firebox had blown out.

"The strange thing about the explosion was that no white steam was seen. You know that perfectly dry steam is invisible, being like the air, and before it had time to condense it was probably smothered by the cloud of smoke and dust raised by the bursting of the boiler."

PREPARED CHALK.

How to Prepare an Effective and Economical Dentifrice.

Practically all the tooth powders of commerce have the same base—prepared chalk. This is mixed with some saponaceous compound, flavored a little, put up in an attractive bottle or jar and, behold, a tooth powder costing from 15 to 50 cents per vessel, according to the place you buy it and the celebrity of the name on the label.

For 15 cents enough tooth powder to last a family a year can be put together. Buy the chalk in bulk and with it some ground castile soap, which all druggists sell. Put them together in the proportion of one-eighth soap to seven-eighths chalk, mix well and fill any and all the empty tooth powder jars or bottles that you may have around. If flavoring is liked, it is easy to add a little wintergreen or peppermint.

So with the various antiseptic and disinfecting solutions that, attractively bottled and judiciously advertised, cost pennies unnecessarily out of our purses. There is no better cleanser and general sweetener than a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda. Fill a pint or a quart bottle, if you want to, with clear water and add bicarbonate of soda got from the druggist, not the grocer, until the liquid will take up no more. Keep this on your toilet shelf and use it as a mouth wash, etc.

When it comes to an antiseptic fluid, any surgeon will tell you that there is practically nothing in materia medica better than salt and water. It is always at hand and is safe and effectual.

An Ample and Sweet Revenge.

A young Englishman who had been repeatedly and unnecessarily annoyed by the St. Malo custom house officials made up his mind to get even with them. The last time he had crossed he had brought a ferret over with him, and a minute or so before landing he transferred the creature to a black bag, which he carried with extreme care and an evident desire not to attract attention. This immediately fetched one of the douaniers, and he swooped down on it with joyful alacrity.

Our young Englishman pretended not to understand the official until the Frenchman made his meaning clear by unmistakable signs. Then he slowly and reluctantly unlocked the bag. The douanier plunged in his hand, and—but my pen (let me put it down to my pen) refuses to adequately describe the dramatic scene that ensued. Suffice it to say that the bare recital of it was balm to my wounded spirit. I only hope it was our friend at the custom house who made the ferret's acquaintance. Revenge is sweet

What Two Scotchmen Did.

In the early days of California two Scotchmen emigrated thither. One of them, an enthusiastic lover of Scotland, took with him a thistle, the national emblem. The other took a small swarm of honeybees. Years have gone. The Pacific coast is, on the one hand, cursed with the Scotch thistle, which the farmers find impossible to exterminate; on the other hand, the forests and fields are laden with the sweetness of honey, which has been and still is one of the blessings of the western slope of the Rocky mountains.

Mr. Fair, Too.

Mr. Robert Fair of the Golden Lion was on Christmas Eve presented with a handsome little gift by the gentlemen salesmen of the establishment. Mr. Fair was made the recipient of a beautiful briar pipe and case, and a tobacco jar of the precious weed. Mr. Fair acknowledged the receipt of the same in his usual affable manner. The little incident only demonstrated the appreciation of Mr. Fair's popularity with the staff.

A Quiet Wedding.

At St. Andrew's manse, Christmas morning, Mr. Donald Menzies, chief salesman in McWinnie's shoe store, and Miss Jennie McBain, daughter of the late William McBain, for some time a member of the town council, were united in the bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Jas. G. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Menzies left on the 11.40 G.T.R. express for Guelph and points west. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Menzies will take up residence on King street, corner of Stewart.

Was Known Here.

Mr. D. Belleghem yesterday received a telegram from Mr. Joseph Crane, of Rochester, informing him of the demise of Dr. R. Saulter, of that city. Dr. Saulter was well-known to many persons in Peterborough, having visited the back lakes quite frequently. He was a prominent Mason and was known particularly well in Masonic circles. His friends in Peterborough will regret exceedingly to learn of his demise. His interment takes place to-day.

Acknowledgement.

Mr. Joseph Cranfield wishes publicly to render thanks to those who assisted in the cordial farewell send-off given to his son, Bugler Bert. Cranfield, with other members of the Canadian Mounted Rifles at the National Hotel on Tuesday night. His thanks include the fellow members of the Bugle Band, fellow employees of the Canadian General Electric Company and especially the officers of the 57th, who presented Bugler Cranfield, and Bugler Leo Connors with, each, a purse of $25.

The Port Hope Knitting Works are showing a splendid range of ladies' knitted underwear. In 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00 vests and drawers, it is acknowledged they hold the record.

Draccenias, carnations, chrysanthemums, mignonette, lillies, roses, gerseniums, etc. Just to hand, Japanese fern balls, direct from Japan. The stock is beautifully fresh, nothing to beat it in town, either in price or excellence. Open till 10 o'clock every night. 'Phone, 132.

A PRESENTATION.

The Employees of Mr. Adam Hall, Very Kindly Remembered Him at Christmas.

The employees of Mr. Adam Hall, on Christmas Eve, remembered him in a very handsome manner by presenting him with an address and a beautiful otter cap. It was only an evidence of the respect and kindly manner in which Mr. Hall is held by his employees. The address was read by Mr. W. P. Adamson, and the presentation was made by Mr. W. R. Turner. The address was as follows:—

Dear Mr. Hall, — We, your employees, in apreciation of your many kindnesses to us, ask you to accept this small gift from us, combined with our best wishes towards you, including the compliments of the season.

J. Dixon, E. A. Kemp, W. P. Adamson, C. W. Vanzant, W. R. Turner, A. McCallum, A. Gillespie, W. Revoy, L. Doris, G. Hall, W. T. Hall, J. Gunn, J. Anderson, R. Jones, B. Thornton, A. C. Robertson, W. Kemp, J. Logan A. J. Kemp, P. Heffernan, Geo. Adamson, John Grisdale, Llewellyn Hall, Fred Boundy.

Mr. Hall made a brief reply, in which he thanked the men very sincerely for their kind expressions towards him, and he assured them that he would look back with pleasure to the occasion on which he received it.

WITH YELLOW METAL

Was Mrs. Mein Remembered by her Friends in St. Paul's Church.

Amongst those who were handsomely remembered by their friends on Christmas Day, was Mrs. Robert Mein. Mrs. Mein has been a member of St. Paul's choir for the past twenty one years, and has not only rendered the church valuable assistance in the capacity of one of the leading soloists of the choir, but she has assisted in church work in many other ways. Yesterday she was made the recipient of five ten dollar gold pieces in recognition of her faithful services. The gift was from the members of the choir and from Mrs. Mein's friends in the congregation, who at the same time expressed to her their sympathy in the loss Mr. and Mrs. Mein had sustained by fire quite recently. Mrs. Mein desires to express to her friends her appreciation of their kind remembrance of her on Christmas Day in the handsome manner above stated.

MR. WILSON'S CHRISTMAS BOX.

What He Found on His Breakfast Table Yesterday Morning.

The pastor of the George street Methodist church had on Christmas morning new evidence of the fact that he holds the hearts of his people. On his breakfast table he found an envelope, and on opening it found "A Christmas Box," and a kindly note from the unknown donors in these words:

To Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., Greeting:—

A number of your loving people greet you this glad Christmas morning and pray you to accept from them the enclosed $100.00 as their Christmas Box, garnished, as it is, with their sincere wishes that you and yours may realize a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace, good will among men."

CHRISTMAS CHURCH CHIMES.

Religious Observance of the Great Festival.

BRIGHT HEARTY SERVICES

Largely Attended in Five of Our Town Churches.

Yesterday there was, in several churches, a celebration of the great cardinal festival of Christmas upon which hinges the redemption and Christian civilization of the world. Never in the memory of that time-honoured stand-by, the oldest inhabitant, was there ever a more bright cheery, frostily sunny and generally more perfect Christmas Day in Canada, or one that dawned upon the country and the town under happier auspicies of material prosperity or hopeful future. And who shall say that the religious observance of the day was confined to the churches? May we not regard the hundreds of happy home re-unions, as, perhaps without definite aim, religious in that they involved the spirit of love and charity, which "as on this day" came to earth with a new significance on the first Christmas day.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

As usual at St. Peter's the services were unusually elaborate. They began with solemn high mass, with a very large congregation, at 5.30, at which mass was rendered by the choir. Low masses followed uninteruptedly till 10.30, when Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by his Lordship Bishop O'Connor, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Dr. O'Brien and Rev. Father Burke, C.S.B., St. Basil's, Toronto. During the mass the Bishop gave the Papal Benediction and a brief and happily worded address, suitable to the season. The Christmas decorations, which were confined to the high altar, were the labour of love of the good Sisters of the Congregation de Notre Dame.

In the evening Grand Vespers were sung by His Lordship, and Rev. Father Burke preached a most eloquent and appropriate sermon from the text: "For unto you is born this day in the City of David, a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

The music of the day was unusually excellent and elaborate. At 10.30 Lambillotte's Mass in D was splendidly produced. The soprano solos were taken by Misses A. Simons, F. Hoolihan, M. Begley, and L. Hallihan; the contralto solos by Misses L. Hurley and L. Kester; the tenor solos by Messrs. J. Duranceau and T. Packenham, and the bass by Messrs. J. Weir, J. Picard, T. Pope and A. Delaire. At the offertory an unaccompanied chorus was excellently sung. In the evening in the musical vespers by Rossi, solos were taken by Misses Begley and "Hellihah" and by Messrs. Weir and Peckenham. Special mention and commendation are due the excellent rendition of the solo, "O, Salutaris Hostia," by Miss Annie Simons, and the Tantum Ergo—solo by Miss Hoolihan—and chorus.

ST. JOHN'S.

The Christmas services at St. John's were bright and joyous as became the day, in its gladsome religious significance, and the weather, in its peerless wintry perfection. There was an early morning celebration of Holy Communion, service of Morning Prayer with address at 11 o'clock, and a mid-day celebration. All the services were well attended, especially that at 11 o'clock, a large number of former members of the congregation spending Christmas in town being present. As to the church itself, the sombre advent aspect gave way to the brightest and seemliest Christmas decoration. The decorations were the general scheme of evergreen adornment, simplex munditiis, and in excellent taste. The service was exceedingly bright and hearty, the music being specially so. The anthems and hymns were special, and the offertory anthem, "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," was unusually excellent and extremely well sung by a strong choir, Miss McCarter and Mrs. Seward, soprano and contralto, taking the incidental duet in beautiful taste and harmony, and Miss McCarter the solo, with fine effect.

As an example of commendable Christian neighbourliness, it may be mentioned that in the absence of the organist, Miss Lottie Cochrane, who spent Christmas at home, Mr. John Crane, organist of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, presided with his usual effectiveness at the organ and materially assisted in the very pleasing rendering of the musical portion of the service.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

This beautiful little church witnessed two bright Christmas services yesterday. At the early celebration there was a good attendance, and again at Morning Prayer at 11. The church was in festival dress, very tastifully done, of evergreens and flowers. The pulpit and lectern were graced with new silk hangings, with beautifully embroidered ecclesiastical emblems. These came as a gift from Miss Roy and the Chancel Guild. At the morning services the Rector referred in his address to the departure with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, of Mr. Bert Cranfield, a member of the congregation and of the Boys' Brigade. Special prayers were offered for him and the other members of the contingent, and for the forces at the front. The music was, of course, special, and especially well rendered. The Te Deum by Constance, was given for the first time in Peterborough; Mr. J. Legg took the obligato tenor solo, and Miss Brundrette the contralto solo. The "Jubilate" was by Schilling. The offertory anthem, "Hark, what Mean Those Voices?" was exceedingly well done. The services throughout were hearty and inspiring.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

The services at St. Luke's were in every way successful, if such a word can be applied to a religious service. At the early celebration of Holy Communion at 8 o'clock there was a large number of communicants.

At 10.30 there was a very large congregation and a very bright and happy service. The Christmas decorations were never more beautiful. Across the chancel was thrown a latticed screen of evergreens, with three arches and appropriate texts displayed, "Glory to God in the Highest," etc. The altar was brightened with cut carnations, the gift of Mrs. (Hon.) R. Hamilton, and the body of the church was beautified with evergreen adornments. At this service the rector's sermon on the "Humility of the Nativity of Christ," was touchingly appropriate. The hymns were of course suitable to the day and the Te Deum, Benedictus and Venite were sung to special settings. The anthem, "Rejoice, O Daughter of Zion," was beautifully rendered.

During the day at St. Luke's Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of St. John's baptised Rev. Mr. Langfeldt's daughter, Ethel Audrey.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

Mr. W. P. Reekie, of McMaster University, Toronto, lectured in the Park street Baptist church on Christmas night, on The Holy Land, illustrating his talk with excellent limelight views, many of them gathered by the lecturer while travelling in Palestine. The building was well filled and all found the entertainment of profit and interest. Mr. Reekie, with concise and clear explanation, showed the changelessness of Eastern life and the continued influence of tradition and myth on the thought of the Oriental peoples.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

The service in George street Methodist church yesterday morning at 11 o'clock was well attended, and an appropriate sermon was delivered by Rev. J. P. Wilson, pastor of the church. Rev. D. O. Crossley and Rev. Joseph Kilgour assisted in the services.

LEAVE TO-NIGHT.

The second contingent from Peterborough on the 2nd Canadian Mounted rifles will leave at midnight to-night for Halifax, where they will join the remainder of the regiment. The citizens should turn out and give the boys a rousing farewell. Mr. Albert Trotter, who leaves with the contingent, and who was an employee of the George Matthews Company, was to-day presented with a sum of money by his fellow employees.

Sgt. George Might is a member of No. 2 Company.

The members of No. 3 Company will give Sgt. Murphy a red-hot send-off.

Woman is as old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigourous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.

BIRTH.

NOBLE.—At No. 11 Albert street, on Thursday, December 26th, 1901, the wife of Mr. J. E. Noble, of a daughter.

MARRIED.

SPEEDING THE PARTING WARRIORS.

Troopers Cranfield, Connors and Bradburn Given a Send-off.

On Christmas Eve. at the National Hotel, Mr. Bert. Cranfield, of the machine shop department, and Leo Conners, of the brass finishing department, of the Canadian General Electric Works, were entertained at a bright and breezy farewell "send-off" by their fellow employees of the works. They are troopers in Peterborough's second detachment contributed to the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles for service in South Africa. Trooper Wm. Bradburn, a former member of the bugle band of the 57th as were, up to enlistment, the other two lads, was included in the reception. After a capital supper Lt. R. E. Layfield occupying the chair, the following toast list was run off: "The King," "His Majesty's forces on land and sea," responded to by Lt. E. O. Bradburn. Song, "Rule Britannia;" "Our Town," responded to by ex-Alderman Charles Robinson; song "Tommy Atkins," Mr. Joe Legg; "Our guests," responded to by Troopers Cranfield, Conners and Bradburn. "The Ladies" responded to by Mr. Harrison; "Canadian General Electric Works" responded to by Mr. Walter Stone. A most delightful evening was spent and the young warriors who are departing this evening to serve the Empire have reason to know that they are followed by the good wishes of their fellow employees, their fellow bandsmen and the people of the town generally.

A substantial mark of appreciation was the presentation of well filled purses to Troopers Cranfield and Conner.

A SUCCESS AS USUAL.

Mark Street Christmas Tree and Entertainment.

The annual entertainment of Mark street Sunday School is always held on Christmas night, in the town hall, Ashburnham. The gathering last night was, as formerly, quite successful.

Rev. C. L. Thompson, pastor of the church, occupied the chair.

Interesting recitations were given by Cecil White, Martha Murray and Clinton Rightmyer. Several choruses and carols were rendered by the school and by the choir. These were very appropriate to the occasion. An excellent dialogue, "The Census Taker," was ably rendered by several members of Auburn Sabbath School. The members of Mark street School presented another, "Taming a Lion," which was also given in a pleasing manner. A piano duet was given in excellent style by Misses Hubbs and Thompson.

The distribution of the presents was, in several instances, the cause of considerable fun. Each child belonging to the School received a bag of candies and nuts.

The evening was much enjoyed by all present.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as everything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with twenty-eight years' experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drugstore.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. Alex Brough Found at his Residence in an Unconscious Condition.

Death overtook Mr. Alex. Brough, on Christmas Eve., in a very sudden manner, as the result of a clot of blood which lodged on the brain.

Mr. Brough was out on the street during the evening and was seen about as late as eight o'clock. Shortly after nine o'clock some friends living in Ashburnham dropped into his residence to make a call and found him lying on the floor in an insensible condition. Rev. J. C. Davidson was at once notified and several physicians were called in, but the stricken man never rallied and died at about two o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Brough was employed as furnace-man by a number of citizens including Mr. A. C. Dunlop, the Misses Dickson, Mr. Robt. Fair and Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, and all speak most favourably of his honesty and faithfulness. He was an enthusiastic worker in the local branch of the Federation of Labour, and for many years was a member of No. 5 Company, 57th Regiment.

Owing to circumstances and the fact that a very large number are expected to attend the funeral, the services will be held in St. John's church at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow. Mr. William Henry, president of Branch 9,640, of the Federation of Labour, calls upon the members to meet in their hall at half past one o'clock to-morrow in order to attend the funeral. A firing party from the 57th Regiment will also be in attendance.

I. O. O. F. NOTES.

Installation Ceremonies Which Will Take Place in the District.

Bro. M. W. Matchett, D.D.G.M., for Peterborough District, No. 36, I.O.O. F., will, with the assistance of the District Committee, instal the officers of Royal Lodge, No. 286, Havelock, on Friday, January 3, and the officers of Pontypool Lodge, No. 296, on Friday, January 10.

It is probable that the Norwood installation will be on Tuesday, Jan. 7th, and the joint installation at Peterborough on Thursday, Jan. 9th, but arrangements are not yet completed for these two dates.

Oddfellowship, not only in this district but throughout the whole jurisdiction, is progressing very favourably.

MATHER'S CORNERS.

A Successful Concert Held in the Union Hall on Thursday Night.

A very successful concert took place on Thursday night in the Union Hall, Mather's Corners. The affair was gotten up under the auspices of the school children at Mather's Corners, and the chair was occupied by Mr. J. M. Drummond.

The attendance was very large, and the programme was heartily enjoyed. During the evening the teacher, Mr. John Rousel, was presented with a beautiful necktie box.

The programme was as follows:

GO WEST YOUNG MAN!

Mr. Walter Hagle Will Leave on Saturday for Winnipeg.

Mr. Walter Hagle, who for the past eight years has been in the employ of Mr. A. H. Stratton & Company, severed his connection with that firm on Tuesday evening, and intends leaving on Saturday morning to assume a lucrative position with the Russell Lang Company, of Winnipeg. During Walter's connection with the Peterborough Bookstore he not only won the esteem of his employer and fellow-employees, but also the esteem of the public at large with whom he came in contact. His obliging manner and his industrious spirit brought to his side a wide circle of friends, all of whom will wish him every success in his western home.

The fellow-employees of Mr. Hagle as well as Mr. Stratton himself, could not allow him to leave town without in some manner expressing to him their best wishes for his future success. The staff gave Mr. Hagle a beautiful ring, the same being presented by Miss Thornton, whilst Mr. Ed. Manning addressed a few words to him expressing their regret at his leaving his associations.

Mr. Stratton gave him a very handsome gold chain and locket.

Walter acknowledged the tokens of esteem in a few well chosen words.

HISTORIC HASTINGS.

Happenings in the Village on the Trent —Personal Mention.

The last meeting of the village council for 1901 was held on Monday evening, 16th Dec. All the members present.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and on motion confirmed.

The following accounts were read and ordered to be paid:

A. Wilson, Treas. Public School, $684.06; T. Coughlan, Treas. Separate School, $523.23; H. W. Fowlds, lumber, $258.99; Doxsee Bros., side walks, $2.00; Fraser Bros., fire department, $4.80, town hall, $11.10, side walks, $7.54.

Moved by Mr. Welsh, seconded by Mr. Tracy, that the collector's time be extended until Feb., 1902.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Learmouth, seconded by Mr. Huycke, that the financial statement be received and the clerk get 100 copies of the same printed for distribution.

Moved by Mr. Welsh, seconded by Mr. Learmouth, that the minutes as read be signed.

Miss [illegible] of Plainsboro, is the guest of Miss Ethel Elmhirst at present.

Miss Leo Elmhirst, who is attending the Convent at Peterborough, is home for her Christmas holidays.

Miss Blanche Clarry, who has been staying with her brother and attending the Model School at Norwood, has returned to her home at Millbrook.

Miss Laura Holdcroft, of Tweed, was the guest of Mrs. L. F. Clarry last week.

Court Tam O'Shanter, I.O.F., No. 1,022, Hastings, at a recent meeting elected the following officers for 1902:

Rev. E. L. Tanns ..... C.R
Geo. M. Scriver ..... V. C.R
W. D. Ewart ..... R. S.
T. B. Learmouth ..... F. S.
T. D. Berry, M. D. ..... Treas.
Jas. Rickens ..... Chap.
T. Axier ..... S. W.
B. Scriver ..... J. W.
R. Hughes ..... S. B.
H. R. Axier ..... J. B.
Auditors—Rev. D. A. Thomson and Jas. Rickens.
Trustees—Rev. E. L. Tanns, T. D. Berry, M. D., W. D. Ewart, G. M. Scriver and R. Hughes.

Rev. Mr. Cook occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday last.

The annual meeting of the Ormonde Cheese Co. was held in the town hall on Saturday last, but owing to the inclement weather many were prevented from attending. Mr. J. J. English was elected treasurer and Mr. John Coughlan, salesman for the ensuing year.

The Merchant of Venice was given in the town hall last Monday evening by the Modelites from Norwood. The 40th Regimental Band was in attendance and furnished music between acts, which as always is the case, received great applause. Much credit is due the students for the efficient manner in which all rendered their various parts, and all join in congratulating them on their great success. Miss Laura Holdcroft as "Portia" gave an artistic and true to life interpretation of this most exacting part. Miss Margaret Keanealy as "Nerissa" and Mr. Hart. Leahy as "Shylock" portrayed their respective characters in a manner which indicated great histrionic ability. This play which is one of Shakespeare's most delightful comedies, was much appreciated by those who were fortunate enough to be present, and was a marked contrast to the usual company of "barn stormers" with which we are occasionally afflicted.

The many friends of Mr. C. W. Anderson not only wish to congratulate him on being valedictorian at the Model during the last term, but also on having passed the written work at the recent examination with first class honours.

Business is very brisk in town at present owing, no doubt to the little snow that fell. The merchants seem to be all busily engaged, and will, no doubt all be pleased with their Christmas trade.

The many friends of Mr. T. Coughlan wish to congratulate him on having passed the recent Model examinations.

Mr. W. T. Halligan has returned home where he intends spending his holidays.

A Pretty Calendar.

One of the prettiest calendars of the year is that issued by the drug firm of Ormond & Walsh. The specimen received by the editor presented an exquisite water scene, and Mr. Dickson Davidson is to be congratulated on the good taste shown in the selection of the views.

IDEAS FROM DREAMS

INVENTIONS THAT HAD THEIR BIRTH IN SLUMBERLAND.

The Design of the Whaleback Boat Appeared to Its Originator in a Dream—The Shot Tower and the Sewing Machine Needle.

Every one has heard of the whaleback type of ships, first used on the American lakes and since adapted successfully to the transatlantic carrying trade.

The inventor says the idea came to him while asleep. He dreamed that he was sailing in a small boat across an unknown and tempestuous sea when he became suddenly aware of the approach of what he at first took to be a marine monster, but which on closer examination proved to be a ship. It was, however, of a kind such as had never been seen by mortal eyes before. It looked very much like a huge cigar, and the dreamer noted that its deck curved upward toward the center and that there were practically no bulwarks, the result being that the water which broke aboard did no damage, but swirled off again almost immediately into the ocean whence it came.

No living creature was apparently aboard the strange craft, but the glare from her furnaces could be plainly seen as she drove onward through the fast gathering gloom. The sleeper followed her with his eyes as long as he was able, and when she disappeared he cried out aloud: "Splendid! I will build such a ship as that myself some day!" In the morning he had forgotten entirely his strange vision of the previous night, but his wife, who had been lying awake by his side and had overheard his ejaculation, repeated it to him and questioned him concerning its meaning. Then, like a flash, the whole scene came back to him—the stormy sea, himself adrift in the open boat and the queer looking craft with the rounded deck and cigar shaped prow. Jumping up from the breakfast table, he flew to his study—he was an engineer's draftsman by profession—and ere evening dawned he had the plans drawn up for a ship designed in exact accord with the phantom vessel which had been evolved by a disordered imagination in the dead hours of the night.

Before Watts, the Bristol workman, dreamed the dream which has since become historical the making of shot was a slow, laborious and consequently costly process. Watts himself was a shotmaker, and he knew. He had first to take great bars of lead and pound them out into sheets of a thickness nearly equal to the diameter of the shots he desired to make. He then had to cut these sheets into little cubes, place the cubes in a revolving barrel and roll the barrel round and round until, by the constant friction, the edges were off from the little cubes and they became spheroids.

Watts had often racked his brain trying to discover some better and less costly scheme, but in vain. Finally, after spending an evening with some boon companions at an alehouse, he went home and to bed. He soon fell into a profound slumber, but the stimulants he had imbibed apparently disagreed with him, for his sleep was disturbed by unwelcome dreams. He imagined he was out again with the "boys" and that as they were stumbling homeward in the dark it began to rain shot. Beautiful globules of lead, polished and shining, fell in a torrent and compelled him and his bibulous companions to drag their heavy limbs to a place of shelter.

In the morning when Watts arose he remembered his dream. He turned it over in his mind all day and wondered what shape molten lead would assume in falling through the air. These thoughts tormented him so persistently that at last, to set his mind at rest, he carried a ladleful of molten lead to the top of the tower of the Church of St. Mary, Redcliffe, and dropped it into the moat below. Descending, he took from the bottom of the shallow pool several handfuls of the most perfect shot he had ever seen. His fortune was made, for he had conceived the idea of the shot tower, which ever since has been the only means employed in the manufacture of the little missiles so important in sport.

Even more weirdly romantic is the story of the invention of the sewing machine, or, rather, to be strictly exact, of the needle which made the machine a working possibility. The unhappy inventor had practically beggared himself before he discovered where the eye of the needle of a sewing machine should be placed. Naturally, in constructing his experimental working models, he followed the plan adopted for the ordinary needle and drilled the eye in the heel.

Never for an instant did it occur to him that it should be placed near the point, and, although he expended thousands of pounds and years of labor, he would probably have failed altogether in realizing his ideal if he had not one evening, after a toilsome and disappointing day in his workshop, visited a variety theater. Here he heard a song sung, very popular in its day, entitled "The King of the Cannibal Islands." On returning to his home he was haunted by the refrain. His unfinished model also troubled him. Small wonder, therefore, that on retiring to rest he dreamed that he was building a sewing machine for the king of the Cannibal islands; also he was perplexed about the position of the needle's eye, just as in his actual waking experience. He tried and tried, but the machine would not sew. At length the king got wild and gave the inventor twenty-four hours in which to complete his work. If the machine were not finished by then, death was to be the penalty.

He failed and as a result was ordered out for execution. As he walked between a file of soldiers he noticed that they carried spears that were pierced near the points, and instantly, like a flash, came to him the solution of the problem. While he was begging for an extension of time he awoke. It was 4 o'clock on a bitter cold winter's morning, but he jumped out of bed, flew to his workshop clad only in his nightshirt, and by 9 the first needle that had ever been forged with the eye at the point was lying before him. After that the rest was easy.

ME MADE HER SAY "OBEY."

How a Facetious Bridegroom Caused His Bride to Take the Vow.

"I remember," said an old clergyman the other day, "that I was suddenly hard put to it to decide whether I should roar with laughter at a solemn service in the house of God or whether I should be very angry. The upshot was that I had such hard work to keep a straight countenance that I forgot to be angry at all. The incident arose in this way:

"It was in my early days in the ministry, and I was marrying a young farmer to a country lass in a backwoods church. About that time the women of America were just beginning to kick against the clause in our marriage service which makes them promise 'to love, honor and obey' their spouses. The bride in this case wanted to escape the vow, but did not have the courage to refuse utterly to take it. Instead she tried to slur the sentence when it came her turn to repeat the words after me, and she said, 'To love, honor and 'bey,' leaving out the 'o' in the hope that I would not notice the omission. But I did notice the omission and stopped.

"'You must say "obey" clearly,' I announced, 'or I cannot go on.'

"The bride hung her head, but a stubborn look came over her face, and I could see that it would take a lot of persuasion to make her change her mind.

"'Will you not say "obey"?' I asked.

"She only shook her head.

"'Come, now,' said I coaxingly. 'I will repeat the words again, and you say them after me.'

"I did so, and the bride murmured, 'Love, honor and 'bey.'

"I looked at the bridegroom to see if he had any suggestion to make. The irreverent fellow actually gave me a wink. 'Try her once more, sir,' he said. 'The third time's the best. She only wants coaxing.'

"The bride shot him an indignant look and exclaimed tartly, 'I'll say the same thing over a hundred times and not a syllable more.'

"I was getting weary of this nonsense, so I rapped out the words very suddenly and shortly, 'Love, honor and obey,' at the same time shooting out my index finger at the girl. This seemed to startle her, and with equal rapidity she began to repeat, 'Love, honor and'—

"Just here the bridegroom gave her a sharp dig in the ribs with a huge forefinger, and the girl emitted a pained 'Oh!' But, determined not to be interrupted in what she had intended to say, she finished her own rendition of the vow without a second's pause and ejaculated "'bey.'

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Small bags of unground pepper placed among clothing in closets will keep away moths.

The great secret of applying furniture cream is not to put too much on at a time and to rub it thoroughly well in.

The frequent washing of windows might be avoided if a practice were made of dusting them as often as the furniture in the rooms.

When cut glass is old, it takes on a dull gray tinge. It is not dirt and may be brightened and the film removed by washing with diluted hydrochloric acid and water.

Never permit the light to shine directly on mirrors for any length of time nor allow them to get unduly heated by being too near a gas jet, as in either case the quicksilver is likely to be injuriously affected.

To clean stone stairs and halls boil a pound of pipemakers' clay with a quart of water, a quart of beer and a bit of stone blue. Wash with this mixture and when dry rub the stone with flannel and a brush.

A writer who seems to know says that table linen should always be hemmed by hand not only because it looks more dainty, but because there is never a streak of dirt under the edge after it is laundered, as there is when it is hemmed by machine.

Infants too young to take medicine may be cured of croup, whooping cough and colds by using Vapo-Cresolene—they breathe it.

Don't Wake the Baby.

Did you know you could give medicine to your children while they were soundly sleeping? You certainly can. It is called Vapo-Cresolene. You put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp, and place near the bed. The children quietly breathe in the vapor. There is nothing equal to it for whooping cough, croup, colds, cough, sore throat, and all other troubles of the throat and chest. It is economical, pleasant, safe. 52

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing many testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

BLOOD POISON

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore Throat, Ulcers on the Tongue or in the Mouth, Hair Falling Out, Aching Pains, Itchiness of the Skin, Sores or Blotches on the Body, Eyes Red and Smart, Dyspeptic Stomach, Sexual Weakness—indications of the second stage. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment, —mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time, only to break out again, when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over twenty years. No experiment, no visit—not a "patch-up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited. We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Sexual Weakness, Blood Poison, Stricture, Varicocele, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and all diseases peculiar to men and women.

A THIEVES' MARKET.

ONE OF THE PROMINENT PLACES IN THE CITY OF MEXICO.

Any Policeman Will Show You the Way to It and You May There Purchase Stolen Goods by the Single Piece or by the Carload.

If you want to know the time in the City of Mexico; if you need household goods, objects of art or of personal adornment; in fact, if there is anything you desire from a pincushion to a redhot stove—just ask a policeman.

He will point the way to the thieves' market without any more idea of laws that deal with those who receive stolen goods than if you had asked him the way to the best hotel in the city or to one of the theaters or to the National palace. The official of the law will not hesitate to tell you that it is directly across the street from the National palace, east of the Zocalo—the park of the peons—and that if you are timid about the size of the load you wish to take there the gate is large enough to drive the biggest truck through without inconvenience. It is a very simple matter to find the thieves' market.

It is no small establishment, but a city institution, with a court as large as a city block, and it is crowded from morning to night with those who are looking for bargains without the slightest idea of moral wrong in buying stolen goods. Indeed it is stated that now and then persons find property once belonging to them exposed there for sale at prices so reasonable that it would be absurd to go to law about it and lay up against the delightful convenient "manana" the trouble of appearing in court.

The market is just what its name implies—a thieves' market, where moths do not corrupt, because there is always a stream of purchasers for goods at ridiculous prices. Nothing remains in stock over a few days. Spread out on tables or piled high on the ground can be found samples of almost anything, for the Mexican ratero is not particular what he steals. The thieves do not themselves act as the salesmen, for this would be dishonest even to the Mexican mind. They dispose of their plunder either for a lump sum or take a commission from the sellers.

There is no assortment of goods as to class or kind. It is a case of pick and choose. Crockery, cutlery, tinware and cooking utensils are the main staples, for the Mexican is careless, and the thieves of his kind find this sort of plunder easy to get and with a ready market. The proprietor of one of the well known local restaurants admits that nearly all his knives, forks and table linen come from the thieves' market. He makes it a point regularly to visit there to replenish what may have been stolen from his own place.

But it is perhaps in the line of curiosities, books and objects of art that the thieves' market is most interesting. The libraries of the monks, scattered in the war of reform, are represented now and then. The thieves, of course, know nothing of the value of the books.

Recently a folio of Shakespeare, bound in vellum, in splendid condition, notwithstanding the long ago date of its publication, was picked up by a book lover for $1.50 in Mexican silver. Several bibliophiles of the United States have regular agents in the thieves' market, and it pays them.

With Maximilian and his court many rare works of art came to Mexico. In the rush away from Mexico these were left behind. Within the last month a fan, beyond doubt by Watteau, was bought in the thieves' market for $6. The painting is still bright, the lace exquisite and rare, and the ivory sticks, inlaid with gold, are still intact.

Mexico's many wars have made the country an arsenal of obsolete weapons. Swords, guns and firearms from the time of Cortes to the present decade can be picked up in the thieves' market for little or nothing. Some of them, outside of their value as curios, are of intrinsic worth, as an American discovered not long ago. He bought for a trifle an old sword, tarnished and dirty. The style of the hilt pleased him. When he had it cleaned, he found the scabbard, hilt and blade were inlaid with rich gold of marvelous artistic design

Further Amputation.

CHOSEN FROM A MULTITUDE.

The Preference Shown by Thinking People for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine—Record Sales Last Month.

Considering the large number of remedies for coughs and colds that are now offered to the public, and in view of the fact that nearly every druggist has a preparation of his own which he makes an effort to substitute for the medicine asked for, it seems truly remarkable that the demand for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine should increase by such leaps and bounds.

During October the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine exceeded by several hundred bottles the record of any previous month in its history. When it is remembered that this preparation receives very little newspaper advertising the evidence seems to be conclusive that it makes its way by sheer force of merit.

Thinking people recognize the harmfulness and danger of using strong drugs which are said to cure a cold in a few hours. They prefer to cling to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, which they know beyond a doubt to be a thorough and effective treatment for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, throat irritations, asthma, and even consumption itself.

The combination of linseed and turpentine, with half a dozen other ingredients of equal value for treating colds, in such proportions as they are found in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proven to be a perfect protection against such developments as pneumonia, consumption, and serious lung troubles. You can with certainty rely on this preparation to afford prompt relief and perfect cure.

Do you suppose that the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine would be more than three times that of any similar preparation if it was not the most effective remedy that money can buy? It has stood the test and proven itself worthy of the confidence that is placed in it. People recommend it one to another, and so the good news spreads. Be sure you get the genuine, with Dr. Chase's portrait and signature on the wrapper. 25 cents a bottle. Family size, three times as much, 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 12

How Absurd!

TRAPPIST MONKS.

These Votaries of Silence Are Cheerful and Contented.

One scarcely would look for cheerfulness among those votaries of eternal silence, the Trappist monks. Everybody has heard of their great monastery in Kentucky, where, isolated from the world, the Trappists yet minister by their labors to its welfare, and of the silent and austere life they lead. There are several monasteries of this order in the world, and in all of them the monks are said to be an extraordinarily cheerful and contented lot.

Herbert Vivian, who writes of them in his "Romance of Religions," says: "It is true that they get up at 2 in the morning; that they limit their meals to a small allowance of vegetables, washed down with spring water; that their days are devoted to manual labor, relieved only by frequent intervals of prayer; that they sleep on bedsteads of planks and straw; that their thoughts are constantly centered upon their latter end, and that there is no relief for their hardships, even when at the point of death, when, as a last, most signal object lesson, they are removed from their straw and laid upon a heap of ashes. Yet they are, nevertheless, as contented and cheerful a lot of people," he says, "as can be found among the most zealous pleasure seekers."

He declares that while prisoners who have been condemned to silence and seclusion generally have gone mad, the Trappist monks find that their vows of silence confer a fresh zest upon their chants in church and upon all their devotional exercises, and it is certainly a fact that they enjoy extraordinary health and spirits and generally attain to a good old age.

Upon the death of one of the monks, his body, borne on a rude wooden bier, with his brown cloak as his only winding sheet, is placed in the center of the church. Some half dozen candles in tall wooden candlesticks are lighted around him, and the brothers take turns in praying beside him, never leaving the body alone until the time comes to place it in the grave which it has been one of the dead monk's duties to dig for himself while yet alive. And yet these people, of whose life and death the bare recital gives the ordinary man the blues, are described as jolly, happy, full of spirits and contentment. It certainly does take all sorts of people to make a world.

A Complicated Machine

is an object of admiration, but a complicated medicine is a thing hitherto unknown. Druggist Merrill of Brantford has combined iron and herbs and made a marvellous blood builder and purifier, as well as a tonic for the nerves. Affects a radical cure in stomach, liver and kidney diseases. Price 50c. per bottle of 50 doses. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

Mutton as a Meter.

Green, the English historian, one day asked a friend which of all the inventions of their day had done the most for the people as a whole. His friend guessed this and that, but the answer was:

"Beyond doubt sixpenny photographs."

A reply involving quite as great an absurdity as that was made by Cecil Rhodes in answer to a lady who, seeking to draw him out, suggested that he owed his phenomenal rise to the impetus of noble sentiments.

"Madam," returned Mr. Rhodes, "I owe my fortune simply and solely to cold mutton."

"Cold mutton!" gasped the lady. "Oh, Mr. Rhodes, what do you mean?"

"When I was young," continued the South African millionaire, "I was so dosed with cold mutton and I hated it so cordially that I resolved to grow rich in order to put it on one side for the rest of my life. Yes, madam, cold mutton was at the root of my success. Noble sentiments had nothing to do with it."—Youth's Companion.

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and erradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. Large outfit, $1; small size, 25c. Druggists, or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Rossetti and His Visitor.

Toward the latter part of Rossetti's life he rarely left his house and garden. He depended upon a close circle of friends for society and in his own way was a sociable man, but he preferred to see his friends and acquaintances by appointment, and woe betide the too intrusive stranger.

One day an enterprising man called who was duly armed with a letter of introduction, and the servant was nearly yielding to the impulsive stranger, whereupon the painter of "Dante's Dream" leaned upon the banister and said in firm, mellifluous voice, "Tell the gentleman that I am not at home."—Lippincott's New Magazine.

Dealing in Futures.

Mr. Newed—I have an option on that Blank avenue house. How would you like it for our home, my dear?

Mrs. Newed—Oh, it's a pretty place, but you know it is said to be haunted. Mamma says she wouldn't set her foot inside the door for any amount of money.

Mr. Newed—That settles it! I'll close the deal for it the first thing in the morning.

Combination of Ideas.

A Great Future For This Child.

Mrs. Guinnivoice—I never have any trouble with baby. I've only to sing to him, and he goes right off to sleep.

HARD TO GET A BOOK

AN IRRITATING EXPERIENCE IN A BOSTON LIBRARY.

Rules For Lending to Unknown Borrowers Bothered the Stranger In Town, Who Feared He Was Doomed to Serve a Term In Jail.

"Well," said the reflective looking man, "I tried to get a book out of the Boston Public library once, and it honestly looked to me for awhile as if I was going to get jugged.

"I was up in Boston on a couple of months' business, and I took up my quarters at a boarding house in the Back Bay district. I had my evenings to myself, and as there isn't much worth speaking of going on down town in Boston after dark I soon began to feel the need of reading material. I remembered the name of a certain book that had been recommended to me and tried to get it at the Boston bookstores. I couldn't get it, however, because it was out of print long ago. So one afternoon I hiked over to the Boston Public library to see if I couldn't get the book.

"'Have you got such and such a book?' I asked the gloomy looking man at the library desk.

"'Yes, we have it,' said he suspiciously.

"'Good,' said I. 'I'd like to read it.'

"'Um—you would, eh?' said the man behind the desk. 'Very well.'

"He got out a pile of blanks and handed me one of them to fill out. It contained about as many questions as a census schedule appertaining to the iron and steel industry. As a matter of fact the blank differed in no essential particular from the blank handed to applicants for civil service examinations. I had to give my name in full, age, habits, occupation, residence for the past fifteen or twenty years, state of my health and all that sort of rubbish, and it took me a good twenty minutes to digest that bunch of questions and fill in the answers. Then I pranced up to the desk with the filled up blank and patiently waited another twenty minutes for the solemn looking cuss to pay some attention to me. I handed in the carefully prepared blank to him.

"'There you are,' said I cheerfully. 'I did the best I could with it. Now would you mind getting the book or sending for it for me, for I've got a lot of things to attend to before dark.'

"'Um—you don't get the book today, you know,' said the sulky looking chap behind the counter. 'Just leave this blank with me, and your case will be attended to.'

"'But,' said I, 'don't you issue books to the public here, and if you don't what have I been spending all this time for filling out that blank?'

"'You shall ascertain the reason later on,' said the man, with stern reproof in his tone. 'We shall perhaps be ready to issue the book to you some time tomorrow if you call around then.'

"Well, I was so sore that I clomped out without saying anything more. It was all beyond me the way that library was run, and I determined to let the book slide and to forget all about that repository of printed knowledge as soon as possible.

"I was sound asleep in my boarding house bed at 11 o'clock that night, and I guess everybody else in the house was in bed, too, when there came the most infernal ringing of the front door bell. The ringing was so angry and determined that I slid out of bed upon being awakened and went to the stair landing and rubbered down below to see what the trouble was. The landlady finally slipped on a bathrobe and went down to answer the bell. When she opened the door, my heart came into my mouth when I saw dimly in the doorway the huge form of a gigantic cop, and when he inquired of the landlady in a deep, gruff bass, 'Is there a man named Ta-ra-rum living here?' mentioning my name—say, wouldn't that have deterred you?—I fell into a tremor and began to wonder what I'd been doing, anyhow, to get the law after me. I hadn't been up to any criminal devilment that I was aware of, and yet there was a big cop inquiring for me, and there was a donjon keep staring me square in the face.

"'Yes,' replied the landlady, 'there is a Mr. Ta-ra-rum living here.' And I could see her freezing solid over the business. It was 10 to 1, I figured then, that she would conclude that I was a celebrated counterfeiter or confidence man or some sort of a crook that the police were after and that, even if I managed to evade arrest, she would order me out of her house in the middle of the night.

"'Oh, very well,' said the cop more mildly to the landlady; 'library, you know.' And then he executed a swift disappearance into the darkness.

"Now, I've always believed that the best way to meet trouble is to go right after it and give it a bug when it comes your way, and so I slipped on a bathrobe myself and went to meet the landlady as she came up stairs.

"'Madam,' said I, 'I overheard your colloquy at the door with that guardian of the law, and I heard my name mentioned. I am not conscious of having violated the law in any respect, but I feel compelled in case you have conceived any suspicion of me to freely volunteer to give up my room here. You would be wholly mistaken in supposing that you were harboring a criminal, yet I dislike to put you to any inconvenience.'

"Then the landlady held on the bannisters and laughed loud and long. It was about ten minutes before she was able to control her voice sufficiently to tell me that I was simply a victim of the Boston Public library's method of investigating its applicants for reading material. Every night the library issued to the police department, she said, the filled in blanks of those who applied during the day for books, and these blanks were sorted over and given out to the cops on the various beats. It was a part of the duty of the policemen to ring up the addresses given by the applicants for books and thus to ascertain if they actually lived at the addresses they gave. And it was this that came so near to giving me the heart disease finish. I never went back to the Boston Public library after that book; was afraid they might man handle me and lock me up in the coal cellar and never let me out again in this life."

A Question of Ownership.

"Are you the man who advertises 'Own your own home?'" said the dejected looking caller.

"I am," answered the real estate dealer.

"Well, I'd like to get the recipe."

"The what?"

"The recipe. The modus operandi. I want to know what to do to own my own home. Our cook has a temper like a raging lion and muscles like Hercules. If you can, tell me how to dispossess her. Money's no object."

Neuralgia

is Rheumatism of the face. Uric Acid left in the blood by disordered kidneys lodges along the nerve which branches from the eye over the forehead, and across the cheek to the side of the nose. The cause is the same as in all Rheumatism—disordered Kidneys. The cure is likewise the same—

ATTENTION

To physical warnings will often prevent a serious illness. When there are oppressive fullness after eating, bitter risings, belching, headache, dizziness, nervousness, with physical and mental sluggishness, prompt attention should be given to the condition of the digestive and nutritive systems. Not all these symptoms will occur at once or in any single case, but any one of them indicates a disordered condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition.

A prompt cure of these conditions will be effected by the timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It heals diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, perfectly and permanently. Many diseases, seemingly remote from the stomach, have their origin in a diseased condition of the organs of digestion and nutrition. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures through the stomach diseases which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach, and hence diseases of liver, lungs, heart and other organs are cured by use of the "Discovery." It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, or other narcotic. It is a true temperance medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing else "just as good."

"I was a total wreck—could not sleep or eat," writes Mr. J. O. Beers, of Berryman, Crawford Co., Mo. "For two years I tried medicine from doctors but received very little benefit. I lost flesh and strength, was not able to do a good day's work. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and when I had taken one bottle I could sleep, and my appetite was wonderfully improved. I have taken five bottles and am still improving."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation by curing the cause. They do not beget the pill habit.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Tobacco water will destroy bugs and worms on rosebushes.

Only well rotted manure should be allowed to come in contact with the roots of trees.

Don't try to transplant a cyclamen after the bulb has begun to throw up green leaves. If you do, you will lose your bulb.

Vines may be set in the spring and also in the fall. It is said the clematis does best if set in the latter season, while the wistaria, honeysuckle and Japan ivy are by preference to be planted in the spring.

One reason why plants often do not succeed in window culture is the want of moisture in the air. Anything that tends to supply this lack is so much gained. On this account plants often do best in the kitchen window.

The petals of a single flower fall sooner than do those of a double one for the reason that the inner petals are transformed more slowly and retain the power of adherence they need when performing their original function.

There Was a Tale to It.

The girl at the music counter has some funny experiences. For instance, the other day a well dressed woman bustled up to the music department of a great store and said in a loud voice:

"Have you got a piece of music called 'The Crocodile's Tail?'"

"No, madam," answered the clerk. "We have one called"—

"But you had it here last week. I saw it," she interrupted. "It is from 'The Burgomaster,' and I want it today."

"Are you sure that is the name of it?" asked the clerk.

"Yes, that's the name. I remember it distinctly. Are you sure you haven't got it?"

"We have one called 'The Tale of the Kangaroo,' from 'The Burgomaster,'" volunteered the clerk, and after some hesitation on the part of the customer "The Tale of the Kangaroo" was sold.

How Should Bobby Know.

The density of the English "bobby" has often been told, but here is the experience of a young woman just back from London. Happening out on the street one morning, she noticed that the reflected light suggested afternoon rather than morning. The sun, to all appearances, seemed to be in the west. To the first policeman she met she addressed this query:

"Officer, which is the west?"

He pointed to the direction from which the sunshine seemed to come.

"Oh," she said, "then the sun rises in the west in London?"

"As to that, miss," replied "bobby," "I really cannot say"

A Poor Place For Architects.

There is a little village on the west coast of Ireland in which there is only one house, and that shelters no family, for it belongs to and is occupied by the local priest. There are something over a dozen families living in the village, and each of them occupies an old fishing boat. As no large tree is found nearer than eight miles, no carpenter's shop or architect's office is found in the village.

Primitive Savages.

Morally we are still primitive savages. We are still combating murder, arson, theft. Like the cave dweller fighting the physical mammoth, we are fighting the mammoths of moral deformity. Eventually they will disappear. Murder will be unknown, and theft, rendered unnecessary by decent social organization will have disappeared also.

THE FIRST CAMERA.

It Was Invented by an Italian In the Sixteenth Century.

The camera was invented by an Italian named Baptista Porta, though it was not at first used for photographing. It was in reality merely a dark room, into which the light was admitted through a little round hole in one side. The rays of light coming from objects outside of this room entered it through this aperture and made a picture on the other side of the room glowing in all the beauty and color of nature itself, but rather indistinct and upside down.

This dark room was contrived by Porta about the middle of the sixteenth century. He improved it later by placing a glass lens in the aperture and outside a mirror which received the rays of light and reflected them through the lens so that that image upon the opposite wall within was made much brighter, more distinct and in a natural or erect position. This was really the first camera obscura, an invention which is enjoyed to the present day, being situated often upon a hilltop, where a picturesque country surrounding may be reflected through a lens which is placed in the center of the conical roof.

Now, our modern photographic camera is merely a small camera obscura in its simplest form, carrying a lens at one end and a ground glass screen at the other. It is, however, often much more complicated in its construction.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

The Juvenile Idea.

A teacher, says the Boston Transcript, had been reading to her young pupils an account of a man "who had lived for some years upon the frontier." When the story was reproduced by a child, to the teacher's surprise it read that he had lived for some years "on his front ear."

Another teacher read that a gentleman "had occupied for some time a fine country seat." Upon asking the children what was meant by a "country seat" a dead silence reigned till one little fellow said he thought he knew and to the inquiry of the teacher replied, "A milking stool!"

Still another had been reading to her pupils about the rain. Asking one of them to write a little story about the rain, he, after declaring his inability to do so, upon the teacher's insistence produced the following: "What does the rain say to the dust? 'I am on to you, and your name is mud!'"

SINGULAR MAXIMS.

Old Time Rules For the Table by the German Poet Von Zirkler.

That our ancestors were not so well managed as we are is evident from the following rules, which were laid down by Tommasin von Zirkler, a German poet, in regard to the conduct of a host and his guest at a dinner party. These singular maxims were recently unearthed and have now been reprinted:

"Every host should take care that his guests have enough to eat and that they are not served with dishes that they do not want. In return the guests should behave properly and should be satisfied with whatever is placed before them.

"A guest should not eat all his bread before the first dishes are served, neither should he eat with both hands nor drink nor talk when his mouth is full.

"It is not polite to turn toward one's neighbor and to offer him a winecup from which one is still drinking.

"One should not eat greedily and hastily, as though the dinner had been paid for, neither should one take any food from his neighbor's plate. In a word, each person should accept what is offered and ask for nothing else.

"When there is some one on the right hand, it is permissible to eat with the left hand.

"While one is drinking the eyes should be steadily fixed on the winecup.

"It is improper to place one's hand in a dish while another person is taking some food from it.

"One should always have the hands clean and the nails cut short, as otherwise those persons who are eating from the same dish are likely to become disgusted.

"A guest should never put his elbows on the table, neither should he chatter all the time nor clean his teeth with a knife."

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355,-92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

STONED NEGRO GIRLS.

Cause of Savage Street Fight Between Negroes and Whites in New York—A Policeman Injured.

New York, Dec. 26.—A race riot which broke out in Harlem yesterday on West 13th street, became almost a battle between negroes and whites in the open street, the negroes being armed with revolvers and other weapons, and the whites with stones. There were 100 fighters on each side. The negroes beat the whites, but were driven back into their tenements by the police after they had charged out on the whites with pistols and razors. Fourteen negroes were arrested. Four whites, including a policeman, were badly shot or cut. The rioting was begun by some white boys stoning two colored girls, who were going to their homes. The girls told their friends and a dozen negroes chased the white boys, boxed their ears, and struck several of them in the faces. The boys ran away and told some white men, who returned and stoned the negroes. More men joined the first band, and all attacked the negroes. The negroes armed themselves with revolvers, sticks, bricks, stones, razors and other weapons. In the fight at close quarters, the negroes dashed into the street, 100 in all, slashing right and left. The whites resisted with clubs. At this point, a squad of policemen arrived on the scene and stopped the rioting.

GERMAN EXPORTS DECLINE.

For the First Time This Year They Show a Falling Off.

Berlin, Dec. 26.—The official statistics of Germany's foreign trade for the month of November show a decline in exports for the first time during the present year. This decline amounts to 60,180 tons. During the same month Germany's imports declined 465,535 tons. The totals for the month of November were: Imports, 3,642,042 tons, and exports, 2,909,855 tons.

The imports of wheat for the eleven months ending with November were 1,960,496 tons, as against 1,206,065 tons for the same eleven months of 1900. During the first eleven months of this year the wheat imported from the United States amounted to 1,143,875 tons. This total nearly equals the import of wheat into Germany from all other countries in 1900.

Change German Tariff.

Berlin, Dec. 26.—The Government, yielding to Russia's attitude regarding the Tariff bill, will propose, when the committee having the matter in charge meets, that the minimum grain duties be stricken out. These minimum duties were put in through the influence of the Agrarians.

MARCONI'S MOVEMENTS.

Will Arrive at Sydney To-day and Leave for Ottawa.

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—Hon. W. S. Fielding has received a telegram definitely announcing Mr. Marconi's intention to visit Ottawa. According to the Minister's advices Marconi will arrive in Sydney this morning and leave immediately by Intercolonial for Montreal and Ottawa.

May Use Marconi System.

New York, Dec. 26.—In accordance with orders issued from the Navy Department the 55 carrier pigeons at the Brooklyn Navy Yard will be offered for sale on Dec. 30. Circulars have been issued which may be filled in and filed with Rear Admiral Barker by those who wish to bid. Admiral Barker says that the sale of the pigeons means that the Navy Department has decided to use wireless telegraphy hereafter in communication between the various ships and the mainland.

Cecil Rhodes Buys an Estate.

London, Dec. 26.—Mr. Cecil Rhodes, managing director of the British South African Company, has just purchased for about £100,000 ($500,000), the Dalham Hall estate, near Newmarket, which includes an imposing residence, built in 1704, by a Bishop of Ely, and 3,475 acres of fine shooting. The Dalham estate has been for two centuries in the possession of the Affleck family, and is now the residence of Sir Robert Affleck.

Swarms of Locusts.

Santa Cruz, Dec. 26.—During the past week the Canary Islands have been visited by a plague of locusts, coming on a southwest gale from the coast of Africa. There are millions of insects in the huge swarms, which absolutely darken the sky. There is much alarm for the crops, and on one farm the locusts demolished 30,000 young tomato plants, mostly for the English market, in about five minutes.

A Train Burnt Up.

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 26.—The Missouri, Kansas and Texas northbound passenger train, due in Dallas at 11.20 o'clock Tuesday night, was wrecked, and almost completely burned six miles south of here just before midnight. Three passengers were injured, but no one was killed. The baggage, express and mail cars were saved.

Son Kills His Father.

Brazil, Ind., Dec. 26.—In defending his mother from an assault by her drink-crazed husband, Theodore Watkins, colored, 13 years old, shot and killed his father, Richard Watkins, last night, at their home here. The boy says he shot his father to keep him from killing his mother. He insisted he was justified in the shooting.

Freight Trains Collide.

Halifax, Dec. 26.—Two freight trains collided at Brookfield, N.S., Tuesday. The engineer of the fast freight train was disabled and the special train was completely wrecked. One car was laden with deal, which were burned, they having been set on fire by an overturned stove. The train hands escaped injury.

THE RAMMING OF STEAMERS.

Test of Contrivance to Prevent Damage to Canal Gates.

St. Catharines, Dec. 26.—Interesting experiments are being carried on at Port Dalhousie by J. L. Weller, superintending engineer of the Welland Canal, with the sanction of the Dominion Government, to ascertain the value of a new contrivance which it is claimed will prevent a repetition of serious delays to navigation through the carrying away of lock gates on the new canal. These unfortunate accidents have averaged at least two a year for some years past, and N. W. Cowan of St. Catharines has invented a protective contrivance for the gates which was given a first test Tuesday.

Lock No. 1 of the old canal was the location selected for the experiments. A 110-ton scow was sent against the lower gates at a speed of three miles an hour, and though it forced them some distance apart, they were not wrenched from the sills.

Superintendent Weller said: "The test was a success, and had it not been for the contrivance fastened to the top of the gates they surely would have been broken off. The test, however, was not sufficient to enable me to say the gates will stand a heavier pressure, and the value of the contrivance cannot be judged until we can send an ordinary steamer against them. In the spring we may get permission to make a further test with the Lakeside, or other craft, but at present I am not authorized to take a chance on having to pay a heavy bill of damages."

BRITISH IN INDIA.

A Punitive Expedition Has Razed Nodiz Fort.

Calcutta, Dec. 26.—A British punitive expedition has razed Nodiz Fort in South Baluchistan, which has long been the stronghold of a fierce band of outlaws.

These held out until the fort was demolished by guns. About a dozen men were buried in the ruins, five others were killed, fourteen were wounded and sixty-three were captured.

The British casualties were three men killed and eight wounded.

One of Our Little Frontier Wars.

Baluchistan, the state lying along the Indian Ocean, between Persia and India, is feudatory to India, the Khan of Khelat being subsidized by the Indian Government at Simla. During the last few years this Government, in strengthening its northwest frontier, has assumed more definite control over the wild tribes of the border. There are numerous forts scattered about Baluchistan, and the uprisings of local chieftains steadily going on have given occasion for a number of small expeditions of the British and native troops stationed along the line of the Indus, with headquarters at Peshawur. Britain has lately been developing the ancient trade route from Southern Persia to India, passing through Baluchistan.

Author MacLay Dismissed.

Washington, Dec. 26.—Secretary Long has discharged Edgar Stanton MacLay from his position as a skilled laborer in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Mr. MacLay having refused to resign when requested to do so. Mr. MacLay is author of a naval history, and in its last volumn sharply criticised Admiral Schley and denounced him as a caitiff, poltroon and coward.

THE SMOKE CONSUMER WORKED.

That Was the Laundry's Great Objection to It.

"About a year ago," said a Chicago patent lawyer, "I secured a patent on a smoke consumer for a client of mine. He came into the office the other day, and I asked him what he was doing with his invention.

"'Well,' he said, 'I haven't had much success with it. It's hard work to get a thing like that introduced. Last spring, after a lot of arguing, I got a west side laundry firm to try it, with the understanding that I was to take it out at my own expense if it didn't give satisfaction. After it had been in use a month or so I thought I'd go over and see how it was working.

"'As I approached the laundry I saw that there wasn't a bit of smoke rolling out of the stack. In fact, it was almost impossible to see from the outside that there was a fire in the boiler. It made me feel mighty good to see that the thing was working so well, and I went into the office full of confidence.

"'"Well," I said to the senior partner, "how do you like your smoke consumer?"

"'"I've been going to write to you about that," he replied. "We want it taken out."

"'"What's the trouble?" I asked him.

"'"You agreed to take it out at your own expense if it wasn't satisfactory, you know. We have the contract in writing."

"'"That's all right. I'm not denying that I agreed to take it out, but I'd like to know what's the matter with it. I looked at it just now, and it seemed to be consuming the smoke all right."

"'"Oh, it consumes, as far as that's concerned, but since the smoke has quit rolling out of the stack a lot of our old customers seem to think we've shut down here, and they're taking their laundry somewhere else."

"'"Yes," the junior partner added, "and I can't imagine where we ever got the fool idea that we ought to help stop the smoke, anyway. It would be just as sensible for a saloon keeper to go around preaching temperance."

"'So I had to take the consumer out, and I've decided to give up the idea of trying to introduce it among the laundries.'"

Electing the Pope.

Since the year 1059 the pope has been formally elected by the college of cardinals. The cardinals meet on the eleventh day after a pope's decease in a series of double cells in the Vatican, one of the cells being for the cardinal and the other for the secretary or chamberlain. On the twelfth day the election begins, the votes of two-thirds of the cardinals being necessary to elect the pope. All communication with the outside world or between themselves is denied the cardinals, their food being passed to them through an opening in the cell. They are not bound to elect a cardinal—only heretics or persons guilty of simony are excluded—and after an agreement of two-thirds has been reached the closing act of the election and announcement of the choice takes place in a chapel reserved for that purpose.

THE COWBOY.

Advancing Settlement Is Driving Him Further North in the Land.

Alberta has been long known to the balance of Canada as a stock country (says The Sentinel, published at Frank, Alberta), and the wild and wooly cowboy, with his high-heeled boots, big sombrero, and leather chaps, has long been king of the roost, busting broncbos and herding horned cattle all over the broad expanse of Alberta's prairies, and far up into the foothills of the main Rockies. But as with the wolfers and old-time bull-whackers, his field is becoming limited, and, what with the mining towns springing up in the foothills and the flocking in of settlers into the prairie sections who are actual farmers, the old-time cow-puncher will fade away in Alberta, the same as he has done in Colorado and Montana, drifting into other pursuits or striking out farther into the wilderness in search of free grazing ground and a boundless range.

The cowboy, like the prospector, filled a place in the settling up and civilizing of the West that is not only unique but could not have been filled by any other class of men. He was the forerunner of civilization on the plains, driving the cattle farther out into the unknown lands and making a stand-off with the coyote and Indians.

He originated back east "on the farm," where as a tow-headed boy he learned to bust bronchos by riding Old Bill around the pasture field, and as he drove Star and Daisy up from the back field to be milked, he dreamed and longed for the day when he would be a wild cowboy with a big gun and an object of terror to timid women and little children. By being a good boy and picking potato bugs and doing chores for the neighbors, whose boys had grown up and gone, he accumulated enough of the wherewithal to buy a ticket out West, and after bidding a tearful farewell to the old folk and being supplied with a lunch basket bigger than the dugout he is destined to occupy for many a long day, he starts out. He arrives finally at his destination, some new railroad town, on the edge of the sunbaked plain, that looks to the pilgrim like an absolute desert. Here the buildings are built up of inch boards, stood on end, and every other place bears the legend "Saloon." Here he gets his first experience of frontier life, meets his future companions the cow-hands, is introduced to a bucking broncho, meets the ranch foreman, and hires out for $30 a month to go out on the ranch, to live on flapjacks, bacon, and black coffee, and work eighteen hours a day and say that he likes it. He invests his last cent in a big six-shooter and broad-brimmed hat, and in six months is a full-fledged cow-puncher, priding himself on being able to yell louder, swear harder, and stand up under more whiskey than any other man on the range.

In about a year he commences to realize that life on the range is not all sunshine; that driving cattle out of the brush to rustle, is not fun by any means; and he begins to wonder at the ungratefulness of an old cow who will turn and fight him after he has pulled her out of the mud. He finds out that successful cattle raising is a business, that it means hard work and the exercise of brain tissue. Then, if he has the right kind of leather in him, he either makes up his mind to quit punching or settles down to business to accumulate enough to start a herd for himself, walks away from trouble, and lets booze alone. He has thus reached the stage in his career when he becomes a good citizen and cow-puncher; and he looks with disgust upon the tenderfoot who pulls his hat, slaps his horse over the head, yells like a "fool Injun," and who is more likely to shoot himself in a row than anyone else.

But he, like the Indian, is beginning to feel the effects of the barbed wire fence, for what was once the boundless prairies, over which he herded his stock at will, is now fast becoming dotted with the settlers' homesteads, and he must seek pasture lands farther north if he wishes to enjoy the old freedom and have room to give his cayuse a forty-mile gallop straight away without having to get down and lead him through some farmer's gate.

DEAR SALLEY BROWN.

Tune, "Old Lang Syne."

Peterborough in a valley,
Which is a first-class town;
It was there I met my Salley—
Dearest Salley Brown.

(Chorus)—
My dearest Salley Brown,
Dear Salley Brown,
It was there I met my Salley—
Dear Salley Brown.

It was on the Otonabee,
Where we did chance to stray,
Down beneath the old quaker grove,
In the month of May.

(Chorus)—
My dearest Salley Brown,
Dear Salley Brown,
Down beneath the old Quaker grove
Dear Salley Brown.

In sailing past the Little Lake,
So lovely there to view,
In a little skiff so happy,
Such pleasures are few.

(Chorus)—
My dearest Salley Brown,
Dear Salley Brown,
In a little skiff so happy,
Dear Salley Brown.

Unconsciously our skiff would glide
To the locks bridge and on Down beyond the Yankee Bonnet,
Happy there alone.

(Chorus)—
My dearest Salley Brown,
Dear Salley Brown,
Down beyond the Yankee Bonnet,
Dear Salley Brown

Then hurrah for Peterborough,
And the Otonabee;
Now Salley and I are married,
Happpy as can be.

(Chorus)—
My dearest Salley Brown,
Dear Salley Brown,
Now Salley and I are married,
Dear Salley Brown,

And by the good Otonabee,
We mean to end our days,
My Salley and I in clover,
Singing all our lays.

(Chorus)—
My dearest Salley Brown,
Dear Salley Brown,
My Salley and I in clover,
Dear Salley Brown.

Correct Quotation.

If you must quote, do quote correctly. Is the pen mightier than the sword? Thousands say or print, "The pen is mightier than the sword." It may be true, but if it is meant for a quotation it is not fairly given. The original lines in the play are:

Beneath the rule of men entirely great
The pen is mightier than the sword.

This error has been corrected over and over again, but those who misquote seldom read what they are pretending to quote, but quote from a man who quoted from another man who—and so on. In many books will be found long lists of these prevalent misquotations.

Particular.

"You want the pockets to run up and down, I suppose?" said the tailor.

"No, sir," the irritable customer replied. "I prefer stationary pockets. You may make the slits perpendicular, however."

Your Weak Spot.

Perhaps it is your throat or your bronchial tubes. If you take cold easily take Scott's Emulsion. It checks any tendency in your system to serious lung trouble.

The Cup That Cheers

Is there really anything so refreshing as a cup of tea! Of course, we don't blame some people who say there's not much refreshment about a cup of tea, because they're drinking something else that has had no acquaintance with the real tea leaf.

We sell tea—real tea—and if you want to know how refreshing it can be, make a cup from one of our fine varieties imported for the Christmas season.

POISONED BY SALMON

Rev. Colin Sinclair, Wife and Son Dangerously Low.

Rev. Colin Sinclair, of Woodstock, who was married to Miss Maude Miller, the poet, on Thursday, is dangerously ill from ptomaine poisoning, caused by eating canned salmon on Christmas Day. Mrs. Sinclair and son are also dangerously ill from the same cause.

THE PIANOMAKERS' STRIKE.

Amasa Turney of Woodstock Killed by a Falling Tree—Sir Joseph Noel Paton, the Painter, Dead—Northern Pacific Railway Shortening Its Main Line by 99 Miles—Settling Temiskaming.

Hon. Dr. Montague has arrived at Vancouver, B.C., from Australia.

Amherst Island elected its council by acclamation on Thursday.

Christmas night George Elliott's store at Crandall, Manitoba, was robbed of $1,000.

Charles H. Genslinger of the Hotel Cecil, Ottawa, made an assignment Thursday morning for the benefit of his creditors.

Sir Joseph Noel Paton, the painter, was found dead in his bed at Edinburgh on Thursday. He was born in 1821.

The concession to the Building Company of London comprises 15,000 square miles of territory in the State of Acre.

One must be vaccinated in Quebec Province now. The Board of Health has notified all municipalities to adopt a compulsory bylaw.

The stock of Graham Bros., coats' furnishers, London, Ont., was damaged by fire and water to the extent of about $5,000 Thursday morning.

During the first eleven months of this year 1,007 locations of land have been taken up in the Temiskaming country, equal to 160,000 acres.

Rev. Colin Sinclair of St. Thomas, Ont., wife and son, are dangerously ill from poisoning as a result of eating canned salmon Christmas Day.

Thursday morning Amasa Turney of Woodstock, N.B., was killed while felling a tree. He was found dead with a huge tree lying across his head.

Three men were killed and three seriously injured by the breaking of a huge crane at the plant of the American Bridge Co. at Chicago on Thursday.

The Northern Pacific Railway is preparing to shorten its main line in Washington State by 99 miles, by building the Lind-Kittenburg cut-off across Yakima Valley.

Messrs. Wallace and Campbell, candidates for Conservative and Liberal parties respectively in West York, held a successful joint meeting at Maple on Thursday night.

Mrs. Maude McCormick, known to the public as Miss Maude Miller, an actress and daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet, died at Oakland, Cal., on Thursday of heart trouble.

Helplessly paralyzed and alone in his kitchen, Demetrius J. Clark was burned to a crisp at Altoona, Pa., yesterday. He is supposed to have overturned a lighted lamp.

It is said that cigarette smoking prevails in the Royal Military College at Kingston to an alarming extent. Cigarettes are allowed to be sold to the cadets by the canteen sergeant.

Former President Cleveland has accepted appointment to the Industrial Department of the National Civic Federation, created at the recent peace conference of labor and capitalistic leaders.

Arthur Cathrow, the young farmer who assaulted Mr. James Slater of Leadon, Ont., about a week ago, and struck him over the head with a heavy iron bar, was Thursday morning sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary.

The strike of the employes of the American Express Company's line was settled at Lynn, Mass., on Thursday night, and afterwards the company was cheered, and in return the men received a Christmas present of five dollars in gold each.

After having been separated for over 35 years, Mrs. J. W. Rutherford, who resides in Eabn Rapids, Mich., was reunited Christmas Day with a long lost sister, Mrs. A. Matthews, who lives in Flint. They both left Brantford, Ont., when about 8 years of age.

The Ontario Sugar Beet Co. decided to locate their factory at Berlin, Ont., at a meeting of the Site Committee, held at the Council Chamber of the Toronto Board of Trade Thursday. Upwards of $200,000 of the capital stock of the company has already been subscribed.

The ranks of the striking pianomakers were increased Thursday by three factories and sixteen men, who went out, obeying the mandate. The strikers met in the morning in Cameron Hall, and 408 men responded to their names. The various shops were opened Thursday, and the employers claim that a number of the men are working.

Six Men Fatally Wounded.

Piketon, O., Dec. 27.—Six men were probably fatally wounded in a general fight at a small country church at Pike Postoffice Wednesday night and a panic occurred among the worshippers. During a religious meeting, Charles and Orron Day appeared, and announced that they had "come to clean out the Leggs," a family with which the Days had had frequent quarrels. A general fight resulted in the church and around it, women and children shrieked and sought safety from revolvers and knives by jumping from the windows. At the close six men lay wounded, Orren and Charles Day, Leslie Legg, Joe Williams, John Carrant and Lebanon Williams. It is believed the six men will die. Many others were slightly injured.

MacLay is Fired.

New York, Dec. 27.—Edgar Stanton MacLay, who refused to resign as special laborer in the office of the General Storekeeper of the Navy Yard, was summarily discharged yesterday. MacLay went to the Navy Yard as usual and prepared to resume his duties. Pay Director Putnam went to MacLay's desk, read him the telegram of dismissal received from Washington the day before, and told him that he was dismissed. MacLay left the yard immediately. He said he would return at the usual time to-day, prepared to go to work.

Rescue Raider Killed.

Charlestown, P.E.I., Dec. 27. — Four men forced an entrance into Mrs. McAuley's boarding house at Annadale Wednesday night. The men refused to leave. The boarders were aroused, and when Capt. John Warren came down stairs he was set upon by the men. Warren had a revolver in his hand, and he shot Dennis Brown dead. His three companions then left the house. No arrests have as yet been made.

A Big Clearance Of All Christmas Goods

Between now and the New Year all Holiday Goods must be disposed of.

Stock-taking takes place in January. We don't propose to take stock of any more Fancy Goods than is absolutely necessary. We haven't space to give these goods after the first of January.

All have the "get out" prices on them.

A Happy New Year

We extend to all our customers and friends our hearty thanks for past favours, and wish them a bright New Year.

BRITISH LOSS HEAVY

Dewet Raids Col. Firman's Camp on Tuesday Night.

THE ENEMY CAPTURED 2 GUNS

Twefontein in Orange River Colony the Scene of the Reverse—Dewet Had a Strong Commando and Reached the Position—Two Regiments of Light Horse Now Pursuing the Boers.

London, Dec. 27.—The following despatch has been received from Lord Kitchener, dated Johannesburg: General Rundle reports that the night of Dec. 24 Colonel Firman's camp at Twefontein consists of three companies of yeomanry and two guns, was successfully rushed by a strong commando under Dewet. It is feared the casualties were heavy. Two regiments of light horse are pursuing the Boers.

Boer resistance has always been very strong in that part of the Orange River Colony which was the scene of General Dewet's Christmas coup.

A great quadrangle of blockhouses, is being built there, the four points of which are Vereeniging, Volksrust, Harrismith and Kroonstadt. At the southeast corner of this quadrangle is a long, open space, from Bethlehem to Lindley, where the square of blockhouses is still incomplete, and here Dewet made his attack.

Col. Firman's force probably amounted to 400 man, and the disaster, especially the loss of the guns, the possession of which may enable Dewet successfully to attack the blockhouses, creates a disturbing impression.

Boer Prisoner in a Box.

Island of Ascension, Dec. 27.—The British steamer Goth, from South African ports, arrived here yesterday. A Boer prisoner who was smuggled on board the vessel in a box at St. Helena, was handed over to the British naval authorities here.

DEPARTURE OF EXTRA QUOTA.

Thirty Men Per Second Mounted Rifles Left Without a Hurrah.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—The departure of Toronto's second quota of the 2nd Mounted Rifles for service in South Africa was unmarked by any demonstration whatever. The boys who have volunteered to give the Boers a brush were not even honored with a hurrah. Twenty-eight men and two corporals, thirty in all, in charge of Cpl. Otter and Lieut. Brunton, paraded to the Union Station and boarded the 10 o'clock train for Halifax, via the C.P.R. and I. C.R. A special car was provided for them. Pte. Earl Bates and Sergt. Balfour were appointed corporals provisionally. Lieut. Brunton will have charge of the men as far as Halifax.

Sixty For Nineteen.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 27.—To-day Major Gardiner will commence to recruit the 19 men who are to make up the second part of the third contingent. So far there are over 60 applications for the 19 places to be filled here.

Departure at Peterboro.

Peterboro, Dec. 27.—The citizens of Peterboro turned out again last night to give another contingent of South African volunteers a fitting send-off. The following additional men left at midnight to join the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles at Halifax: Sergt. George Might, 57th Regiment; Bugler Bert Cranfield, 57th Regiment; Sergt. M. Murphy, 57th Regiment; Bugler L. Connors, 57th Regiment; Private J. Leadfield, 3rd Dragoons; Private Dr. Blanchard, 3rd Dragoons; Private W. Bradburn, 3rd Dragoons; Alexander Trotter. This makes a total of eight men from Peterboro on the Mounted Rifles about to sail for South Africa.

Another Canadian Dead.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—The Governor-General has received the following cablegram from the Colonial Secretary: "Regret to inform you that Albert Edmonds was dangerously wounded, and N. W. Glass severely wounded, both at Zantpan, on Dec. 12. Fathers, respectively, Harry Edmonds, Balgonie, Assa., and William Glass, Willoughby, Saskatchewan.

Also Sergt. W. H. Rea died of dysentery Dec. 19 at Bloemfontein. Wife, Mrs. Rea, 55 Dalhousie street, Ottawa. Signed Chamberlain.

Sergt. Rea was formerly a member of the Northwest Mounted Police, and is a son of William Rea, secretary of the Public School Board.

733 Horses For South Africa.

St. John, N.B., Dec. 27.— The steamer Hurona, which sailed yesterday for South Africa, took 733 horses for the British army there. The horses were put on board and stalled in one hour and fifty minutes.

Edison's Yacht Wrecked.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 27.—It was reported from Beaufort, N.C., yesterday that the gasoline yacht Onawhiche, in which the two sons of Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, and the wife of one of them, with several friends passed through Norfolk en route to Figrida waters, has been wrecked on Cedar Island, near Beaufort. No particulars came with the report.

A BOY'S SAD FATE.

Alfred Jackson Mortally Wounded by His Uncle on a Farm Near St. Catharines, Ont.

St. Catharines, Dec. 27. — Alfred Jackson, a 7-year-old boy, was on Wednesday shot down and mortally wounded by his uncle, a young man by the name of Fred Haynes. The affair was an accident. Due to the careless handling of a revolver. The boy who was killed, has for some time past been living with his grandmother, Mrs. Haynes, on her farm on the Thorold gravel road, a short distance west of this city.

Wednesday morning a son of Mrs. Haynes was examining a revolver in the dining-room. A neighbor and Fred Haynes were standing by. The revolver was then empty. Fred left the room, and his brother put a cartridge in the chamber of the weapon and laid it on the table.

Later Fred returned, and thinking the weapon was unloaded, picked it up. He pulled the trigger, and was horrified when the revolver went off, and his little nephew, who had come into the room unaware, fell on the floor. The bullet had passed through a book on the table and, glancing, had lodged in the abdomen of the boy.

The little fellow was taken to the hospital and an autopsy was performed. The stomach was punctured in two places, and the bullet also passed through the liver and lodged in the back. The punctures were sutured, but the boy died yesterday afternoon. The Crown Attorney ordered an inquest, and the coroner will organize the jury at 10 o'clock this morning. The family are much distressed over the fatality.

BRIDGE BROKE DOWN.

Train of Coal Cars Got Close, However, Before Crash Came.

Hamilton, Dec. 27.—There was an accident at the canal at the Beach a little after 10 o'clock last night. While a heavy train of cars loaded with coal, bound from Buffalo to Toronto, was passing over the Governor's swing bridge, the bridge broke in two. The break occurred on the north side of the support, and the cars simply settled into the sand. The locomotive and five cars were clear of the bridge when the crash came. Traffic will be blocked for some time, maybe weeks. It is likely that a new bridge will have to be built. All the G.T.R. trains for Allandale, Barrie and points north will have to be sent from the city via Burlington Junction till the bridge is repaired. No person was hurt.

FOUR AT A DROWNING.

A Quartette of Nova Scotia Lads Cheated to Death.

Bridgewater, N.S., Dec. 27. — A very sad drowning accident shocked the entire community here Christmas Day. Four boys, who were skating on the Lil lake, above Cook's Mills, fell through weak ice and were drowned. The boys names were: Perry and Merrill Rhodenhamer, aged 14 and 12 years respectively, sons of Mrs. Stephen Rhodenhamer. Curry Hubley, aged 13, whose birthday was Christmas Day, son of Cyrus Hubley, and George Baltham, aged 10 years, son of James Baltham. The bodies were grappled for and recovered.

Didn't See the Signal.

Cincinnati, Dec. 27.—Unable to see the flagman's signal on account of fog, the engineer of the southbound Chicago Express, on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway, was unable to stop the train at Hartwell yesterday until it had struck a freight crossing the track and demolishing three freight cars. Four passengers and two trainmen on the express train were injured. They will all recover. The wrecking train on the Hartwell met with an accident, killing Patrick McCoy and fatally injuring two others. The chain of the crane broke and struck the men while the train was in motion.

A Mayor's Sudden Death.

Orangeville, Dec. 27.—Mr. William Still, Mayor of Orangeville, died suddenly at his office here yesterday afternoon. The deceased was seized with an acute vomiting spell and suddenly fell forward on a lounge. When the doctor arrived Mr. Still was beyond human aid, and in a few minutes had expired. His death is attributed to heart failure or the bursting of an inner blood vessel. Coroner Henry will hold an inquest. He was 50 years of age, and leaves a widow and one son Mr. Elmer Still.

Arrested in Montreal.

Montreal, Dec. 27.—Albert Jerome Ayres, 19 years of age, was arrested at 6 a.m. yesterday, while in bed in a house in St. Justin Street. Ayres is wanted in Brooklyn for the theft of $2,000 in gold on Tuesday, Dec. 17. He was a messenger in the Union Bank, and was sent out of the Hamilton avenue branch with the money in a satchel to deliver at the head office, and only $700 of it will be recovered, as the prisoner has spent the balance. He pleaded guilty, and goes back without extradition proceedings.

Hand-to-Hand Fight.

Washington, Dec. 27.—The War Department yesterday was advised by General Chaffee at Manila that Company F, 21st Infantry, had a desperate hand to hand encounter in a gorge six miles south of San Jose, Batangas, Dec. 23. Twenty-two of the enemy were killed. Patrick A. Connolly received an ugly bolo wound in the left cheek. Private Cassey received six bolo cuts in the neck and shoulder.

SEE HOW THESE BRETHREN LOVE.

We have been told by Mr. Mabee, of pamphlet fame, that the inner-councils of our Conservative friends were not exactly a dovecote in the matter of harmony. But the idea was indignantly scouted, and by no authority more energetically than the Mail newspaper, but recent developments tend to confirm the assertions of Mr. Mabee above mentioned. There has been a standing feud, as is well known, between the rival Conservative organs, the World and the Mail, but in public there has been a sort armed neutrality existing between them and a sly dig from the man "with the knife," countered mildly for the sake of maintaining a show of harmony by the senior organ, have been samples of the journalistic exchanges of hostilities. But the advent of Mr. W. F. Maclean, M. P., of the World, into the Toronto mayoralty arena has been the signal of a fight a l'outrance. The Mail stands for Mr. Howland, the ornamental occupant of the mayor's chair. The World and Mr. Maclean, thinking no doubt, that with the visit of Royalty past, Toronto has no further need for a mere "sassiety" mayor—Mr. Maclean with his ear to the ground declares that the city needs a mayor of starner stuff, and therefor he offers himself for election. Mr. Maclean is a fighter of the rude school and can be said to have little about him of the "oiled and curled Assyrian bull" exquaite type. The Mail attacks Mr. Maclean, and this is how Mr. Maclean gets back at his journalistic censor. The following from the World of Thursday is not given, for, as the Christmas presentation addresses say, its intrensic value, but to show how these brethren love one another:

"Mr. W. F. Maclean on Christmas—of all days—gave out to other city papers the following, which appeared in the World Thursday morning, under the caption, "The Betrayer Raging Again":—

"The poor old Mail is very much afraid that W. F. Maclean of The World should be Mayor of Toronto. It reserts to its usual tirade of personal abuse.

"For the benefit of the public, and for some Conservatives, The World takes up a few lines in explaining why the nest of traitors in The Mail building hate The World. Here is The Mail's record:

"Betrayal of Sir John A. Macdonald and the Conservative party. Turn up Sir John's speech at London and recall his appeal to friends to help him start The Empire.

"Betrayal of British connection. An alliance with Erastus Wiman for annexation. The Mail crowd were the chief Canadian end of the Dana-Sun conspiracy, organized in New York. They walked about Printing House Square, New York, with a map of Canada in their pocket, offering this country (also a newspaper) for sale.

"Abandonment of protection and the National Policy, and becoming an out-and-out advocate of commercial union with the United States.

"Betrayal of Protestantism and Equal Rights for coercion of Manitoba. Recall hundreds of attacks on the French-Canadians and Quebec in order to incite racial strife and promote annexation.

"Betrayal of D'Alton McCarthy just as he was coming to the front again.

"Betrayal of prohibition. Declared that it was to carry a banner for prohibition, and now using the question for political ends.

"Betrayal of W. R. Meredith and the Conservatives in the Ontario Legislature, and support of Sir Oliver Mowat.

"The World exposed The Mail, and beat it out on every one of these incidents.

"If The World claims credit for one thing, it is for beating out Erastus Wiman and The Mail in the matter of commercial union and annexation.

"If The World claims credit for anything, it is that, in season and out of season, it was against the coercion of Manitoba.

If the World claims credit for anything, it claims credit for fidelity to the principle of protection.

If the World claims credit for anything, from a Conservative point of view, it is forever contending that no momentous step should be taken without consulting caucus, and that conventions should be called to revise the platform.

But the World has done other things. It got the people of Toronto Sunday cars. Half the battle was to overcome the disreputable methods of the Mail, which, through sheer jealousy like World would win, blocked the way on every occasion.

The Mail, single-handed, has practically beaten out the prohibition crave within the past month, and the Mail is insanely jealous again. The World last week made to stop its attempt to manufacture political capital out of this solemn issue, by exposing its own duplicity regarding it. Was there ever a more telling exposure of political depravity?

The World does things for the people, and the Mail is mad with jealousy thereat.

Mr. Maclean promises to try and do something for the people of Toronto, and the old attacks, now so stale, about the man with the knife, are resumed.

And remember the paper and the people who are doing this are the men and paper who betrayed and knifed, at one time and another, Sir John Macdonald, D'Alton McCarthy, W. R. Meredith, British connection, protection, equal rights and protection.

"Have you anything to say," Mr. Maclean was asked last night, "besides what is being said in the World?"

"Only this, that the four city Conservative Members of Parliament for Toronto, Messrs. Osler, Clarke, Brock and Kemp, and the four city members in the Legislature, Messrs. Marter, Foy, Crawford and Dr. Pyne, will have a fine opportunity within the next few days of saying whether or not they approve of this attack upon me by the Mail."

We in Peterborough have little interest in the Toronto mayoralty contest per se. But it is interesting to be an onlooker when it develops into a faction fight, and when one of the faction leaders is a from-the-shoulder-hitter like "Billy Maclean." This fight, even in its beginning, is exciting and interesting. Toronto is a hopelessly Conservative city, and is supposed, according to Mr. Whitney's philosophy, to be rather fond of dictating a policy to the rest of the province, and of, as Mr. Maclean asserts, "taking momentous steps without consulting caucus," and without "calling a convention to revise the platform." The old saw tells us that when rogues fall out honest men get their due, and it may become true that when politicians in the same camp come to fisticuffs, outsiders may see some interesting side lights upon the condition of cat-and-dog harmony that seems to prevail in the Conservative ranks in Toronto, and through this centre of political dictation, in the party throughout the province.

The Mail and Empire says that "What Canada needs is wireless politics." Between the organ and its party allies we have plenty of spineless politics, anyway.

CREED REVISION.

Work Consists of a Statement of Faith and Explanatory Statement.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 27.—The Presbyterian Creed Revision Committee has issued the following statement through its secretary, the Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts: "For the information of the church, I am authorized to say that the committee on credal unanimity at Washington, D.C., on December 4th and remained in session until Dec. 14th. The work accomplished at the meeting consists of a brief statement of the Reformed Faith "in untechnical terms, and also a declaratory statement."

The statement of reformed faith is contained in sixteen articles, and the declaratory statement covers chapter III., chapter X, section three, chapter XXV, section six, of the Confession of Faith, as specified in the assemblies of the committee, and also additional statements as to the "Gospel" and the "Holy Spirit."

"The work thus far done is altogether tentative, is not for publication, and is to be considered at another meeting of the committee, to be held in Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 7, 1902. The committee also appointed a sub-committee of five, consisting of F. W. C. Humphrey, Drs. McKibbin, Fisher, Nicholl and Moffat, to prepare a tentative revision of the Confession of Faith on the several points contained in the instructions of the committee above named, the same to be delivered at the February meeting, along with the declaratory statement."

It is generally understood by the Presbyterian ministers in that city that the plan of the committee is to report the declaratory statement to the General Assembly, and sidetrack the revision movement until the Assembly of 1903.

Fatal Current.

Akron, O., Dec. 27.—D. P. Wheeler, cashier of the Citizens' National Bank, was found dead in front of the vault in the bank Wednesday night. He had been killed by an electric shock through handling a socket of an incandescent lamp and opening the vault door at the same time, thus forming a current which killed him.

"Steeple Joe" Dead.

New York, Dec. 17.—"Steeple Joe" Lawler, the original steeple climber, is dead in Gouverneur Hospital. Lawler was 40 years old, and during his time as a "steeple jack" probably assembled more steeples and tutored more pupils in his dangerous trade than any other man in the United States.

SURPLUS IS $5,648,333

Finances of the Dominion For the Last Fiscal Year.

FIGURES AS FINALLY REVISED.

Receipts For the Year Ended 30th June Last Were $59,514,701, and the Expenditure For the Same Period Totalled $46,866,367—Deposits in Postoffice and Government Savings Bank Increased.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—According to the official figures, as finally revised, the surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures for the fiscal year ended June 30th last amounted to the handsome sum of $5,648,333. The receipts were $52,514,701, and the expenditure totalled $46,866,367. The expenditure chargeable to capital amounted to $7,695,488, as against $7,466,848 for the previous fiscal year. Adding $2,512,328 for railway subsidies and $906,681 for the South African contingents and Halifax garrison to the capital expenditure, gives a total of $11,116,-498. Deducting the surplus of $5,-648,333, sinking funds to the amounts of $2,480,336 and $1,631 of refunds, it leaves $2,986,196 to be added to the net debt of the Dominion, which on June 30th stood at $268,480,003. The details of capital expenditure were as follows:

Railways — Intercolonial Railway, $3,633,886; Prince Edward Island, $380,178.

Canals — Lachine, $97,305; St. Lawrence River, Cornwall, $62,032; Farran's Point, $111,156; Galops, $481,324; Lake St. Francis, $15,-000; Lake St. Louis channel, $12,-918; North Channel, $184,790; Rapids Plat, $76,501; River Reaches, $19,389; Soulanges, $462,626; Sault Ste. Marie, $323,353; Trent, $284,-503; Welland, $224,586.

Public Works—Government buildings, Ottawa, $40,481; Levis, graving dock, $75,140; Montreal Harbor improvements, $49,296; St. Lawrence ship channel, $432,557; Port Colborne harbor, $1,271; River Kaministiqua, $7,898; St. Andrew's Rapids, Man., $15,412; Yukon territory, $385,414; Dominion lands, $269,-000; militia, $135,884.

The $2,512,328 of railway subsidies includes the following payments: Canadian Northern Railway, $537,-600; Grand Trunk Railway, $228,-371.75; Central Ontario Railway, $67,200; Midland Railway, $170,264; Canadian Pacific Railway, $92,800; Ottawa and New York Railway, $90, Ottawa and New York Railway, $90,000; Quebec bridge, $54,745; Crow's Nest Pass Railway, $205,-524.

Banking Statistics.

At the close of the fiscal year the balance at the credit of the depositors in the Government and Post-office savings banks amounted to $56,048,957.06, an increase of $2,-899,234.66 over the balance held on June 30, 1900; part of this increase, $1,589,761.05, represents interest added to the various accounts, and the remainder, $1,309,473.61, the excess of receipts over withdrawals. Dominion notes to the amount of $27,071,452.05 were outstanding on June 30, 1901, as against $26,094,-928.52 on June 30 of the previous year, or an increase of $1,576,528.-53. The increasing volume of the Dominion, the Deputy Minister of Finance says, is doubtless the principal cause of this expansion of the circulation, but a part of it is apparently attributable to the fact that the chartered banks are approaching the limit of the circulation allowed by the terms of the bank act, and are using Dominion issues where ordinarily their own notes would be employed.

MORE VEXEOUS POLICY.

Proposed Changes in the Dominion Immigration Service.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—Mr. J. A. Smart, Deputy Minister of the Interior, accompanied by Mr. W. S. White, Inspector of Immigration Agencies in the United States, leaves for England on Tuesday next to investigate matters connected with the immigration service there. It has been decided to place the immigration offices in England and Europe under the control of Mr. J. T. R. Preston, subject to the direction of the High Commissioner, but further changes are contemplated. Mr. Smart has power to open an immigration office in the business centre of London if, after careful investigation, he finds such a step to be necessary. The immigration work in London is conducted at the High Commissioner's office on Victoria street, Westminster, but it has been thought for some time that this office is a little out of the way and that a location on a more prominent street ought to be found. Mr. Smart will also visit each one of the different branch agencies in Britain and study the methods of working with a view of entertaining where improvement can be introduced.

It is intended to indulge in advertising on a more popular and systematic plan than has hitherto been done. The value of advertising has been well demonstrated at the Canadian agencies in the United States. It was long ago found that, while advertising was maintained, inquiries about land from intending settlers were numerous, but that inquiries dropped if the advertising was dropped for any season. Accordingly, a persistent and steady policy of making known Canada's resources in the United States has been followed, and to this is largely attributed the great tide of immigration from the western States to western Canada which is now in progress.

The Immigration Department desires to pursue the same policy in Britain, and it is hoped equally successful results will follow. It is gathered from the speeches of the Prince of Wales since he returned to England that he is impressed with the necessity of aiding British settlers to settle the unoccupied lands of Canada and the other British dominions, and if the British Government acts upon the suggestion of the heir-apparent the work of the Canadian immigration branch will be greatly facilitated.

Last year Canada received 12,000 settlers from Britain, or only about one-fourth of the number which went from the British Isles to the United States. A strong endeavor will be made by means of active agents and the adoption of a vigorous propaganda to attract a large volume of British immigration to Canada. Messrs. Smart and White will be absent about six weeks on their mission.

MARCONI'S MOVEMENTS.

Successful Wireless in North Sydney—Station to Cape Breton.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—A message received by Hon. W. S. Fielding states that Signor Marconi arrived at North Sydney yesterday. He will pay a visit to Louisburg, and to-day will leave for Montreal and Ottawa. Signor Marconi will reach the former city on Saturday evening, but how long he will stay there and when he will arrive at Ottawa are not known.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 27.—Yesterday afternoon Signor Marconi, accompanied by Premier Murray and a number of others, inspected several sites in Cape Breton from which the inventor made observations. Marconi said last night that in all probability he would establish a wireless telegraphy station in Cape Breton. Table Head, on the line of the Sydney and Louisburg Railway, he declared, was a capital site for his operations. Before leaving, however, he will inspect a number of other sites, which have been pointed out to him. Last evening Signor Marconi was dined at the Sydney Hotel by Premier Murray and others.

Wireless For U.S. Navy.

Washington, Dec. 27.—The Navy Department has taken the initial step toward the adoption of wireless telegraphy as a means of signalling between warships at sea. To this end Admiral Bradford of the Bureau of Equipment has asked that the armored cruisers of the Pennsylvania class have their masts and rigging so arranged that the wireless system can be introduced.

Canada is making good Indians out of live ones. The Dominion started the right way about it. While the red citizens of the United States were engaged in repelling the advance of civilization, while they were massacreing the settler and the settler's family as they pushed their way further and further west, the Canadian Indian was trapping the game of the north for the Hudson's Bay Company, and in this way benefiting mankind.

The fact that in Canada the white man brought the Indian congenial employment, brought the white man's need for the Indian to fill, and for the which he was ready to pay, put the attitude of both into their proper relations. Go where you will in western Canada even at this date and the H.B.C. flag of the old company is a safeguard against theft by any Indian. To the Indian that flag stood for their employer's, for a government that left them their wild free life and their game. But it represented a government none the less; a government for the Indian by the white man, but a government of such a character that the savage did not rebel against it.

ON THE STONY INDIAN RESERVATION.

There are nearly one-half of the Indians of Canada still under the jurisdiction of the Hudson's Bay Company. They are the natives of the far north and include the typical red men of the forest and the Esquimaux far beyond the Arctic circle. To these the factor at the Hudson's Bay Company post at which they dispose of the trophies of the chase for what they consider the luxuries of life is both lawmaker and lawgiver. His authority is unquestioned, and his order meets with instant obedience. The source of his authority is neither known nor cared; to him chiefs, medicine men and warriors bow a willing knee.

The tourist from Winnipeg west finds Indians at every station. In Winnipeg they come into the city in the winter time with dog teams and sledges, bringing to the market offered by the fur traders, of whom there are now a number, the skins they have secured during the summer months and taking back with them the powder and shot, blankets, rough clothing and other things for which they exchange their products. During the summer months the really picturesque Indian is unknown in Winnipeg. They reside too far north to make the trip except when the winter's snows offer a method of transportation, but as the tourist travels westward he finds more of them. They meet every train. they are seen at every hand, and it is hard to believe that there are less than 100,000 of them all told in Canada.

Hon. David Laird, the Canadian Indian Commissioner for the Northwest Territories, was recently asked: "Where is the best place to see the typical Canadian Indian?"

OLD TIME TYPICAL DIAN HOME.

"It depends entirely on what one classes as typical," he replied, "What we would class as typical western Canada Indians are those in the schools, on the farms and the cattle ranges. They are not the picturesque Indians, however. If you are looking for paint and feathers there is no better place than around Calgary. There you can see the Indian in all his savage finery, but they are typical of a generation ago, not of to-day."

Canada has successfully educated a large percentage of her Indian population. All over the western provinces and territories are Indian boarding and day schools in which the younger generation of Indians take a great interest, and in which thousands of them are perfecting themselves for lives of civilization and usefulness.

But the old love for the wild life is not entirely dead even among the younger generations. About Calgary may be seen the Crows, the Blackfeet, and a little further west in the foothills of the mountains the Stony tribe. With them the moccasins, the blanket, the buckskin breeches and shirt constitute the wearing apparel; the squaws still perform the drudgery of the camp, her lord is still a hunter, and to a small extent a cattle ranger. The tepee is the common home, and they are seen by hundreds from Medicine Hat to the Rocky mountains.

Knife's Clover Root Tea cures Indigestion

NO JOY IN THIS FAMILY.

Illness of the Head of the House Makes the Festive Season a Very Sad one.

The Dyspeptic is generally very cross and irritable. It is impossible to be happy or to make others happy when distressed and worried by the pains of indigestion. The Dyspeptic's family is seldom a happy one, for when the one who should lead the others in all merry making is nursing a pain which racks his body and irritates his brain, it is very difficult to get up much enthusiasm.

And there is no reason why this should not be forever banished, and at once, for Dyspepsia can be presently relieved and permanently cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many who have been cured of Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and Bloating by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have given their testimony. This evidence multiplies as time goes on.

At Milford, Ont., lives Mr. A. D. Miller, who for years suffered untold pain through Dyspepsia. His physician treated him for Liver Complaint, but he grew worse. He would bloat up terribly after eating; his appetite was capricious, sometimes couldn't eat at all, at other times ravenously hungry; his heart suffered also, palpitation being so bad that he could not sleep at night. He was so run down that he was hardly able to get around.

He commenced a treatment of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and soon began to improve. He says:

"After using two boxes I was well and felt like a new man, and I have had good health ever since."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have changed many a miserable victim of stomach troubles into a healthy happy man or woman, and the best of all is that once cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets means permanently cured.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Dec. 26.—There were only three carloads of butchers' cattle, a few small calves and about 350 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were out in considerable numbers, but bought sparingly, owing to the very meagre supply and the high prices asked for them. A few large fat cows and heifers were sold at from 4½c to 4¾c per lb., and the others at from 3c to 4c per lb. The calves sold at about $3 each, the sheep at about 3c per lb., and the lambs at about 4c per lb. Fat hogs sold at from 6c to 6¼c per lb., weighed off the cars.

The Climax.

An exchange tells of a father and mother who were trying to find names for their twin babies, who by the way were girls. It was decided that the father must name them. After casting about and finding no names that exactly suited him, he determined to end the strain on his mind and name them Kate and Duplicate. In the course of time another pair of twins came who were boys. This time he wanted his wife to christen the boys. Imagine his feelings when the mother told him she had named them Pete and Repeat. But when the third pair came the father grew frightened and named them Max and Ultimat.

Central Business College, Toronto.

This excellent school provides the best possible means for imparting a practical education along business lines to its numerous students. It has a staff of twelve experienced teachers, superior equipment, including no less than eighty typewriting machines, and is most successful in aiding its pupils and graduates to secure suitable positions.

For the term ending December 6th it sent two graduates to commercial positions in Windsor, Ont., one to North Bay, and located nine in business houses in Toronto, a result of the enviable reputation it enjoys for giving a thorough training and for recommending none but well qualified candidates to business men. The winter term in this school begins on Jan. 6th, as stated in advt. in this issue.

SGT. TRUSLER WRITES

And Tells how the Boys are at Halifax —They are all Well.

Lieut. R. F. McWilliams, of No. 3 Company, 57th Regt., has received the following letter from Sergt. Trusler, who is with the Peterborough boys in Halifax, on his way to South Africa;

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 23rd.

Lieut. McWilliams, 57th Regt.,—

Dear Sir, — I thought perhaps you would like to hear from the boys at Halifax. Well, we are all well, and answer the roll call at mess. We are quartered in the exhibition building, and are quite comfortable. Our rations are good, and taking everything into consideration, we have nothing to complain of. Our officers are very attentive and look after us well, and our group leader, Lt. Marshall, is a fine fellow, always ready to explain and help us in every way. Already he has gained the good will and respect of No. 3 Troop, 19 Squad. This means a great deal to an officer as you know.

I hope to see some of the 57th among the 8 men who are coming. Tell Might to try hard for we all want him to come. Another fellow who would make a good man is Pte. Oldham of your company. I hope No. 3 will continue to pick up, and wish you every success.

We have been practising with Morris Tube and all the boys from Peterborough do well. To-morrow we go to Bedford Ranges to shoot, the ranges being 100, 200, and 300 yards, 7 shots at each, and I hope the Peterborough boys will make a good record.

We have no saddles yet, nor has any uniform been issued, consequently we have had no mounted drill, but we go through the formations on foot twice a day, and enjoy it very much, as it gives us an idea what to do when mounted.

We are well looked after by the Y.M.C.A. of Halifax, who supply us free with writing material and daily papers, which the boys appreciate very much.

We have a fine lot of horses, rather smaller than the last ones, but they are good limbed and have lots of life. They average 14 1-2 hands, and are mostly Ontario bred. The men also are smaller than before but they are a very hardy looking lot of boys.

We can get a pass out every night until 12 if not on duty, and of course the barracks are almost empty each night.

Kindly remember me to the boys of No. 3 and to Mr. Mills. I trust we will all make a good record for ourselves in South Africa, and prove ourselves worthy of the confidence which you have placed in us in selecting us as your representatives, and when the year is up I hope we may all return, having done our duty, and done it well. So with best wishes for a bright and happy New Year and hoping to get a line from you, I remain, sir, yours for the good old flag.

TROOPER TRUSLER,
218, M Squadron, 2nd Troop, C. M. R., Halifax, N.S.

REMEMBERED BY HER PUPILS.

On Friday afternoon the children of S. S. No. 1, Ennismore, met and presented their teacher, Miss L. B. Primeau, with a handsome album and writing desk. The presentation was made by two pupils, Miss Lottie O'Donoghue and Miss Mary O'Reilly while Miss Gertrude Moher, another pupil, read the following address;

To Miss Primeau, Teacher S. S. No. 1, Ennismore,—

Dear Teacher, — As you are about to sever those fond ties which for the past few years have bound us so lovingly together we, your pupils, but feebly express our heartfelt sorrow upon losing so kind and painstaking a teacher. We assure you dear teacher, your ready sympathy we shall greatly miss, and now as a token of our esteem for you, please accept these small presents which, though trifling in worth bear with them the sincerest love and respect of your pupils of S. S. No. 1, Ennismore.

In conclusion we hope that your future walk in life may be strewn with Heaven's choicest blessings, and that each succeeding year may be the happiest of your life. Wishing you also the compliments of the season.

Signed on behalf of your pupils,
GERTRUDE MOHER,
LILLIAN O'CONNOR,
LILLIE O'CONNOR,
MARY O'REILLY,
LOTTIE O'DONOGHUE.

Miss Primeau is a daughter of Mr. Joseph H. Primeau, Ashburnham.

CHARGES DISMISSED

Against Three Prominent Boot and Shoe Merchants Who Were up This Morning.

Three prominent George street boot and shoe merchants were up in the police court this morning charged with having violated the town by-law regarding the early closing of their places of business. The alleged offence was that they had sold goods to customers after 7 o'clock on Monday evening. One of the defendants pleaded guilty to a violation of the bylaw, but claimed that when satisfied by the police of his alleged wrong doing he ceased selling. The other two merchants pleaded not guilty. One of these was represented by counsel and the other conducted his own defence. Witnesses were called in [illegible] endeavored to establish [illegible] clerks gave evidence [illegible] while others may [illegible] after seven o'clock [illegible] purchased [illegible] entered [illegible] before the hour. [illegible] would be, they contended, a violation of the bylaw. After considerable discussion by counsel the magistrate dismissed the charges. In doing so he said that he felt sure that the town bylaw did not make better provision for the merchants at this season of the year. On account of press of business perhaps these merchants felt themselves obliged to sell after 7 o'clock. He would advise them to go to the council and ask that body to make better provisions for this season of the year. They should, he thought, be allowed at least three evenings previous to Christmas day—one night open before an ordinary holiday is sufficient. He thought also that the people who were in the store before seven o'clock, and remained after that hour, had a right to be served even without the door being locked. It was a kind of case that wants to be clearly proven and such had not been done. He therefore dismissed all the charges, but in doing so said that the case would serve as a warning. There was no fine imposed in the case of the merchant who pleaded guilty.

The Children's Aid Society wishes to acknowledge the receipt of $42.17 from the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, and also the sums of $10, $5, $2 and $1, being contributions for the Christmas cheer given to the poor.

Merry Christmas.

We are leading our efforts to make the season a pleasant one by doing everything we can to cheapen the price of some useful article of Millinery and Dress requirements. Nowhere else in Peterborough can you enjoy the advantages in selection and price that is being offered at this store. Millinery and Manilas are going actually at half price. Gloves, Laces, Ornaments for the hair and other needs for evening wear in newest ideas. New and beautiful handkerchiefs, neckwear, collars, fascinators, infants wear and many other pleasing remembrances for Christmas buyers. Miss Delaney.

THE EIGHT ADDITIONAL MEN

Were Given a Splendid Send-off Last Night.

The Names of Those Who Left Last Night—The Band Turned Out and Crowds Cheered.

Still another detachment of soldier boys have left Peterborough to assist in supressing the guerilla warfare in South Africa. The old time military enthusiasm was not wanting on the part of the citizens, for the local representatives left last night amid the glare of bone fire and torch, amid the cheers of their fellow townsmen and the echo of the bugle horn in the hands, or rather the mouths of the small boys, and amid the inspiring strains of the Royal Regimental Band and the [illegible] and noisy [illegible] of the bugle boys. The send-off took of all the usual features. [illegible] one of the eight representatives of this body guard of soldiers. He was carried on shoulders, hoisted high in the air, shaken by the arm and with words of encouragement. For several hours previous to the departure of the boys this sort of demonstration continued. At different points of the town there were little [illegible] being offered and when the men assembled at about 11.30 p. m. at the drill shed, there was a large crowd to greet them. The fire team attached to the hose wagon was on hand as usual and after many informalities the procession started to the station.

The following constituted Peterborough's eight additional men:
Acting Corporal, M. Murphy.
Sergt. 57th Regt.
Ex-Sergt. George Might.
57th Regt.
Bugler, B. Cranfield.
57th Regt.
Bugler, L. Conners.
57th Regt.
W. C. Bradburn.
Late 3rd P.W.C. Dgns.
W. H. Blanchard.
Vetrinary Surgeon.
Alex. Trotter, Civilian.

As the band headed the procession down George street the boys were wildly cheered. At the station the crowd of townspeople was even larger than when the last twelve men left a week or two ago. Many ladies were in attendance and the enthusiasm ran to a high pitch. Finally the train came along, the men boarded her and were taken on their journey eastward.

At the drill shed Sgt. Murphy and Buglers Cranfield and Conners were presented with the sum of $25 each by the officers of the 57th Regiment.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as everything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with twenty-eight years' experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drugstore.

Court Chemong.

There was an unusually large attendance at the meeting of Court Chemong, No. 536, I.O.F., in their hall, George street, last night. The feature of the evening was an address by District Deputy Elliott of Toronto, which proved very interesting. The election of officers for the ensuing term was held, and the installation will take place at the next meeting of the court.

The December number of the J. W. Pepper Piano Music Magazine presents as its opening number for the December issue, a beautiful song by R. H. Buck and C. T. Lewis, entitled, "The Heart of Maryland." It is eminently singable and will be a favourite. The number also contains 22 pages of the most entertaining musical literature and half-tones, which with its 21 complete pieces for the piano—ten songs and eleven instrumental—gives those who purchase it several times the worth of their money. 25 cents. For sale by all newsdealers.

COMFORTS FOR THE C. M. R.

An urgent appeal comes from the Dominion W.C.T.U. Department of Militia, for comfort chests for our soldier boys going to South Africa in January. Ontario is asked for 500 of these useful articles, smaller in size than those sent the sailors, similar in make to an old-fashioned housewife or travelling companion, made in oilcloth, bound in red and furnished with such useful articles as needles, thread, buttons, court plaster, etc; also a Testament, and a kind motherly letter or New Year's card. Colonel Evans, the officer in charge, states that lime fruit juice and books for reading en route will be thankfully received. Ladies will kindly send direct to W.C.T.U. Headquarters, corner Grafton and Sackville streets, Halifax, care of Mrs. Edith Archibald, to arrive there not later than Jan. 10th.

The Trent Valley Hockey League Schedule.

Ten Clubs Start in the Race—The O. H. A. Schedule for This District.

A meeting of the Executive of the Trent Valley Hockey League was held in the Oriental Hotel last evening for the purpose of arranging the schedule for the coming season and appointing an official board of referees.

The following were in attendance: Messrs. W. R. Cameron, president; R. S. Clarry, secretary; Jos. Picard, representing the Lakeviews, and Mr. Dayman, representing Fenelon Falls.

The secretary read a letter from the Lakefield team stating that they would like to join the League, and upon motion, they were admitted.

Mr. W. T. Junkin, of Fenelon Falls, wrote stating that he felt he had not the time to act on the Executive this year, and asked that as the honour of vice-president of the League was in the club rather than the man, that Mr. H. McCallum of the Fenelon Falls Club be appointed in his stead. The request was granted.

The matter of the schedule was then gone into, and resulted as follows:

ROUND NO. 1.

"A."

Jan. 16—Norwood vs. Campbellford.
Jan. 17—Campbellford vs. Norwood.

"B."

Jan. 16 — Lakefield vs. Lakeviews.
Jan. 17—Lakeviews vs. Lakefield.

"C."

Jan. 16.—Keene vs. Millbrook.
Jan. 17—Millbrook vs. Keene.

"D."

Jan. 16—Omemee vs. Bobcaygeon.
Jan. 17—Bobcaygeon vs. Omemee.

"E."

Jan. 16—Lindsay vs. Fenelon Falls.
Jan. 17—Fenelon Falls vs. Lindsay.

ROUND NO. 2.

"F."

Jan. 20—Winner of A vs. winner of B.
Jan. 21—Winner of B vs. winner of A.

"G."

Jan. 20—Winner of D vs. winner of E.
Jan. 21—Winner of E vs. winner of D.

"H."

Winner of C a bye.

The schedule was drawn up only so far as the second round for the present. When this is played off the executive will meet to arrange the other games.

The games must be played any time on or before the above mentioned dates. The games must be played on the ice of the first mentioned club in the above schedule.

The president and secretary have the power to change any of the above dates upon sufficient grounds being shown by either of the teams concerned, and upon their giving three clear days' notice before schedule date to the secretary.

The following Board of Official Referees was appointed: Messrs. W. R. Cameron, Norwood; R. M. Glover and Ernie Watson, Peterborough; Dr Walters, Lindsay; and Dr. Aldous, Fenelon Falls.

The president and the secretary will determine which of the referees shall officiate at the different games, and they have the power to appoint anyone outside the above Board if it it impossible for any of the said Board to act.

The clubs in the League are required to have filed with the secretary before Jan. 10th, a list of their players, declared to before a commissioner. Such players must have been residents of the town on whose team they play, by Nov. 1st.

Each team is supposed to pay to the visiting team $10 towards expenses.

NO PETERBOROUGH REFEREES.

The intermediate and junior O.H.A. group meeting was held in Port Hope yesterday. Cobourg has withdrawn its team from the intermediate series. The schedule of games in this district is as follows:

Intermediate Series.

Jan. 10—Peterborough at Lindsay, Port Hope at Belleville.
Jan. 14—Lindsay at Port Hope, Belleville at Peterborough.
Jan. 17—Peterborough at Belleville, Port Hope at Lindsay.
Jan. 20—Lindsay at Peterborough.
Jan. 22—Belleville at Port Hope.
Jan. 27—Port Hope at Peterborough.
Jan. 28—Belleville at Lindsay.
Jan. 31—Peterborough at Port Hope, Lindsay at Belleville.

Junior Series.

Jan. 7—Belleville at Peterborough.
Jan. 13—Peterborough at Belleville.
Jan. 20—Belleville at Cobourg.
Jan. 24—Cobourg at Belleville.
Jan. 27—Peterborough at Cobourg.
Jan 30—Cobourg at Peterborough.

Local Board of Referees—Lindsay, R. Guthrie, Claude Preston; Belleville, Dr. Perry Goldsmith, J. L. R. Gorman; Cobourg, Messrs. Hargraft and Hitchins; Port Hope, to be appointed.

HOCKEY.

Port Hope Guide: "'Poor Cobourg is in trouble again. This time it is "Dug" McCallum who causes the heart aches and cuss words. It appears that the Toronto Bank authorities have ordered him back to Toronto to play hockey, we presume. You can scarcely blame Cobourg for kicking, as 'Dug' was the best man they had and practically the mainstay of the team."

Y. M. C. A. GYMNASTICS.

Have you registered yet for the gymnasium classes to start the new year? There has been an enrollment of ten new members in the intermediates and the seniors will have at least fifteen or twenty new men in their class. Get a suit of jersey, knickers and running shoes and be with the boys in blue and white at the beginning of the year.

On New Year's night the public are cordially invited to witness the game of basket ball between the Harriers and Pen-pushers in the gym., which promises to be exceptionally good as the teams comprise some of the best players of the town. A fast, clean game is assured.

The teams are as follows:

Harriers—Dobbin, Campbell, Richardson, Capt., Campbell and Laing.

Pen-pushers—Merrill, Smith, Robinson, Hall, Capt., and Payne.

The regular scheduled game of basket ball for Saturday night has been called off on account of being Christmas week. Teams Nos. 5 and 6 are reminded that their postponed game is to be played this evening at 9.30.

The following men are asked to be on hand:

Team No. 6—Maguire, Cameron, Glover, Morden and McLennan.

Team No. 5—Robinson, Hall, Cochrane, Lord and McNeills.

Over 30,000.

More than 30,000 invalids have taken Merrill's System Tonic, and the result has proven that this wonderful new medicine is not a doubtful compound, but one which always affects a radical cure of stomach, nerve, liver and kidney troubles. The 50c. bottles last three weeks. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

Is There Will a Man Be Too Rich?

What will eventually be the limit of individual wealth? Half a century back "ten thousand a year" was considered to be a vast fortune. Then "fifty thousand a year" was the phrase commonly used to describe the income of fabulously rich men or women. Later we took to speaking of "millionaires." In quite recent times the "multimillionaire" with twenty millions had reached the limit of private wealth; then forty millions. Now the limit has risen to a hundred millions, and already the word "billionaire" has come into use in the United States. Will the multibillionaire ever replace the multimillionaire?—London Standard.

THE LINDSAY DEPUTATION

Reported to the Citizens on Friday.

PAID A VISIT TO MICHIGAN.

The Impressions They Gained Regarding the Sugar Beet Industry—Some Interesting Facts.

(From the Lindsay Post.)

Delegate Channon was asked to describe at greater length some of the more important features that had attracted his attention, and on opening said there were 1001 things worthy of comment — the report could not possibly embody everything that was pertinent to the subject. Public interest in the sugar beet industry had been aroused in all parts of the province, and he had been curious to learn if the same feeling prevailed in Michigan. At Lapeer farmers and others had taken $100,000 worth of stock in a factory, payment of the shares being spread over a period of five years. It was the universal opinion of all having to do with beet sugar manufacture that it was one of the most profitable industries in the United States to-day. The world's production of sugar last year was about 2,650,000 tons of cane, and 5,950,000 tons of beet sugar. Within a very few years the U.S. had increased its sugar output sevenfold, yet it would require 400 factories to produce the quantity consumed in the country. Last year over $100,000,000 had been imported.

Ald. Robson—"Dr. Wylie estimates the world's production at ten million tons, six million tons being made from beets."

Mr. Channon, continuing, said, Professor Harcourt, chemist at the Guelph College, had been a member of the delegation, and had rendered invaluable assistance. The business men of Saginaw were delighted with the increase of sales that had followed the establishment of a factory, the employees and farmers buying very freely. He had made it his care to interview a number of growers of five and ten acre plots. One young man named Fenton had engaged in the business as a speculation, renting land and implements in addition to paying for the labour. The first year's operation of the 25 acre plot resulted in a yield of over 14 tons to the acre; the selling price was $6.40 per ton; the entire cost of cultivation, rent, etc., about $40 per acre, leaving a net profit of about the same amount per acre. To-day that young man holds $1500 stock in the factory. The president of the factory had referred him (Mr. C.) to one of the best growers, who said he had been in the business for two seasons—the first year he had grown two acres, the second year 50 acres, the average yield being 10 tons per acre, and the selling price $5.20 per ton. The same man had now contracted for 300 acres on the basis of $4.05 per ton for 12 per cent. sugar and an increase of 33 1-3c. for every additional one per cent., which went to show that beets containing 15 and 16 per cent., sugar and over, commanded a very high price.

In reply to a question by Dr. Vrooman, M. P., the speaker said that most of the growers thought the crop was hard on the land, and the plot should be changed or well fertilised every two or three years. At the same time the extra cultivation required was of benefit to the land, and any other crop grew well on the abandoned plot. Personally he did not think the sugar beet could be very severe on the land as the contents comprised only 13 per cent. of solids as against 10 per cent. in mangolds; the balance was taken, not from the soil but from the atmosphere. One farmer interviewed, had grown 500 acres of beets; he owned the land and estimated the total cost of cultivation per acre at $40, profits the same. Fenton, the young man first referred to, paid $10 an acre rent, yet his outlay was kept down to $40.

Michigan had one great advantage over this country — owing to the lumbering business having been checked by the Ontario law forbidding the export of logs capitalists were forced to seek other investments, and many old lumbermen plunged right into the sugar industry and invested largely. The price of farming land around Saginaw ran from $50 to $100 per acre, and was of good quality — a sort of sandy clay loam on the surface, with a clay subsoil. Around Cairo the land was worth from $40 to $60, some running higher. So far as he could judge, the soil in this vicinity is of a stronger quality, than the soil of Michigan, and better adapted for beet growing, so that our tonnage would be greater.

The beet sugar industry is a new thing in this country, and no man can foresee the extent of its future development. There were difficulties and obstacles to overcome, one of which was the duty. Michigan also possessed advantages in a cheaper coal supply and in the cost of labour, as the families of the large number of men engaged in other industries were available for work in the beet plots, going out and returning by train as in the case of hop-pickers. One important feature of the industry was that the acreage devoted to beets did not displace any of the other crops now grown, and the majority of the plots being small the members of the family can attend to the cultivation. If the beets are kept well covered with soil they will be rich in sugar right up to the roots.

In reply to Mr. Duke, the speaker said that farmers recommended very highly the feeding of pulp to stock. The pulp seems to be as nice when loaded as if freshly shredded, and will keep in a silo for three or four years, like ensilage. However, Michigan farmers do not engage very extensively in stock raising, and although the factories give away the pulp and load it free of charge, the demand for it so far has been limited. Being in about the same latitude, our beets should mature about as early as those in Michigan, but to his mind the weather there seemed to be a trifle milder than at home; the farmers do not wear fur coats, and the members of the Lindsay delegation, were recognised as Canadians every place they visited.

At the request of Mr. W. H. Hobson the speaker explained that most of the Michigan seed was imported from Germany but a number of parties were now undertaking to grow it on the spot. A brother of Dr. Montague had raised over one ton per acre, and expected to increase the yield to two tons. Factories purchased seed at 15c. per pound and gave it out to patrons at the same figure. It had been demonstrated that the home-grown seed was fully as good as the foreign article.

Ald. Robson — "Dr. Wylie recommends a central seed station, and thinks the seed can be grown to sell at 10c."

In reply to Mr. W. Flavelle, Mr. Channon said the factories were in operation about three months, starting in the latter part of October and running into February occasionally. The majority of the experienced workmen are employed the year through, as the owners of all the factories cultivate large plots on their own account, the balance of the hands come from the farms round about. Each factory employed about 350 men when running full time.

Capt. Boutell, alluded to in the report, was known as the Michigan Sugar King, and had been the first to engage in the manufacture of beet sugar in the State. He had been a lumberman, and when the export of logs from the Georgian Bay was stopped he found himself with a capital of $400,000 lying idle. Having learned something about beet sugar from a friend in California he proceeded to that State, acquired the necessary knowledge, and on his return to Michigan set to work to interest the farmers. He found it uphill work. He expended $400 in taking a number of farmers to the nearest factory, and on their return was successful in inducing eight of them to grow small plots next year. The object lesson proved sufficient, however, after the first season farmers were eager to grow beets, and the success of the first factory aroused interest all over the State.

(To be continued.)

PERRYTOWN.

A short time before the Perrytown school closed for the Christmas holidays, the pupils gave a concert, and had a Christmas tree. They placed on the tree several pretty presents for their teacher, Miss Fair. On the evening of her departure from this school Miss Edith McAllister presented Miss Fair with a handsome clock, and Miss Kathleen Lord, on behalf of the pupils, read the following address:

Perrytown, Dec. 20th.

Dear Teacher, — We, the pupils of the Perrytown school, hearing with regret that you were about to sever your connection with the school, take this opportunity of expressing our deep gratitude for the good service you have rendered us as a teacher. As a lady and a Christian you have shown us an example, which cannot fail to influence our after life. We now ask you to accept this clock as a small token of our respect and gratitude, hoping that in after life when you look upon it, it will awaken pleasant memories of the days spent at Perrytown.

Signed on behalf of the school

KATHLEEN LORD,
EDNA CAMPBELL,
EDITH McALLISTER.

Miss Fair thanked the pupils kindly for their very pretty gift and address, also for the many little tokens of love and respect they had given her while in Perrytown. She told them always to do what was right, not fearing the frown, or seeking for the smile of any person, but the approval of their own conscience. She then said good bye, after wishing them a prosperous and happy new year.

OTONABEE COUNCIL MEETING.

The Otonabee council met on Dec. 16th. John Lancashire and Wm. Borland made application to have their 1901 taxes remitted on account of having their barns, grain and fodder burned. On motion request was granted.

The following communications were received:

From Mrs. Miller, secretary of the Peterborough Protestant Home for aid for one Thos. Thompson. Not granted, not a resident of Otonabee.

From Adam Hall, chairman of the beet sugar committee, requesting the council to send delegates to Michigan to interview farmers there who sell beets to sugar factories there. D. Kennedy was present and ably presented the the matter to the council. On motion, no d gates were appointed.

From Wm. Sharp, Westwood, asking that he be paid for the repairing of his buggy broken by a leaning tree over the road at the duck pond. Referred to Mr. Lancaster to enquire into.

A bylaw was passed appointing the following deputy returning officers: Wm. Harrison, his house, Villiers; John Anderson, No. 3 school house; Thos. Sucee, Keene. Williams Girven, Peterborough cheese factory, J. M. Drummond, Mather's, and G. Robertson, Stewart's Hall.

The following accounts were passed:—C. Armstrong, nails for culverts, 50cents; for gravel,—J. Quinn $4.48, John Lang $3.12, Alan Esson $1.90, D. McCarthy $15.28, John Knox $3.68, Jas. DIAMOND DRUMMERS

RARELY TRAVEL AT NIGHT AND DON'T TALK OF THEIR BUSINESS.

They Journey About Without Trunks or Satchels. Yet the Stock Each Carries May Be Worth Up to Half a Million Dollars.

No set of commercial travelers carry such a precious stock as the diamond salesmen. There are about a hundred traveling salesmen in this country whose stock consists of diamonds, and all but a very small percentage of them travel for firms in New York city, for New York has always been the diamond market of the country. Of course there are many jewelry salesmen who take along with their other stock a limited amount of precious stones, but they are not in the class with the kind mentioned, who carry no other goods and are not bothered with sample trunks or satchels.

Few as is the number of traveling diamond salesmen, they probably carry a combined stock of a value equal to that carried by ten times their number in other branches of trade, or which, if converted into dollars, would probably be equal to the capital stock of some of the largest concerns for which other salesmen travel. From the point of view of the light fingered gentry one of these salesmen would be worth for a "touch" 100 of his fellow travelers, and yet one rarely if ever hears of a diamond salesman coming to grief from contact with this class. Few as have been the instances of jewelry salesmen being robbed on the road, the cases where diamond salesmen have suffered in this manner are even fewer. If you ask the travelers whose starting point is the Maiden lane district why this is, they will tell you that the diamond salesman is a peculiar kind of individual and that to catch him napping it would be necessary to sit up a good many nights. While on the road outwardly he appears as careless and debonair as any other drummer who lolls around the hotel or plays cards in the smoker, yet underneath there is a caution in his makeup which is required of the man who sells the most costly of the gifts of Mother Earth.

When it is taken into consideration that a traveling salesman for almost any of the diamond houses of John street and Maiden lane seldom starts out on a trip of any length with less than $100,000 worth of diamonds in his wallet, and more often the stock is worth three times that sum, it would seem to the average man that he would have to be possessed of the caution and nerve of ten other men, and that is just about what the diamond salesman has. Then, too, it would seem to be necessary that he possess the confidence of his house to an extraordinary degree unless the firm employing him cared to expend the amount of money necessary to have him followed by detectives every time he started out on a trip. While this is true of some of the men who carry large quantities of diamonds over the country, yet probably three-fourths of diamond salesmen on the road are members of the firm for which they travel. If the business belongs to one person, generally he himself takes goods on the road.

There are cases, however, where the diamond salesman is only an employee, but in these cases most of the selling is done on commission, and there is a lot in it to the salesman whenever he makes a sale. Hence the risk to the house is pretty small. One of the largest houses in the diamond district has a salesman out most of the year who is not a member of the firm. Yet he frequently starts with loose stones in his wallet aggregating in value $500,000. Implicit confidence is placed in him, and he has never violated it. Even if he were unscrupulous his commission is so large that it would pay him more to keep the confidence of his employers in the long run than to disappear with his wallet with the certainty of being tracked by the special detectives to whom such matters are generally intrusted by the diamond dealers and jewelers of the United States.

The diamond man carries his goods in a wallet about ten inches long. This wallet is invariably carried in a pocket on the inside of his vest. The diamond salesman rarely travels at night. One reason for this is that time is of no particular concern. Another is the greater risk in night traveling. When he does travel at night, he either keeps his vest on or else he wears a shirt inside of which is a pocket similar to that in the vest. Of course the necessity often does arise of night traveling, and to be ready for it not a few diamond salesmen always have with them such a garment in order to be comfortable and not have to go to bed in the sleeper with the vest on. Diamond salesmen seldom talk of their business while traveling, because they don't exactly care to be known.

Diamonds are always shown in papers. All of the salesmen carry a certain amount of what is called in trade parlance "melee"—that is, diamonds below a carat in weight, generally of the size suitable for mounting in jewelry. Of course the diamond salesman tries especially to sell the largest stones, weighing from a carat up. These are what make their stock so valuable, and to sell only a small portion of them is worth a trip from one coast to the other. What astonishes those to whom care seems to be an essential in selling valuable goods is the custom pursued in the diamond business and, for that matter, the entire jewelry business, of leaving goods on what is called "memorandum." A diamond salesman, if a jeweler tells him he believes he can get a customer for some of his stones, will leave a paper of diamonds with the jeweler without anything given as security, but with the understood right to get them back when he wants them.

At the end of a week or two the diamond salesman will walk into the store where he left the stones, weigh them up with a little pair of scales he carries in his pocket, and for the difference in weight of the stones he left in the first place he will charge the jeweler. That is why the diamond salesman travels by easy stages, as often he has to wait in a place for two weeks to make a sale of this kind.

RECKLESS DRUG TAKING.

A Habit Which is Bound to Work Harm to the System.

A physician who knew what he intended to say and was not accustomed to speak rashly once expressed his conviction that the average life of mankind would be prolonged and the sum of human misery lessened if every drug in existence could be destroyed and none ever again made.

He was a practicing physician, prescribing drugs daily in his treatment of disease and believing in their efficacy. What he meant was that more harm was done by the common practice of flying to the medicine chest of the apothecary's shop for every little ailment and by the enslaving opium, chloral and other "habits" so induced than could be counteracted by the good effected in the legitimate use of remedies by properly educated physicians. And truly he had much to justify him in this gloomy view.

An American physician who has endeavored to investigate the use of narcotics in his state has published some startling figures as to the consumption of opium. If his results can be relied upon, there is in this country an appalling number of slaves to the opium habit, most of whom doubtless began by the taking of an occasional dose on their own responsibility to relieve pain or induce sleep.

But all the harm of self drugging is not in the formation of those "habits." Many who have never taken a dose of narcotic medicine knowingly nevertheless seldom let a day pass without swallowing something which they think or have been told is good for kidney disease or gout or rheumatism or dyspepsia or biliousness or some other ailment which they think or have been told they are suffering from. They may or may not have guessed the cause of their bad feelings, but the chances are ten to one that the drugs they take so recklessly will do no good if they do not do actual harm.

Drugs are poisons which cannot but work evil upon the system if taken in a haphazard fashion by those ignorant of their action on the delicate machinery of the living body. Laxatives and liver remedies, nervines and tonics, quinine and iron, all are useful, life saving, at the proper time and in the proper dose, but taken in the quantities that they are in season and out of season for some reason or no reason they are pernicious destroyers of health.

As a Cure For Piles

Dr. Chase's Ointment Never Disappoints—It Has Won World-wide Fame on Account of its Magical Control Over the Most Severe Cases of Itching, Bleeding and Protruding Piles.

Doctors may tell you that nothing short of a surgical operation will cure piles. In this they are mistaken, as we can prove in a host of cases where Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used. It is not infrequent that people tell us that Dr. Chase's Ointment has succeeded in effecting a cure after operations had failed. There is too much risk in a surgical operation, too much suffering and too much expense. If you take the advice of scores and hundreds of your friends and neighbours, you will avoid operations, and resort to the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It will relieve you almost at once. It will thoroughly cure you in a remarkably short time.

Mr. J. Wolfe, Amprior, Ontario, states:—"I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles, and can assure the public that there was never anything on the market to equal it. I was disappointed time and time again when trying remedies for the ailment, and you can scarcely imagine my gratitude when I found that Dr. Chase's Ointment was an effective and thorough cure for this ailment. From the first application this magical ointment gave me relief, and a few boxes perfectly cured me. Since being cured of piles I always keep Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house and find it useful in scores of ways as a treatment for every form of itching skin, chafing and skin irritations."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is indeed useful in scores of ways as Mr. Wolfe says, and people who once make the acquaintance of Dr. Chase's Ointment are loath to be without it in the house. For pimples, blackheads, eczema, salt rheum, chapped hands and face, chilblains and each and every form of raw, itching of chafed skin, it is an incomparable treatment. It is especially recommended as a cure for piles, because it is, so far as we know, the only noteal and guaranteed cure for every form of this wretched and loathsome disease. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 11

Fatigue and Disease.

You will find in every day's practice that fatigue has a larger share in the promotion or the permission of disease than any other single casual condition you can name.—"Memoirs of Sir John Paget."

"I don't know, but he certainly looked like it in the first snap shot his wife took of him."

A DOMESTIC MUDDLE.

Too Many Complications For the Lawyer to Unravel.

A lawyer received a new client the other day—a big man named Frazier, who wanted to sue to recover $300 advanced on a note and not repaid.

"Who is the debtor?" asked the lawyer.

"Oh, she's a relation of mine."

"How nearly related?"

"Very nearly."

"But, my dear sir," persisted the lawyer, "you must be more explicit."

"Well, she may be my mother-in-law."

"May be? Then you are likely to marry her daughter?"

"I've already married the daughter."

"Oh, then, of course, the defendant is your mother-in-law?"

"I guess you better hear the whole story," said the man named Frazier.

He heaved a weary sigh and then went on:

"You see, a year ago we lived together—my son Bill and I. Across the way lived the Widow Foster and her daughter Mary. Well, sir, I married Mary because she was good looking. My son Bill married the widow because she had heaps of money. Now, perhaps you can tell me whether the old lady is my mother-in-law or my daughter-in-law."

But the lawyer couldn't, at least not just then. The problem had struck him all in a heap. He looked wild eyed, and his brain was reeling.

"Perhaps when you've settled that question you'll undertake my suit," Frazier added. "The old lady borrowed the money fair and square, and she can pay it back, but she won't, and I've got to sue."

"I don't think I'll take your case," faltered the lawyer. "The case—er—er—presents too many complications."

"By the way," said Frazier disappointedly as he took up his hat and prepared to go, "since the double wedding a child has been born to each couple. Can you tell me what relation the two children are to each other?"

But the lawyer couldn't.

Cleaning Jewels.

With the exception of pearls jewels may be washed with warm water and pure soap. They should then be put in boxwood sawdust to dry. If this is done, polishing will be unnecessary. As boxwood sawdust is very fine, it will not scratch, and as it absorbs moisture rapidly it helps to give jewels a high polish. It can be procured from any dealer in jeweler's supplies or ordered through a jeweler.

These Foolish Questions!

Benevolent Old Lady—How old are you, sir?

The Youngster—Thirty-five.

Benevolent Old Lady—Bachelor?

The Youngster—Alas, yes.

Benevolent Old Lady—Ah, too bad. How long?

Their Little Spat.

Boggs—I hear you have fallen out with your sweetheart.

Joggs—Yes. She got an idea into her head that I was angry at her, and it made me angry to have her think I was unreasonable enough to get angry at her.

A Complicated Machine

is an object of admiration, but a complicated medicine is a thing hitherto unknown. Druggist Morrill of Brantford has combined iron and herbs and made a marvellous blood builder and purifier, as well as a tonic for the nerves. Affects a radical cure in stomach, liver and kidney diseases. Price 50c. per bottle of 50 doses. Sold by Ormond & Walsh the druggists.

Providing For a Wayward Son.

Lord Chesterfield gave advice to his son in sundry letters, which might or might not be followed, but in his will he took good care that "my godson, Philip Stanhope," should have strong inducement to follow his advice on at least one point. All the bequests are subject to the condition that if Philip should keep race horses or hounds or stay one night at Newmarket, "that infamous seminary of iniquity and ill manners," during the course of the races there, or should lose on any one day by betting or gaming as much as £500, then in such case he shall forfeit £5,000 to the dean and chapter of Westminster for every such offense.—All the Year Round.

Know Your Own Capacity.

If the people about you are carrying on their business or their benevolence at a pace which draws the life out of you, resolutely take a slower pace; be called a laggard, make less money, accomplish less work than they, but be what you are meant to be and can be. You have your natural limit of power as much as an engine—ten horsepower or twenty or a hundred. You are fit to do certain kinds of work, and you need a certain kind and amount of fuel and a certain kind of handling.

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and erradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. Large outfit, $1; small size, 25c. Druggists, or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Heroes and Cold.

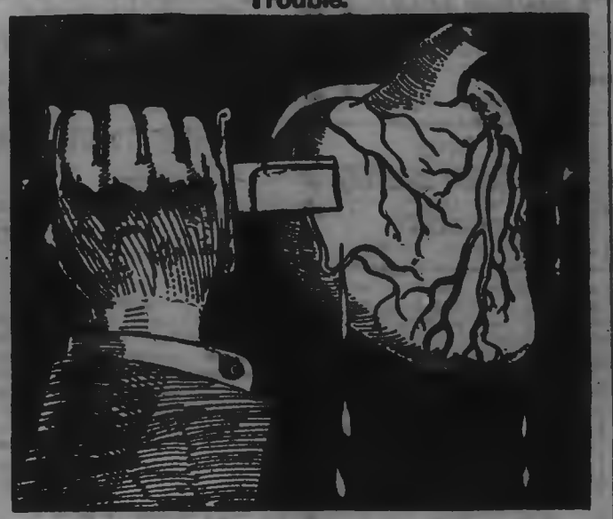
Colonel Sir T. H. Holdich, writing in "The Indian Borderland" of the terrible storms and wind and snow which overtake the traveler on the high passes of the Herat mountains, remarks on the superior power of the horse to withstand cold. In one such storm "over twenty men perished and many mules. All the dogs with the caravan were dead, but, so far as I can remember, no horses. Yet some of the chargers of the Eleventh Bengal lancers got slowly on their legs the day after the blizzard literally sheeted with ice as an ironclad is sheeted with steel." It is a fact worth noting that the horse will stand cold where a mule or a camel will not and where a dog will die.

This is the Way of It.

The glycerine in Scott's Emulsion soothes the rough and irritable throat. The hypophosphites tone up the nerves, and the cod-liver oil heals and strengthens the inflamed bronchial tubes and air cells.

Heart Disease

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.



Heart trouble, at least among the Americans, is certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion. Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and the Pneumogastric.

In another way, also, the heart is affected by poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest, caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the proper assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contains valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant and convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

Mrs. Lydia Bartram, of Assyria, Mich., writes:—"I have suffered from stomach trouble for ten years, and five different doctors gave me only temporary relief. A Mr. M.R. Page advised me to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and four boxes did me more permanent benefit than all the doctors' medicines that I have ever taken.

Mrs. G.H. Crotsley, 538 Washington street, Hoboken, New Jersey, writes; "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as older folks. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say 'tablets' and she drops everything else and runs for them."

Miss Lelia Dively, 4627 Plummer St., Pittsburg, Pa., writes;—"I wish everyone to know how grateful I am for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I suffered for a long time and did not know what ailed me. I lost flesh right along until one day I noticed an advertisement of these tablets, and immediately bought a 50c box at the drug store. I am only on the second box and am gaining in flesh and colour. I have at last found something that has reached my ailment."

Phil Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says:—"Your dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

ABOUT GAS METERS.

WHY THESE ERRATIC INSTRUMENTS DO NOT EXPLODE.

Such an Accident Is No More Likely to Happen to Them Than to Milk Bottles or Salt Bags—What Does Happen in Case of Fire.

The proclivity of the average newspaper reporter to attribute cellar conflagrations to the explosion of gas meters represents what appears to be an inexplicable race trait. No amount of contradiction and no accumulation of proof that such an accident is an impossibility seems to reach the newsgatherers, who go on reporting the explosion of gas meters, doubtless because the firemen have a tradition that meters are explosive and give this explanation of every fire which they cannot otherwise account for.

For the remainder of eternity people it gives us pleasure to say that no gas meter ever exploded since the world began, and until they are made on very different plans and contain gas of very different composition from that now used for illuminating purposes such an accident is no more likely to happen to them than to milk bottles or salt bags.

The domestic gas meter has a more or less well deserved reputation for habitual mendacity, though as likely to lie against the gas company as for it; but it has never done anything to warrant the suspicion that it is liable to go off with a bang. It is a tin box of a little less than one cubic foot capacity, put together with soldered seams and japanned.

Into and through it passes the gas, which enters through the service pipe connecting the main with the house, usually of half an inch diameter. It has very little capacity for gas storage, and is not strong enough to carry gas under a greater compression than, say, half a pound per square inch. More than this would bulge its sides. In point of fact the pressure of gas in meters is rarely more than enough to balance a column of water two or three inches high.

If a gas meter is exposed to great heat from external fire, nothing very serious happens. The soldered seams will probably melt, allowing the gas to escape. This gas is not explosive however. It becomes so only when mixed with air in certain definite proportions.

Should this admixture exist in a meter, which is almost impossible, the shell is not strong enough to offer any great resistance, and should an explosion occur by reason of fire reaching this admixture of gas and air the meter would be wrecked, but it is doubtful of any other damage would result. None has been wrecked from this cause.

If the seams of the meter are opened by the melting of the solder or by fracture from accident, the gas within it would escape, and, if it had the chance, burn. Outside the meter it might have opportunity to form the explosive mixture with air and do some damage.

What actually happens in the case of fires attributed to the explosion of gas meters is usually this: Gas which has leaked from defective pipes or worked into the cellar from broken or defective street mains accumulates in pockets formed by rafters and elsewhere and remains there until it comes in contact with an accidental fire of some sort. A fire starts in the cellar and the temperature gradually rises until the smoldering rubbish bursts into flame. This reaches the mixture of gas and air along the ceiling and an explosion follows.

The meter, naturally enough, is thrown down and probably torn from its connections, and the conclusion is reached that, instead of being the victim of the accident, the inoffensive meter is the cause of all the trouble and has indulged its inherent propensity to set the house afire after lifting it from its foundations.

It is a perfectly safe generalization that the gas which makes trouble in cellars is wholly outside the meter and never inside of it. Grindstones sometimes explode with fatal results in new factories, but the excellent old lady who, after reading of such an accident and recalling that there was an old grindstone in one corner of the cellar which had been there twenty years, hired a couple of tramps to carry it to the extreme corner of the garden and pour water on it for an hour, meanwhile giving thanks that it had not blown herself and family into eternity "unbeknownst to any of us," was of the type of those who, through fear of gas meter explosions, are all their lifetime subject to nervous chills.

There is not a gas meter in use under which it would not be perfectly safe to build a bonfire, provided, of course, there was not a quantity of gas outside of it which the same fire could reach.

Why Snow Is Not Black or Red.

Why is the snow white? is a question frequently asked. Because black snow would be dangerous; so would red or yellow. These are "warming up colors," and they change the sun's rays to heat. Such snow would soon melt again and prove a very poor protection. But white snow throws back the sunlight in just the form in which it receives it, and thus the snow can be long on the ground. Throw dirt on the snow and its dark color quickly makes it eat its way in whenever the sun shines on it. After a snowstorm, once let the horses' feet mingle the dirt of the road with the snow and sleighing will soon be over.—Professor S. O. Schmucker in Ladies' Home Journal.

To be sure, faint heart never won fair lady, but, on the other hand, discretion is seldom sued for breach of promise.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is

HEADACHE

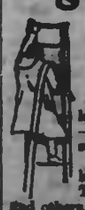
It only one form of the suffering resulting from a diseased condition of the sensitive womanly organism. The only way to cure the headache is to cure the diseases which cause it.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been the means of curing thousands of women of headache, backache, female weakness and other forms of disease peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures bearing-down pains.

"I think if it were not for your 'Favorite Prescription' I would have been in my grave," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardiner, of Egypt, Plymouth Co., Mass., Box 14. "I had pain all over me, and such a dragging feeling it seemed I could not do my house work. I had to sit down to wash the dishes, even. In the year 1897 I was so sick I did not care to live and prayed many times that God would take me. One day I thought I would write to Dr. Pierce. In a few days I received an answer. I decided to try his medicine, and to-day I am a well woman. I have no headache, no pain at all. I used always to have headaches previous to the monthly period, and such pain that I would roll on the floor in agony. This sometimes would occur every two weeks, and I would be very weak afterward. I was in pain all over. My feet would ache from under me when I would try to go across the room, and I could not walk any distance without being in pain. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three vials of Doctor Pierce's Pellets, and was completely cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets stimulate the liver.

Fighting the Fires.



Hard life the plucky firemen lead; out in all sorts of weather, losing sleep, catching cold and straining their backs.

Hard to have strong, well kidneys under such conditions. That's why firemen, policemen and others, who are exposed to the weather, are so often troubled with Weak, Lame Backs and with Urinary Troubles.

DOAN'S Kidney Pills

are helping hundreds of such to health.

Mr. John Robinson, chief of the fire department, Dresden, Ont., says:

"Prior to taking these pills I had kidney trouble which caused severe pain in the small of my back and in both sides. I had a tired feeling and never seemed to be able to get rested. However, I commenced the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking three boxes am completely cured. I have now no backache or urinary trouble, and the tired feeling is completely gone. In fact, I am well and strong."

SHOWED HIM A FEW TRICKS.

A Lesson That Made a Man Quit Gambling on Ocean Liners.

"I used to play a little poker occasionally on voyages across the pond," said a clubman, "but I haven't done so for eight or nine years, and the reason why I stopped was rather peculiar. Coming over from Paris one fall I made the acquaintance of a man named Metcalfe, who represented himself as a hardware dealer from Minneapolis. There was a good deal of poker playing in the smoking room that trip, and Metcalfe won considerable money, but not, however, at any of the games in which I was sitting.

"When we reached New York, I chanced to render him a slight service, which I don't care to mention, more particularly as it was a strictly private matter. Suffice it to say he was extravagantly grateful and invited me to dine with him that evening. Over our coffee he remarked that he had noticed me playing cards on the steamer and asked whether I knew all the men who were in the game. 'Oh, I dare say some of them were professionals,' I replied, 'but I flatter myself I know enough to keep from being robbed!'

"Metcalfe smiled grimly and told the waiter to get us a new deck of cards. 'Now, I'm going to show you something that will be of value to you,' he said, and, after dismissing the servant, he proceeded to give me an exhibition of manipulation that made my eyes stick out of my head. I never dreamed it possible for anybody to obtain such complete mastery over the pasteboards. He dealt himself whatever he liked, told me with unfailing certainty what I held each time, and, in the course of half an hour, convinced me fully that I was easy prey for any expert sharper in a strange game.

"When he got through, I thanked him warmly, and from that day to this I haven't touched a card except in small, friendly games, where I knew everybody present. My conceit as to self protection was permanently squelched. I learned afterward that Metcalfe was one of the most skillful professional gamblers in the business. He certainly did me an immense favor. If the exhibition I witnessed could be seen by all overconfident young men, I am inclined to think that very few lambs would be sheared on the big liners."

"The Candle on the Plate."

"The year that I lived in Chicago I noticed one night in passing through the Polish Jew quarter something I have since seen elsewhere," writes the Rev. David M. Steele in The Ladies' Home Journal. "It was 'the candle on the plate.' A man dies, and for want of means to pay the rent his family is to be turned out on the street. The widow sets a plate on the pavement before the door and puts a lighted candle on it. For the length of time that it will burn it is a summons to the neighbors passing by to put in nickels, dimes and pennies, which invariably they do, until a fund is raised sufficient to save the family from eviction. Would the same thing happen on the Stock Exchange if a bank failed?"

Sight in Man and Lower Animals.

Dr. G. L. Johnson, whose studies of the eyes of mammals have recently been published in The Philosophical Transactions, calls attention to the fact that man and monkeys alone possess parallel and convergent vision of the two eyes. On the other hand, the lower mammals possess divergent and consequently very widely extended vision. Squirrels, for instance, and probably hares and rabbits as well, are able to see an enemy approaching directly from behind without turning the head.

Littleness.

"It's a small village."

"So small they call a shop a store?"

"Oh, smaller than that. They call a store an emporium."

Hope.

You didn't have time today, but you will find time tomorrow, to do that which will make you famous. This is hope.—Atchison Globe.

HARMONY AND TACT.

Would There Were More of Them Kind of Women.

Mrs. Mary Platt Parmele, author of the "Evolution of Empire" series of histories, is an accomplished musician and deeply interested in vibratory physics. Passing through Manhattan lately en route for Staten Island, she lunched at the Holland House with a friend who is noted almost as widely for his crass awkwardness as for his scientific researches, relates The New York Times. His admiration for Mrs. Parmele's tact was therefore probably increased to infinitude when, with one excited gesture, he swept his glass and salad plate and fork to the floor.

"But hark," said Mrs. Parmele instantly as the resonant echoes of the glass and silver rang back from the hard floor and then, catching up the keynote of the crash, hummed a few bars, "wasn't that the same — don't you remember that exquisite little cadence in Beethoven's ninth symphony? Now, do you know, Professor X., that richly illustrates my idea that just as all folklore has its rise in distorted conceptions of natural facts, so what we call music is but an interpretation of the rhythm of the universe, even of the common daily happenings perhaps as it echoes to the individual soul?"

HE SWEPT HIS GLASS AND SALAD PLATE AND FORK TO THE FLOOR.

And the poor little man quite forgot his mortification in the interest of the discussion that followed.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

Had Him Fast.

If Paris is prolific in producing thieves, it also is most fruitful in expedients for catching them. Dr. Rousseau, a dentist, living in the Rue des Martyres, adopted a novel and amusing method. Dr. Rousseau and his wife were walking on the boulevards when a young man snatched a handbag containing jewelry and money which madame was carrying.

The dentist was unable to catch the thief, but had time to distinguish his features, though he never expected to see him again. By a curious coincidence, however, the thief came to the dentist's a day or two later to have his teeth attended to.

Dr. Rousseau, concealing his astonishment, asked him to take a seat, as it would be necessary to take an impression of the jaw, and this he immediately proceeded to do. When the dentist considered that the plaster was sufficiently solid, he calmly explained to the helpless thief that he was at his mercy and had better follow him quietly to the police station.

The man wildly gesticulated, but finding that his wide open mouth was imprisoned by a solid block of plaster of paris he consented to go to prison.

A Precocious Infant.

The feminine instinct begins young. The little girl who wore her new cloak for the first time in an east wind was not thinking of the east wind. Her mother, however, was, and she suggested that people who allowed their cloaks to blow over their heads sometimes caught cold.

"Oh, no, mother," observed her daughter complacently; "you don't catch cold when it's such a pretty lining!"

To Keep a Coal Fire Over Night.

Anthracite coal, being nearly a solid carbon, the fire may be arranged to "keep" over night. To accomplish this lift the lid on the top of the stove or open the little draft at the top of the firebox. This will allow cold air to enter, pass over the upper surface of the coal, chill it and prevent rapid burning. As this is imperfect combustion great care must be taken to have the chimney flue open that the products of combustion may not come out into the room. Carbon monoxide, the product of imperfect combustion, is a colorless, odorless, poisonous gas. Being an accumulative poison, it is still more dangerous. As hard coal contains a little sulphur when the drafts are imperfect the odor of the sulphur is noticed, which is like the sounding of an alarm bell, for carbon monoxide is found in its company. —Mrs. S. T. Rorer in Ladies' Home Journal.

Depends on the Woman.

"She's going to marry him, I guess," suggested the wise gossip as the couple went by.

"He doesn't expect it," returned the casual acquaintance.

"Oh, that's quite immaterial so long as she does," answered the wise gossip.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $180 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

QUAINT COLLEGE LAWS.

Rules Prescribing the Dress of Harvard Students in Bygone Days.

The curious laws regarding students' dress which prevailed at Harvard up to the middle of the last century are illustrated by two eighteenth century waistcoats which are among the collections of the Boston Art museum. One was worn by a member of the class of 1769 and the other by his son in 1784.

The latter waistcoat is olive green in color, conforming to the college regulations, which required either blue gray, plain black, "nankeen"—a kind of buff—or olive. The coat and breeches which originally went with it, as one may read in the old time Harvard "Laws," were blue gray. Freshmen of that date were allowed only plain buttonholes, sophomores leaped to the dignity of having buttons on their cuffs, juniors might have inexpensive frogs to their buttonholes except that they might not have them on their cuff buttonholes, and the senior enjoyed frogs, buttonholes and buttons complete. Seniors and juniors were permitted also to wear black Oxford gowns, such as are worn at graduation today, and a "night gown," or dressing gown, was permissible on certain unimportant occasions. It cost "not more than 10 shillings" for every appearance of gold or silver adornment.

The rules of costume were changed, of course, from time to time. In 1828, for example, the prescribed dress consisted of a black mixed coat, single breasted, "with a rolling cape square at the end and with pocket flaps, the waist reaching to the natural waist, with lapels of the same length." It is explained that "black mixed," called also Oxford mixed, was black with not more than one-twentieth nor less than one-twenty-fifth part of white. The senior was allowed to support his dignity with three "crow's feet" of black silk cord on the lower part of his coat sleeve. Two crow's feet were permitted to the junior, one to the sophomore and none at all to the freshman. The waistcoat was of black mixed or of black or, when of cotton or linen fabric, of white; single breasted, with a standing collar. The pantaloons were of black mixed.

ISOLATION OF ACTORS.

Conditions Which Make the Profession a World by Itself.

This condition, which from some important points of view is fortunate, from others unfortunate and from nearly all inevitable, is unique indeed. Here we have the only large class of workers which keeps the world at arm's length. Clergymen, physicians, lawyers, architects, merchants, tradesmen and laborers of all sorts, by the very terms of their toil are brought into constant personal contact with parishioners, patients, clients or customers. Even painters and sculptors must needs be in touch with their patrons.

But that thin, impassable row of blazing lamps which rims the front of the stage accomplishes what the great wall of China was built to accomplish. Behind them is the sole "profession." In front of them the barbarous laity. If the player desired to break down the partition, he would scarcely be able to do so.

From the more important social gatherings which take place in the evening both actress and actor are necessarily absent. The actor may vote if he can acquire a residence and contrive to be in his own city on election day, but it is impossible that he should take any active part in politics or participate in preliminary meetings, caucuses and rallies which are held at night, and as to attendance at church, the player encounters, in the first place, the difficulty, inseparable from his wandering life, of making a connection with a parish and, besides, in recent years, is almost constantly required to travel on Sunday, passing from a Saturday evening's performance in one town to a Monday morning's rehearsal in another.

BEAVER TAIL SOUP.

A Michigan Lumber Camp Delicacy That Amazed a Marylander.

"Although I am a Marylander and an Eastern Shore one at that," said an epicure from that state, "and consequently know what good things to eat are, I want to tell you that I'll have to take off my hat to the lumber camp cook of the upper Michigan peninsula as the discoverer, fabricator and dispenser of a dish that knocks the Eastern Shore cuisine silly. And that rare lumber camp dish is beaver tail soup.

"I was with Colonel Park of Columbus, O., deer hunting in the Rainy lake region of Michigan one fall. We lived at a lumber camp boarding shanty.

"There were signs of beaver at the upper end of the lake, and a trapper succeeded in trapping one of the wily dam builders.

"When the beaver was brought into camp, the camp cook went nearly wild, and so did the lumbermen when they heard the news, all because they had been trying to trap a beaver for weeks, not for its fur, but for its tail, as they were pining, they said, for beaver tail soup.

"The cook took that broad appendage of the beaver, mailed like an armadillo, took from it the underlying bone and meat, and from it made such a soup as never came from any other stock at the hock of the most expert and scientific chef that ever put a kettle on.

"We could do the same thing and perhaps better on the Eastern Shore, but we lack one thing. We haven't got the beavers to yield us their tails."

No Climbing.

"Ah, my friend," sighed old Skinflint, who was dying, "I'm going a long, long journey."

"Never mind," replied the friend, who knew him, "it's all down hill."

LATE COL. G. E. BENSON.

One of the Best Officers of the British Army—Chances for Right Marches—His Columns Captures.

Northumberland, oh proud and sad to-day
Weep and rejoice, our mother, whom no sun
More glorious than this dead and deathless one
Brought ever frame whereon no time shall prey,
Nor head we more than he what liars date say
Of envy's hottest dotion left undone
Toward whelps and dams of murderous foes, whom none
Save we had spared or feared to starve and slay
Alone as Milton and as Wordsworth found
And hailed their England, whom from all around
Howled all the serpented hate of envious knaves,
Sublime she stands; while, sided in the ground,
Each He that falls from German beers and slaves
Falls as filth drops in the wandering waves.

So wrote recently Algernon Charles Swinburne in The Saturday Review of the late Col. G. E. Benson, killed while in command of his column in the recent engagement at Brakenlaagte, South Africa, which cost the British a dozen officers and sixty men killed.

It has been decided to erect a monument in Northumberland to his memory.

Col. Benson belonged to the Royal Artillery, and had seen a good deal of service, mostly in the Soudan. He was present at the battle of Hasheen, where he was slightly wounded, and at the destruction of Tamai. In 1895 he went to Ashanti under Sir Francis Scott, and in the following year, to Dongola, with General Kitchener as brigade major of the mounted corps. His latest official rank was that of staff officer in the Rustenburg command.

LATE COL. G. E. BENSON.

Colonel Benson had established a great reputation for surprising the Boers by night marches. A correspondent of The Times gave a description of Colonel Benson's work. In his expeditions in the Eastern Transvaal the colonel was assisted by the ever alert Colonel Wools-Sampson, chief of the intelligence. Since the formation of this column, about the middle of April last, the following captures stand to the credit of Colonel Benson:

Fifteen Boers killed, 315 prisoners of war (10 wounded), 276 surrenders, 12 foreigners (prisoners of war) 504 rifles, 502 wagons, 207 Cape carts 67,400 rounds small arm ammunition, 12,859 oxen, 250 mules, 1,772 horses, about 80,000 sheep, 447 women, and 1,412 children.

For six weeks the force operated in the Carolina-Ermelo district, making eight night marches, varying from 22 to 35 miles each, the result being 103 prisoners of war.

Colonel Benson, added The Times' correspondent, always accompanied the force in these night raids, and his presence not a little tended to keep up the spirits of the men.

FOR CONSPICUOUS SERVICE.

The New Medal and Ribbon First Presented by the King.

The Conspicuous Service Cross is an entirely new decoration, the first of which the King recently personally presented to naval officers for services in South Africa and China. It is composed of heavy silver, and bears in the centre the monogram "E.R.I.," surmounted by the Imperial Crown. The ribbon is of dark blue and white.

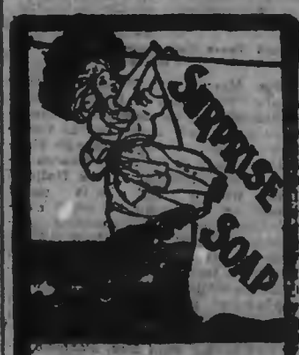
NEW CONSPICUOUS SERVICE CROSS.

That Lovely Age.

"There is an age," said the wise man of Willow Hollow, "when a girl is too old and too young for kissing games. Just at that time in her life she does not need any excuse to get all she wants."

Woman is as old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigorous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.



Mothers' Help.

Every worried mother finds in Surprise Soap those qualities which rob work day of its terrors.

It does the work in half the time of other soaps; it washes the clothes clean and wholesome; it allows the housewife plenty of time to attend to other important duties.

Surprise Soap contributes more to the sum total of domestic happiness than any other article that enters the household.

THE MAGIC NUMBER.

A Suggestion by the Cynic That Set the Others Thinking.

"I often hear of the magic number," said some one. "What number is it?"

"Why, nine, of course," replied some one else. "There are nine muses, you know, and you talk of a nine days' wonder. Then you bowl at ninepins, and a cat has nine lives."

"Nonsense!" broke in another. "Seven is the magic number. Seventh heaven, don't you know, and all that; seven colors in the rainbow, seven days in the week, seventh son of a seventh son—great fellow—and"—

"Tush, tush!" remarked a third. "Five's the number you mean. A man has five fingers on his hand and five toes on his foot, and he has five senses, and"—

"Three is undoubtedly the magic number," interrupted another, "because people give three cheers, and Jonah was inside a whale three days and three nights, and if at first you don't succeed, try, try again—three times, you see!"

This was received with some contempt by the company, and a soulful youth gushed out:

"Two, oh, two is the magic number—oneself and one other, the adored one—just two!"

A hard featured individual, who had been listening to the conversation hitherto unmoved, here remarked in a harsh voice:

"The magic number is number one in this world, and if you want to succeed never forget it."

An interval of deep thought on the part of all followed, after which they went in silently to supper.

No World For Love.

In comparison with the English tongue foreign tongues seem parsimonious in some ways of expression and wasteful in others.

For instance, it is impossible to "kick" a man in French. You must give him a "blow with the foot." The Portuguese do not "wink" at one; they "close and open the eyes."

In the languages of the American Indians there is no word with which to convey the idea of "stealing," perhaps because the idea of property is so vague. It is related of one of the early missionaries that in attempting to translate the Bible into Algonquin he could find no word to express "love" and was compelled to invent it.

A Spelling Bee.

Some of you who think you are well up in spelling just try to spell the words in this little sentence:

"It is agreeable to witness the unparalleled ecstasy of two harassed peddlers endeavoring to gauge the symmetry of two peeled pears."

Read it over to your friends and see how many of them can spell every word correctly. The sentence contains many of the real puzzlers of the spelling book.—London Tit-Bits.

His Everyday Suit.

Dixon—I don't believe young Shortleigh is half as extravagant as people say he is.

Hixon—Perhaps not, but I've noticed that he has a suit of clothes for every day of the week.

Dixon—Is that so? Why, he has always had the same suit on every time I meet him.

Killed By a Tree.

New Hamburg, Dec. 27.—Jacob Bennett, aged 25 years, second son of John Bennett of Baden, met with a fatal accident on Monday afternoon while helping to fell trees in Jacob R. Roth's bush, half a mile east of here. The tree, in falling, came in contact with another tree, and, unfortunately, struck Bennett on the right side, breaking several ribs and causing other internal injuries to which he succumbed early yesterday.

Admiral Sampson Beyond Aid.

Urbana, Ill., Dec. 27.—John B. Weeks of Champaign, a personal friend of Rear Admiral Sampson, has received a letter from Mrs. Sampson, in which she says the mental condition of the admiral is beyond recovery. The letter was written in reply to a note expressing sympathy with the rear admiral in the personal annoyance he has suffered in the controversy with Rear Admiral Schley.

As She Saw It.

Mrs. Kleaner—What is the matter with you this evening, John, that you ain't smoking?

Mr. Kleaner—The doctor says I musn't. He says I must stop smoking or die.

Mrs. Kleaner—Oh, I'm so glad! You won't be scenting up my curtains any more will you?

BEGINDERYN LOSSES

Ten British Were Killed and Fifteen Were Wounded.

40 ARMED NATIVES WITH BOERS

Gallant Defence of the Garrison of Tontelbosch Kolk—Had to Fight For Water Every Night For Six Days and Seven Nights—Had Three Killed and 15 Wounded Out of 70.

London, Dec. 28.—Details received here yesterday from South Africa of the ambushcading near Beginderyn, Orange River Colony, Dec. 21, of two hundred mounted infantry by three hundred Boers and forty armed natives, led by Commandant Britz, show the British losses to have been ten men killed and fifteen wounded. The losses of the Boers are not known.

GARRISON'S BRAVE DEFENCE.

Had to Fight Boers to Obtain Water Every Night.

Cumassom, Dec. 28.—In Commandant Marits's attack on Tontelbosch Kolk, the garrison suffered severely from thirst.

The Boers had command of the water supply, and the garrison had to fight for water every night. The attack lasted six days and seven nights, and the fighting was constant and severe.

We lost three killed and fifteen slightly wounded out of twenty. The Boers admitted having four killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy looted all the horses, men's clothing and cash from the loop-holed houses. They also looted Williston, taking even children's shoes.

A Private's Splendid Pluck.

London, Dec. 28.—The Victoria Cross is to be awarded, states Thursday night's Gazette, to Private W. Bees, of the 1st Derbyshire Regiment, for an act of conspicuous bravery in South Africa. He was one of the six Maxim gun detachment, which had six men hit out of nine, at Moedwill on September 30th. Hearing his wounded comrades asking for water, he went forward under a heavy fire to a sprait held by Boers about 500 yards ahead of the gun and brought back a kettle of water.

In going and returning he had to pass within a hundred yards of some rocks, also held by Boers, the kettle he was carrying being riddled by their bullets.

An Army of Sixty Thousand Men.

Liverpool, Dec. 28.—The Post says Gen. Lord Kitchener has informed the War Office that preparations must be made to keep an army of 60,000 men in South Africa for an indefinite period after peace has been established, and that a draft should now be sent out to be used as a nucleus for this garrison duty army.

Educating the Boer Children.

London, Dec. 28.—The Times publishes a letter from Prytoria on the subject of education in the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies. It was stated that at the beginning of the war that the Transvaal was educating 14,700 children, which number was nearly equalled last month in the schools opened by the British, while in the Orange River Colony about 8,000 are being taught. The average attendance of pupils in the concentration camps is 70 per cent., and the present average in the Transvaal 75 per cent.

Envoy to Roosevelt.

Amsterdam, Dec. 28.—As the result of conferences between clergymen, the Rev. Mr. Broekhuysen, and the Boer leaders here, it has been decided to send C. M. Wessels to the United States in January bearing a letter from Mr. Kruger to President Roosevelt.

MAY NEVER RECOVER.

Mrs. Taylor, Who Went Over Niagara Falls, Has Paralysis.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 28.—The Niagara Falls, N.Y., Cataract says that Mrs. Anna Taylor, the daring woman who successfully passed over the Canadian Falls in her barrel, is said to have been located in a hospital in New York City, where she is helpless with paralysis, a result of her trip. This information has been received from Frank Tanner, who successfully managed Graham's exploits in the lower river during the past summer. After leaving the Falls, it was understood that Mrs. Taylor went to her home in Bay City, Mich., where she was suffering from paralysis. She disappeared from public view entirely and her real whereabouts was a matter of conjecture. It is said that her condition is serious and that it is doubtful if she will ever recover.

A New Premier.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Dec. 28. — A caucus of the Liberals was held Thursday evening, when Attorney-General Peters, brother of Fred Peters, British Columbia, was selected to succeed Mr. Farquharson as local Premier. Mr. Peters is a prominent lawyer. A. A. McLean, barrister, will oppose Mr. Farquharson in the contest for Hon. Louis Davies' seat.

Richelieu Protest Dismissed.

Montreal, Dec. 28.—The protest against the return of Mr. Bruneau (Liberal) as member for the Federal constituency of Richelieu has been dismissed.

VANCOUVER ISOLATED

Severe Storm Lays the Wires for Twelve Hours.

AORANGI CUTS VICTORIA CABLE.

Steamship Was in Danger of Being Driven Ashore and Had to Take Severe Measures to Save Herself —Damage Is Very Heavy— Thursday's Storm in Other Places.

Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 28.— The most severe storm which has taken place in Vancouver for years, did a great deal of damage Thursday night. All wires were down for twelve hours, Vancouver being completely isolated.

The damage by wind is roughly estimated at about $450,000, while damage to wires will aggregate another $50,000. Wire connection with Victoria will be cut off for several days, as the steamship Aorangi, which anchored in English Bay, ran foul of the cable, and to save herself from being driven ashore, cut the cable in two after pulling down the cable house. The sea-end has been lost.

Near Fort Moody a tree was blown across the track, and a work train was dumped into the ditch. Conductor Hatch, John Russell, car carpenter, and Brakeman James McDonald received more or less severe injuries.

The big waves at English Bay have been driving in wreckage all day. Among them a large number of salmon cases, so lately in the water that in many cases the boxes are not soaked through. The boxes are from the Icy Pass Canning Company, Alaska, and from the Kanakan Cannery, Alaska. The damage is half a million.

The steamer that is evidently in trouble can only be surmised. The English Bay Cannery was also wrecked by the storm, and hundreds of cases of the salmon are strewn on the shore.

Eight Houses Washed Away.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 28.— Thursday night's storm did much damage and endangered many lives in this city. Along the north end of the water front the breakers washed away eight houses. Floating driftwood battered these to matchwood. The occupants barely escaped. Wires are down all over the city. The highest velocity of the wind was 35 miles an hour.

ON FIRE AT PORT TOWNSEND.

The Japanese Liner Shinano Maru in Dire Peril.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 28.—The Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner, Shinano Maru, is afire at Port Townsend. Meagre details of the conflagration, which is raging in the hold, arrived Thursday night by the steamer North Pacific. The Shinano Maru left this port for Yokohama a week last Wednesday, with several thousand tons of cotton and general freight. She put back from sea, and has arrived at Port Townsend flying signals of distress. The storm made all fear to go out to her until the British vice-consul chartered the tug Wildwood and went to her. He was told that she was afire and gave the news to the North Pacific, then on her way to Seattle. The Shinano took out the most valuable Oriental cargo ever sent from this port.

GALES OFF NEWFOUNDLAND.

Shipping and Fishing Properties Destroyed—Fears For a Hamlet

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 28.— Furious gales swept the coast of Newfoundland Thursday night and wrought much destruction among the shipping and fishing properties at Bay of Islands, Newfoundland, where several American vessels were seeking cargoes of herring.

At Placentia, on the west coast, the fishing boats suffered great damage, and the wharves and water front buildings were destroyed. It is feared that the seas will inundate the entire hamlet. Both the breakwater and the railroad pier have been partly demolished.

DEPEW'S MARRIAGE.

Civil Ceremony Took Place in Nice on Friday Afternoon.

Nice, Dec. 28.—The civil ceremony of the marriage of Senator Chauncey M. Depew and Miss May Palmer took place at three o'clock at the United States Consulate. The bride's witnesses were Baron Von Andre and Baron De Cantalause. The bridegroom's witnesses were James Gordon Bennett and Count Desers. Among the others present were Mrs. Palmer, Countess Desers and Baroness Von Andre. Senator Depew was in excellent health. The bride was charmingly dressed. The bride being a Catholic, there will be two religious ceremonies. The first will take place at Notre Dame, and the second at the Episcopal Church at eleven o'clock in the morning and at noon to-morrow respectively, when ten blue jackets from the United States cruiser Albany will form a guard of honor.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

The French barque Henrietta sank in Astoria, Oregon, harbor Thursday night. No lives were lost.

The River Arno has overflowed its banks and the waters have caused considerable damage at Florence and at Pisa.

A tornado swept over Naples on Thursday, causing considerable damage. A woman was killed and thirty-six persons were injured.

The exact date has not been fixed, but, the Prohibition deputations have been informed that the Ontario Government will hear them any day next week.

Six hundred employes of the Pittsburg, Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad have been notified of an increase of ten per cent. in wages, commencing January 1.

Steve Broderick ran amuck in a crowded street at Passaic, N.J., on Friday, shooting right and left. Three men are suffering from wounds inflicted by him.

It is said that the Czar has accepted an invitation to attend the coronation of King Edward, provided that the Czarina is in good health at the time the ceremony occurs.

Lord Roberts has accepted the Star and Badge of the Order of St. Patrick, the gift of the ladies of Ireland. The badge is set with diamonds, and the star is composed of diamonds entirely.

Mrs. Clark, wife of Robert Clark, a prosperous farmer, near Summerville, Ont., gave birth on Thursday night to triplets, two boys and a girl. The little tots are doing exceedingly well.

An explosion at the old Sharpsville, Pa., furnace, about seven o'clock Friday morning, wrecked the furnace plant and killed three men. Another workman was probably fatally injured.

Edmund Fitzgerald, examiner and sorter at the London, Eng., general postoffice, in receipt of £190 a year, was sentenced at the Central Criminal Court Thursday to eighteen months' hard labor for stealing post letters.

The dead bodies of two brothers, William and Edward Allen, who were lost in the snowstorm on Knighton Beacons, England, on Thursday evening, have been discovered. The poor fellows had succumbed within 300 yards of their home.

William F. Cochran, member of several railway and telegraph corporations, died at New York on Friday. Cochran's wealth is estimated at $10,000,000. His gifts to various institutions and church endowments aggregated over $1,000,000.

By an edict published Friday, a temple in Pekin to Li Hung Chang is provided for. This is the first instance in the Celestial Empire of bestowing the honor of a temple at the capital on a Chinaman. Hitherto only Manchus have been thus honored.

Emperor Francis Joseph has ordered the expulsion from Austria of the principals in the baccarat game of Dec. 21, when, at the Vienna Jockey Club, Count Potocki lost $500,000 during three hours' playing, Count Pallavicini winning most of the money.

Arthur Tyler, manager of the Grant Marble Company, Milwaukee, Wis., who arrived at Galt on Thursday evening to visit his brother, J. Savory Tyler, died very suddenly about four o'clock Friday morning at the Imperial Hotel, where he was lodging. He was in his usual health on retiring to bed about midnight.

Rudolph Grossman, 34 years old, editor of The Austro-Hungarian Gazette, New York, was arrested Friday charged with assaulting his wife with a knife. Mrs. Grossman declared her husband to be an Anarchist, and said that he repeatedly told her he would consider himself highly honored if he could do to President Roosevelt what Czolgosz did to President McKinley.

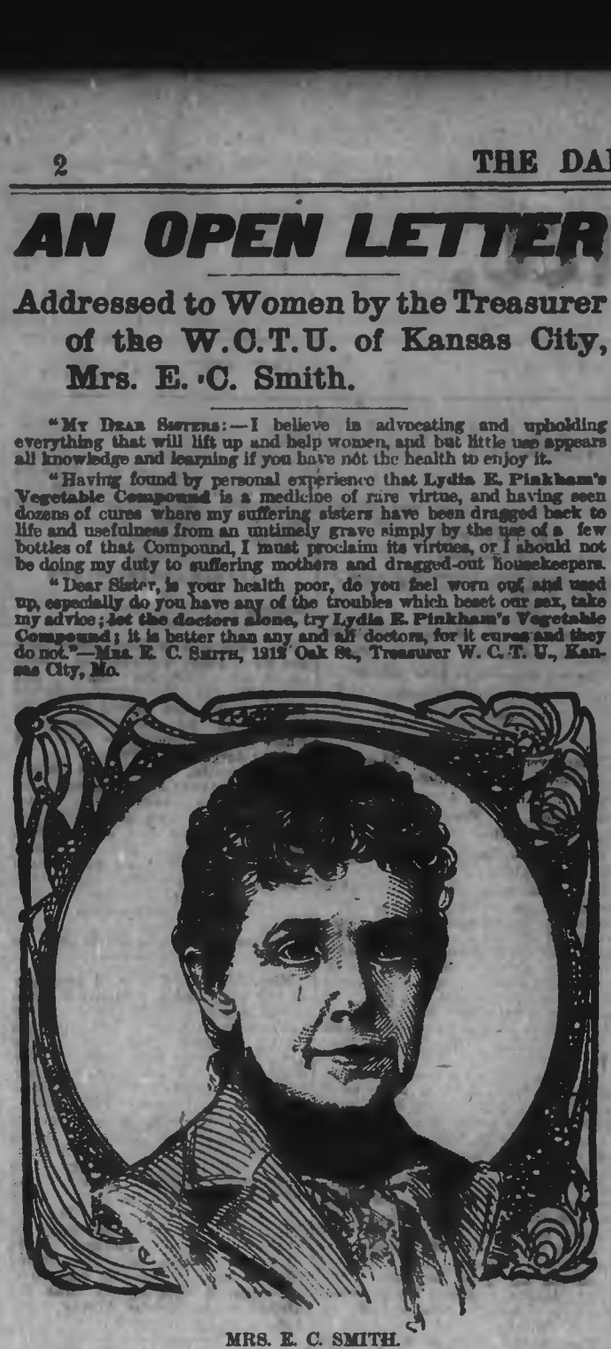
AN OPEN LETTER

Addressed to Women by the Treasurer of the W.C.T.U. of Kansas City, Mrs. E. C. Smith.

"My Dear Sisters:—I believe in advocating and upholding everything that will lift up and help women, and but little use appears all knowledge and learning if you have not the health to enjoy it.

"Having found by personal experience that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine of rare virtue, and having seen dozens of cures where my suffering sisters have been dragged back to life and usefulness from an untimely grave simply by the use of a few bottles of that Compound, I must proclaim its virtues, or I should not be doing my duty to suffering mothers and dragged-out housekeepers.

"Dear Sister, is your health poor, do you feel worn out and used up, especially do you have any of the troubles which beset our sex, take my advice; let the doctors alone, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it is better than any and all doctors, for it cures and they do not."—Mrs. E. C. Smith, 1212 Oak St., Treasurer W. C. T. U., Kansas City, Mo.



MRS. E. C. SMITH.

What is left for the women of America after reading such a letter as the above, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices as Mrs. Smith says, and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely, the experience of hundreds of thousands of women whom the Compound has cured should convince all women of the wisdom of taking the advice that Mrs. Smith offers in her letter above published.

Read What Mrs. Burnham says:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Words fail to express how thankful I am to you for your advice, and I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick for three years with female weakness; I had dizzy spells, headache, backache, feet and hands were cold all the time, would get tired and faint very easy. I also had dropsy and was troubled with leucorrhœa. I suffered for two weeks before each menstrual period and my ovaries would swell very badly. I took lots of medicines from doctors, but received no benefit. To please my husband I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman, and your Compound alone did it."—Mrs. H. W. Burnham, Russell, Mich. (Jan. 31, 1901).

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Moral—Stick to the medicine that you know is Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonials from women are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Daily Examiner.

London (England) office—166 Fleet street, E. C., Central Press Agency Limited, Special Agents.

SATURDAY, DEC. 28, 1901.

A STRIKING CASE.

One of the greatest advertisements the Canadian Northwest ever got is contained in a paragraph from the Indian Head Vidette, which is now going the rounds of the press:

Last year Mr. Glen bought a quarter section of land of 160 acres for $200 (scrip.) This year the entire section was under crop. He allows expenses in connection with the crop as follows: Breaking, at $5 per acre, $800; seed grain, $144; labour of seeding, $50; binder twine, $84; harvesting, $360;; delivery to elevator, $210; incidentals, $160, a total of $1968, including the cost of the farm. The yield was 7,447 bushels of wheat, , which sold at 55 cents, realising $4,095.85. After all expenses and the farm were paid for Mr. Glenn then had a clear profit of $2097.82. The yield averaged forty-seven bushels of wheat to the acre.

The year that is just closing has been an exceptional one of course, and there is no guarantee that next year will prove as favourable, but the fact that thousands of farmers on the prairies have made fortunes, while nearly all have extricated themselves from debt at one strike will give a great boom to that country. If Mr. Glenn paid for his farm and cleared more than two thousand dollars in his first year, others are warranted in expecting a fair return for their work farming in the West.

IT WAS A BIT OF FINE WRITING.

Speaking of the Declaration of Independence the Buffalo Courier says: "That old charter of liberty is supposed to have laid down the principle that all men are free and equal before the law, and that no man nor race was good enough to govern other men or races. We did not 'give' independence to Cuba, for the good reason that it could not be ours to give."

With Cuba's position extremely doubtful with the Philippines being over-run and crushed, and with eight million blacks in the United States who are not recognized "as free and equal before the law," the sentiments expressed in that boasted charter of liberty may be said to belong to the literature of the past.—Toronto Star.

Cure any cold quickly and surely. 25 cents a box at all druggists.

HOGS FOLLOWING STEERS.

Every winter S. M. Quaw, of Marathon County, Wis., stall-feeds 50 to 75 steers. Last winter he tried an experiment. He bought 50 steers and 50 shotes. The shotes were allowed to run at will among the steers. The steers did not hurt the pigs. The pigs did not hurt the steers. Not a single kernel of grain of any kind was given to the pigs. The steers were fed corn in high mangers out of reach of the hogs, which were merely allowed the privilege of rooting over the excrements from the steers. When the steers were fat, the hogs were fat and were sold at the same time.

The hogs brought $400 more than was paid for the shotes. The pigs gained $8 each, and proved that there is $8 worth of available nutriment wasted every time a steer is stall fed without hogs. No doubt there are hundreds of thousands of steers fed alone and millions of money wasted for want of hogs. If it is desired to reduce farm economy to the last possible equation, it will be necessary to keep a flock of poultry to scratch behind the hogs. Mr. Quaw is a wealthy manufacturer, but finds time to make money in raising stock.—T. W. Clark.

American Corner Turkish Tobacco.

Berlin, Dec. 28.—Not content with the acquisition of German cigarette factories, the American tobacco trust has now succeeded in cornering the Turkish tobacco crop, on which the German cigarette trade is dependent for 75 per cent. of its raw material. Dresden, the seat of the domestic cigarette industry, is appalled at this latest revelation of American octopus methods.

War on Pirates.

Hong Kong, Dec. 27.—The Viceroy of Canton has decided to provide a flotilla of river gunboats manned by Europeans to suppress piracy in Kwantung waters. The British Vice-Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge strongly urged him to take this action. The Viceroy is enlisting foreigners and has placed two torpedo boats in commission.

THE NEW CONTINGENT

Appointments of Officers to the Mounted Rifles Approved.

CANADIAN HOSPITAL COMPANY.

The Director-General of Medical Services Wishes It to Be Understood That the Reserve Corps Is a Separate Unit and Not an Attachment of the Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—The War Office has cabled its approval of the appointment of the following additional officers of the Canadian Mounted Rifles: One Major, an assistant surgeon, one assistant veterinary officer, an assistant adjutant, a paymaster and an armorer. Lieut.-Col. Cameron, D.S.O., 5th Royal Scots, will be appointed Major, thus creating a vacancy in the list of Captains in the regiment. Dr. Duff of Kingston is mentioned for assistant surgeon. Mr. Moir, late of Strathcona's Horse, will likely be chosen as paymaster, and Mr. Robert Donaldson of the military stores as armorer. The War Office message states that the regiment will be under the control of the general officer commanding the Canadian militia until after the departure of the transports.

The Victorian Leaves Cape Town.

The following cablegram was yesterday received from Cape Town: "Victorian left Cape Town Dec. 24. Has on board for Halifax Lieut.-Col. Gordon, Canadian staff; Captain Mason, Victorian Mounted Infantry; Civil Surgeon Farrell and four men." Lieut.-Col. Gordon was D.O.C. at Montreal, but went out to South Africa attached to the first contingent. After the regiment returned to Canada, Col. Gordon remained behind and was given command of a military district in Cape Colony. He was taken dangerously ill with erysipelas some months ago, but recovered and returned to duty. It is supposed he will take over his position as D.O.C. at Montreal when he comes back. The tardy departure of the Victorian from Cape Town makes it improbable that she will reach Halifax much before the 20th prox.

Gen. O'Grady-Haly's Term.

The rumor was prevalent yesterday that the War Office had refused to consent to an extension of General O'Grady-Haly's term as officer commanding the Canadian militia, but it cannot be traced to an authoritative source, and is not credited. An official of the Militia Department, said: "The Government has passed an order in Council extending the General's time until June 30 next, and he will in all probability remain here until then. It is not likely that the War Office will override the wishes of the Government here."

A Separate Unit.

The Director-General of Medical Services wishes it made clear that the Canadian Hospital Company for South Africa is not in any way connected with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, but goes to the front as a separate unit. The Mounted Rifles have their own medical equipment, which is even fuller than with the majority of regiments, in view of the fact that it will in all probability be cut up into two separate commands. The Hospital Company is to have one hundred cots, and is organized so that it, too, can be cut in two if the authorities so desire.

The New Contingent.

Montreal, Dec. 28.—Thirteen stalwart men and true, the supplementary enlistment of Montrealers for the Canadian Yeomanry or the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles, took their departure for Halifax at noon yesterday. They left on the same train with the supplementary contingents from Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa and other places. They left with an enthusiastic send-off from their military friends and a pathetic farewell from sisters, mothers and loved ones.

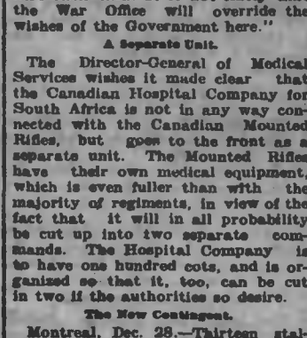
They Run to Enlist.

Winnipeg, Dec. 28.—The work of recruiting for South Africa has almost been completed in the west; there are ten applications for every position.

CHRISTMAS BOX.

Families of N.C.O. and Men of Permanent Force Provided For.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—The Minister of Militia and Defence has been pleased to authorize, as a special case, the issue of rations of food, fuel and light to the families of non-commissioned officers and men, on the married establishment of the different units of the permanent force, selected for service with the Second Regiment, Canadian Mounted Rifles in South Africa. Dr. Borden has also authorized that the families of these non-commissioned officers and men may remain in the Government quarters they at present occupy, or draw the allowance in lieu if they are now in receipt of the same.



Cured—32 Years of Awful Pile Agony.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 15, 1901.

"For 32 years I suffered constantly from protruding piles and finally had to abandon my trade of stone-mason. Four months ago I began using Pyramid Pile Cure, and before I had used up one 50c. box the disease had entirely disappeared and there is no sign of its ever returning. I am completely cured. F. Capps. 216 N. Minnesota Ave." Sold by all druggists, 50c. a box. Book, "Piles Causes and Cure," mailed free. Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

IT IS IMPORTANT

To Know What You are Taking When Using Catarrh Medicines.

Catarrh is the short route to consumption, and the importance of early and judicious treatment of Catarrh, whether located in the head, throat or bronchial tubes, cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The list of catarrh cures is as long as the moral law and the forms in which they are administered, numerous and confusing, from sprays, inhalers, washes, ointments, and salves to powders liquids and tablets.

The tablet form is undoubtedly the most convenient and the most effective, but with nearly all advertised catarrh remedies it is almost entirely a matter of guess work as to what you are taking into your system, as the proprietors, while making all sorts of claims as to what their medicines will do, always keep it a close secret as to what they are.

The success and popularity of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, is largely because it not only cures catarrh but because catarrh sufferers who use these tablets know what they are taking into their systems. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, are composed of Red Gum, Blood Root and similar valuable and antiseptic ingredients, and are pleasant to the taste and being dissolved in the mouth they take immediate effect upon the mucous lining of the throat, nasal passages and whole respiratory tract.

The cures that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have accomplished in old chronic cases of catarrh are little short of remarkable, and the advantage of knowing what you are putting into your stomach is of paramount importance when it is remembered that the cocaine or morphine habit has been frequently contracted as the result of using secret catarrh remedies.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets meet with cordial approval from physicians, because their antiseptic character render them perfectly safe for the general public to use and their composition makes them a common sense cure for all forms of catarrhal troubles.

All druggists sell them at 50 cts. for full sized packages.

EATEN BY WOLVES.

Galician's Body Found Frozen and Mangled in the West.

Rossewood, Man., Dec. 28.—A report has been brought to this section by Indians from the northwestern reserve, lying between Newdale and Strathclair, of the finding of the body of a man in that district. According to the story, the body was torn and eaten by wolves, which roam at will in large numbers in this country. The remains could not be recognized, but it is presumed to be the body of a Galician, who became lost and subsequently frozen during the severe weather. Another theory is that the man, while traveling alone, may have been attacked by the large timber wolves, which are numerous and very ferocious in the north. It is understood the authorities will investigate the truth of the report.

A VERY SEVERE TEST.

Ottawa's Mayoralty Campaign.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—The municipal campaign fairly opened last night with two candidates in the field for the Mayoralty, J. R. Davidson, who has been acting Mayor since Mr. Morris' disqualification, and ex-Ald. Fred. Cook.

Lord Strathcona Recovered.

London, Dec. 28.—Lord Strathcona, who has now recovered from his recent illness, left London Thursday, accompanied by Lady Strathcona, for Knelworth House, Stevenage.

What is Life to You?

If you are a victim of piles, as one person in every four is, you suffer keenly from one of the most torturing ailments known to man, and may well wonder if life is really worth living. Certain relief and ultimate cure is awaiting you by means of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never failed to cure piles. Painlessly and naturally it allays the inflammation, heals the ulcers and thoroughly cures this wretched disease.

Only a Name

NO MONEY IS ASKED.

Please show this to some person who needs one of these books. Ask him to send me his name.

I will mail the book and with it an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles of Dr. Sheop's Restorative. I will tell the druggist to let the sick one take it for a month. If satisfied then, pay me. If not, I will pay the druggist myself.

I mean that exactly. I do not always succeed, for sometimes there is a cause, like cancer, which medicine cannot cure. But most of these diseases result from weakened inside nerves; those nerves which alone make every vital organ do its duty. I have spent a lifetime in learning how to strengthen them; my Restorative always does that. I have furnished it to 1,445,000 people on terms like the above, and 69 out of 70 have paid for it—paid because they were cured.

There are 70 chances in 70 that I can cure you or your friend. I will pay all the cost if I don't. Won't you tell this to some sick person who wants to be well?

Simply state which book you want and address Dr. Sheop, Box 67, Racine, Wis.

Book No. 1 on Dyspepsia.
Book No. 2 on the Heart.
Book No. 3 on the Kidneys.

Mild Cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

OBEYED THE JUDGE.

His Honor Was Respected Even if the Law Had Not Been.

Georgia has a stringent law forbidding its citizens to carry pistols on pain of forfeiting the weapons and paying a fine of $50 or being imprisoned for thirty days. Shortly after the passage of this enactment Judge Lester was holding court in a little town when suddenly he suspended the trial of a case by ordering the sheriff to lock the doors of the courthouse.

"Gentlemen," said the judge when the doors were closed, "I have just seen a pistol on a man in this room, and I cannot reconcile it to my sense of duty to let such a violation of the law pass unnoticed. I ought perhaps to go before the grand jury and indict him, but if that man will walk up to this stand and lay his pistol and a fine of a dollar down here I will let him off this time."

The judge paused, and a lawyer sitting just before him got up, slipped his hand into a hip pocket, drew out a neat ivory handled six shooter and laid it, with a dollar, upon the stand.

"This is all right," said the judge, "but you are not the man I saw with the pistol."

Upon this another lawyer arose and laid down a Colt's revolver and a dollar bill before the judge, who repeated his former observation. The process went on until nineteen pistols of all kinds and sizes and shapes lay upon the stand, together with $19 by their side. The judge laughed as he complimented the nineteen delinquents upon being men of business, but added that the man whom he had seen with the pistol had not yet come up, and, glancing at the far side of the court, he continued:

"I'll give him one minute to accept my proposition, and if he fails I will hand him over to the sheriff."

Immediately two men from the back of the court arose and began to move toward the judge's stand. Once they stopped to look at each other and then, coming slowly forward, laid down their pistols and their dollars. As they turned their backs the judge said:

"This man with the black whiskers is the one that I originally saw."

Paine's Celery Compound.

Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine you should use when you lose nerve energy, when the body is poorly nourished, when you are weak, run-down, despondent or sleepless. Paine's Celery Compound braces the nerves, strengthens the liver and kidneys, and cleanses the blood. H. S. Macdonald, druggist, Peterborough, Ont.

The Girl Who Grew Prettier.

Mr. Charles Whymper, the well known engraver and animal painter, told the following anecdote some years ago: "I dined at Mr. So-and-so's at Highgate last night, and as a mark of honor his eldest daughter was assigned to me to take down to dinner. She's a bright girl, and I got along very nicely with her and Lady Bletherington on the other side until the ladies were on the eve of retiring to the drawing room. I was talking about the beautiful scenery near the house, the views from the windows, the fine air, when Miss —— suddenly said, 'I think I get prettier every day, don't you?'

"What could she mean? I did not dare to answer her, so I said: 'I beg your pardon. What did you say?'

"'I said I think I get prettier every day.'

There was no mistaking her words, so I answered, 'Yes, indeed, you get prettier, and no wonder in such fresh air and'— Just then she caught her mother's eye, and, with the other ladies, she left the room. As she went out she looked over her shoulder with such a withering scorn in her eyes that I knew I had put my foot in it somehow. Then it flashed upon me that I had misunderstood her. She had dropped an 'h.' What she had said was not a silly compliment to herself. The sentence really was, 'I think Highgate prettier every day.'"

Josh Billings Said of Niagara Falls

that the reason why people liked it was "Because nobody kin make wun just like it." For the same reason people like Pear T'a, the great guaranteed cough cure. It is the only lung remedy made that cures coughs and colds in two days with perfect safety. Children like it and it cures croupy coughs. Sold in 25c. bottles by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

TWO HUNDRED KILLED.

Band of Robbers and Slave Hunters Practically Wiped Out.

Lisbon, Dec. 28.—A telegram has been received by the Minister of Marine from Angola, East Africa, stating that a band of robbers and slave hunters, which has long infested the country round Benguella, and are known as the Guanhamas, attacked the native villages of the Ganguellos and Ambuellos, near Mossamedes, in Portuguese territory. The local governor of the district, Major Correia, agreed with some native chiefs to await the robber band, which was composed of 300 men, and repulse them. This was done with such success that the Guanhamas' attack was completely defeated, 200 of them being killed on the spot.

DANIEL LUTON DEAD.

Member of the First Parliament of Ontario Passes Away.

St. Thomas, Ont., Dec. 28.—Squire Daniel Luton, one of the best known men of Elgin, and a member of the first parliament of Ontario, died Thursday night at his residence here, aged 81 years. Deceased had lived in the county 45 years, retiring to this city six years ago. He was reeve of Yarmouth for many years and warden of the county for two years. He was appointed justice of the peace in John Sandfield Macdonald's time. His wife died just twelve weeks ago.

TRAIN RAN AWAY.

As a Result Four Railway Men Are Dead in Carbondale.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 28.—Just before daybreak yesterday morning an Ontario and Western train of 50 coal cars, drawn by a 100-ton engine, ran away on the hill between Boston Park and Starlight, wrecking the whole train and killing four of the hands.

NO JOY IN THIS FAMILY.

Illness of the Head of the House Makes the Festive Season a Very sad one.

The Dyspeptic is generally very cross and irritable. It is impossible to be happy or to make others happy when distressed and worried by the pains of indigestion. The Dyspeptic's family is seldom a happy one, for when the one who should lead the others in all merry making is nursing a pain which racks his body and irritates his brain, it is very difficult to get up much enthusiasm.

And there is no reason why this should not be forever banished, and at once, for Dyspepsia can be presently relieved and permanently cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many who have been cured of Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and Bloating by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have given their testimony. This evidence multiplies as time goes on.

At Milford, Ont., lives Mr. A. D. Miller, who for years suffered untold pain through Dyspepsia. His physician treated him for Liver Complaint, but he grew worse. He would bloat up terribly after eating; his appetite was capricious, sometimes couldn't eat at all, at other times ravenously hungry; his heart suffered also, palpitation being so bad that he could not sleep at night. He was so run down that he was hardly able to get around.

He commenced a treatment of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and soon began to improve. He says:

"After using two boxes I was well and felt like a new man, and I have had good health ever since."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have changed many a miserable victim of stomach troubles into a healthy happy man or woman, and the best of all is that once cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets means permanently cured.

Marquis Ito Sees the King.

London, Dec. 28.—King Edward received Marquis Ito in audience at Marlborough House yesterday afternoon. The Japanese statesman had previously called on the Foreign Secretary, Lord Lansdowne, who accompanied the Marquis to Marlborough House, and introduced him to the King.

The Marquis and his suite, all wearing court dress, were driven to Marlborough House in royal carriages. King Edward, when he received the Japanese statesman, wore a field marshal's uniform. Marquis Ito, after the audience, said the object of his visit to London was strictly non-political. But in view of the belief here of the probable return of the Marquis to office, some importance is attached to his interviews with King Edward and Lord Lansdowne.

Yokohama, Dec. 28.—The Cabinet differences have been arranged, owing largely, it is understood, to the telegraphic intervention of the Marquis Ito. The budget has been withdrawn for the purpose of redrafting.

ON THE FOUR-SQUARE PLAN.

The four-square plan means that all customers, regardless of rank or station, receive the same careful attention and treatment at our store. We are as particular with the child who is sent to purchase some small article as we are with the experienced adult. We never substitute inferior drugs when filling your doctor's prescription. We never recommend the "something just as good."

Sure and Unfailing.

Under all circumstances of sickness and disease Paine's Celery Compound is safe, sure and unfailing. It cleanses and purifies the blood, braces the nerves, corrects digestion, and builds up those who are weak and run down. If you are nervous or sleepless, try one bottle; the results will surprise you. Our stock of Paine's Celery Compound is always fresh and pure. H. H. Edmison, druggist, Peterborough, Ont.

Marconi's Next Experiments.

New York, Dec. 28.—The Herald in a despatch from North Sydney, C.B., says: Marconi's next experiments of importance will be made early in February, on one of the steamships from Liverpool to New York. During a trip across the ocean he will endeavor to communicate with land on one side or the other during the entire voyage. The Cornwall and Cape Cod stations are those intended to be used.

POEM BY SIR EDWIN ARNOLD.

It Is Apropos of the Ratification of the Isthmian Treaty.

London, Dec. 28.—The Telegraph yesterday printed a poem by Sir Edwin Arnold apropos of the ratification of the Isthmian treaty. He depicts Balboa with the Spanish steel "red in his conquering hand" viewing "the Pacific Ocean and thanking the queen of Heaven for the glorious guerdon. Four hundred years pass, and Nature is represented in the same spot saying:

Tha gift I gave
To Nunez de Balboa could not keep.
Spain from her clan. Now must the ages sweep
No larger legend, the her own was brave.
Here on this ridge I do forever fresh birth,
That which is departed I shall bring side by side.
The sea shall sever what the hills did divide,
Shall link in love. And there was joy on earth,
While England and Columbia, quitting fear,
Kissed and let in the eager waters there.

Zionist Congress Opens.

Basel, Dec. 28.—The Zionist Congress opened here Thursday under the presidency of Dr. Theodore Herzl of Vienna, and founder of the Zionist movement to Palestine. The Congress is attended by over a thousand delegates, representing every important country of the world with the exception of Australia.

In the course of his opening address Dr. Herzl referred to his audience held with the Sultan last May, in which the Sultan had expressed his sympathy with the Zionist movement, said he considered the Hebrews to be desirable colonists and had declared himself their friend.

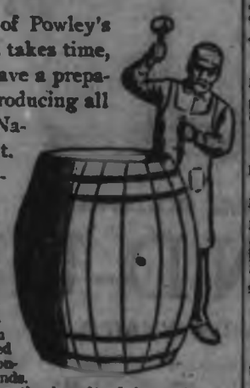
John Moore Writes.

Foreman for the Dominion Cooperage Co., Praises the Oxygen Preparation, Powley's Liquified Ozone.



The process of manufacture of Powley's Liquified Ozone is a long one. It takes time, but at the end of the process we have a preparation of oxygen in liquid form, producing all the energy and vigor peculiar to Nature's great health-giving element. That it has extreme value is evidenced by Mr. Moore's letter in which he says:

As foreman of Mr. Thompson's Cooperage works, I have put up in your laboratory several heavy retorts for making Ozone. I and my men noticed, while working in the laboratory and inhaling the gases, our energies and health becoming stronger. I obtained several bottles for my own use and I am pleased to state your remedy perfectly agreed with my stomach and built up my general constitution. I am recommending it to all my friends.

You are at liberty to publish this for the benefit of humanity.

(Sgd.) JOHN MOORE, 140 Front St., West, Toronto, Ont.

The reason that Powley's Liquified Ozone makes cures is because it contains oxygen. This element has been found lately to be of extreme value in the treatment of disease of any sort. Its value being chiefly demonstrated as a tonic and antiseptic.

Every testimonial we publish is genuine. We want you to investigate every case because they are all absolutely true.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — The greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $120 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

Federation of Labour.

At the meeting of the Labour Union last night, a resolution was passed in respectful memory of the late Alexander Brough, and the charter was ordered to be draped. Thirty members were initiated.

Special Meetings.

On January 1st and 2nd, special meetings will (D. V.) be held in the Gospel Hall, corner George and Brock street. Speakers from a distance are expected. Meetings at 10.30 a. m., 2.30 and 7 p.m. All welcome.

New Telephone.

A new telephone, No. 388, has been installed in Mr. Jas. Sutherland's grocery store, George street. Those requiring the services of a practical plumber may also call up 388, which will find Mr. Robert Sutherland, whose workshop is in connection.

At the entrance of G. E. Whiten's photo studio there can be seen as fine a display of artistic photos as any one would wish to look at. Have your best photos taken at Whiten's, corner of George and Hunter streets, west side.

Office and Pocket Diaries.

The balance of our well-selected stock of office and pocket diaries for 1902, has been reduced in price. This includes inexpensive, medium and high-grade goods. Come and take your pick early—you know the genuineness of our stock. A. H. Stratton & Co.

Remembered by Her Pupils.

The young ladies of Mrs. Stubbs' Sunday school class in the George street Methodist church, presented her on Christmas eve with a beautiful silver fern dish with fern, as a token of the love and respect they have for their teacher.

Mrs. Jory's Class.

Mrs. Jory was greatly surprised on Christmas Day, when a neatly framed group photo, of the members of her Bible class, of the George street Methodist church, was handed to her. She highly prizes the gift, as well as the Christian spirit that prompted it, and in conveying her sincere thanks, wishes them all a "Happy New Year."

P. P. Home.

The Committee of Management of the Peterborough Protestant Home beg to acknowledge the receipt of $17.85 from Mr. T. F. Matthews, being one half of the collection received from the Thanksgiving service held in Murray street Baptist church, also $5.00 from Sons of England for Christmas sheer for the old people.

School Re-opening.

The Ashburnham public school will re-open on Monday, Jan. 6th, when it is is expected every pupil will be present, as classes will be re-organized and work will begin at once.

St. John's.

The services to-morrow at St. John's will be of a festival character in harmony with the Christmas season. Great preparations have been made by the choir which both morning and evening will be supported by a full orchestra.

Open House.

On New Year's Day the Y.M.C.A. will keep open house to all young men of the town. The Social Committee, assisted by the Ladies' Auxiliary, will have charge. Every young man should call at the building on that day.

The Man Jesus.

At the last meeting for men for 1901, at the Y.M.C.A., Rev. J. Bastow will give the address. His will be the last of the "Men of Reality" series, and the character will be "The Man Jesus." It should be the crowning meeting of the month and year. All men are invited.

Charlotte Street Church.

The services in the Charlotte street church to-morrow will be appropriate to the closing of the year. It is also the annual "Red Letter Day," and special contributions are expected. With specially good music, and appropriate sermons, the day ought to be helpful to all who attend.

St. Luke's Church Notes.

Rev. H. Symonds will preach in St. Luke's church to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. The Rector will preach in the evening a sermon appropriate for the closing of the year—"A Retrospect of the Past." On Tuesday evening at 11.30 watchnight service will be held, lasting about 40 minutes. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will give a short address.

Last Sunday of the Year.

Come and get some of the cream of the holiday literature of the season at the Peterborough Bookstore. The January numbers of the regular monthly publications are now in, as well as all the illustrated weeklies and dailies. A number of copies of the Christmas Globe will be sold to-night to the first comers, at half-price—25c. A. H. Stratton & Co.

All Saints' Church.

The Christmas music will be rendered at both services on Sunday. In the morning the anthem will be, "Behold I bring You Good Tidings," and in the evening Eldon's festal service will be rendered, and the anthem, "Hark! What Mean Those Angel Voices!" Mr. A. W. Beal, of the White Cross Movement, will address the Children's Service at 3 o'clock. Rev. W. L. Armitage will preach in the morning and Rev. Dr. Symonds in the evening.

WITH MILITARY HONOURS.

The Funeral of the Late Alex. Brough Took Place Yesterday Afternoon.

All that was mortal of Alexander Brough, was conveyed yesterday afternoon from St. John's church to their last resting place in Little Lake cemetery. The funeral was under military auspices and was largely attended. A firing party, consisting of ten men under the command of Col.-Sergt. Sturgeon, preceded the hearse, whilst the following members of No. 5 Company formed the quota of military mourners: Capt. Bennett, Lt. McLean, Sergt.-Major Brittain, and Sergt. Batten.

A large number of members of the Federation of Labour, attended in a body. Bearers were Messrs. Cousins, Daly, Mandon, Quinlan, Lacey, and Elliott. A number of floral designs were placed on the grave, among them being a wreath from the Labour Union and one from No. 5 Co., 57th Regt., of which the deceased was a member.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, chaplain of the regiment, conducted the services.

At the grave the firing party fired a farewell salute over the grave.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT

Held at St. Andrew's Church Last Evening.

The Christmas entertainment held by the Senior Scholars of St. Andrew's Sunday school, was in every way a grand success. The hall was very prettily decorated with bunting, and the programme was of an excellent and entertaining character and a very large number of parents and friends were present.

Tea was served from 6 to 8 p.m., at which time the programme began. At the close the pastor announced that Miss Mattie Barrett, had won the pastor's prize for general proficiency.

Oranges and candies were then distributed and one of the best Christmas entertainments ever held was closed.

The school voted the money usually spent in prizes to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto.

ASHBURNHAM NEWS

of a Municipal Nature—The Candidates for the Reeveship.

The nominations for the Ashburnham village council will take place between 7.30 and 8.30 o'clock on Monday evening. This is a new departure, as it has been the custom heretofore to hold the nominations during the day time, from 12 until one o'clock. The result has been that many who might have cared to attend the nomination proceedings and taken part in the discussion of municipal matters that generally follows the nomination of candidates for municipal honours, have been prevented from doing so by reason of pressure of business. The idea of holding the nominations at night is therefore a novel scheme, and if it works well there is reason to believe that it will be continued in the future.

There should be a large attendance at the nomination proceedings. The citizens of Ashburnham have many matters of interest to which they might give a free and easy discussion, and the candidates could also state their opinions on these and also state the course they intended to pursue during their term of office, if elected.

Municipal matters in Ashburnham have been somewhat quiet of late, but some surprises may be in store for the ratepayers at the nominations. It is stated on good authority that the present occupant of the Reeve's chair, Mr. Adams, does not intend seeking re-election as Reeve, but will be a candidate as councillor. Mr. Adams finds that that his time is too fully occupied to give the time to the office of Chief Magistrate of the village, that he would like to.

Mr. John H. Smith has given it out that he is a candidate for the Reeveship, against all comers, and as Mr. Smith has had considerable municipal experience, he should put up a fine fight. However, there are other good men that may be induced to stand, and it is a well known fact that Councillor Sheridan has many friends who would like to see him contest the Reeveship.

Councillor W. J. Johnston has also declared himself a candidate for the Reeveship, and will likely put up a pretty hard fight.

For the council, a number of new men in municipal matters will step into the arena.

LATE REV. JOHN MACKIE.

Father of Mrs. Wm. Scott of Town—His Demise Occurred in Quebec.

The St. John's and Lachute, P. Q., News contains the following account of the demise of the Rev. John Mackie, father of Mrs. Scott, wife of Mr. Wm. Scott, manager of the Cereal Co., town:

The Rev. John Mackie, for nearly 40 years pastor of the first Presbyterian Church, Lachute, passed quietly away at the Manse, Lachute, at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning. The deceased was born in Hamilton, Scotland, in March, 1822. He was a graduate of Glasgow University and received his theological training in the United Presbyterian Hall, Edinburg. He was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Hamilton in 1854, and shortly afterwards removed to Canada. He was ordained pastor of the first Presbyterian church, Lachute, in 1859. In 1864 Mr. Mackie married Agnes, daughter of the late Capt. Robert Dunlop, of Greennock, Scotland. Five daughters and two sons survive the union. The eldest son, Mr. John Mackie, is manager for the Gould Mfg. Co., Boston. The second son, Robert, is with the Morgan Construction Co., in Worcester, Mass. Mr. Mackie was a typical Scotchman, and possessed a deep fund of humor. Ever quick to feel for the afflicted, he was a welcome visitor of every household. About four years ago he resigned his pastorate on account of advancing age, and since that time has lived a retired life, reaching out the hand of kindness or uttering the word of cheer as of yore, but leaving the active work of the ministry to younger hands. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from his old church. The Rev. Mr. McLaren, pastor of the new United Presbyterian church, here, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Patterson, a life long friend of the deceased, and the Revs. Given, Raney, Cresswell and Matthieu. The pall bearers were Messrs. G. J. Walker, Geo. Morrison, Alex. Murray, James McOuat, Wm. Wilson, and Wm. V. Walker. The remains were followed to the grave by a large concourse of parishioners, friends and neighbors, all of whom felt a deep sense of personal loss. The late Mr. Mackie had many excellent characteristics, but perhaps his strongest points were as expressed by one of the speakers, his implicit faith and his unfailing charity to his fellow man. A good man has been taken, a godly example has been left.

OTONABEE POWER COMPANY POLES.

Permission Obtained for Their Erection on the Streets.

A Special Meeting of the Council Held Yesterday Afternoon for the Purpose of Passing the Bylaw.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of definitely arranging with the Otonabee Power Company regarding the streets on which the poles for power transmission would be erected.

Mayor Deane presided and the following Aldermen were in attendance: Messrs. H. Best, R. Clinkscale, Jos. Batten, B. Shortly, H. Rush, J. Corkery and Jas. Edgcumbe.

The company was represented by Mr. W. H. Meldrum, and Mr. Adam Hall; and the Town Solicitor, Mr. Edwards, and the Town Engineer, Mr. Hay, were also there.

The Board of Works, through its chairman, Ald. Best, reported as follows:

1. That the Town Solicitor be authorized to arrange for an extension of time for the completion of that part of R. Sheehy's sewer contract applying to Rubidge street to May 1st next, on the execution of a proper document approved by the Town Solicitor, by Mr. Sheehy and his sureties.

2. That the price the corporation will pay for field stone be fixed at $2.75 per cord, delivered at the Town yard, and that the Town Engineer be authorized to purchase stone at this price, the same to be paid for on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

3. That the Otonabee Power Co. be permitted to place a pole line on the streets with such restrictions and terms as the council may fix by by-law, as per plan.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Ald. Best and Clinkscale introduced the bylaw, authorizing the Otonabee Power Co. to erect poles and wires on the streets. The streets mentioned in the bylaw are as follows:

Across the top of the bridge over the Otonabee River at Hunter street, along reserve on right bank of river from Hunter street to Charlotte street, thence along south side of Charlotte street to east side of Water street, thence along east side of Water street to King street, thence along north side of King street to Downie street, thence along east side of Park and Downie streets to Murray street to the William Hamilton Co.'s works. Branch lines along west side of Bethune street, from King street to the elevators on Simcoe street. South Branch, along west side of Aylmer street from King street to Perry street, thence along the south side of Perry street to the Rubidge works. Branch line along north side of Rink street from Aylmer street to McDonald's mill. Branch line along south side of Townsend street from Aylmer street to the George Matthews Company, Limited, factory.

The company will pay a dollar a pole as a tax, to the town, and the franchise in this respect expires with those of the other electric companies at the end of 1903.

The bylaw received its several readings and was passed.

The council then adjourned.

AN EVENING WITH MR. GALLETLY.

One of the most pleasant events of the season will be the W.M.F. concert on Monday evening, Dec. 30th in St. Andrew's Sunday School Hall. Mr. D. Galletly, of Banff, N.W.T., will give several Scotch selections. Miss Aggie Patterson, so favourably known in her readings, will take part, and others publicly and acceptably known, will assist. Admission 10c.

NEW MASONIC TEMPLE OPENED LAST NIGHT.

The Handsome and Commodious Home of the Craft in Peterborough.

INSTALLATION OF THE OFFICERS.

Acting Grand Master, R. W. Bro. J. E. Harding, Installing Master —The Banquet in the New Refreshment Rooms—Toasts, Songs and Speeches—Half a Hundred Past Masters and Large Array of Visiting Brethren.

Masonry and man are traditionally co-eval. Like everything human, developments in numberless directions have marked its history, and now the Masonic fraternity is as universal as the race and in its community of aim and spirit fittingly symbolizes the unity of origin. In sympathy with its divine origin, in relation to the human interests it affects, Masonry, in its general adjustment of and setting apart of certain seasons as the result of the advent of Christianity, selected the festival of St. John, the Evangelist. This day is one of high festival with the craft, an epoch in its year. This is the day when preparations are made for the work of the coming year, when the most skilled workmen are selected, equipped and given authority to use the working tools of the craft, as the square, the level, and the plummet, in building up the moral precepts they symbolise, and to direct the social amenities and helpful fraternal relations, very important aspects of symbolic Masonry.

Therefore, St. John the Evangelist's Day, is set apart for the installation of the officers who are to serve during the coming year, and it is quite natural that the season should be selected for taking possession of the new Masonic Temple, which has been prepared and now happily completed, for the temple and workshop of the Craft, in Peterborough.

THE NEW MASONIC TEMPLE.

A slight sketch of the new Masonic Temple, as seen through a layman's eyes, may lack some of the symbolic and mystic references that could be made, but it need not conceal the completeness, elegance and adaptability to its several Masonic uses of new Masonic Temple.

This new and elegant suite of apartments occupies the second and third stories of the Bradburn block, corner of George and Simcoe streets, occupying, except on a part of the second floor, the entire space from street to Market Square, over the stores of China Hall and the Matthews Company. The entrance from George street is by a wide flight of steps, broken at the middle landing by folding doors, giving access to a broad corridor, which runs the length of the building, and at the eastern end branches into a lateral staircase corridor. Opening on the right from this corridor is the entrance to the spacious refreshment rooms, but as refreshment comes only after work, a reference to these may better close this little description.

From the southern termination of this corridor springs another broad flight of steps, to a wide passage, both flanked by windows set with ground glass. The staircase passage walls are laid on with rich paper hangings and terminated below with a deep wainscot of birdseye maple. Opening on the left from the northern end of this passage by folding doors is a large vestibule carpetted and furnished in excellent style. From this folding doors admit to a large ante room, the floor laid with Masonic tapestry and the walls adorned with handsomely framed symbolic and other pictures. Among these is an interesting document—the warrant of dispensation giving authority from the Grand Lodge of England, for the affiliation of Corinthian Lodge with the Grand Lodge of Canada. The dispensation bears date, November, 5856. Another notable picture, a beautiful etching of York Minster, one of the noblest of ecclesiastical piles, the gift of W. Bro. Walter Stocker, a genuine Yorkshire tyke and an enthusiastic craftsman, was hung yesterday. This picture derives much of its significance from the fact that the venerable and saporb architectural beauties it represents, are no doubt concrete embodiments of the spirit of the days when Free Masonry had connected with its symbolism more of the operative and practical features as associated with the erection of grand ecclesiastical structures. Another interesting picture, with a sad significance, is a portrait of Dr. Salter, of Rochester, in the robes of his degree, presented by himself. Bro. (Dr.) Salter spent his summers at Stony Lake and was a frequent Masonic visitor in Peterborough. He has, however, been transferred to the Celestial Grand Lodge, having departed this life on Monday last.

From this ante-room entrance is gained to a corridor common to the "Blue Room," and the "Chapter Room," that is, on the left it leads to the title door of the "Blue Room," and branching at right angles gives entrance to the "Chapter Room," which also has a direct entrance from the "Blue Room," and also to an auxiliary department, fitted up elegantly, en regle, and furnished with regalia cabinets, etc. In the "Blue Room" corridor, near the door, is hung a framed chart containing the list of the Masters and Wardens of Corinthian Lodge from 5848 to 5891. The embossing and symbolic settings are the work of W. Bro. T. A. S. Hay.

The Blue Room.

The "Blue Room" is an apartment of handsome proportions, spacious as to area, and with lofty ceilings. It is sufficiently secluded, there being only one outside entrance. The walls are covered with light blue paper, relieved below with a broad dado of blue of a deeper shade, picked out with gold. The walls terminate above in an ornate cornice of deep blue, separating them from the deep cove of the ceiling, in both of which the wood work, of birdseye maple, parquetry, gives a very pleasing effect. In the ceiling are placed ornate open work circular ventilating openings, to which, if needed, in warm weather electric fans can be adapted from above and without the chamber. The floor is covered with carpeting inwrought with emblems of the Craft. From the entrance door a broad belt of ornate linoleum leads, with a square turn, to the altar in the centre of the room, upon which rests the Volume of the Sacred Law, which has been in use for many years, and has been re-covered in black silk velvet and provided with three silken book marks, each bearing symbols in silver indicative of the Scripture readings prescribed for each of the three degrees, the gift of Bro. John Crane, S.W., Peterborough Lodge. The three symbolic lights, are incandescent electric, and above the altar is suspended a beautiful bronze combined gasalier and electrolier, from the bottom of which depends the symbolic letter, G. In the East, which in this case is the true geographical orient, are the dais and seat of the Master. The latter is overshadowed by a handsome blue canopy and immediately behind and above the Master's chair is placed the portrait of "Our Royal Past Grand Master." His Imperial Majesty, King Edward VII. The Master's chair, as well as those of the Past Masters, of the other officers, and of the brethren ranged around the walls, are of course upholstered in blue. The chairs of the Senior and Junior Wardens, and of the Chaplain, situated in the true West, South and North, are provided with electric lights for use in their work. The Secretary's desk and lectern, and all the other appointments of the Lodge, are complete and "on the square." The walls of the rooms are decorously plain expanse without ornamentation or hanging of any kind except where are placed the three degree "tracing boards" on the south, west and north. These were originally the gift of V. Wor. Bro. D. Spence. The north wall of the Blue Room is provided with wide sliding doors so that this room can be thrown en suite on the occasions of very large communications or important Masonic functions.

The Red Room.

The Chapter Room is smaller than the Blue Room, its length being a few feet in excess of the breadth of the former. It is handsomely fitted up and furnished according to Chapter requirements, the colour scheme being red, and is lighted similarly to the former mentioned room. On the street side are placed several windows provided with inside Venetian blinds, and the ceilings and arrangements for ventilation, controlled from the corridors outside, are the same as those of the Blue Room. Altogether these two rooms, in their furnishings equipment, and related situation, are admirably adapted to the purpose of a Masonic Temple.

To add to the completeness of the equipment of the premises, there is provided handsome toilet rooms completely and elegantly furnished. The walls are laid on with sanitary paper. There is also a complete culinary department with gas range, sinks, pantry, crockery and every thing in this line that can be considered necessary.

The Refreshment Room.

Descending the stairs the elegant dining hall is reached. This is a large, cheerful apartment and from the walls, hang in illustrious lines, the portraits of the Past Masters of the two Peterborough lodges. Occupying the central position of honour—in "the east"—hangs a large portrait in regalia of W. Bro. Kivas Tully, of Toronto, distinguished throughout Ontario for seniority and skill in the craft. He is supported so to speak, on the right by a portrait of the late Judge Dennistoun, one of the first Masters of Corinthian Lodge, and on the left by one of V. W. Bro. Charles Cameron, the oldest resident Mason in Peterborough. From this point on either wall are placed in order of seniority, the portraits of the other Past Masters of the two lodges. About a third of the refreshment room can be screened by folding doors into a smaller appartment, for occasions when the members present do not make the use of the whole of the refreshment room necessary.

General Features.

The Temple is lighted throughout by electricity, with underneath wiring, and the necessary apparatus was installed by Bro. P. Alexander.

The heating is done by steam, on the one-pipe system, and the work was executed by the Bennett & Wright Company, of Toronto, with very satisfactory results.

The excellent plans for the new Temple were prepared by W. Bro. T. A. S. Hay, C.E., who very successfully implemented the ideas of the joint Masonic Building Committee, R. W. Bro. R. E. Wood, chairman. The plans were so successfully carried out by the various craftsmen concerned, that they deserve mention. The carpenter work was in charge of Mr. Jas. Graham, foreman of the Bradburn estate, (from which the fraternity has a lease of their new premises for sixteen years.) The painting, paperhanging and decorating were done by Mr. Geo. Duncan—the elaborate paper-hangings employed being supplied by Bro. Stratton of the Peterborough Decorators. The upholstering, etc., of the "Blue Room," was by Bro. J. Craig, and that of the "Red Room," by W. Bro. D. Bellegham. The Joint Furnishing Committee, to whom were intrusted the final embellishments of the Temple, under the craftsmanship of V. W. Bro. E. H. D. Hall, discharged their duties with craftsmanlike wisdom. This committee consisted of, besides the chairman, W. Bro. (Dr.) Morrison; W. Bro. (Dr.) Greer, W. Bro. F. D. McKay, and Bro. D. Walker, of Corinthian Lodge; Rt. W. Bro. W. H. Walkey, W. Bro. G. I. Rossel, W. Bro. (Dr.) Carmichael, Bro. W. Menzies, Bro. O. Fiske and Bro. White, of Peterborough Lodge; and Comps. Alex. Gibson, and Walter Stocker, for Corinthian Chapter and Priory.

The new Masonic Temple will be formally dedicated on Thursday night, March 6th, next, by the Acting Grand Master and officers of the Grand Lodge, and a District Lodge of Instruction will also be held. The importance and magnitude of the occasion warrants it being looked forward to by the Craft with great interest.

It may be interesting to mention that the Masonic Fraternity formerly occupied a portion of their new premises 14 years ago, previous to removal to the Dunsford Block, and that the Craftsmen and Sojourners are again established in their old camping ground.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

Early in the evening, the local brethren began to assemble in their new temple in response to the summonses from their respective lodges. The overseers and zealous men who superintended the preparatory arrangements for the completion of the premises in time for the special event which marked the day had left nothing undone. Everything was in perfect order. Critics initiated in the mystical rites declared that the new temple was "perfect in its parts and honourable to the builder."

It was the festival of St. John the Evangelist—a day revered by Masons—an annual convocation of the most important significance this year to the local fraternity, especially. In accordance with the time-honoured custome of the brethren it was the day upon which the impressive ceremonies connected with the installation of the officers elect for 1902 took place. Additional significance was given the occasion from the fact that the acting Grand Master had signified his intention of being present to assume the duties of Installing Master.

The new Blue Room was totally inadequate to contain the concourse of brethren, and the adjoining Red Room had to be thrown open to afford comfortable seating for the large assemblage of craftsmen. Surrounding the distinguished guest of the evening, Right Worshipful Bro. J. E. Harding, acting Grand Master, were fully fifty Past Masters. Many visiting brethren came from a distance to be participants in the occasion, among those who registered being, W. Bro. E. Barton, Port Hope; W. Bro. Dr. Shaw, Keene; W. Bro. A. Anderson, Keene; W. Bro. Dr. Moffatt, Norwood; Bro. Thos. Blezard, M. P. P., Keene; Bro. G. J. Sherry, Norwood; Bro. Rev. A. E. Langfeldt, Bro. Rev. J. F. Wilson, Bro. H. E. Williams, Toronto; Bro. D. D. Gallelly, Banff; Bro T. H. Hamilton, Toronto.

After the usual routine business of both Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges was disposed of, the installation ceremony was proceeded with. Owing to the acting Grand Master not being able to reach town until after nine o'clock, the installation was proceeded with by V. W. Bro. H. C. Winch and R. W. Bro. R. E. Wood, well skilled craftsmen, assisted by W. Bro. R. Klagas and W. Bro. W. R. Copway, in the south and west respectively.

The respective representatives of the positions of honour in the two lodges for the ensuing twelve months were then severally invested with the official badge of their offices, as follows:

This concluded the regular business of the evening, when the lodges were closed down and the members adjourned to the refreshment room.

THE BANQUET.

When the long procession of members filed into the commodious new refreshment room, the sight presented was a splendid one. Two long tables reached the full length of the room from east to west, and a long head table reaching from north to south provided for the chairman and special guests of the evening. The banquet hall was filled to the last chair with the leading craftsmen of the town and district. The special lighting effects, the lavish flower decorations of the table and a splendid menu, all contributed to make a memorable scene.

W. Bro. H. C. Rogers presided, having on his right Acting Grand Master Harding. R. W. Bro. H. C. Bush occupied the 1st Vice chair and R. W. Bro. R. E. Wood the 2nd Vice chair.

After the menu had been disposed of, all present settled down to listen to the Toasts and Speeches.

The first toast by the chairman was "The King and the Craft," which was received with enthusiasm and the appropriate Masonic honours.

KING EDWARD VII.
Our Royal Past Grand Master.

Our King, the chairman said, had been a Grand Master for 25 years, and he had now passed the gavel on to his illustrious brother, the Duke of Connaught. The Guelph family had almost invariably been Masons and shed a lustre on the craft which could not be dimmed. He referred to the pleasure all Canadians had felt in the recent visit of the son of our King, now Prince of Wales.

Song, "God Save the King," by the whole company.

"The Grand Lodge of Canada" was the second toast by the chairman. He took occasion to refer to the interesting fact that the lodge room above was the same room he had been initiated into the mysteries over 30 years ago, and it seemed to him like coming home again. He referred to the pleasure it afforded the craft in Peterborough to have the Acting Grand Master present on this occasion; although they could not but be saddened when they remembered that he had been called upon to fill his present responsible position by the death of our lamented Grand Master.

Acting Grand Master Harding responded to the toast in a very able manner. He said the Grand Lodge of Canada was a body that he was proud to belong to. It was a Grand Lodge conducted honestly, expeditiously and quietly. It now numbered 900 representatives and had grown quickly in numbers, in wealth and in usefulness. It expended from ten to fifteen thousand dollars a year for purposes of charity, and the brethren throughout Canada spent twenty thousand dollars more to relieve the distressed. It was no small honour to belong to a body that gave fifty-five per cent. of its entire receipts for charity. He was glad to join in congratulating the brethren of Peterborough on their new and very handsome Temple, and closed by urging the brethren to cultivate the grand principles of Masonry.

V. Wor. Bro. H. C. Winch also made a suitable response to the toast.

Bros. Crane and Alex. Elliott sang "The Larboard Watch" so well that they were compelled to give "My Old Kentucky Home" as an encore.

First Vice-Chairman R. Wor. Bro. H. Rush, proposed the toast of "The Newly Installed Officers." He remarked that it was useless for him to eulogize the new officers, as they were all as well known to the brethren of both Lodges as to himself. He believed the choice of the members would justify them in having placed well skilled brethren in office, who would carefully guard the ancient land marks of the Order.

Wor. Bro. Dr. Greer, the Master-elect of Corinthian Lodge, said he felt badly handicapped in the task of fittingly responding to the toast, as enthusiastically received. He considered this one of the most important occasions of his life, and he could conscientiously say that it was the proudest hour of his life. He promised to use his best efforts in the discharge of his duties in the East, trusting to his brother officers and the members to render him their faithful assistance.

Wor. Bro. Stocker, Master-elect of Peterborough Lodge, was greeted with the "He's a Daisy" refrain by the whole company. He said there were moments in our life when we would rather be alone, and to him this was one of them. He couldn't make a speech, but he could, and did, thank the brethren sincerely for the honour they had done him. He would endeavour to fulfil the duties of his office to the best of his ability.

W. Bro. W. J. Drope, of Grimsby Lodge, gave a humourous song entitled "Appendicitis."

W. Bro. Stevenson, in a very amusing speech gave the toast of "The Visiting Brethren," which was responded to by W. Bro. Burton, of Port Hope, Bro. Rev. J. P. Wilson, town; V. W. Bro. Dr. Shaw, of Keene; Bro. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., Bro. D. D. Gallelly, of Banff, who also favoured the company with "The Laird O'Cockpen;" Bro. Rev. Langfeldt, town, and Bro. Sherry, of Norwood.

R. W. Bro. R. E. Wood gave the toast of "The Retiring Officers," which was very suitably responded to by W. Bro. Roesel and W. Bro. Dr. Morrison.

W. Bro. Armitage in an able speech proposed the toast of "The Installing Master." He said that the R. W. Bro. came among them not as a formality but as a well-skilled craftsman. He considered it a great privilege to have him with them to-night, and hoped the M. M's would receive an impression from his teachings that would be lasting. Masons, the speaker said, were born not made—and it behoved the craft to do nothing that would reflect on the dignity of the Order. He paid a high tribute to the personal virtues of their distinguished guest, and hoped he would be spared for a long life of usefulness.

R. W. Bro. Harding replied in a pleasant and pointed speech. He had spoken before, and as he did not wish to trespass on their time, he concluded by thanking them for the very hearty manner he had been received by the Peterborough brethren.

The Junior Warden's toast "Happy to Meet, Soon to Part, Happy to Meet Again," was then honoured, and the brethren all joined in singing the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne.

Bro. Harry Long, the skilled caterer, did himself unusual credit last night. The manner in which he provided and spread the tempting delicacies elicited general praise. It was also generally acknowledged that the new J. W's had great heads for such occasions.

Clements Lodge, Lakefield.

The newly elected officers of Clements Lodge, No. 313, A. F. & A. M., were duly installed last night by V. W. Bro. John Hull, Installing Master, assisted by several well-skilled craftsmen. The new officers for 1902 are:

The following committees have been appointed:—

Finance—Bros. E. A. Tanner, W. M. Graham, and A. V. Hill.

Benevolence—Bros. Hilliard, Hull, Dr. Fraser, Graham and Casement.

After the installation the newly installed officers exemplified the second degree, very creditably, and which elicited the warmest praise for the excellent manner in which the work was performed. The newly elected officers and others made short speeches.

Port Hope Lodges.

The D. D. G. M. R. W. Bro. W. H. Walkey, of Peterborough Lodge, installed the officers of the Port Hope Lodges last night. The list of officers was not received in time for this issue.

FLASHES OF BOWERY WIT.

Some Odd Signs Seen on This Metropolitan Thoroughfare.

Along the Bowery are dozens of windows where are displayed unredeemed pledges, trinkets or valuables that have strayed from all quarters into these oddities of commerce. Sometimes a melancholy interest attaches to these things, but the pawnbroker is a foe to melancholy. Therefore he puts humorous placards upon his wares to catch the eye and evoke a smile, for a good humored man is a better customer than a gloomy one.

One window displays a cobwebbed skull bearing a placard that says:

"There are 1,000 skulls in existence said to be Oliver Cromwell's. This is not one of them. We never misrepresent."

Further along a skull is displayed which is said to have belonged to "Pliny, whose body was entirely consumed in Vesuvius."

A large leg bone is advertised as "good enough to go for you if ever yours is broken."

Watches give the Bowery humorist a splendid field. One of them bears a ticket bidding the passer "buy me if you haven't time." Another confesses that "slow horses did this—made him pawn me for $35."

One watch asks boldly, "Don't you like my face?" while another, closed, says: "I am ashamed to be here. Take me away!"

A pretentious notice points out that "this watch has three hands, and the third is the second hand!" A stop watch is said to have been used in "timing the great human race."

On a bottle of snakes is hung this solemn warning: "Don't look at me if drunk, for you will certainly see things." Another bottle of the same kind is labeled, "Scar and bitem sortes, groundsucrawlers."

A dealer whose frankness and disinterested honesty are attractive advertises, "Guns that will shoot and guns that won't," and puts a notice on one of them that confesses, "This is not much good as a gun, but it is 125 years old." Another gun is recommended as "an excellent gun for killing time," and truly it looks all of that. It is a muzzle loader with a match pan. One placard declares that "this is not Aaron Burr's rifle; it is mine, but you can have it for $1."

A dealer declares his honesty thus: "This looks like a thousand dollar bill, but I made it myself; I never misrepresent." But he casts discredit on the statement by displaying some apple seeds which he declares "belonged to the notorious apple that got Eve into trouble."

FLOWER AND TREE.

A white pine will measure twenty-five feet at twenty years and gain twenty-five feet more in the next ten years.

Japanese florists have succeeded in cultivating a rose which looks red in the sunlight and white in the shade.

Whenever boughs of trees or vines become troublesome lop them off, no matter what time in the season. Make the cuts smooth.

In planting an orchard it is best to use trees one or two years from the bud or graft, as they are less costly and are easier handled.

In Java there is an orchid, the grammatophyllum, all the flowers of which open at once as if by the stroke of a fairy wand, and they also all wither together.

High grass and weeds should not be allowed to stand around fruit trees over winter. They furnish a harbor for mice, which are apt to put in a part of their time girdling the trees.

If manure is to be applied when the trees are set out, take pains to incorporate it thoroughly with the soil. It is a mistake to put manure in the bottom of the place prepared for the trees.

The symmetrical top of a fruit tree depends on its proper pruning when young. When first planted, the top should be well cut back to one straight stem, if of one season's growth, as this will proportion the stem to the sap gathering capacity of the mutilated roots.

At the Dime Museum.

"Passing on now to the next platform, ladies and gentlemen," said the lecturer, "permit me to call your attention to the two headed snake, probably the greatest curiosity in the known world. This snake, you perceive, ladies and gentlemen, has a head at each end of the body. In consequence of this we are compelled to exhibit it as a dead snake.

"The mouths were equally ravenous. Each brain worked independently of the brain at the other extremity; hence each half of the body was always working contrary to the other half, and when the mouth at one extremity was about to seize some morsel of food it would find itself jerked away in order that the mouth at the other end might seize some equally tempting morsel of food. The snake being too thick and strong in the middle to be torn apart, thus permitting each half to lead a separate and untrammeled existence, there was nothing for the poor creature to do but to starve to death, which it accordingly did.

"This shows, ladies and gentlemen, that it is absolutely essential that both heads shall be on one end."

Animals in People's Insides.

In the Leeds Intelligencer for July 20, 1801, Dr. Gardner, "the inventor of the universal medicines in the form of pills, plaster and ointment," was advertising his arrival in Leeds and was exhibiting worms and other creatures of which he had rid men's bodies "to prove what no man nor any body of men upon earth can deny." His exhibits, which could be seen at the doctor's lodgings, 8 St. Peter's square, included "two uncommon creatures, one like a lizard, the other has a mouth like a place, (sic) a horn like a snail, two ears like a mouse and its body covered with hair. It was destroying the man's liver, a portion of which it has brought off with it."

His Ignorance.

A Scottish member of parliament was not complimented lately when he was addressing his constituents. He assured his hearers that he was not an idle member of the house and that during the last two years he had put no less than 182 questions to the speaker and the members of the government. "What an ignorant auld beggar ye must be!" cried a voice from the crowd.

Punished.

Mamma—Oh, Ronald, who opened the canary's cage?

Ronald—I did. You told me a little bird was a-whispering to you when I was naughty, so I knew it must be him, as there was no other little bird about. So I opened the cage, and the cat's eaten him. That's what he got for telling on me."

A Wrong Burial Certificate.

When a physician issues a burial certificate for one who has died of consumption or throat trouble, he should say, Cause of death, neglect to take Four T's when the cough first started. Four T's cure a cough in 24 hours and the worst cold in two days, and you get a large bottle for 25c. at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Depends upon the name. Scott's Emulsion is a name that has value. Maybe it doesn't mean much to you—but to the consumptive who has been strengthened and fattened, to the sickly children who have received good health, to the weak mothers and babies who have grown strong—to these Scott's Emulsion means something.

To all of them it has meant an easy and natural return to health.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

THE MAJOR'S VENGEANCE.

McKinley and the Reporter Who Persistently Assailed Him.

During one of his congressional campaigns Major McKinley was followed from place to place by a reporter for a paper of opposite political faith, who is described as being one of those "shrewd, persistent fellows who are always at work, quick to see an opportunity and skilled in making the most of it." While Mr. McKinley was annoyed by the misrepresentation to which he was almost daily subjected, he could not help admiring the skill and persistency with which he was assailed. His admiration, too, was not unmixed with compassion, for the reporter was ill, poorly clad and had an annoying cough. One night Mr. McKinley took a closed carriage for a nearby town at which he was announced to speak. The weather was wretchedly raw and cold, and what followed is thus described:

He had not gone far when he heard that cough and knew that the reporter was riding with the driver on the exposed seat. The major called to the driver to stop and alighted. "Get down off that seat, young man," he said. The reporter obeyed, thinking the time for the major's vengeance had come. "Here," said Mr. McKinley, taking off his overcoat, "you put on this overcoat and get into that carriage."

"But, Major McKinley," said the reporter, "I guess you don't know who I am. I have been with you the whole campaign, giving it to you every time you spoke, and I am going over tonight to rip you to pieces if I can."

"I know," said Mr. McKinley, "but you put on this coat and get inside and get warm so that you can do a good job."

CHOSEN FROM A MULTITUDE.

The Preference Shown by Thinking People for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine—Record Sales Last Month.

Considering the large number of remedies for coughs and colds that are now offered to the public, and in view of the fact that nearly every druggist has a preparation of his own which he makes an effort to substitute for the medicine asked for, it seems truly remarkable that the demand for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine should increase by such leaps and bounds.

During October the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine exceeded by several hundred bottles the record of any previous month in its history. When it is remembered that this preparation receives very little newspaper advertising the evidence seems to be conclusive that it makes its way by sheer force of merit.

Thinking people recognise the harmfulness and danger of using strong drugs which are said to cure a cold in a few hours. They prefer to cling to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, which they know beyond a doubt to be a thorough and effective treatment for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, throat irritations, asthma, and even consumption itself.

The combination of linseed and turpentine, with half a dozen other ingredients of equal value for treating colds, in such proportions as they are found in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proven to be a perfect protection against such developments as pneumonia, consumption, and serious lung troubles. You can with certainty rely on this preparation to afford prompt relief and perfect cure.

Do you suppose that the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine would be more than three times that of any similar preparation if it was not the most effective remedy that money can buy? It has stood the test and proven itself worthy of the confidence that is placed in it. People recommend it one to another, and so the good news spreads. Be sure you get the genuine, with Dr. Chase's portrait and signature on the wrapper. 25 cents a bottle. Family size, three times as much, 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 12

Why He Renewed His Youth.

"Why, Brother Dickey, I hardly knew you, you're looking so young and spry! What's up now?"

"Well, suh, I'se studyin' 'bout gittin' married orgin, dat's all."

"Getting married?"

"Yes, suh. I made de 'quaintance of a young gal terday, an she 'lowed dat if I'd shave off my gray whiskers, an chop off de hair what on my head, an stop limpin' wid de rheumatism, an wear close what come out de sto', an smoke se-gars stidder pipe, an stop preachin' 'gin dancin', an secure my life in her favor for a hundred dollars she'd marry me. Dat how come I look so young!".

JINGLES AND JESTS.

The Spirit of Christmas.

All hail the genial time of year
When every heart is filled,
When far and near there is good cheer
And care is left behind.

Old feuds forgot, old hatred stilled,
How hasty chaps at hand,
While far and wide at Christmastide
Love reigns throughout the land.

Pumpkin, forgot, a trace to pride;
Hushed are all friendship's rifts.
At gay Yuletide on every side
We're "rushed" for Christmas gifts

Genius.

"It's mighty hard to judge by appearances," said Uncle Eben. "When you see a man wif a new suit o' clothes you neber kin tell whether he's got a whole lot o' money or whether he's jes' done spent it all."

The Professor.

"Ah! yes," said the professor, struggling with a burnt and blackened steak of unusual toughness which the cook lady had just brought in: "they say woman's work is never done!"

The Saddest Days.

These are the saddest days; some say,
In spite of all advice,
Dear little Willie kins stay
With little Reginald, and they,
Of course, break through the ice.

"Goodness, yes! It made me think of a tongue sandwich."

Sex in Questions.

"There is sex in questions."

"How so?"

"Why, 'Will she have him?' is essentially masculine, while 'Can she get him?' is the feminine of it."

Unnecessary to Suffer From Asthma.

This distressing complaint can be perfectly cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys the germs that destroy the disease. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth from a convenient pocket inhaler, and after permeating the minutest air cells, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It stops the cough, makes breathing regular, and erradicates the Asthma so thoroughly from the system that it never returns. Don't suffer from Asthma, use Catarrhozone, it will speedily cure you. Large outfit, $1; small size, 25c. Druggists, or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty. Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.-92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

STORIES OF SINGERS

TIMES WHEN THEIR VOICES WERE OF MORE WORTH THAN MONEY.

Santley's Adventure With a Band of Mexican Bandits—Some Experiences of the Tenor Mario—How Labiache Put a Bear to Flight.

Many years since, when traveling with some friends in Mexico, Charles Santley was captured by half-breed bandits and, being unable to pay the large ransom demanded, carried off to the mountains. Over supper the singer, by no means weighed down by his mishap, chanced to break into song, which so delighted the brigand chief that he demanded an encore.

Santley saw his chance and expressed his willingness to comply on condition that he and his companions were granted their release. The suggestion was accepted, and for over two hours was the singer's voice raised in such exquisite melody that the bandits, true to their word, allowed him and those with him to depart.

The late Joseph Mass had a somewhat similar experience. Years back, when with a companion buffalo hunting on the American prairies, he was captured by Indians and carried to their camp. When at his wits' end how to extricate himself from the dilemma, his friend suggested the power of song. Forthwith he commenced an operatic selection that so delighted his captors that they loosened his bonds and urged him, at the point of their spears, to continue.

Luckily his voice had a soporific effect upon the Indians, who one by one dropped asleep until, just as he was on the point of stopping from exhaustion, the last passed into the realms of dreams. Then he and his companion quietly stole away.

His wonderful voice on one occasion placed the great tenor Mario in a somewhat invidious position. When traveling with some companions in Spain, he fell into the hands of a party of marauding gypsies, who demanded the customary ransom. Mario, tickled at the situation, answered their request in impromptu song, which he delivered with such exquisite mock dignity that his captors with unanimous acclamation elected him captain of their band. The singer diplomatically acquiesced in their decision, but in the course of the following day contrived to make his escape with his friends.

On another occasion in Madrid the same singer, as he was returning late one night from the theater where he was engaged, was arrested by the police in mistake for a political discontent. In vain he asserted his identity. He was carried before their chief, who likewise smiled incredulously at the captive's asseverations.

Greatly angered, Mario vehemently demanded that his friends should be forthwith communicated with, but the official shook his head and remarked that if indeed he were the great tenor he possessed in his voice a sure means of proving the truth of his words. Ten minutes later Mario was bowed out with many regrets and profuse apologies.

When traveling to Paris with some other ladies, Mme. Grisi had a thrilling adventure. At a small wayside station a man entered the carriage, and it soon became evident from his threatening gestures and eccentric behavior that he was a dangerous lunatic.

Though her companions were panic stricken, Mme. Grisi retained complete presence of mind and with the utmost composure began to sing. At once the maniac was quiet; his whole attention was riveted on that magnificent voice, and he remained the most appreciative of listeners until the train reached the next station, where he was secured. It transpired subsequently that he was a maniac with homicidal tendencies who had escaped from an asylum.

An amusing story is told of Lablache, the celebrated bass singer. One day as he was strolling leisurely through a French fair a cry was suddenly raised that a bear had escaped from the menagerie. The crowd fled in every direction—all save the singer, whose massive proportions precluded the idea of rapid motion. Amid the general commotion he among them all stood unmoved, calmly awaiting the advent of the ferocious beast, which sure enough came slouching rapidly toward him. When within a few feet, it halted as though to gather itself together for a final rush, when Lablache stepped forward and from the lowest depths of his immense chest sent forth such a thunderous roar that the terrified animal turned and fled.

A Rattlesnake's Fangs.

You often hear of rendering a rattlesnake harmless by pulling out its fangs. Then, again, you read of cases where a serpent so treated has bitten persons fatally. The reason for this is that a poisonous snake is deprived only temporarily of its venomous powers by the extraction of the two incisors in the upper jaw, at the bases of which are the poison glands. Of course you know that the fangs are hollow, so that when the animal strikes the venom gushes through them into the flesh of the person struck. Now, by drawing the two teeth the snake may be rendered harmless for a few weeks, but after a short time the two teeth just behind the original fangs move up and take their places, making connection with the poison glands and thus becoming poison fangs as good and effective as the old ones.

Gates in Norway.

A curious feature to travelers in the highroads of Norway is the great number of gates—upward of 10,000 in the whole country—which have to be opened. These gates, which either mark the boundaries of the farms or separate the home fields from the waste lands, constitute a considerable inconvenience and delay to the traveler, who has to stop his vehicle and get down to open them.

A THACKERAY FEAST.

The Bill of Fare and a Description of the Beefsteak.

Perhaps the one feast which clings most closely to the reader's memory is that described by Thackeray in one of his charming essays, though how far this may be defined as a "feast in fiction" is a question for the casuist. The piece is, one fears, less known in these degenerate days than it deserves, and a quotation may be pardoned even by those persons of a right turn of mind who know their Thackeray. The dinner in question was eaten at the Cafe Foy, for whose locality the modern tourist will consult his Baedeker in vain. The account of this dinner is too long to quote in full, but one cannot refrain from extracting the bill of fare and the description of the beefsteak. "We had:

"Portage julienne, with a little puree in it,
Two entrecotes aux epinards,
One perdreau truffe,
One fromage roquefort,
A bottle of Hutts with the best,
A bottle of Bucterne with the partridge.

"And perhaps a glass of punch, with a cigar afterward, but this is neither here nor there. * * * After the soup we had what I do not hesitate to call the very best beefsteak I ever ate in my life. By the shade of Heliogabalus, as I write about it now, a week after I have eaten it, the old, rich, sweet, piquant, juicy taste comes smacking on my lips again, and I feel something of that exquisite sensation I then had. I am ashamed of the delight which the eating of that piece of meat caused me. G. and I had quarreled about the soup * * * but when we began on the steak we looked at each other and loved each other. We did not speak; our hearts were too full for that. But we took a bit and laid down our forks and looked at one another and understood each other. There were no two individuals on this wide earth, no two lovers billing in the shade, no mother clasping her baby to her heart, more supremely happy than we. Every now and then we had a glass of honest, firm, generous Burgundy that nobly supported the meat. As you may fancy, we did not leave a single morsel of the steak, but when it was done we put bits of bread into the silver dish and wistfully sopped up the gravy. I suppose I shall never in this world taste anything so good again."

Burns and Scalds.

In cases of burns or scalds, when the skin is unbroken, cover the burn with white lead paint, glycerin, fresh lard, linseed, olive, sweet or lard oil or soapsuds. If the skin is broken, pour a mixture of oil and limewater (either linseed, olive, sweet or lard oil) in equal parts over the injury. Then place a soft piece of white linen or muslin wet with the oil mixture on the wound. Then loosely wind a bandage over this, removing it from time to time to wet the linen with the Oil mixture. Never attempt to uncover the injury.

Before the Footlights.

"I understand that young man who calls on you," said old Mr. Straitlace, "wants to become an actor."

"Yes," replied his fair daughter, "he does think of appearing before the footlights."

"Humph! The next time he calls you'd better warn him to think of disappearing before the foot lights."

"Go West,

Ranch it and rough it and you'll soon get rid of that weak chest and that hacking cough." That is what the doctor said to a young married man with a wife and child to care for and a modest salary to support them on. He couldn't go West. Love and duty tied him to his desk in the city.

People don't have to travel to cure coughs or strengthen weak lungs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, weakness, emaciation and other forms of disease which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate fatally in consumption.

"I will write you what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done for me," says George H. Belcher, Esq., of Dorton, Pike County, Ky. "Thirteen years ago I was wounded by a ball passing through my lung. I have had a bad cough almost ever since, with shortness of breath, and it was very easy to take cold; the slightest change of weather would cause the cough to be so bad I would have to sit up in bed all night. Could not eat or sleep at times; was all run down; could not work at all. A few months ago I began using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Have not used more than two bottles, and now can eat, sleep, and work, and I feel like a new man. I cannot find words to sufficiently recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, or tell the good it has done me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. The book has 1008 pages. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Great results from one bottle.

One bottle of that marvellous medicine, Paine's Celery Compound is often sufficient to banish the seeds of dangerous diseases, to cleanse the system and establish good health. KITCHEN HELPS.

Use a pancake lifter to place cookies on the baking tin and to remove them.

To clarify fat after frying throw in a few slices of raw potato and simmer all for a few minutes.

Grease spots that have become hard and burned in on ranges may be removed by rubbing with a few drops of kerosene on a cloth.

Sometimes the fishy smell will cling to knives and forks after oily fish like salmon or mackerel has been served. Cut a lemon, rub them with it, and the disagreeable odor will vanish.

Sometimes a large roasting pan, being infrequently used, gets rusty. To prevent wash it well after using, dry it in the oven, then while warm rub it over with a greased cloth and hang it away.

Old newspapers save work in the kitchen. When you have any "messy" task on hand, like dressing a chicken, pickling over fruit, etc., lay a paper on the table, gather the litter up with it and burn all together. This saves scouring the table.

The Agony of Sleeplessness.

Did you ever pass a single night in wakeful misery, tossing and rolling in bed, trying in vain to sleep and longing for morning to come? Can you imagine the torture of spending night after night in that way, each single night growing worse and worse? This is the most dreadful symptom of Nervous Exhaustion and debility. You can be gradually and thoroughly cured of Sleeplessness by the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way, by creating new nerve cells and restoring lost vitality.

The Finishing Touches.

A girl who had been very clever at college came home the other day and said to her mother:

"Mother, I've graduated, but now I must inform myself in psychology, philology, bibli"—

"Just wait a minute," said the mother. "I have arranged for you a thorough course in roastology, boilology, stitchology, darnology, patchology and general domesticology. Now, put on your apron and pluck that chicken."

Unfortunately.

They were driving together when Miss Rocks, unsolicited, gurgled forth her views upon matrimony. "Love is a dreary desert," she said, "and marriage an oasis," whereupon Mr. Slyly remarked that "certainly it did require a deal of sand."

A Good Name.

Tess—Oh, yes, she married a man with a highly honored name.

Jess—What! I never considered Scadds a highly honored name.

Tess—Well, you should see the way it's honored at the bank.

A man should not lose his temper oftener than once in ten years, and a politician never.

"SHE BURNS GREEN."

The Discovery of Borax in Death Valley by Aaron Winters.

The greatest discovery of borax in the United States was made in the terribly hot region known as Death valley and in a most romantic way. The Chicago Record tells the story.

In 1880 Aaron Winters lived with his wife, Rosie, in a gulch known as Ash Meadows, not far from the mouth of Death valley. He was so fond of his wife that he would not allow her to be long absent from him, although their little hut on the side of the mountain was a hundred miles from the nearest neighbor, in a wild, rugged, desolate country.

One day a desert tramp came along and spent the night at the Winters home. He told the hunter about the borax deposits of Nevada. When he went away, Winters thought that he had seen deposits of the same kind on his explorations into Death valley.

Accordingly he and his wife went together to take the search, having previously provided themselves with certain test chemicals, which when combined with borax and ignited would produce a green flame.

Having procured a piece of the substance which he believed to be borax, Winters and his wife waited for nightfall to make the test. How would it burn?

For years they had lived like Pluto on the desert, entirely without luxuries and often wanting for the very necessities of life. Would the match change all that?

Winters held the blaze to the substance with a trembling hand, then shouted at the top of his voice: "She burns green, Rosie! We're rich! We're rich!"

They had found borax. The mine was sold for $20,000, and Winters took his Rosie to a ranch in Nevada.

CHAPTER XV.

Having completed our tour of inspection, we will now adjourn to our mess room for breakfast. The boys are all in their respective places, eagerly awaiting the arrival of the orderlies from the gallery above, and, in the meantime, amuse themselves by drumming their plates with knives, forks or spoons. It is certainly childish sport, and very annoying, but some people apparently never emerge from the realm of infancy. You will notice the boys are seemingly in a great hurry, and, like a friend of mine who doesn't believe in long prayers in harvest time, they dispense with all thanksgiving ceremony and immediately begin to spread desolation through all that lies before them. In general, they have little reason to grumble about their diet, either as to quality or quantity, but I have known them to reject certain canned meats. When the authorities insisted they should use them, and persisted in sending them to the mess in the can for dinner, and if rejected and returned, in stews for supper, the bonny lads consigned them to the sea by throwing them through the port-holes. On one occasion, I am told, when the Orderly Officer came around at noon making the usual enquiry if there were any complaints, an irascible hero at the farther end of the table, near the vessel's side, promptly replied "Yes sir! the soup's bad and the meat's rotten!" The officer was astonished. To ascertain if the statement were authentic, he took a sip of the broth, and holding his head erect, and manipulating his jaws after the fashion of a goose drinking water, he pronounced it first-class. Then he procured a knife and fork, and with great difficulty managed to sever a tiny morsel from the meat, which he assured them was excellent. The boys were indignant, and the same champion who acted as spokesman before, immediately answered, "If it's excellent, you can take it down to the officers, for we've no d—m use it here." My own opinion of the matter is neither officer nor man was exactly honest in his verdict. They were extremelsts, and while the meat was undoubtedly tainted, and the soup must necessarily be so, it was far from being rotten and just as far from being excellent. You couldn't conscientiously declare it either, and some officers, and men too, speak very rashly, and while they wouldn't dare to partake of "rotten" meats or "tainted" soups themselves, they make no hesitation in averring it excellent when others must suffer in consequence. Personally, I am not in favour of separate messes for officers, non-coms. and men, especially on an expedition like that to South Africa. Our officers and sergeants fared more sumptuously every day than we did, and yet they didn't contribute a single farthing towards any mess fund for sustenance. They were at no more expense than we were, but our mess was not to be compared with theirs. This kind of thing is certain to sow the seed of dissension in the ranks, and lead men to frankly declare these two messes are bolstered up by the first selections of all provisions, and theirs receives the cuttle and refuse, and may we not suppose their is at least as much truth as fiction in their accusation? What is good enough for the men under my command is good enough for me, and the simple fact that I wear a star or two upon my shoulder does not alter the case a particle, nor form any reason why my digestive organs should suddenly become rebellious and refuse to perform their duty upon food similar to that upon which my men subsist. It is quite a different thing when officers support the mess by subscription, mess fees, or other legitimate means, but when the hardships of active service hover about us should abolish our barrack room formality, and come down to plain rations, like those of our men. The time did come when both officers and non-coms. would fain have relished the menu served the men on the Milwaukee, and it was with great reluctance the sergeants abandoned their mess at the Cape and dined with the insignificant Tommy. This thing of sergeants separating themselves from the men, like goats from sheep, is simply preposterous, but so long as regulations remain as they are, we needn't expect nor even hope for reform. This lack of consideration, sympathy, or even mere friendliness between the staff, the sub-staff and the men was well exemplified one day on ship-board, when apples were said to be issued. A barrel about one-third full—the other two would likely be found in the saloon and sergeant's mess—was placed at the entrance to our quarters. As I passed I looked into it to ascertain the nature of its contents, but to satisfy my curiosity, necessitated a more minute investigation. After carefully analysing a few specimens, I concluded they were at one time apples, but were now a pulpy mass of rot. There was barely enough of the fruit left in sound condition to disclose the identity of the mass, and I don't wonder at the party or parties who placed the barrel in that position, fleeing to some place of seclusion to hide their shame-blushed faces, if they really had any sense of honour or common decency in their anatomy.

But let us return and picture our experiences in a storm at sea. Both sea and sky portended fine weather for a time after we embarked, but on Thursday evening the wind gradually rose from a gentle zephyr to a perfect gale, and the sea, which had hitherto been as placid as a lake, frothed and foamed in its fury. The breezes whistled through the rigging, and sighed among the sails. The swells were heaving high, and the old Milwaukee rolled and tumbled, pitched and tumbled, pitched and tossed like a chip upon the raging main. The sun sank behind heavy black clouds, which were brilliantly illuminated at irregular intervals by vivid flashes of lightning. Night came on, and the storm approached nearer and then, like an army going into battle, the thunders rolled, signifying the heavenly artillery had gone into action, and gave the signal for a mighty downpour of rain.

The storm continued in its fury for possibly an hour or more, when it gradually diminished, the desultory fire of the celestial Long-Toms or Pom-Poms assuring us the critical period was passed, and the elements were beginning to assume a more friendly attitude, and endeavouring to restore an equilibrium. An equilibrium was not so easily restored on board, and a peep into our sleeping quarters would convince the most skeptical that the elements had scattered consternation broadcast among the inhabitants. Not all were in their beds that night. Our dormitory was forsaken by a few. It was late in the night when I was aroused from my slumbers by the jostling of our hammocks together, and when my eyes were fully opened and I became conscious of my surroundings, I could discern many of my comrades running hither and thither through the passages or rushing up and down the gangway leading to the upper deck, like the angels on Jacob's ladder, for our electric lights had not as yet been extinguished. Oh, it was pitiful—near a whole city full of sea sick people, some lying helplessly on the floor, moaning and groaning as though in the awful throes of death. The offal was awful, and some poor fellows would strain every muscle, apparently in an effort to evacuate the stomach, when there was really nothing in it but the lining membrane. They were all so sea sick that they didn't care for anything or anybody, and when I went upon deck to take in the situation up there and get a breath of pure air, free from the fetid pollution of our quarters, men were to be seen leaning over the bulwarks, and lying helplessly about the deck, some as silent as the dead, others swearing dreadfully in their awful condition. I proceeded to the bow to get the full benefit of the heaving action of the vessel, which I enjoy, and as I passed a snubbing post a man called out in a pitiful tone, "Say, boss, I'm sick. Yes, I'm——sick. I've only got $12.50, but I'll give it all to——any who will throw me overboard. Will you do——it, old man? Eh?" I told him it would only be a pleasure for me to do him a favour, and I thought as a financial enterprise I could carry out his wish for 25c, and he might in the near future need the remainder to buy a fire-escape or a ton of ice. He was too sick, however, to pay the small fee I demended, so I returned to the dormitory and left him alone in his "glory."

Every piece of timber seemed to creak from the excessive strain upon it, as the vessel rolled, pitched and tossed, and back astern could be distinctly heard the incessant tramp, tramp, and stumbling of the horses, many of whom were as sea sick as their riders in the forecastle. The whistling of the wind, the splash, splash of the water, mingled with the pitiful moans and groans of sea sick soldiers, made the night one of unusual interest. The tin plates and cups were rattled about, as though the devil's imp himself had got among them, and finally all landed on the floor in the filth and slime. You may best imagine the condition of our elegant dining room, and how eager the orderlies were to perform the pleasant duty of scrubbing it in the morning. With these awful scenes before me, and these languid forms around me, the night wore slowly on, with not a pleasant sound except the half hour stroke of the ship's bells, and the hourly report from the "crow's nest" on the forward ward mast, conveying the sweet assurance, "all's well."

As I said before, most of the boys were completely dead to the world around them, otherwise some might have been disposed to act as a gentleman I heard of, who, under similar conditions, as he lay in his bunk, heard the shout "All's Well," and being anything but that himself, clenched his fist and as he struck the side of the vessel a tremendous blow, indignantly replied "It's a lie."

(To be continued)

Misleading Statements About Breakfast Foods.

Ordinary cracked wheat and wheat granules are sold by some manufacturers as health foods. This is unfair and misleading to the masses who use grain foods at breakfast. This wheat food (it matters not by what name it is called) contains too much starch which gives rise to thousands of cases of stomach troubles.

Malt Breakfast Food is made from the choicest Wheat and purest Malt. The Malt renders the starch of the wheat soluble and gives us a partially predigested food of great nutritive value. Food experts say it is the only true health food in the world. If you are a stranger to it, you miss a treat each morning. At all grocers.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

HOCKEY.

Mr. A. W. McPherson the popular secretary of the local club, entertained the mebers of the Intermediate team last night, when a very pleasant few hours were spent.

There will be no practice this evening. The ice is not in condition.

Lakefield has entered into the game with great enthusiasm this year, and will be a great acquision to the Trent Valley League.

Peterborough's Intermediate Team promises to be very strong this winter. It is said that Ernie Wasson will be out again defending the flags and that Glover and Armstrong will be found protecting him. There will be a big bunch of fast forwards to pick from, including Whitcroft and Morgan, of last year's Colts, with Lynch, Watt and Graham of the old Intermediates. A team picked from such a fast bunch should go through the District Series without losing a game at home or abroad, and chances were never brighter for a championship coming this way.

CURLIANA.

The ladies of Kingston have formed a curling club, and have affiliated with the Kingston Curling Club. Quite a number of Kingston's fairest daughters have joined the organization and have been practising "in turns," "out turns," "wicks," and "tee lengths." The ladies play in the morning. For the benefit of those who are not able to send the stones all the way down the rink, a set of rings with the button in the centre will be placed at the "hog" line on one of the rinks.

GOLF.

What is to be the future of the rubber cored golf ball? This is the question that a writer in The Mail and Express has put to scores of well known players and followers of the game since last September. Yet if one were to go by the answers received it would indeed be difficult to arrive at any conclusion. Some appear firm in the belief that the ball is going to eventually revolutionize the game; others think it is destined to bring about the general lengthening of the courses a few hundred yards; some say it will so change the game as to necessitate the adoption of a standard ball, and still others declare it will die a natural death.

That the new ball will die out and eventually come into disfavour, even with those who are now its stanchest supporters, is not generally believed. In fact, those who take this view are to be found mostly in the professional ranks, where there is a strong prejudice against the new invention. Most of the "pros" when questioned on the subject will claim that they have tried the ball and found it impossible to get any farther than with the ordinary gutty, while those who do admit that greater distance is to be attained, accompany the statement with the advice not to use the ball. When ask why, they will be apt to say that it is more difficult to control on the green, and if pressed farther are apt to admit that they don't like the ball "nohow."

It is but natural that those who have golfed since childhood should look with tinges of regret at the possible passing of the gutty. Take A. G. Lockwood, the famous Boston amateur, for instance. Not long since this expert golfer, who learned the game in England, admitted that some of the best scores he ever made on the links were with the new ball during the past fall, but even at that he still professes to prefer the gutty. He thinks the advantages so far as distance is concerned when making half iron shots is very much in favour of the rubber cored invention, but adds that there is an absence of that clear ring which every old golfer so enjoys.

Former Champion Findlay S. Douglas does not think that the new ball is destined to a short existence, neither does he believe that it is going to revolutionize the game. He is also free to admit that those who used the "rascal" in the amateur championship at Atlantic City enjoyed a decided advantage over their opponents. Douglas, by the way, told the writer that he intended to give the new ball a fair trial in the spring.

If a golfer manages to get a longer tee shot and better distance with his irons when using a rubber ball, and then "slices up" around the green, there is, of course, no advantage in changing. Amateur Champion Walter J. Travis shows that he possesses that happy faculty of getting greater distance and also of controlling the new ball with the same deadly accuracy on the green. This is a combination heard to beat.

A MERCHANT'S DEATH

W. L. Coulter of Creemore Found With Bullet Wound in Head.

SEVEN CHILDREN THROUGH ICE

One of Them Was Drowned; the Other Six Were Bravely Rescued by William Darling—Aftermath of the Great Storm on the Pacific Coast—Miss Hemmerley's Sad End—A Railway Victim.

Creemore, Ont., Dec. 30. — W. L. Coulter, a prominent merchant of this place, and who resided at Avening, two miles from here, was found dead Saturday night in his stable at Avening, with a bullet wound in his head and his gun lying under him. He was last seen by his family at 11 o'clock in the morning, when he left the house presumably to go to Creemore, as was his habit. His son came up to the store here in the afternoon, and finding that his father had not arrived there, he at once returned to Avening, and a search was instituted, resulting in the body being found in the stable as stated. The County Crown Attorney at Barrie was communicated with and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

THROUGH THE ICE.

One Child Drowned at Merritton—Six Others Have Narrow Escape.

St. Catharines, Dec. 30.—About 6 o'clock Saturday night seven small children, ranging in ages from 8 to 15, while skating on a pond near the Grand Trunk freight shed in Merritton, broke through the ice, and all had narrow escapes from drowning. Six of them were rescued, but one little girl, named Flossie McDonald, is still under the ice. William Darling heard the screams of the unfortunate children. He grabbed a pole and jumped into the icy waters. Six of the little ones clung to one another. One succeeded in getting hold of the pole Mr. Darling held, and had strength enough to hold on and bring his comrades with him out of the water. The other little girl, by this time, had sunk from view and was drowned. Dr. Vandelburg and others, after six hours hard work, restored to life the six children. Five of them, it was feared, could not be brought to, but after some minutes showed signs of life, and at 7 o'clock were said to be out of danger. The names of the children rescued were: Four Ramsays, one McDonald and one Leamey. Flossie McDonald was 9 years old, and the daughter of a prominent family of Merritton.

EXPOSURE AND DROWNING.

Carried Off Twenty Persons on the Pacific Coast on Thursday.

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 30.—Twenty fatalities are reported from exposure and drowning as a result of the terrific wind, rain and snowstorm of Thursday night and Friday, in which more than thirty salmon canneries were destroyed, railroad tracks were washed away and towns were four feet under water.

An entire Indian village and the buildings of a big quarry on the upper coast were swept into the sea.

The ship Santa Clara of San Francisco is still hard and fast on Trial Island, the efforts of the tugs to remove her having proved fruitless. The captain still has hopes of saving her.

The barque Burn, which, like the Santa Clara, drifted from Trial roads during the gale, Christmas, was located yesterday, safe at anchor off San Juan Island. The tug Coleman was passing Destruction Island, with a brigantine in tow, when her engines went wrong. The brigantine made sail and escaped, and the tug was still drifting at last reports, her master having declined assistance.

Since it has been learned that the storm area extends beyond the straits, grave fears are entertained for the collier San Mateo, which left on Christmas Day.

TOOK AN OVERDOSE.

Miss Hemmerley Used Carbolic Acid to Cure Sore Throat.

Berlin, Dec. 30.—Saturday night a young woman, Miss Hemmerley, while staying at her sister's, Mrs. Pellusch, complained to a young lady friend, who had called on her, that she was suffering from a severe sore throat, and was told that a carbolic acid solution was good for it, and on saying there was none in the house her young lady friend volunteered to send her some. She, Miss Hemmerley, who was alone, prepared the solution and took it. Her sister, on returning home later, found her in bed suffering terrible agony from the overdose, which she must have taken. Medical aid was quickly summoned, and all was done possible to relieve the unfortunate girl to no purpose. Deceased was 21 years old.

Killed on T. H. & B.

Hamilton, Dec. 30.—Word was received at the T.H. & B. office Saturday that the train struck and killed a man who was walking on the track half a mile this side of Fenwick Station, a short distance from Welland, about 9.35 o'clock Saturday morning. The deceased was identified by his son as John Mabee. His home was in that part of the country.

Strange Shooting Affair

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 30. — A strange shooting affair occurred at the Tagona Inn on Tuesday, the victim being Maggie Wilson, a domestic. The young woman was standing about three feet away from and facing a bare wall in the kitchen, when the other help in that part of the kitchen heard a scream, and, turning towards Miss Wilson, they saw her standing over a dishpan, terrified and bleeding. Upon examination it was found that a large bullet, which lay on the floor, had entered the woman's head above the eye, and, following the skull around, emerged from a point above the left ear. The hotel people are positive that the shot was not fired inside the house, and where the bullet came from is a mystery. Miss Wilson is doing well.

Shooting Affray.

Niagara Falls South, Dec. 30.—An attempted murder occurred here about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. An Italian known as Z. Achery, fired two shots from a revolver at Richard Stewart, one ball going through his clothing, striking a rib just over the stomach. The other missed. Before Achafy could fire another shot Stewart took the revolver away from Achery, and knocked him down with it. He tried to escape, but the police nabbed him and lodged him in the lockup.

Brandy Might Have Saved Him.

Orangeville, Dec. 30.—The late Mayor Still of Orangeville was a martyr to temperance principles which he held all his life. When Dr. Lewis was summoned to the Mayor's office a few hours before the tragic end of the chief magistrate, he found Mr. Still suffering from extreme pain in the region of the heart and told him that brandy would likely give him relief. The mayor answered that he had always been a total abstainer and asked the physician to prescribe some other remedy. Dr. Lewis tried to reason with him, but the sufferer was inexorable. Dr. Lewis is of the opinion that the liquor would have saved Mr. Still's life.

A CASE FOR THE CHARITABLE

Bertha Freeburn is at the Tender Mercy of the Public—Not Insane Either.

Some two years ago a girl about 25 years of age, named Bertha Freeburn, was committed to jail as a vagrant by Mr. Dumble, Police Magistrate. It was intended that she should go to the Mercer, but as it was a case in which the girl was not a criminal, the Magistrate made use of the county jail as the only available house of refuge for her. On coming out a local women's association had some experience with her and they found her troublesome, as she is subject to eleptic fits, but is not in any way vicious. Recently the jailer gave information to the effect that her time would soon be up, and that she had no place to go. The Judge had refused to find her insane, and it looked like a case calling for the consideration of the charitably disposed.

To make a long story short, between the time of her release on Saturday, and her being brought before the Magistrate to-day, she found refuge in the Children's Shelter, simply because the Y.W.C.A. did not feel able to look after her. Her case was reviewed this morning by the Magistrate. The girl pleaded hard not to be sent back to the jail, and the Magistrate desirous of complying with her request, if possible, committed her for one month, instead of six months, as before, in order to give some one an opportunity of making a last effort to provide a place for her.

It is evident that with all our organisations the unfortunate poor, except amongst the children, are destitute of provisions for their maintenance and care.

A FAMILY GATHERING

Which Took Place on Christmas Day—Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Northey Remembered by Their Family.

A family gathering was held on Christmas Day at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sneeo, George street, when over a score of the near relatives of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Northey assembled around the festive board.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Northey were presented with a most handsome cut of dishes accompanied by the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Northey;

Dear Parents.—We, your respective sons and daughters, feeling that we cannot let this Christmas go by without showing our appreciation of your generous and kind treatment toward us, we would ask you to please accept this set of dishes, hoping that you may both live long to unload the burdens that will be placed upon them, and as you wash them after each meal, may it bring to your remembrance the time when you had to perform the same operation on us daily, yes, hourly.

A gift from your family.

Mr. Northey's acknowledgment was replete with that essence of kindliness and good feeling which have always been a distinguishing characteristic of himself and his worthy better half.

THE RIGHT POLICY.

The Ross Government did a fine stroke of business for Ontario when it assisted the Algoma Central Railway by a land grant; for, from that has flown very important consequences, among which is an immense tube works at Sault Ste. Marie. In another column is the announcement of the incorporation by the Ontario Government of the Algoma Tube Works, Limited, with the astounding capital of thirty million of dollars. This, together with the expenditure of over twenty millions by the Clergue Syndicate in other industries at the "Soo," making a total of over fifty millions, is due to the aid given the railway mentioned. At the time this was done the previously established works at this place were practically at a stand-still from lack of facilities for transporting raw materials, to the works. The railway supplies these facilities and the great industries fed by it are in a ferment of activity, and the lands of the province, before the building of this line, of little practical value, have gained a new value represented by means of access to them. The Ross Government is to be commended for its enterprising forward policy which has brought about such important industrial results and paved the way for infinitely greater as the process of development extends. In striking contrast in this regard, was the attitude and action of Mr. Whitney and the Conservative Opposition; and one cannot conceive how public men could be so blind as to fail to see how much their opposition to the Algoma Central grant was against the interests of the country. "Build up Ontario" is the watchword of the Ross Government, and every patriotic Ontarian is ready to say to the Government, "In hoc signo vinces."

OUR MINERAL WEALTH.

Canada's wealth of material resources is not confined to the surface, but a large proportion is hidden from the eye. On the surface we have millions of acres of land verdant with almost illimitable forest, or golden with their wealth of grain. And there are millions of acres, golden in the fullest sense, with an inexhaustable store of mineral wealth under the surface. Ours is a noble heritage, the extent and value of which are only just beginning to be adequately realized and developed. Since our history began, we have been toiling like ants on the top of a hillock, chiefly concerned with exploration of our surface resources in the shape of crops of grain and a harvest of forest wealth. Now we are beginning to dig beneath the surface, and are just discovering the immense possibilities of our great mineral possessions. We know that we have great stores of coal in different parts of the Dominion, and unsurpassed deposits of iron ore of good quality, the two the backbone and spinal marrow of the industrial body. It is generally recognized that Canada, and, indeed, Ontario, has practically the world's supply of nickel and asbestos, and an authority asserts that "corundum must now be included in the minerals in which Ontario has been vested by nature with a monopoly." This abundant possession of a mineral of such economic importance as corundum, in connection with our mineral stores of iron, cannot be over-estimated. On the borders of South Renfrew and North Hastings is a veritable mountain of corundum, and nearly all of the Canada Corundum Company is now turning out crystal corundum of a purity unsurpassed by any. Corundum, next to the diamond, is the hardest abrasive, and a corundum wheel for grinding purposes is the best known, far superior to emery, with its small percentage of corundum, and with impurities which tend to destroy the temper of tools in grinding. So superior is the North Hastings corundum turned out by the company, that though it has been on the market only a few months, Ontario corundum is used very generally by Canadian and United States manufacturers of wheels, and European orders are being filled. With all our mineral wealth, especially of coal and iron, it seems that our prosperity and growth need be limited only by the use we make of our natural facilities, and that, with the necessary application of energy and enterprise, it will not be long before Canada will be building from her own raw materials, not only our lake and sea going steel vessels, but also supplying the wants of the world in the form of iron and steel, nickel, asbestos, and corundum.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

Council met at the Agricultural Hall, Centerville, at 10 a.m. on Dec. 16th, members all present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Communications were read from Isaac Kerr and R. Parker, asking to be appointed D.R. officers. From Cavan Township, with account of work done on boundary, received and read. A. Anderson reported Culvert at Donaldson's corner built and accepted contract price, $5.00. John Buckham reported gravelling on the new road completed, price $6.00. Gravel for job, 24 loads at 7c per load. Bills presented were—Wm. Smithson, gravel, $3.10; R. Nurse, gravel, $3.22; Mrs. Hurdon, gravel, $6.00; L. Nicholson, drainage, $1.00; A. Anderson, cleaning pipe at water trough, $1.00; J. A. Porter, bonus wire fence, $5.00; Joseph Fisher, repairs to culvert, $1.00; D. Huggins, caretaker Smithson's wharf, $5.00; Wm. Jewison, bonus wire fence, $2.00; W. Lary, pump logs for drain, $1.00; John Bradshaw, gravel, $1.65. On motion bill and accounts were ordered to be paid. Mr. W. Clark, Tax Collector, was heard. He had not been able to collect all the taxes, and asked for an extension of time. On motion, Mr. Clark was granted to Jan. 12th to collect taxes. W. Greer introduced a by-law to appoint D. R. officers, poll places, and a place to hold the nomination, which was passed, signed and sealed, No. 128. Isaac Kerr and R. Parker, D. R. officers. Nomination on Monday, Dec. 23th at one p.m. Mr. George Trotter was heard re road work charged on collector's roll. Left over for consideration. Mr. J. A. Porter was heard in reference to bonus to wire fence, he explaining that he had charged for the wire only, and not for bonus. W. Trotter paid in 75c, which was accepted by the council re road work charged. W. R. Fisher, Commissioner, was heard in reference to equalization of assessment for County purposes. Moved by W. Greer, seconded by W. Anderson, that a committee be appointed to equalize the assessment for County purposes, said committee to be tehe municipal council and Messrs. D. McIlmoyle, Wm. Rutherford, Wm. R. Morrison, James Wood and J. W. Lucas, Committee to meet on Monday, Dec. 23rd, at the Agricultural Hall, Centerville. W. Breckenridge, Pathmaster, beat No. 19, was heard in reference to road work returned undone. No action was taken. W. Breckenridge was heard re contract on Concession 3, he claiming pay for drawing timber and extra work. On motion Mr. Breckenridge was allowed $3. Mr. Roddy, Pathmaster beat No. W. half 4, presented an account for two days' road work extra, performed on his beat, and was allowed $1.00. The Treasurer, M. Hall, presented his account for interest on money for the year 1901, which was $6.75, and was ordered to be paid. A deputation of ratepayers, J. Riddell, P. Dawson, and Wm. Rutherford, was heard, they advocating the sending of a deputation to Michigan to enquire into and report on the Beet Root Sugar Factories, as to the advisability of the farmers of this community growing beets for sugar. After discussion no action was taken. The Treasurer, Mr. Hall, presented his statement of receipts and expenditures for the year ending Dec. 16th, 1901, which was ordered printed for distribution. The rural school sections were paid the amounts due them from Municipal Grant and Trustee Rates. S.S No. 1—$377.13; S.S No. 2—$370.00; S.S. No. 3—$366.00; S. S. No. 4—$363.56; S.S. No. 5—$383.07. Orders were drawn on the Treasurer for the several bills and accounts.

On motion the Council then adjourned.

BAILLIEBORO NEWS.

Mrs. Skitch Remembered by Her Sabbath School Scholars.

On Monday evening, Dec. 23rd, the pupils of Mrs. T. A. Skitch's Sunday school class took occasion to give her with an expression of their kind, good feeling toward her in the form of an address and a ladies' companion. The address was read by Master George Herriot, and the presentation by Master Norman Jewison. The address was as follows:—

Dear Teacher,—It is with the greatest of pleasure that we, your Sunday school class meet with you this festive season, when there is peace and good will over all the earth. We wish to express our thanks to you for your love and kindness to us, as we meet Sunday after Sunday in our class.

It is with the greatest respect and esteem we would ask you to accept this small token as a slight expression of our love to you.

It is not the value of it, but may you ever remember the love that prompted it, for your kindness in showing and explaining to us the way of true life.

In after years, when our paths of life may be far separated, may it bring to your remembrance the boys of your Sunday school class.

It is our earnest wish that you and your husband may be spared to enjoy many happy returns of this Christmas tide. Signed on behalf of the class,

NORMAN JEWISON.
GEORGE HERRIOT.

After recovering from her surprise, Mrs. Skitch made a suitable reply, by thanking them and expressing her appreciation of their kindness, and also expressing her desire that each of the boys would follow the true path of life.

After the presentation, refreshments were served, and all spent an enjoyable evening.

This is the Way of it.

DOANS KIDNEY PILLS CURE BACKACHE LAME BACK RHEUMATISM DIABETES SCIATIC DISEASE DIZZINESS AND ALL KIDNEY & URINARY DISEASES ARE CURED BY DOANS KIDNEY PILLS

Mrs. I. Steeves, Edgett's Landing, N.B., writes on Jan. 18, 1901: "In the fall of 1899 I was troubled with a severe pain in the back. I could scarcely get up out of a chair and it gave me great pain to move about. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and was completely cured. I have not been troubled with it since."

Our teacher, Miss Payne, who has had charge of the school for two years and who has given universal satisfaction, recently resigned, in order to attend the Ottawa Normal School. During the last year she voluntary filled the position of organist in Eden church. A good number from here attended the annual tea which was held on Christmas day. The funds were in aid of the new church, the foundation of which was laid last fall.

A NATION OF WORKERS

With Good Health for Capital the Great Majority of Canadians Rely on Brain and Muscle for a Livelihood—With Ill-Health All is Lost.

Canada is a nation of workers. The few who have acquired positions of wealth and leisure, have done so through hard work, and the vast majority find it necessary to toil day after day, and year after year, to support themselves and those depending on them. Their capital is good health. So long as this lasts, they are happy and contented; but, alas! too many are robbed of this capital, and find themselves unable to keep up the struggle. With no earnings coming in, their small savings are soon exhausted, and want, as well as disease, stares them in the face.

Disease is humanity's most deadly foe. Silently, gradually, it steals upon one, until at last it closes its fangs on its victim and secret', robs him of energy, ambition and strength. In this age of keen competition, strenuous work, and ceaseless struggle, it is the nervous system that most readily feels the strain. Nights of sleeplessness, days of tired, languid feelings, depression, discouragement, and despondency, neuralgic pains, shattered nerves, weakness and irregularities of the bodily organs. These are some of the warnings of the approach of such serious and fatal diseases as nervous prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity.

Maintaining good health, is, to the majority of people the most vital question in the world, and nature affords no more efficient strengthener for the system and restorative for the nerves than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Naturally, gradually, and certainly, it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, creates new, healthy, nerve cells, and puts into the system the snap, energy and vitality that defy the disease.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unlike any treatment you ever used. It does not act as a stimulant to whip up the tired nerves into exhausting action, nor, on the other hand, does it deaden and destroy the feeble nerve tissues, but by filling the shrivelled arteries with rich, red, life-sustaining blood, it repairs the waste and revitalizes and restores the body to health and strength. As a permanent cure for nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, irritability, and the weakness and irregularities which accompany an exhausted nervous system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unapproached; 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A handsome and useful Christmas present for your mother or grandmother, is a copy of Dr. Chase's last and complete Receipt Book. Illustrated folder free.

The Pope Is Ill.

Paris, Dec. 30.—A despatch from Rome says the Pope is ill. The New Year's reception to the diplomatic corps has, therefore, been postponed.

A $30,000,000 COMPANY.

New Algoma Tube Works for Sault Ste. Marie.

Incorporation Granted Yesterday by the Provincial Government—The Biggest on Record in Ontario—A Great Enterprise.

All records as to the capitalization of companies in Ontario were broken on Friday by the passing of an order by the Provincial Government, incorporating the Algoma Tube Works, Limited, with an authorized capital of $30,000,000. This is another and by far the largest yet of Mr. F. H. Clergue's many industrial enterprises at Sault Ste. Marie, and when the plant is completed it will give employment to several thousand men, and form probably the largest industrial establishment in Canada. The provisional directors of the new concern are Mr. F. H. Clergue, of Sault Ste. Marie; Messrs. E. V. Douglas, W. P. Douglas, F. S. Lewis and John S. Freeman, of Philadelphia, and H. C. Hamilton, of Sault Ste. Marie, all of whom are connected with the boards of the present Clergue companies.
